The thirde noble & excellēt man is * Phinehes p^r sonne of Eleazer, which pleased the God of Israel, because he had the zeale & feare of the Lord. For when the people were touned backe, he put hym selfe forth ryght soone, and p^r wth a good wyll, to pacifie the wroth of the Lord towards Israel. Therefore foze was there a couenaunt of peace made wth him, p^r he shulde be p^r principall among the ryghteous & the people, that he & his posterite shulde haue the office of the presthode for euer (Lyke as there was made a couenaunt wth Dauid of p^r trybe of Juda, that from amonge his sonnes onely there shulde be a kyng:) And that Aaron also & his seide shulde be the heretage, to geue vs wylsome in oure herte, to iudge hys people in ryghtousnes: that his goodes shulde not come in to forgetfulnes, and p^r their honoure myght endure for euer.

The .xlv. Chapter.

The prayse of Josue, Caleb, and Samuel.

Alyp & stronge i battayll * was Jesus p^r sonne of Naue, which in steade of Moyses the prophet was geuen to be captayne of p^r people, which accordyng vnto his name was a great sauoure vnto the electe of God, to punyssh p^r enemyes that rose vp agaynst Israel, p^r Israel myght optayne theyr inheritaunce. How greute, noble, & excellent was he, when he lyft vp his hand, and drew out his swerde agaynst p^r enemyes: Who stode so manly befoze hym? For the Lord him selfe brought in p^r enemyes. * Stode not the Sunne still at his commaundement, and one daye was as longe as two: he called vpon the hyst and most myghty when p^r enemyes pressed vpon hym on euery syde, and the Lord herde hym wth the hayle stones. They smote the hepthenes people myghtely, & in fallpyng downe they flew all p^r aduerlaries, so that the heathen knewe his hoost, and all his defence, that p^r Lord hym selfe fought agaynst them, for he folowed vpon p^r myghty men of them.

25 * In the tyme of Moyses also, he & Caleb the sonne of Iephune, dyd a good worcke, which stode agaynst p^r enemyes, wth helde the people from synne, & stilled the wyched murmuring. * And of syre hundredeth thousande people of fote, they two were preferred, to byng them into p^r heretage, namely, a lande that floweth wth mylke & hony. * The Lord gaue strenght also vnto Caleb, which remayned wth him vnto his age: so that he wente vp into p^r hye places of p^r lade and his seide conquered the same for an heretage: that all the chyldren of Israel myght se, how good a thinge it is, to be obediēt vnto the Lord. And the iudges oz rulers (euery one after his name) whose hert wete not a whozpyng, ner departed from p^r Lord, and that forsoke not the Lord vnfaythfully, whose remembraunce hath a good reporte: P^r their bones shal stonde oute of their place, and their names shal neuer be chaunged,

Samuel p^r prophet beloued of the Lord, & ordeyned a kyng, & anoynted the prynces ouer the people. In the lawe of the Lord ruled he, and iudged p^r congregacyon, and the Lord had respecte vnto Jacob. The prophet was founde diligēt in his faythfulnes: p^r in his faythfulnes was the faythfulnes of the visyon knowne. * He called vpo the Lord p^r allmyghty, when p^r enemyes pressed vpo him on euery syde, what tyme as he offred p^r suckpyng lambes. And p^r Lord thozdred fro heauen & made his voyce to be herde wth a greute noyse. He discomfyted p^r prynces of Tyre, and all p^r rulers of the Philistines. * Before his last ende he made protestacyon in p^r syght of the Lord, & his anoynted, that he toke nether substance ner good of eny man, nor so moch as a shoo, & no man myght accuse him. After this he tolde, that his ende was at hande, & shewed p^r kyng also his ende & death, and from the earth lyft he vp hys voyce in the prophete, that the vngodly people shulde perishe.

The prayse of Nathan, Dauid, and Salomon.

After warde in the tyme of kyng Dauid, there rose vp a prophet called Nathan: for lyke as p^r fat is taken awaye from p^r offerpyng, so was Dauid chosen out of p^r chyldren of Israel. He toke his pastyme wth the lyons, as wth kyddes, and wth beares lyke as wth lābes. * He was not a gyaunte when he was yet but yonge, and toke awaye the rebuke from his people: what tyme as he toke p^r stone in hys hande, and smote downe proude Goliath wth the spyng. For he called vpon the hyst Lord, which gaue him strenght in hys ryght hande, so that he ouerthrew the myghty gyaunte in the battayll, that he myght set vp the horne of hys people agayne. * Thus brought he hym to wrothpye aboue all prynces, and made hym to haue a good reporte in the prayse of the Lord, that he shuld weare a crowne of gloze. * For he destroyed the enemyes on euery syde, roted out the Philistines his aduerlaries, and brake theyr horne in sunder, lyke as it is broken yet thys daye. In all hys workes he praysed the hyst and holyst, and ascribed the honoure vnto hym. With hys whole hert dyd he prayse the Lord and loued hym that made hym. * He set spyngers also befoze the altar, and in their tune he made swete songes. He ordeyned to kepe the holy dayes wrothpyfully, and that the solempne feastes thozow the whole yeare shulde be honozably holden, wth prayfinge the name of the Egg lili Lord,

Lord, and with syngynge by tymes in the mornyng in the Sanctuary.

C * The Lord toke awaye his synnes, and exalted his horn for ever. He gaue hym the covenant of kynghome, and the throne of worshyppe in Israel. * After him there rose up y^e wyse sonne called Salomon, & for hys sake he droue the enemyes awaye farre of. This Salomon reigned wth peace in his tyme (for God gaue him rest fro his enemyes on euery syde, that he myght buylde him an house in his name, & prepare the Sanctuary for ever) lyke as he was well instructe iⁿ his pouth, & fylled with wylsome & vnderstandynge, as it were wth a water floude. He couered & fylled the whole lande with similitudes & wyse prudent sentences.

D hys name wente abroad in y^e Iles, because of his peace he was beloued. All landes marueled at his songes, prouerbes, similitudes, and at his peace, and at the name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel. * He gathered golde as tynne, & he had as moch syluer as leade. * He was moued in mozdornate loue towardes wemē, and was overcome in affeccyon. He stayned hys honoure & worshyppe, pec his posterite despyled he also, in byngynge y^e wrath of y^e Lord vpon his chyldren, and sorowe after hys loye: so that his kynghome was deuoyded, and Ephraim became an vnsaythfull, and an vncoustant kynghome. * Neuertheles God forsoke not his mercy, nether was he vtterly destroyed because of hys woorkes, that he shulde leaue him no posterite.

C As for y^e fede y^e came vpon him, which he loued, he brought it not vtterly to naught but gaue yet a remnaunt vnto Jacob, and a rote vnto Dauid out of him. Thus rested Salomon with hys fathers, and out of hys fede he left behynde hym a very foolyschness of the people, and soche one as had no vnderstandynge: * euen, Roboam, which turned awaye the people thowow his counsell, and Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, & which caused Israell to synne, & thewed Ephraim the waye of vngodlynes: In so moch that their synnes and mysdedes had the vpper hāde so sore, that at the last they were dzyuen out of the lande for the same: Pee he fought out and brought vp all wyckednes, tyll the vengeance came vpon them.

The. xlviii. Chapter.

The prayse of Eliab, Eliens, Bezechiah, and Esay.

A When stode vp * Eliab the prophet as a fyre, & his worde bzent lyke a creschet. He brought an hunger vpon them, & in his zeile he made them fewe in nombze. For they myght not awaye wth the comaundementes of the Lord.

Thowowe the worde of the Lord he shute the heauen, & thre tymes brought he the fyre downe. Thus became Eliab honorable in his wondrous dedes. Who maye make his boast to be lyke him? * One that was deedly capled he vp from death, and in the worde of the hyst he brought him oute of the graue agayne. He cast downe kynges and destroyed them, & the honorable fro their seat. vpon the mounte Synahe herde the punyishment, & vpon Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance. He prophced recompensynge vnto kynges, & ordeyned prophetes after hym. * He was taken vp in y^e storme of fyre, in a charret of horses of y^e Lord. He was ordeyned in the reprimynges in tyme to pacyfy the wrath of y^e Lord, & to turne the hertes of the fathers vnto the chyldren, and to sett vp the trybes of Jacob agayne. Blessed were they that saw the, & were garnysched in loue: for we lye in lyfe: (but after death we shall haue no such name.)

* Elias was couered in y^e storme, but he lyseus was fylled wth his spete. Whyle he lyued he was afrayed of no prynce, and no man myght overcome hym. There coulde no worde discaue hym, & after his death his body prophced. * He byd wdders iⁿ his lyfe, and in death were his woorkes maruelous. For all this, y^e people amēded not, nether departed they fro they^e synnes: * tyll they were carped awaye prisoners out of y^e lāde, & were scatred abroad in all countrees, so that of them there remayned, but a very lytle people, and a prynce vnto the house of Dauid. Howbeit some of them byd ryght, and some heaped vp vngodlynes.

* Hezekias made his cytie stronge, couered wth water into it, dygged thowow y^e stony rocke with yron, & made vp a well by y^e water syde. * In his tyme came Sennacherib by, & sent Rabshakes, lyft vp his hāde agaynst Syon, and despyed them with greute pryde. Then trymbled they^e hertes and hādes, so that they sorowed lyke a woman trauaylyng with chyld. So they called vpon the Lord, which is mercyfull, & lyft vp they^e handes before hym. Immediately the Lord herde the out of heauen: (he thought nomore vpo they^e synnes, ner gaue them ouer to they^e enemyes:) but deliuered them by the hande of Esay. * He smote the hoost of the Assyrians, and his angell destroyed them. For hezekias had done y^e thyng that pleased the Lord, & remayned stedfastly in the waye of Dauid his father. Which Esay was greute & saythfull in his visions. * In his tyme the Sunne wente backward, and he lengthened the kynges lyfe. With a ryghte spete prophced he, what shulde come to passe at the last: and to soche as were sorowful in Syon he gaue consolacyon, wherwith wherwith they myght confort them selues for euermore. He thewed thynges that were for to come and secrete, or euer they came to passe.

The. xlix. Chapter.

Of Josiah, Bezechiah, Dauid, Jerem, Ezechiel, sobabel, Jelus, Achemlah, Enoch, and Joseph.

A The remembraunce of * Josias is lyke as when the apotycary maketh many precyous swete smellynge thynges together. His remembraunce shal be swete as hony in all mouthes, and as the playeng of Mulyck at a bakket of wyne. He was appointed to turne the people agayne, and to take awaye all abhominacyons of the vngodly, he directed his herte vnto the Lord, and in the tyme of the vngodly he set vp the worshyppe of God agayne. All kynges (excepte Dauid, hezekias and Josiah) comitted wickednes, for euen the kinges of Iuda also forsoke the lawe of God. For they gaue they^e herte vnto other, they^e honoure and worshyppe also to a straunge people.

B Therefore was the electe cytie of y^e Sanctuary bzent wth fyre, & the stretes thereof laye desolate and waste: for they mistreated Jerem euell, whych neuertheles was a prophet ordeyned from his mothers wombe, that he myght rore out, breake of, & destroye: ad that he myght buylde vp, & plant agayne. * Ezechiel sawe the glory of y^e Lord in a vyfion, which was shewed hym vpon y^e charrette of the Cherubins. For he thought vpon the enemyes in the rayne, to do good vnto soch as had ordeyd their wayes a ryght. And the bones of the twelue prophetes dorpythd fro out of they^e place: for they gaue comforte and consolacyon vnto Jacob, and deliuered them saythfully. * How shall we prayse sobabel, which was as a ryng in the ryght hande?

C So was Jesus also y^e sonne Of Joseder: these men in they^e tymes buylded the house and set vp the Sanctuary of y^e Lord agayne which was prepared for an euertlasting worshyp. * And Achemias is alwaye to be commēded, which set vp for vs the walles that were broken downe, made the portes and barres agayne, and buylded oure houses of the new. * But vpon earth is there no man created lyke Enoch, for he was take vprō the earth. * And Joseph, which was lord of hys bzyethen, and the vpholder of hys people: his bones were couered and kept. Seth and Sem were in great honour amonge the people: and so was Adam aboue all the beastes, when he was created.

The. l. Chapter.

Of Symon the sonne of Onias

S ymon * the sonne of Onias the hyepreste, whyche in hys lyfe sett vp the house agayne, and in hys dayes made fast y^e temple. The heygth of the temple also was founded of hym, the double buyldynge, and the hys walles of the temple. In hys dayes the welles of water flowed out, and were excedynge full as the see. He toke care for hys people, and deliuered them fro destruction. He kepte his cytie and made it strong, that it shuld not be beseged. He dwelt in honoure and worshyppe amonge his people, & enlarged the entraunce of y^e house, and the court. He gaue lyght as the mornynge starre in the myddest of the cloudes, and as the moote whā it is full. He shyned as the sunne in the temple of God. He is as hyght as the rayne bowe in the sayre cloudes, and flourisheth as the floures ad roses in the spring of the peare, and as lyllys by the ryuers of water: Lyke as the braunches vpon the moost Libanus in the tyme of Sommer: as a fyre and incense that is kyndled. Lyke as an whole ornament of pure golde, sett with all maner of precious stones, ad as an Olyue tree that is frutefull, ad as a Cipres tree which groweth vpon a hys.

When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed wth all bewtys: when he went to the holy aulter, to garnish the coueryng of the Sanctuary: when he toke y^e portions out of the bestes hande, he hym selfe stode by the herth of the aulter, and his bzyethen rounde about in ordze. As the braunches of Cedze tree vpon y^e mount Libanus, so stode they rounde about him. And as the braunches of the Olyue tree, so stode all the sonnes of Aaron in they^e gloze. And y^e he myght suffyciently perfourme hys serupce vpon y^e aulter, and garnish the offryng of the hyst God, he stretched out hys hande, and toke of y^e dzyneck offeryng, and powred in of the wyne: so he powred vpon the botome of the aulter a good smell vnto the hyst prynce.

Then beganne the sonnes of Aaron to syng, and to blowe with trompettes, and to make a great noyse, for a remembraunce and prayse vnto the Lord. Then were the people afrayed, and fell downe to the earth vpo their faces, to worshyp the Lord their God. ad to geue thanckes to the almyghty God. They songe goodly also with their voyces, so y^e there was a pleasaunt noyse in y^e great house of the Lord. And the people in they^e prayer besought the Lord the hyst, that he wolde be mercyfull, tyll y^e honour of y^e Lord were perfourmed, thus ended they^e ministration & serupce. Then went he downe and stretched out his handes ouer the whole multitude of the people of Israel, that they shulde geue prayse and thanckes out of their lippes vnto the Lord, & to reioyse in his name. He beganne yet once also to praye, that he myght openly shewe the thankelgeuynge before þe hyst, namely thus: O gene prayse and thakes (ye all) vnto the Lord our God, which hath euer done noble and great thynges: which hath increased oure dayes from our mothers wombe, and dealt wth vs accordyng to his mercy: that he wyl geue vs the ioyfulness of hert, and peace for oure tyme in Israell. Which saythfully kepeth his mercy for vs euermore, and alwaye deluereyth vs in due season.

There be two maner of people that I abhorre from my hert: as for the thirde, whom I hate, it is no people. They that lye vpon the mountayne of Samaria, the Whylitynges, and the foolyshe people that dwell in Sichimis.

I Iesus the sonne of Syrach Eleazarus of Ierusalem, haue tokened vp these infor- macyons and doctrynes of wysdome and vnderstandyng in this booke, and poured out the wysdome of my herte. Blessed is he that receyvethe hym selfe therein: and who so taketh soch to hert, shal be wylle for euer. If he do these thynges, he shal be stronge in all. For the lyght of the Lord ledeyth hym.

The li. Chapter.

The prayer of Iesus the sonne of Syrach.

I wyl thanke the, O Lord ad kyng, and prayse the, O God my sauyoure. I wyl yelde prayse vnto thy name: for thou art my defender and helper, ad hast preserved my body from destruction, from þe snare of traporous tonges, and fro the lyp- pes that are occupied with lyes. Thou hast bene my helper, fro soch as stode by against me, and hast deluiered me after the multi- tude of thy mercy, & for thy holy names sake. Thou hast deluiered me from the roa- ryng of the that prepared them selues to de- uoure me, out of the hades of soch as sought after my lyfe: from the multitude of them þe troubled me, and went aboute to sett fyre vpon me on euery syde, so þe I am not bzent in the myddest of the fyre: from the depe of hell, from an vncleane tonge, from lypenge wordes, from the wycked kyng, and fro an vnyghteous tonge. My soule shal prayse the Lord vnto death, for my lyfe dyed we nye vnto hell downwarde.

They compassed me rounde aboute on eu- ery syde, and there was no man to helpe me. I looked aboute me, yf there were eny man þe wold socoure me: but there was none. Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thy actes that thou hast done euer of olde: namely, that thou deluierest soche as put theyr trust in the, and rydest them out of the handes of the heathen. Thus lyft I vp my prayer from the earth, ad prayed for delyueraunce fro death. I called vpo the Lord my father that he wolde not leaue me with- out helpe, in the daye of my trouble and in þe tyme of the proude: I praysed thy name con- tynually, yeldyng honoure & thakes vnto it: and so my prayer was herde. Thou saue- dest me from destruction, and deluieredest me from the vnyghteous tyme. Therefore, wyl I acknowledge and prayse þe, and ma- gnyfy the name of the Lord.

When I was yet but yonge, oz ener I went astraye, I despyed wysdome openly in my prayer. I came therefore before the temple, ad sought her vnto the last. Then flozped she vnto me, as a grape that is soone ripe. My hert reioysed in her, then went my fote the ryght waye, yee fro yowth by, sought I after her. I bowed downe myne eare and re- ceaued her. I founde me moch wysdome: ad prospered greatly in her. Therefore wyl I ascrybe the glozy vnto him, that geueth me wysdome: for I am aduysed to do thereafter. I wyl be gelous to cleue vnto the thyng þe is good, so shal I not be confounded. My soule hath wrestled with her, & I haue bene diligit to be occupied in her. I lyft vp myne handes an hye, then was my soule lightened thowow wysdome, that I knowleged my fo- lynges. I ordred my soule after her, she and I were one heart from the begynnyng and I founde her in clenness. And therefore shal I not be forsaken.

My herte longed after her, and I gatt a good treasure. Thowow her the Lord hath geue me a new toge, wherwith I will pray- se hym. * Come vnto me ye vniuersed, and dwell in the house of wysdome: withdraue not your selues from her, but talke and co- men of these thynges, for your soules are ve- ry thyrstye. I opened my mouth, and spake. * Come ad bye wysdome without money, bowe downe your neck vnder her yock, and poure soule shal receaue wysdome. She is harde at hande and is content to be founde. Behold, with your eyes, * how that I haue had but lytle labour, and yet haue founde moch reast. * Receaue wysdome, ad ye shal haue plenteousnes of syluer ad golde in pos- session. Let your mynde reioyse in his mer- cy, & be not ashamed of hys prayse. Worke hys worke by tymes, and he shal geue you your rewarde in due tyme.

The ende of the booke of Iesus the sonne of Syrach, whych is called in Latyne, Ecclesiasticus.

The booke of the Prophete Baruch.

The fyrst Chapter.

Baruch wrote a booke, duringe the captiuyte of Ba- bylon, wher he readde before Iechoniah and all the people. The Jewes sent the booke with money, vnto Ierusalem, to theyr other brotheren: to the intent that they shulde praye for them.

And these are the wordes of the booke, whych were wyrtten by Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the son- ne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedechias, the sonne of Helchias, at Baby- lon in the xvjth yere, and in the seuenth da- ye of the moneth, what time as the Caldees toke Ierusalem, and bzent it by fyre.

And Baruch dyd reade þe wordes of this booke, that Iechoniah the sonne of Ioacin kyng of Iuda myght heare: and in the pre- sence of all the people, that were come to be- are the booke: yee and before all the noble kynges sonnes, before the lordes of the co- uncill and elders: and before the whole peo- ple, fro the lowest vnto the hyst: before all them that dwelt at Babylon, by the water of Sody. Which wha they herde it, wepte, fasted, and prayed before the Lord.

They made a collectio also of money, ac- cordyng to euery mans power, and sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioachim the sonne of Hel- chias, the sonne of Salo prestre, wth þe other prestres: and to all the people whych were w hym at Ierusalem, what tyme as they had gotten the ornamente of the temple of the Lord (that were taken awaye out of þe tem- ple) that they myght byng the agayne in to the lanhe of Iuda, the tenth daye of þe mo- neth Siban: namely, syluer vessels (whych Sedechias þe sonne of Josiah kyng of Iuda had made) after that Nabuchodonosor kin- ge of Babylon had taken Iechoniah, wth all his princes, lordes, and all the people, ad led them captiue from Ierusalem vnto Ba- bylon.

And they sayd: Behold, we haue sent you money, * to bye you burnt offerynges & in- cense withall: make you vniuersed bred, ad offere for synne vpon the aulter of the Lord oure God. * And praye for the prosperye of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon, & for the welfare of Balthasar his sonne: þe theyr dayes maye be vpon earthe, as the dayes of heane: that God also maye geue vs strenght and lyghte our eyes, that we maye lyue vnder the defence of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon, and vnder the protectio of Bal- thasar his sonne: that we maye longe do the seruyce, and fynde fauoure in theyr syght.

Praye for vs also vnto the Lord our God, for we haue synned agaynst the Lord oure God, and vnto this daye is not hys weath turned yet awaye fro vs. And se that pered this booke (whych we haue sent vnto you to be rehearsed in the temple of the Lord) vpo the hye dayes, and at tyme conuenient.

Thus shal ye saye: * The Lord our God is ryghteous, but we are worthy of confu- sion & shame: lyke as it is come to passe this daye, vnto all Iuda, and to euery one that dwelleth at Ierusalem: to our kinges, prin- ces, prestres, prophetes and to oure fathers. We haue synned before the Lord our God, we haue not put our trust in hym, ner geuen hym credence, we haue not obeyed hym, we haue not hekened vnto þe voyce of þe Lord oure God, to walke in the commaundemen- tes that he gaue vs. Sens the daye that he brought our forefathers out of the lande of Egypt vnto this present daye, we haue bene euer a mybeleuyng and an vnfaithful peo- ple vnto the Lord our God: destroyng our selues vtterly, and shynckynge backe, that we shulde not heare his voyce.

* Wherefore there are come vpo vs great plagues and bycurse curses, lyke as þe Lord dyuyd by Moses hys seruant: * whych brought our forefathers out of the lande of Egypt, to geue vs a lande, that floweth w imple ad hony, lyke as it is to se this daye. Neuerthelesse, we haue not hekened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, accordyng to all the wordes of þe prophetes, whome he sent vnto vs ad to our rulers: but euery ma folowed his awne mynde & wycked ymagi- nacyon: to offere vnto straunge goddes, & to do euell in the syght of the Lord oure God.

The ii. Chapter.

The Jewes confesse that they sinned fully for theyr synnes. The true confession of the Jewes. The Jewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned fro them. The Lord wyl that we obey vnto princes although they be cruel. He promyseth that he wyl call agayne the people from captiuyte, ad geue them a newe and an euerydayng testament.

I O the * which cause the Lord our God hath perfourmed hys deuyce, wherof he certyfied vs, and oure heades that ruled in Ierusalem: yee and oure kinges, our princes withal Israel and Iuda. And soche plagues hath the Lord brought vpon vs, as neuer came to passe vnder the heauen lyke as it is fulfilled in Ierusalem. * accordyng as it is wyrtten in the lawe of Moses: that a man shulde eate the flesh of hys awne sonne, and the flesh of hys awne daughter. Moreover, he hath deliue- red them into the handes of all the kynges, that are rounde aboute vs (to be confounded and desolate) and scatred them abrode in al landes and nations. Thus are we broughte

Wheneth and not abone, because we haue synned agaynst the Lorde our God, & haue not bene obediēt vnto his voyce. * Therefore the Lorde our God is ryghteous, and we wyth our fathers (as reals is) are brought to ope shame, as it is to se thys dape. And as for these plagues that are come vpon vs al ready, the Lorde had deuyled the for vs: yet wolde we not praye vnto the Lorde our God, that we myght euery man turne fro his vngod-ly wayes. So p Lorde hath caused such plages to come vpon vs: for he is ryghteous in all his workes, which he hath commaunded vs: which we also haue not done, ner herkened vnto his voyce, for to walke in the commaundemēt of the Lord, that he hath geuen vnto vs.

* And now, O Lord God of Israel, thou that hast brought thy people out of p land of Egypte with a myghtye hande, wyth tokens and wonders, wyth thy great power & out stretched arme: ad hast gotten thy self a name, as it is come to passe thys dape. O Lord our God, we haue synned, we haue done wickedly, we haue behaued our selues vngodly in al thy ryghteousnesses. Turne thy wrath from vs (we beseeche the) for we are but a few left among the hepten, where p hast scattered vs. * Heare our prayers (O Lorde) and our petitions, vyinge vs out of captiuite, for thyne awne sake: gett vs fa-uoure in the lyght of the, which haue led vs awayne: that all landes maye knowe, p thou art the Lorde our God, and that Israel and hys generacyon calleth vpon thy name.

O Lord, loke downe from thy holy house vpon vs: enclpne thyne eare, and heare vs.
* For the deed that be gone downe to theyz graues, ad whose soules are out of their bodies, ascribe vnto the Lord, uether prayse ner righteoumakyng: but the soule that is vexed for the multitude of her synnes, which goeth on heuclly and weakely, whose eyes begynne to faile: pee loch a soule ascribeth prayse and ryghteousnesse vnto the Lorde.
O Lorde, we poure out our prayers before the, ad requyre mercy in thy lyght, O Lord our God: not for eny godlynesse of our forefathers, but because thou hast sent oute thy wrath and indignacion vpon vs: accordyng as thou dydest threaten vs, by thy seruau-tes the prophetes, sayenge:

* Thus sayeth the Lorde: So we do wone your shulders and neckes, and serue p kyng of Babylon, so shall ye remayne styll in the lande, that I gaue vnto your fathers. P ye wyl not do thys, ner heare the voyce of the Lorde your God, to serue the kyng of Babylon: I shall destroye you in p cyties of Juda, within Ierusalem and wythout. I wyl also take from you the voyce of myzth & the voyce of lope, p voyce of the bydegromie ad the voyce of the byde, and there shal no mā dwell moze in the lade. But they wolde not herken vnto thy voyce, to do the kyng of Babylō serupce: and therefore hast thou perfourned p wordes that thou spakest by thy seruantes the prophetes: namely, that the bones of oure fathers shulde be translated out of theyz place.

And lo, now are they layde out in p heat of the sunne, and in the colde of the nyght, & deed in greute mysery, wyth hunger, wyth fweard, wyth pestilence & are clene cast forth.
As for the tēple wherein thy name was called vpon, thou hast layde it wast, as it is to se this dape: & that for the wickednes of the house of Israel and the house of Iuda. O Lorde our God, thou hast intreated vs after al thy goodnes, & accordyng to all that great loupnge mercy of thyne, lyke as thou spakest by thy seruauit Moses, in the dape whan thou dydest commaunde hym, to wypte thy lawe before p chylde of Israel, saying:
* P ye wyl not herke vnto my voyce, then shall this great multytude be turned into a very small people, for I wyl scatere them abode. Not wythstandyng I am sure that this folke wil not heare me: for it is an hard necked people. But in the lande of their captyuite, they shall remembre them selues, ad lerne to knowe, that I am the Lorde theyz God, whan I geue them an herte to vnderstande, and eares to heare. Then shall they praple me in the land of their captiuite: ad thyneke vpon my name. Then shal they turne them from theyz harde backes, and from their vngodlynes. Then shall they remembre the thynges, that happened vnto theyz forefathers, whych synned agaynst me. So wyl I bypunge them agayne into the lande, which I promysed with an ooth vnto theyz fathers: Abraham, Isaac, ad Jacob: & they shal be lordes of it, pee I wil increace them, and not minysh the. * Ad I wyl make another couenaunt with them: soch one as shal endure for euer: namely, that I wil be theyz God, and they shal be my people: and I wyl nomoze dyue my people the chylde of Israel, out of the lande that I haue geuen the.

The. iij. Chapter.

The people contynue in theyz prayer begonne for theyz deliuerance. He prayeth wyfdom vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despyng of the. Only God was the fender of wyfdom. Of the incarnacion of Christ.

Ad now, O Lord almyghty, thou God of Israel: our soule that is in trouble, and oure sprete that is ve-red, cryeth vnto the: heare vs (O Lorde) and haue pitie vpon vs, for thou art a mercifull God: be gracious vnto vs, for we haue synned before the. Thou endurest for euer, shulde we then vterly perishe O Lorde

O Lorde almyghty, thou God of Israel: heart now the prayer * of the deed Israelites and of theyz chylde, whych haue synned before the, and not herkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde their God, for the which cause these plagues hange now vpon vs. O Lorde, remembre not the wickednes of our forefathers, but thinke vpon thy power ad name now at this tyme: for thou art p Lorde our God, and the (O Lorde) wyl we pray-se. * For thou hast put thy feare in oure her-tes, to the intent that we shuld call vpon thy name, and praise the in our captiuite: & that we myght turne fro the wyckednes of oure forefathers, that synned before the.

Behold, we are yet this dape in our captyuite, where as thou hast feared vs, to be an abhomy nacion, curse, and synne: * lyke as it hath happened vnto oure fathers also, because of all theyz wickednesse and departyng from the.

O Israel, heare the commaundementes of lyfe: pondze the well with thyne eares, that thou mayest lerne wyfdom. But how happeneth it Israel, that thou art in thyne enemies land: thou art warde olde in a straunge countre, ad despyled with the deed. Why art thou become lyke them, p go downe to theyz graues? Eue because thou hast * forsake the well of wyfdom. For p thou haddest walked in p waye of God truly, p shuldest haue remayned styll safe in thyne awne lande.

* Lerne then where discrecyon is, where vertue is, where vnderstandyng is: that thou mayest knowe also from whence cometh longe lyfe, a necessary lypung, the lyght of the eyes, and quyetnes. Who cuer founde out hie place: or who came cuer into hys treasures.

Where are the princes of the heathen become, and soch as ruled the beastes vpon the earth: they that had their pastyme with p foules of the ayre, they that hoorded by syluer and gold (wherin men trust so moche) ad made no ende of their gatheringe: What is become of the that copned syluer, and were so carefull, and coude not bypunge their wokes to passe: they be roted out, & gone dow-ne to hell, and other me are come vp in their steades. Vponge me haue sene lyght, & dwelt vpon earth: but the waye of reformatio haue they not knowne, ner vnderstode the pa-thes therof: nether haue their chylde recea-ued it, pee right farre is it from the. It hath not bene herde of in the lande of Canaan, nether hath it bene sene at Cheman.

The Agarenes sought after wyfdom, but that which is earthly, lyke as the mar-chautes of the lande do. They of Cheman are conyng also, and they labour for wis-dome and vnderstandyng: but the waye of true wyfdom they knowe not: nether do they thinke vpon p pathes therof. O Israel how great is the house of God: & how large is the place of his confessio: * Great is he, & hath none ende: pee & vnmeasurable. What is become of those famous grauntes, that were so great of bodyes, and so worthy men of warre: those had not the Lorde chosen, nether haue they founde p waye of reforma-cyon, therefore were they destroyed: ad for so much as they had no wyfdom, they perished because of theyz foolysnesse.

Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take wyfdom there, and brought her downe fro the cloudes: Who hath gone ouer the see to fynde her, and hath chosen her aboue golde, ad so brought her byther: No man knoweth the wayes of wyfdom, nether is there eny that can seke out her pathes. But he p woteth all thynges, knoweth her, and he hath foude her out w his foreknowledge. * Thys same is he which prepared the carth at p begynnyng & fylled it with all maner of foules & beastes. * Whe he sendeth out p lyght, it goeth: and when he calleth it agayne, it obeyeth hym wyth feare. The starres kepe theyz watch, and geue theyz lyght, pee and that gladly. Whe he calleth them they saye: here we be. And so wyth chearfulnesse they shewe lyght vnto hym that made them.

* This is oure God, & there shall none other be compared vnto hym. It is he that hath founde out all wyfdom, and hath geuen her vnto Jacob his seruauit, and to Israel hys beloued. * Afterward dyd he shewe him selfe vpon earthe, and dwelt amonge men.

The. iiii. Chapter.

The reuerde of them that kepe the lawe, and the punishment of them that despyse it. A comparysone of p people begynne in captiuite. A comparysone of Ieru-salem, and vnder the figure therof, of the church. A consolacion and comfortyng of the same.

Hys is the booke of the commaunde-mentes of God, and the lawe that endureth for euer. All they that kepe it, shal come to lyfe: but soch as forsake it, shal come to death. Turne the O Jacob, and take holde of it: walke by this waye thow we hys bypntnesse and myne. Seue not thyne honoure to another, and thy wysdome to a straunge people. O Israel, * how happye are we, sayng p God hath shewed vs soch thyngges as are pleasaunt vnto hym: Be of good chere, thou people of God, O thou auncie Israel. * Now are ye solde amonge p heathen, howbeit, not for your vter destrucyon: but because ye prouoked God p Lorde to wrath and displeasure, therefore were ye deliuered vnto your enemies: for ye displeased p euer-lastyng God that made you, offeringe vnto deuils & not to God. Ye haue forgotten hym that brought you vp, and your nurse haue pe

pe greued, O Jerusalem.

When the lawe of the wrath of God was commynge vpon you, the sayde: herken O ye that dwell aboute Syon, for God hath brought me into great heynesse: and why? I se I captiuite of my people, of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlastyng God wyll bypunge vpon them. Wythioye dyd I noyly the, but now must I leane the wyth weppynge and sorow.

Let no man reioyce ouer me wyddowe & forsaken: which for the synnes of my chyldre am desolate of enery man. For why? they departed from y lawe of God: they wold not knowe his ryghteousnes, ner walke in the waye of his commaundementes: and as for the pathes of the truth and godlynesse, they had no lust to go in them.

O ye dwellers aboute Syon: come, and let vs call to remembraunce the captiuite, & the euerlastyng God hath brought vpon my sonnes & my daughters. * He hath brought a people vpon the from farre, an vncircumcised people and of a straunge language: whych nether regarde the olde, ner vntie the yong.

These haue carped awaye the deare beloued of my wyddowes, leauyng me alone, both desolate and childles. But alas, what can I helpe you? Now he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, deliuer you also fro the handes of our enemyes.

So your waye (O my chyldren) go your waye: for I am desolate & forsaken. * I haue put of the clothynge of peace, ad put vpon me the sack cloth of prayer; and for my tyme I wyll call vpon y moost hyest. Be of good cheare O my chyldren: crye vnto the Lord, and he shal deliuer you from y power of the prynces, your enemyes.

For verely, I haue euer a good hope of your prosperous health: yee a very gladnes is come vpon me from the holy one, because of the mercy that ye shall haue of oure euerlastyng saupoure.

Wyth mourning and weppynge dyd I let you go fro me, but withioye and perpetuall gladnes, shal the Lord bypung you agayne vnto me. Lyke as y neyghbours of Syon sawe your captiuite from God. Ene so shal they also se shortly poure health in God, which shal come on you with great honoure and euerlastyng woxypppe.

O my chyldre, * suffre patiently y wrath that shal come vpon you. For the enemye hath persecuted the, but shortly thou shalt se hys destruccyon, and shalt treade vpon hys necke. Wy derlynges haue gone rough harde wayes, for they are led awaye as a flocke that is scatred abrode wyth the enemyes. But be of good comforte (O my chyldren) and crye vnto y Lord: For he that led you awaye, hath you yet in remembraunce:

and lyke as ye haue bene mynded to swarue from your God, * so shall ye now endeouour your selues. y tymes more, to turne agayne and to seke hym. For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, shal bypung you euerlastyng loye agayne with your health. Take a good herte vnto the, O Jerusalem: for he which gaue the that name, exhorteth the so to do.

The wycked doers that now put the to trouble, shal perishe: and soch as haue reioyed at thy fall, shal be punyshed. The cytyes whom thy chyldren serue, and that haue carped awaye thy sonnes, shal be correct. For lyke as they be now glad of thy decaye (and reioyse at thy fall) so shall they mourne in theyr awne destruccyon. Theiope of theyr multitude shal be taken awaye, and theyr cheare shal be turned to sorowe. For a spye shal fall vpon the from the euerlastyng God longe to endure: and it shal be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

The. v. Chapter.

Jerusalem is moued into gladnes for the retourne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof, the church.

Jerusalem, loke aboute the towarde the east, and beholde the loye that cometh vnto the from God. For lo, thy sonnes (whō thou hast forsaken, and that were scatred abrode) come gathered together, from the east and west, reioysynge in the worde of the holy one, vnto the honoure of God.

But of thy mournynge clothes (O Jerusalem) and thy sorow, and decke the wyth the woxypppe and honoure, that cometh vnto the from God, with euerlastyng glory. God shal put the garment of righteousness vpon the, and sett a crowne of euerlastyng woxypppe vpon thine head: for vpon the wyll God declare hys bypghnesse, that is vnder the heauen. Yee an euerlastyng name shal be geuen the of God, wyth peace of ryghteousnesse, and the honoure of Goddes feare.

Aryse, O Jerusalem, stande vpon hye: loke aboute the towarde the east, and beholde thy chyldren gathered from the east, vnto the west: whych reioyce in the holy worde, haupnge God in remembraunce. They departed fro the onfote, and were led awaye of theyr enemyes: but now shal the Lord bypunge them carped with honoure, as chyldren of the kyngdom. For God is purposed to bypung downe all stoute mountaynes, yee and all hye rockes, to fyll the valleys, and so to make them euen wyth the grounde: that Israel maye be diligit to lye vnto y honoure of God. The woddes and all pleasaunt trees shal ouersadowe Israel, at the commauncommaundement of God. For hyther shall God bypunge Israel with ioyful myrth, and in the lyght of hys magestye: with the mercy and ryghteousnes, that cometh of him selfe.

The. vi. Chapter.

A copie of the epistle that Jeremie sent vnto the Jewes, whych were led awaye prisoners by the kyng of Babylon: wherein he certifieth them of the charge, that was commaunded hym of God.

Because of the synnes that ye haue done agaynst God, ye shall be * led awaye captiue vnto Babylō, euē of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon. So when ye become into Babylon, ye shall remayne there many yeaeres, ad for a lōge season: namely seuen generaciōs: and after that will I bypung you awaye peaceably from thence. Now shall ye se in Babylon, goddes of golde, of syluer, of wod and of stone, bozne vpon menshoulders, to cast out a fearfulnesse before the heathen. But loke that ye do not as the other: be not ye afrayed, and let not the feare of them ouercome you.

Therfore, when ye se the multitude of people woxyppynge them behynde ad before, saye ye in poure hertes: O Lord, * it is thou, that oughtest only to be woxypped: Myne Aungell also shal be with you, and I my selfe wyll care for your soules. As for the tymbre of those goddes, y carpenter hath polished them: yee gilted be they, ad layed ouer with siluer, yet are they but vayne thynges, and canot speake. Lyke as a wech that loneth peramours is trymply deckte, ene so are these made & hanged with golde. Crownes of golde verely haue they: goddes vpon their heades: so the prestes them selues take golde and syluer from them: and put it to theyr awne vles: yee they geue of the same vnto harlottes, and trymme theyr whores withall: agayne, they take it from the whores, and decke theyr goddes therwith. * Yet cannot these goddes deliuer the selues fro rust and mothes. When they haue couered them wyth clothynge of purple, they wypppe their faces for the dust of the temple, wherof theyr is moch among the. One hath a sceptre in hys hande, as though he were iudge of the coultre: yet can he not slaye soch as offende him. Another hath a sweard or an are in his hande, for all that is he nether able to defende hym selfe from battaylle, ner from murderers.

Why this ye maye vnderstande, that they be no goddes: therfore se that ye nether woxypppe them, ner feare them. For lyke as a vessel that a man vseth, is nothyng worth when it is broken, euen so is it wyth theyr goddes. When they be set vp in the temple, theyr eyes be full of dust, thozowe the fete of those that come in. And lyke as y dozes are shut in rounde aboute vpon hym that hath offended the kyng. Or as it were a dead body kepte besyde the graue. Euen so the prestes kepe the dozes with barres and lockes, lest their Goddes be spoyled with robbers. They set vp candels before them (yee verely and that many) wherof they canot se one but ene as blockes, so stand they in the temple. It is sayde, that the serpentes and wozmes, whych come of the earth, gnawe out their hertes, eatyng them and theyr clothes also, ad yet they felc it not. Theyr faces are black thozow the smoke y is in the temple. The oules, swalowes, and bydes fle vpon the, yee & y catteres runne ouer theyr heades.

Why this ye maye be sure, that they are not goddes, therfore feare them not. The golde that they haue, is to make them be wyfull: for all that, except some body dyght of their rust, they wyll geue no synne: and whē they were cast into a fourme, they felt it not.

They are bought for money & haue no byrth of lyfe wythin them. * They must be bozne vpon menshoulders, as those that haue no fete: wherby they declare vnto men, that they be nothyng worth. * Cōfounded be they then that woxypppe the. For yf they fal to the grounde, they cannot ryse vp agayne of them selues. Yee though one helpe them vp and set them ryght, yet are they not able to stande alone: but must haue y oppres set vnder the lyke deed me. As for the thyng that is offred vnto them, their prestes sell it, and abuse it: yee the prestes wyues take therof, but vnto the lycke and pooze they geue no thyng of it, the wemē wyth chyldre and the menstruous lape handes of their offrynges: Wy this ye maye be sure, that they are no goddes, therfore be not ye afrayde of them. From whence cometh it the, that they be called goddes? The women sytt before the goddes of syluer, golde and wood, and the prestes sytt in theyr temples, haupnge ope clothes, whose heades ad becrdes are shawed and haue nothyng vpon their heades: roring and cryeng vpon their goddes, as me do at the feast, when one is deed.

The prestes also take awaye the garmentes of the ymages, and deck their wyues ad chyldre wythal. Whether it be good or euil that eny man do vnto, the they are not able to recompence it: they can nether sett vp a kyngner put hi downe. In lyke maner they maye nether geue ryches, ner rewarde euil.

Though a man make a vowe vnto them and kepe it not, they wyll not requyre it. They can saue no man from deatē, nether deliuer the weake from the myghty. They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, ner helpe eny man at hys nede. They can shew no mercy to y wyddowe, ner do good to the fatherlesse

The songe of the

the childzen, which were put into the hote brennyng oven. The commen translacion readeth thys songe in the.iii. Chap. of Daniel.

And they walked in smyddest of flame, prayfynge Gods magnifyce p Lord.
Asarias stode vp, & prayde on this maner. Euen in the myddest of fyre opened he his mouth, & sayde: Blessed be p (O Lord God of oure fathers) ryght worthy to be prayfed & honoured is p name of thyne for euermore: for p art ryghteous i all the thynges p thou hast done to vs: Pce, saythfull are all thy woorkes, thy wayes are ryght, ad all thy iudgementes true. In all p thynges p hast brought vpo vs, & vpo p holy cytie of oure fathers (euen Ierusalim) p hast executed true iudgement: pee accor-dyng to ryght ad equyte hast p brought all these thynges vpo vs because of oure synnes.

For why we haue offended, & done wy-kedly, departynge fro the: * In all thynges haue we trespassed, ad not obeyed thy coma-ndementes, ner kepte the, nether done as p hast byddē vs, p we might prosper. * Therfore, all that thou hast brought vpo vs, and euery thyng that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done the in true iudgement: As in deli-ueryng vs into p handes of oure enemyes, amonge vngodly and wycked abhomyneous, & to an vnyghtuous kyng, pee p most frowarde vpon earth. And now we maye not open oure mouthes, we are become asha-me & reprofe vnto thy seruautes, ad to the that wooshyppē p. Per for thyne names sake (we beseeche the) geue vs not vp for euer, bryake not thy couenaunt, and take not a waue thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, for thy seruaunt Isaacs sake and for thy holy Israels sake. To who thou hast spoken & promised* that thou woldest multiplye the p sede as p starres of heauen, and as the sande that lyeth vpon the see shore. For we (O Lord) are become lesse then eny people, and be kepte vnder thys daye i all the world, because of oure synnes: So p now we haue nether pynce, duke, prophet, burntoffering, sacryfice, oblacion, incense, ner Sanctuary before the.

Reuert helesse, in a contryte herte and an humble sprete let vs be receaued, p we maye opteyne thy mercy. Lyke as in p burnt offeryng of rammes and bullockes, & lyke as in thousandes of fat lambes so lett oure offeryng be in thy syght this daye, that it maye please p. * For there is no confusion vnto the, p put there trust i the. And now we folowe the with all oure herte, we feare the, & sche-thy face. But vs not to shame, but deale w vs after thy lounge kindnesse, & according to p multitude of thy mercyes. Welouer vs by thy myracles (O Lord) and get thy name & honoure: that all they which do thy ser-uautes euell, maye be cofounded. Let them be ashamed thow thym almyghty power, & let they strength be broke: that they maye knowe, how p thou only art the Lord God, & honoure worthy thow out all p worlde.

And the kynges seruautes that put the in, ceased not to make the ouen hote wyth wyld fyre, dyse strawe, pitch and sagottes so that the flame wete oute of the ouen vpo a xliij. cubytes: pee it toke a waue & blet vp those Caldees, that it gat holde vpo besyde the ouen. But the Angell of the Lord cam downe into the ouen to Asarias and hys felowes, and smote the flamme of the fyre out of p ouen, and made the myddest of the ouen as it had bene a colde wynde blowynge: so p the fyre nether touched them, greued them, ner dyd them hurte. Then thei thre (as out of one mouth) prayfed, honoured, and blef-sed God in the fornace, sayenge,

* Blessed be thou, O Lord God of oure fathers: for thou art prayse and honoure wo-thy, pee and to be magnified for euermore.
* Blessed be p holy name of thy glory, for it is worthy to be prayfed, and magnified in all worldes. Blessed be thou in the holy temple of thy glory, for aboue all thynges thou art to be prayfed, pe & more the worthy to be magnified for euer. Blessed be p in y tro-ne of thy kyngdome, for aboue all p art wo-thy to be well spokē of, & to be more then ma-gnified for euer. Blessed be thou, that lokest thow the depe, and syttest vpon p Cherubyns: for thou art worthy to be prayfed, ad aboue all to be magnified for euer. Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauē, for thou art prayse and honoure worthy for euer.

¶ All ye woorkes of p lord: speake good of the Lord, prayse hym, & set hym vp for euer
* O ye angels of p Lord, speake good of the Lord, prayse hym, & set hym vp for euer.
O ye heauens, speake good of the Lord:
prayse hym, and set hym vp for euer.

¶ All ye waters that be aboue the firmament, speake good of the Lord: prayse hym and set hym vp for euer.

¶ All ye powers of p Lord, speake good of the Lord, prayse hym, & set hym vp for euer.
* O ye Sunne & Moone, speake good of p Lord: prayse hym, and set him vp for euer.

¶ O ye starres of heauen, speake good of the Lord: prayse hym, and set him vp for euer.

* O ye howers & dew, speake good of the Lord: prayse hym, and set him vp for euer.

¶ All ye wyndes of God, speake good of p Lord: prayse hym, and set him vp for euer.

¶ O ye fatherlesse. They goddes of wood, stone, golde, and syluer, are but euen as other stones, that be hewen of the mountayne. They that wooshyppē them, shall be confounded.

How shulde they then be taken for goddes?
Pee how darre men call them goddes? And though the caldees wooshypped them not, hearyng that they were but domme & could not speake. Per they them selues offe vnto Bell, and wolde sayne haue hym to speake: as who saye, they coulde sele, that maye not moue. But when these men come to understanding, they shal forsake the, for their god-des haue no felynge. A greute sorte of we-men gyde wyth coardes, spt in the stretes, and burne olyue beries. Now p one of them be coueyd awape, and lye wyth eny soch as come by: the casteth her neyghbours in p teth, because she was not so worthelye reputed, ner her coarde broken. Whatsoeuer is done for them, it is but in wayne and lost. How maye it then be thought o sayde, that they are goddes? Carpenters and golde smythes make them, nether be they eny other thyng but eue what the woorkemen wyll make of them. Pee the golde smythes the selues that make them, are of no longe continuance.
How shulde then the thynges that are made of them, be goddes? Clayne therfore are the thynges (pee very name is it) p they leue behynde them for they prosper. For as soone as there cometh eny warre or plage vpon them, then the prestes p magin, where they maye hyde them selues with the. How can men thynke then that they be goddes, which nether maye defende them selues fro warre, ner delouer them from mysfortune?
For seynge they be but of wood, of stone, of syluer and of golde: all people and kynges shall knowe hereafter that they be but wayne thynges: pee it shal be openly declared, that they be no goddes: but eue the very woorkes of mens handes, and that God hath nothing to do with them. (It is manifest then that they are no goddes, but the woorkes of mens handes, and no worke of God in the.) They can set no kyng in the lande, ner geue rayne vnto men. They can geue no sentence of a matter, nether defende the lande fro wrong.
For they are not able to do so moche as a crowe, p flyeth betwixte heauen and earth.

¶ When there happeneth a fyre into the house of those goddes of woodde, and syluer, and of golde, the prestes wyll escape and saue them selues, but the goddes burne as the balkes therein. They cannot withstāde eny kyng or battel: how maye it the be thought or graunted, p they be goddes? Moreover, these goddes of wood, of stone, of golde and syluer maye nether defende them selues fro theues ner robbers: pee the very wycked are stronger then they. These stripe them out of their apparell, that they be clothed withall, these take they golde and syluer from the,

and so get the away: pee can they not helpe the selues. Therfore it is moche better for a man, to be a kyng, & so to shewe his power: or els a profitable vessel in a house, wherein he that oweth it might haue pleasure: pee or to be a doze in a house, to kepe soch thynges safe as be therein, the to be soch a wayne god.
The Sunne, the Moone and all the starres, seyng they geue they thyme and lyght, are obediēt, and do men good. When the lyghtenynge glysteth, all is cleare. The wynde bloweth in euery countre: and whā God comaundeth the cloudes to go rounde aboute the whole world, they do as they are byddē.
When the fyre is sent downe from aboue ad comāunded, it burneth vpon hylls & waddes.
But as for those goddes, they are not lyke one of these thynges, nether in bewty nether strength. Wherfore men shulde not thynke ner saye that they be goddes, seynge they cā nether geue sentence in iudgment, ner do me good. For so moche now as ye are sure, that they be no goddes, then feare them not. For they can nether speake euil ner good of kinges. They can shewe no tokens in heauē for the hepthe, nether thyme as the Sunne, ner geue lyght as the Moone: pee the vnrea-sonable bestes are better then they, for they can get them vnder the rose, and do the sel-ues good. So can ye be certifyd by no maner of meanes, that they be goddes: therfore feare them not. For lyke as a scarcrowe in a garden of herbes kepeth nothyng, euen so are they goddes of wood, of syluer and gold:
and lyke as a whytethorne in an orcharde, that euery byrde sitteth vpon: pee lyke as a deed body that is cast in the darcke. Eue so is it wyth those goddes of wood, syluer and golde. By the purple ad scarlet whych they haue vpon them, and soone saydeth a waue, ye maye vnderstande, that they be no god-des: pee they them selues shall be consumed at the last, whych shall be a great confusion of the land. Blessed is the godly man, that hath no pimages and wooshypeth none, for he shal be farre from reprofe.

The ende of the prophete Baruch, which is not in the Canon of the Hebrie.

Here dwelt a man in Babylō, called Joachim, & toke a wyfe, whose name was Susanna, & daughter of helchia, a very faire womā and soch one as feared God. Her father and her mother also were godly people & taught theyr daughter accordyng to the lawe of Moses. Now Joachim (her husbāde) was a greater rich mā, and had a fayre orcharde sittyng vnto hys house. And to him resorted the Jewes comely, because he was a mā of reputacyon amonge them. The same yea-re were there made two iudges, soch as the Lorde speaketh of: All the wyckednesse of Babylō, cometh from the elders (that is) from the iudges, whych seme to rule the people. These came oft to Joachims house, and all soch as had eny thyng to do in the lawe came thither vnto them.

Now when the people came agayne at after noone. Susanna went into her husban-des orcharde, to walke. The elders seinge thys, that she went in daylye, and walked: they burned for lust to her, yee they were almost out of theyr wyttes, and cast downe theyr eyes, that they wuld not se heauē, ner remembre, that God is a ryghteous iudge.
For they were both wounded with the loue of her, nether durst one shewe another his greife. And for shame, they durst not tell her theyr lordynate lust, that they wolde sayne haue had to do w her. Yet they layed wayte for her earnestly from dawe to dawe, that they myght (at the leest) haue a syght of her.
And the one sayde to the other: Up, lett vs goo home, for it is dyner tyme. So they wēt theyr waye from her.

When they returned agayne, they came together, enqueryng out & matter betwixe them selues: yee the one tolde & other of hys wycked lust. Then appoynted they a tyme, when they myght take Susanna alone.

It happened also & they spyed oute a conuenient tyme, when she went forth to wal-ke (as her maner was) & no body wyth her, but two maydens, & thought * to wash her selfe in the garde, for it was an hote season.
And there was not one person there, excepte the two elders, that had byd them selues to beholde her. So she sayde to her maydens: go fet me oyle and sope, and shut the orcharde dore, that I maye wash me. And they dyd as she bad them, and shut the orcharde dore, ād went out them selues at a backe dore, to fet the thyng that she had comaunded: but Susanna knewe not, that the elders laye there byd wyth in. Now when the maydens were were gone forth, the two elders gat the vp: and ranne vpo her, saying: now the orchard dores are shut, that no man can se vs: we haue a lust vnto the, therfore consent vnto vs. and lye wyth vs.

If thou wylt not, we shall byynge a testimoniall agaynst the: that there was a poge felowe wyth the, and that thou hast sent awaye thy maydens fro the for the same cause. Susanna syghed, & sayde: Alas. I am in trouble on euery syde. Though I folowe your mynde, it wyl be my death, & yf I co-sent not vnto you, I ca not escape youre hades. Well, it is better for me, to fall into your hāde wythout the dede dopuge, then to syn-ne in the syght of the Lorde: and wyth that, she cryed out wyth a loude voyce: the elders also cryed out agaynst her.

Then ranne there one to the orcharde dore, and smote it open. Now when the seruantes of the house herde the crye in the or-charde, they rushed i at the backe dore, to se what the matter was. So when the elders tolde them, & seruautes were greatly ashamed, for why? there was neuer soch a reporte made of Susanna. On the morow after came the people to Joachim her husbāde, & & two elders came also, full of myscheu-pynagynacyō agaynst Susanna, to byynge her vnto death, & spake thus befoze the people: Sende for Susanna & daughter of helchias, Joachims wyfe. And immediatly they sent for her. So she came wyth her father & mother, her chyldren & all her kynred. Now Susanna was a tender person, and meruelous fayre of face. Therfore the wycked mē commaunded to take of the clothes fro her face (for she was couered) that at the leest, they myght so be satisfied i her beutie. The her frendes, yee and al they that knewe her, beganne to wepe.

These two elders stode vp in the myddest of the people, & layed theyr handes vpon the heade of Susanna: which wepte, and loked vp towarde heauen, for her herte had a sure trust in the Lorde. And the elders sayde: As we were walkyng in the orcharde alone, thys woman came in wyth her two may-dens: whom she sent awaye from her, & sparred & orcharde dozes: wyth & a ponge felowe (which there was byd) came vnto her, and laye wyth her. As for vs, we stode in a corner of the orcharde. And when we sawe this wyckednes, we ranne to her: and perceaued, & they had medled together. But we coulde not holde hym, for he was stronger then we:
thus he opened the dore ād gat hym awaye.

Now when we had taken thys woman, we asked her, what ponge felowe this was:
but she wolde not tell vs. This is the matter, and we be wytnesses of the same.

The comē sorte beleued them, as those that were the elders and iudges of the people, ād so they cōdēd her to death. Susanna cryed out wyth a loude voyce, and sayd: O uenrable God, * thou sercher of secretes, & that * Deu. iii. c. knowest all thynges afore they come to passe: thou wotest, & they haue borne false witnes agaynst me: & beholde, I must dye, whereas I neuer dyd eny soch thynges, as these men haue malyciously inuēted agaynst me.

And the Lorde herde her voyce. For whē the was led forth to death, the Lorde rapled vp the sprete of a poge child, whose name was Daniel, whych cryed w a loude voyce: * I am cleane from this bloude. The all & people turned them towarde hi, & sayd: What meane these wordes, that thou hast spokē?
Daniel stode in the myddest of them, & sayd: Arc ye soch fooles, & ye chyldren of Israhel, that ye can not discerne ner knowe the tru-eth? Ye haue here condēd a daughter of Israhel vnto death, and knowe not the trueth wherfore: So o spt on iudgemēt agayne, for they haue spokē false wytnesse, agaynst her.

Wherfore the people turned agayne in all the haste. And the elders (that is, the princi-pall heades) sayd vnto hi: come spt downe here amonge vs, and shewe vs this matter, seyng God hath geuen & as greate honoure as an elder. And Daniel said vnto the: * But these two asyde one from another, and then shall I heare the. Whē they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them and sayd vnto hym: O thou olde cankerbe-carle, that hast vled thy wyckednesse so lōg: thyne vngreacyō dedes which thou hast done afore, are now come to lyght. For thou hast geuen false iudgements, thou hast oppressed the innocent, & letten the gyltye go fre where as yet & Lorde sayeth: * The innocēt & ryghtus? se thou slaye not. Uel thā, yf thou hast sene her tell me vnder what tre lawest thou them talkyng together? he answered: vnder a Holbery tree. And Daniel sayde: very well, now thou lvest euen vpon thyne head. Lo the messaunger of the Lorde hath reccaued the sentence of hym, to cut the in two. Then put he hym asyde, & called for the other, & sayde vnto hym: O thou sele of Canaan, but not of Juda: Kapzelle hath dysceaued the, ād lust hath subuerted thyne herte. Thus dealte ye afore wyth the daughters of Israhel, and they (for feare) consented vnto you: but the daughter of Juda wolde not abyde youre wyckednesse. Now tell me thā vnder what tree dydest & take the, speakyng together: he answered: vnder a pō-granate tree. Then sayde Daniel vnto him: very wel, now thou lvest also eue vpon thy-ne head. The messaunger of the Lorde stan-deth wayting wyth the swerde, to cut the in two and to slaye you both.

Wyth that, all the whole multitude gaue

The story of Bell / & of the Dragon, which is the. xliii.

Chapter of Daniel after the Latyn.

^{* Dan. i. c.} Daniel dyd eate at pkynges table, & was had in reuerence aboue all his frendes. There was at Babylō an ymage, called Bel: & there were spyt vpo hym euery daye. ^{* Dan. i. c.} xi. c. xpe, ad syre greate pottes of wyne. Hym dyd pkynges worshyp hym selfe, & wente daylye to honour hi: but Daniel worshypped hys awone God. And p kyng sayde vnto hym: why dost not p wor-shyppe Bel: he answered & sayde: * Because I maye not worshyp thynges p be made w handes, * but the lypunge God, which made heauē & earth: & hath power vpo al fleche.
The kyng sayde vnto hym: thinkest p not that Bel is a lypunge God: & seyst thou not how moch he eateth and dryncketh eu-ry daye: Daniel smyled, and sayde: O kyng, disceane not thy selfe: for thys is but made of claye within, ad of metall wythout, * nether eateth he euer any thyng.

^{* Dan. i. c.} Then the kyng was wroth, & called for his prestes, and sayde vnto them: If ye tell me not who is thys, that eateth vp these ex-penes, ye shall dye: but p ye cā certifie me that Bel eateth the, then Daniel shall dye, for he hath spokē blasphemy agaynst Bel.
And Daniel sayd vnto the kyng: let it so be accordyng as thou hast sayde: The prestes of Bel were. lxx. besyde theyr wyues & children. And the kyng wente with Daniel into the temple of Bel. So Bels prestes sayd Lo, we wyll go out, and set thou the meate there (O kyng) and poure in the wyne: the spitt the doze fast, and scale it wth thynne awone sygnet: and to morow when thou comest in, p thou fyndest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we wyll suffre death: or els Daniel, that hath lyed vpon vs. The prestes thought them selues sure ynough, for vnder the altare they had made a prey in traunce, and there wente they in euer, & dyd eate vp what there was.

So when they were gone forth, the kyng set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had comaunded his seruauntes to bringe all theys, & these he syfeted thowow out all the temple, that the kyng myght se. Then wente they out, and sparrd the doze, scalpyng it wth p kynges sygnet, & so departed. In the nyght came the prestes with theyr wyues & chyldren (as they were wote to do) & dyd eate ad dryncke vp al. In the mornynge by tymes at the bycake of the daye, the kyng arose, and Daniel wth hym. And the kyng sayd: Daniel, are the scales whole yet: he answered: Yee (O kyng) they be whole. Now as soone as he had opened p doze, the kyng looked in to the aultare, and cryed wth a loude voyce: Greate art thou O Bel, & with the is no disceate. The laughed Daniel, and helde the kyng that he shuldenot go in, and sayd: Be holde the pauement, marke well, whose fo-testepes are these: The kyng sayd: I se the foresetepes of men, women and chyldren.

Therfore the kyng was angrie, and to-ke the prestes, with theyr wyues and chyldren, and they shewed hym the prey dozes, where they came in, & dyd eate vp such thyn-ges as were vpon p aultare. For the whych cause the kyng slewe the, & deliuered Bel into Daniels power, which destroyed hym and his temple.

And in that same place there was a great Dragon which they of Babylō worshypped. And the kyng sayd vnto Daniel, sayest thou that this is but a God of metall also: lo, he lyueth, he eateth ad dryncketh: so that thou canst not saye, p he is no lypunge God, therfore worshyppe hym. Daniel sayd vnto the kyng: I wyll worshyppe the Lorde my God, * he is the true lypunge God: as for this he is not the God of lyfe. But geue me leaue (O kyng) and I shall destroye thys Dragon without swearde or staffe. The kyng sayd: I geue p leaue. The Daniel toke pitch fatte and heartye woll, & dyd sette them together, and made lompes therof: this he put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sonder: and Daniel sayd: lo there is he whom ye worshypped. When they of Ba-bylō herde p, they toke greate indignacion and gathered them together agaynst p kyng, sayinge: The kyng is become a Jewe and he hath destroyed Bel, he hath slayne the the Dragon, and put the prestes to death.

So they came to the kyng, and sayd: let vs haue Daniel, or els we will destroye the and thyng house.

Now when the kyng sawe, that they rus-shed in so soze vpon hym, and that necessite cōstrayned him, * he deliuered Daniel vnto them: which cast hym into the lpons denne, where he was lyre dapes. In the dēne there were seuen lpons, and they had geuen them euery daye two bodyes & two shepe: whych then were not geuen them, to the intent that they myght deuoure Daniel.

There was in Jewry a prophete called Abacuc, which had made potage, and broke bred in a depe platter, and was goynge into the felde, for to bynge it to p reapers. But the Angell of the Lorde sayde vnto Abacuc go carpe the meate that thou hast lto Babylō, vnto Daniel, which is i the lpons dēne.
And Abacuc sayde: Lorde, I neuer sawe Babylō: and as for the dēne, I knowe it not. * Then the Angell of the Lorde toke hi by the toppe, and bare hym by the heare of the head, and (thowow a myghtie wynde) set him in Babylō vpon the dēne. And Aba-cuc cried, sayenge: O Daniel * p seruaunt of God, haue, take p break fast, that God hath sent the. And Daniel sayde: O God, halt p thought vpon me: well, thou neuer faplest them that loue the. So Daniel arose, & dyd eate: and the Angell of the Lorde sett Aba-cuc in his awone place agayne immediatly.

Alpon the seuenth daye, the kyng wente to be wepe Daniel: and whē he came to the denne, he looked in: and beholde, Daniel sat i the myddest of the lpons. Then cryed the kyng with a loude voyce, sayig: Greate art thou, O Lorde God of Daniel: * & he drewe hym out of p lpons dēne. * As for those that were the cause of hys destruccyon, he dyd cast the into the dēne, and they were deuou-red in a moment before his face.

After thys, wote the kyng vnto all people, kynredes and tungen, that dwelt in all countreys, sayenge: peace be multiplyed to you. My commaundement is, in all the dominio of my realme: that men feare & stāde in awe of Daniels God, * for he is p lypunge God, whych endureth euer: hys kyngdome abydeth vncorrupte, and his power is euerlastynge. It is he that can deliuer and saue: he doth wonders and maruelous worckes in heauen and in earth, for he hath saued Daniel from the power of the lpons.

Lorde Almyghtie, God of oure fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and of the ryghteous seade of them: whych hast made heauen and earth, wth all the ornament therof, whych haste ordered the see by the woode of thy cōmaundement: whych hast putte vp the depe, and hast sealed it for thy fearfull and laudable name, whych all men feare, ad tremble before the face of thy vertue, and for the anger of thy threathynge, the which is importable to synners. But p mercy of thy promes is greate and vnsca-cheable: for thou arte the Lorde God most hyghe, aboue all the earth, long suffrynge, & exceedynge mercifull, & repentaunt for the malice of me. Thou Lorde after thy goodnes hast promysed repētaunce of p synners of synners: and thou that arte the God of p ryghtwes, hast not put repētaunce to the ryghtwes Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, into them that haue synned agaynst the: But because I haue synned aboue the nombere of the sandes of the see, and that myne iniquities are multiplyed, I am humbled wth many bandes of pson, and ther is in me no breathyng. I haue prouoked thynge anger, and haue done euell before the, in commyttyng ge abhominacyons and multiplying offences. And now I bowe the knees of my hert, requyrynge goodnes of the O Lorde I haue synned, Lorde I haue synned, and knowe myne iniquyte. I desyre the by prayer, O Lorde forgeue me: forgeue me and destroye me not wth myne iniquytes, nether do thou alwayes remēbre myne euilles to pu-nysh them, but saue me (whyche am vnwoz-thy) after thy grete mercy: and I wyll the Machabees.

The fyfth Chapter.

After the death of Alexander the kynge of Macedon, Antiochus takeh the kyngdom, and of the chyl- dren of Israel make couenaunt wth the Gentiles. An- tiochus subdueth Egypte and Iherusalem vnto his do- minion. Iherusalem beinge burned maketh lawes of her owne, and so: byddeth to kepe Goddes lawes. Antiochus setteth by an ydole ouer the altier of God.

After that Alexander the sonne of Philyppe, kyng of Macedo- nia wente forth of the lade of Cethim, & newe Dari⁹ kyng of the persyas and Medes: It happened, that he toke greates warres in hade, wane very many stroge cy- tyres, & newe many kynges of p^rarth: goyng thorow to p^rendes of p^rwoylde, and gettyng many p^royles of p^rpeople: In so moch, p^rthe woylde stode in greates awe of hym, & ther fore was he proude in his herte. Now when he had gathered a myghty stronge host, & subdued p^rlandes & people wth they^r prin- ces, so p^rthey became tributaryes vnto him: he fel lyk. And when he perceaued p^rhe must nedes dye, he called for his noble estates (whych had bene brought vp wth hym of chyl- dren) & parted his kyngdome amoge the, whyle he was yet alpye. So Alexander raygned. xii. yere, and then dyed.

After his death fell the kyngdome vnto his princes, and they optayned it euery one in his rowme, and caused them selues to be crowned as kynges: and so dyd they^r chyl- dre after them many yeres, and moch wy- ckednesse increased in p^rwoylde. Out of these came the vngreacyous rote, noble Antioch⁹ the sonne of Antiochus the kyng (whych had bene a pledge at Rome) and he raygned in the C. xxxvii. yere of the empyre of the Grekes.

In those dayes wete there out of Israell wycked men, whych moued moch people wth they^r coucell, saye:ge: Lett vs go & make a couenaunt wth the heathen, p^rare rounde aboute vs: for lence we departed fro them, we haue had moch sorow. So thys deuyce pleased them well, and certayne of p^rpeople toke vp the for to go vnto p^rkyng, which gaue the lycence to do after the ordinaunce of p^rheathen. Then set they vp an ope scole (at Iherusalem) of the lawes of the heathen & were nomore c^rcumcysed: but forsoke p^rholy Testamente, & toyned them selues to p^rheathen. & were cleane solde to do myschete. So when Antiochus beganne to be mygh- tie in his kyngdome, he wente aboute to op- tayne p^rlade of Egypte also that he myght haue the domynio of two realmes. Upon this entred he into Egypte w a stroge host, wth charrettes, elephantes, horsem and a greates nombre of wyppes, and beganne to warre agaynst Ptolomy the kyng of Egp- pte. But Ptolomy was afrayed of hym, ad fled: and many of his people were wolded to death. Thus Antiochus wane many stro- ge cyties, & toke awaye greates good out of the lande of Egypte.

And after that Antiochus had synpten Egypt, he turned agayne in the C. llii. yea- re, & wente towarde Israel, & came vp to Je- rusalem wth a myghty people: & stred prou- dly into the Sanctuary, and toke awaye the golden altare, p^rcandylstycke and all the or- namentes ther of, the table of the shewbryd, the pouryng vessel, the chargers, the golden spones, the vayle, p^rcrownes, and golde ap- parell of the temple, & brake downe all. He toke also the siluer & golde, the p^recious Je- welles, & the secrete treasures that he founde. And when he had take awaye all together, caused a greates murther of men, and so ful- fylled his malycious pynde, he departed into his awne lande.

Thus there arose greates heynesse and misery in all p^rlande of Israel. The princes & the elders of the people mourned, the pon- ge men and the maydens were despyled, and the fayre beute of women was chaunged: the bydegrome and the byde toke them to mournyng: the lande and those that dwelt therein, was moued: for all the house of Ja- cob was brought to confusyon.

After two yeres the kyng sent his chefe treasurer vnto p^rcities of Juda, which came to Iherusalem wth a great multitude of peo- ple, speakeinge peaceable wordes vnto the but all was disceate: for wha they had geue hym credence, he fel sodenly vpon the cytie, & smote it sore, & destroyed moch people of Israel. And when he had spoyled the cite, he set fyre on it, castyng downe howles and walles on euery syde. The women and their chyl- dre toke they captiue, & led awaye their catel. Then buylded they p^rcytie of Dauid wth a great ad thycke wall, & wth mygh- tie towres, and made it a stronge holde for them. Besyde all this they set wycked peo- ple and vngodly me to kepe it, & hoared it wth weapens & vntayles: gathered the goodes of Iherusalem, & layed them vp there: thus became it a thewycastell.

And thys was done to laye wayte for the people that went into the Sanctuary, and for the cruell destruccyon of Israel. Thus they shed innocent bloude on euery syde of p^rSanctuary, and despyled it: In so moch that the cytiesyns were sayne to departe, and the cytie became an habitacon of straungers, beyng desolate of her awne sece, for her aw- ne natyues were sayne to leaue her. Her Sa- ctuary was cleane wasted, her holy dayes were were turned into mournyng, her Sabba- then were had in derisyon, and her honoure brought to naught. Loke how great her glo- ry was afore, so greates was her confusyon, & her loye turned in to sorowe.

Antiochus also the kyng sent out a co- mission vnto all his kyngdome, that al the people shulde be one. The they left euery ma- his lawe, and all the heathen agreed to p^r commaundement of kyng Antiochus: Pee many of the Israelites consented there vnto, offeryng vnto Idols, & despylinge the Sab- bath. So the kyng Antiochus let his mes- saungers wth his commissyon vnto Jeru- salem, & to all the cyties of Juda: that they shulde folow the lawes of the heathen, and forbad ether burnt offeryng, meat offerige or peace offeringe to be made in the temple of God, and that there shulde no Sabbath ner hye feast daye be kepte: but commaunded, p^r the Sanctuary & the holy people of Israel shulde be despyled.

He commaunded also that there shulde be sett vp other altares, t^reples & Idols: to of- fre vp wynges flech & other vnclene beastes: that men shulde leaue they^r chyl- dren vncir- cumcised, to despyle they^r soules wth al ma- ner of vnclennesse and abhominacyons: p^r they myght so forget the lawe, & chaunge all the holy ordinaunces of God: & that whosoeuer wolde not do accordyng to the comaunde- ment of kyng Antioch⁹, shulde suffre death. In lyke maner commaunded he thorow out all his realme, and sett rulers ouer the peo- ple, for to compell them to do these thynges commaundyng the cyties of Juda to do sa- crifyce vnto Idols.

Then wente the people vnto the hearth by heapes, forsoke the lawe of the Lord, ad comytted moch euell in the lande: pee ad cha- ced out p^rsecrete Israelytes, which had hyd them selues in corners and preup places.

The xv. daye of the moneth Casleu, in the C. lvi. yere, sett kyng Antiochus an abho- minable Idol of desolacyon vpo the altare of God, and they buylded altares thorow out all the cyties of Juda on euery syde, be- fore the doores of the houses, and in the stre- tes: where they bent incense, and dyd sacri- fyce. And as for p^rbookes of p^rlawe of God, they bent them in the fyre, and ret them in peces. What soeuer he was that had a boke of the Testament of the Lord found by hi, pee whosoeuer endeuored hymselfe to kepe the lawe of the Lord, the kynges comaun- demēt was, that they shulde put hym to de- ath. And thorow his auctorite they execu- ted these thynges euery moneth, vpo p^rpeo- ple of Israel that were founde in the cyties.

The fyue and twente daye of the mo- neth what tyme as they dyd sacrificy vpo p^raltare (whych stode in p^rsteade of p^raltare of the Lord) accordyng to the commaun- dement of kyng Antiochus, they put cer- tayne women to death, which had caused they^r chyl- dre to be circumcised: Not only p^r, but they hanged vp the chyl- dren by the nec- kes thorow out all they^r houses, and stowe the circumcisers of them.

Pet were there many of the people of Is- rael, whych determined in them selues, that they wolde not eate vnclene thynges: but chose rather to suffre death, then to be des- pilyd wth vnclene meates. So because they wolde not breake the blessed lawe of God, they were cruelly slayne. And thys great tyranny increased very sore vpon the people of Israel.

The ii. Chapter.

The mournyng of Machabias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy cytie. They refuse to do sacri- fyce vnto Idols. The zeile of Machabias for the lawe of God. They are slayne and will not fight agayne be- cause of the Sabbath daye. Machabias dynging comma- undeth his sonnes to speke by the woide of God after the example of the sathers.

In those dayes there dyd stode vp one Machabias the sonne of Symeon (the prest, out of p^rkyndred of Iodanis) from Iherusalem, and dwelt vpon p^rmount of Modin, & had v. sonnes: Ihon called God- dis Symeon, called Thasi: Judas, otherwile called Machabees: Eleazer, otherwile called Abard: and Jonathas, whose spyna- me was Apphus. These sawe the euil, that was done amoge the people of Juda ad Je- rusalem. And Machabias sayd: wo is me, alas that euer I was borne, to se thys mise- ry of my people, and the p^rteous destruccio of the holy cytie: and thus to syt so lye, it be- inge delpyred into the handes of the enemy- es. Her Sanctuary is come into the power of straungers: her temple is, as it were a ma- that hath lost his good name: her p^recious ornamentes are carped awaye captiue. Her olde men are slayne in the stretes, & her yonge men are fallen thorow p^rswearde of the enemyes.

What people is it, that hath not some pos- sessyon in her kyngdome? D^r who hath not gotten some of her spoyles? All her glory is taken awaye. She was a fre woma, & now she is become an handmayde. Beholde oure Sanctuary, oure beute & honoure is was- ted awaye, & despyled by p^rGentiles. What helpeth it vs then to lyue? And Machabi- as rete his clothes, he and his sonnes, & put sackcloth vpon them, & mourned very sore.

Then came the men thither whych were sent of kyng Antiochus, to compell soch as were fled into the cytie of Modyn, for to do sacrificy and to burne incense vnto Idols, and to forlake the lawe of God. So, many of the people of Israel consented and encly- ned vnto the, but Machabias and his son- nes remayned stedfast. Then spake p^rcom- mander myllponers of kynge Antiochus, and sayde vnto Mathathias: Thou art a noble man, of hys reputacion and grete in this cytie, haupnge sayre chyldren and byethen. Come thou therfore fyll, and fulfyll þe kynge's commaundment, lyke as all the heathen haue done, yee and the men of Iuda, and soch as remaine at Jerusalem: so shal thou and thy chyldren be in þe kynge's fauoure & enryched with golde, syluer & grete rewardes.

Mathathias answered, and spake wyth a loude voyce. Though all nacions obeye þe kynge Antiochus, and sal awaye euery man from keepynge the lawe of thei fathers: though they consente to his commaundmentes, yet will I and my sonnes & my byethen, not fall from the lawe of oure fathers. God forbyd we shoulde, that were not good for vs, that we shoulde forsake the lawe and ordinaunces of God, and to agre vnto the commaundment of kynge Antiochus. Therefore we wyl do no such sacrifice, nether breake þe statutes of oure lawe, to go another waie. And when he had spoken these wordes, there came one of the Jewes, whych openly in the sight of al, dyd sacrifice vnto the Idols vpon the aulter in the cytie of Ierusalem, acording to the kynge's commaundment.

When Mathathias sawe this, he greued hym at the herte, so that hys raynes shoke wythall, & hys wyath kyndled for very zeale of the lawe. Wyth that, he sturr vp, & kylled the Jewe whiche dyd the aulter: yee & slew the kynge's myllponer, that compelled hym to do sacrifice, & destroyed the aulter at the same tyme: soch a zeale had he vnto þe lawe of God. Lyke as Phinehes dyd vnto zabdi sonne of Salom, And Mathathias cryed wyth a loude voyce thowow the cytie, sayenge: Whoso is feruent in the lawe, & wil kepe the couenaunt, let him folowe me. So he and his sonnes fled into the mountaynes, & left all that euer they had in the cytie. Many other godly men also departed to þe wilderness wyth thei chyldren, thei wyues & thei catell, and remainyd there: for þe tyranny increased soze vpon them.

Now when the kynge's scrutautes, and the hoost, whych was at Jerusalem in þe cytie of Dauid herde, þe certayne men had broken the kynge's commaundment, and were gone they wape to the wilderness into secrete places & that there were many departed after them: they folowed vpon them, to fyght agaynst them in the Sabbath daye, & sayde: Wyl ye yet rebell? Get you hence, and do the commaundment of kynge Antiochus & ye shall lyue. They answered: We wyl not go forth, nether wyl we do the kynge's commaundment, to defyle the Sabbath daye. Then beganne they to fyght agaynst them, neuertheless they gaue the none other answer, nether cast they one stone at the, nor made fast they þe places, but sayde: We wyl dye all in oure innocency, heauen and earth shall testifie with vs, that ye put vs to death wrongeously. Thus they fought agaynst them vpon the Sabbath, & slew both men & catell, thei wyues & thei chyldren, to the nombze of a thousande people.

When Mathathias and his frendes herde this, they mourned for them ryght soze and sayde one to another: If so be that we all do as oure byethen haue done, & fyght not for oure lyues & for oure lawes agaynst þe heathen: then shall they the soner rote vs out of þe earth. So they concluded amonge the selues at the same tyme, sayenge: What soner he be that cometh to make battayll wyth vs vpon the Sabbath daye, we wyl fyght agaynst hym, & not dye al, as oure byethen þe were murthured so hapnously. Upo this came the Synagoge of the Jewes vnto the stronge men of Israel, all soch as were feruent in the lawe. And all they that were fled for persecucion, came to helpe them, and to stande by them: In so moch that they gathered an hoost of men, and slew the wycked doers in thei gelyousy, and the vngodly men in thei wyath. Some of the wycked fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

Thus Mathathias & his frendes wente aboute, and destroyed the aulter, and circumsyded the chyldren, that had not yet receaued circumsydon: as many as they founde within the costes of Israel: and tolowed myghtely vpon the chyldren of pryde, & this acte prospered in thei handes: In so moch, that they kepte the law agaynst the power of the Gentyles & the kynge, and gaue no ouer thei domynion vnto wycked doers.

After this when the tyme dretwe on fast, that Mathathias shoulde dye, he sayde vnto his sonnes: Now is pryde and persecucion increased, now is the tyme of destruccyon & wyathfull dyspleasure: wherfore (O my sonnes) be ye feruent in the lawe, and rewarde your lyues for the Testamēt of the fathers call to remembrance what actes our fathers dyd in thei tyme, so shal ye receaue grete honoure and an euerlastyng name.

Remembre Abrahā, was not he founde saythfull in tentacion, and it was reckened vnto hi for ryghteousnes? Joseph in tyme of hys trouble kepte the commaundment & was made a lord of Egypt. Phinehes our father was so feruent for þe honoure of God, that he obtayned the couenaunt of an euerlastyng pze for hys name. Josue for fulfyllinge þe worde of God, was made the captayne of Israel. Caleb bare recorde before þe congregacion, and receaued an heretage. Dauid also in his mercifull kyndnesse, obtayned the throne of an euerlastyng kynngdome.

Elas

Elas beinge gelous & feruent in the lawe, was taken vp into heauen. Hananias, Alas and Misael remainyd stedfast in fayth and were deliuered out of the fyre. In lyke maner Daniel beinge vngodly, was saved from the mouth of the Lyons.

And thus ye maye consyde thowow out all ages sence þe worlde begane, that whosoever put their trust in God, were not overcome. I care not ye thei wordes of an vngodly man, for his gloze is but donge and wormes: to daye is he set vp, and to morow is he gone: for he is turned into earth, & hys memorial is come to naught. Wherfore (O my sonnes) take good hertes vnto you, and quyte your selues lyke men in the lawe: for ye do the thynges that are comaunded you in the lawe of the Lord your God, ye shall optayne grete honoure therin.

And beholde, I know that your brother Symon is a man of wysdome: se þe ye geneare vnto him alwaye, he shal be a father vnto you. As for Judas Machabeus, he hath euer bene myghty and stronge fro his youth vp: let him be your captayne, and orde the battayll of the people: thus shall ye bringe vnto you all those that fauoure the lawe, & se that ye auenge the wronge of your people, and recompence the heathen agayne, & applye your selues whole to the commaundment of the lawe. So he gaue them hys blessinge, and was layed by hys fathers: & died in the .c. & xlvi. yere at Ierusalem, where hys sonnes buryed hym in hys fathers sepulchre, and all Israel made grete lamentacion for hym.

The .iii. Chapter.

Judas so made ruler ouer the Jewes. He killeth Appollonius & Seron þe prince of Syria. The confederacy of Judas towardes God. Judas better lieth to fyght agaynst Elias, whom Antiochus had made captayne ouer his host. The prayer of the abnegers.

When stode vp Judas Machabeus in his fathers steade, & all hys byethen helpe hym: and so dyd all they that helde wyth hys father, & fought wyth cherefulness for Israel. So Judas gat hys people grete honoure: he put on a best plate as a giante, & arayed hym selfe with hys harness, and defended the hoste wyth hys swearde. In his actes he was lyke a Lyon, & as a Lyons whelpe roaringe at his praye. He was an enemye to the wycked, & hunted the out: & bent vp those that vexed his people: So that hys enemyes fled for feare of hym, & all the woorkers of vngodlynes were put to trouble: soch lucke and prosperite was in hys hade. This greued diuerse kynge, but Jacob was greatly reioysed thowow his actes, and he gatt hym self a grete name for euer.

He wente thowow the cityes of Iuda, destroyinge the vngodly out of them, turning awaye the wyath from Israel, and receauynge soch as were oppressed: and the fame of him wete vnto the uttermost parte of the earth. Then Appollonius (a prynce of Syria) gathered a myghty grete hoost of the heathen & out of Samaria, to fyght agaynst Israel. Whych when Judas perceaued, he wente forth to mete hym, fought wyth him, slew him, and a grete multitude with him, the remnaunt fled, & he toke their substance. Judas also toke Appollonius a swerde, and fought wyth it all hys lyfe longe.

Now whē Seron (another pryce of Syria) herde saye, þe Judas had gathered vnto him the congregacion & church of the faythfull, he sayde: I will get me a name & a prayse thowow out þe realme: for I wyl go fyght wyth Judas, & them that are wyth hym, as many as haue despyled the kynge's commaundment. So he made hym ready, and there wete wyth him a grete myghty hoost of vngodly, to stande by him, and to be auenge of the chyldren of Israel. And when they came nye vnto Bethoron, Judas wente forth agaynst them wyth a small company. And when his people sawe soch a grete goost before them, they sayde vnto Judas: how are we able (beinge so fewe) to fyght agaynst so grete a multitude and so stronge, seinge we be so weery, and haue fasted all this daye?

But Judas sayde: It is a small matter for many to be overcome w fewe: yee there is no difference to the God of heauen, to deliuer by a grete multitude or by a small company: for þe victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoost, but the strength cometh from heauen. Beholde, they come agaynst vs with a presumptuous and proude multitude, to destroye vs, oure wyues and oure chyldren, and to robbe vs. But we will fight for oure lyues, & for oure lawes, & the Lord hym selfe shall destroye them before oure face: therfore be not ye afrayed of them.

As soone as he had spoken these wordes, he leapt sodenly vpon the. Thus was Seron smytten, and his hoost put to flight, and Judas folowed vpo them beyonde Bethoron vnto the playne felde: where there were slayne ryght hundred men of them, and the resydue fled into the lande of the Philistynes. Then all the heathen on euery syde were afrayed for Judas and his byethen: so that the rumoure of hym came vnto the kynge's eares, for all the Gentyles coude tell of the warres of Judas.

So when kynge Antiochus hearde these tidynges, he was angry in his minde: wherfore he sente forth, and gathered an hoost of his whole realme, very stronge armyes: and opened hys treasury, and gaue hys hoost a yeres wagges in hande, commaundyng them to be ready at all tymes.

Neuerthelesse when he sawe, that there was not moneye ynough in his treasuries, and þe thow the discorde and persecucion, whych he made in the lande (to put downe the lawes that had bene of olde tymes) hys customes & trybutes of the lande were mynyshed: he feared that he was not able for to beare the costes and charges any longer, nor to haue such gyftes, to geue so liberally as he dyd afore, moze then the kynges that were before hym.

* 7. tosch. ca. 7. lib. antiq. Moreouer, he gaue him half of his host, and Elephanes, comytted vnto him euery thyng of hys mynde, concernynge those whych dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem: that he shoulde sende out an armie agaynst them, to destroye and to rote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Ierusalem: to put out their memozyall from that place, to set straungers for to inhabyt all theyr quarters, and to parte theyr lande amonge the. Thus the kynge toke the other parte of the host, and departed from Antioch (a cite of hys realme) ouer the water of Euphrates, in the hundredeth and xlvi. yere, and went thow the hys countrees.

* 11. mach. 1. d. And Lysias chose vnto hym Ptolomey the sonne of Doriminius, Picanor and Gorgias myghty men, and the kynges frendes. These he sent with. xl. thousande fote men & vii. thousande horsmen, for to go into the lande of Iuda & to destroye it, as the kynge commaunded. So they wete forth wyth all their power, and came to Emmaus into the plaine felde. When the marchauntes hearde the rumoure of them, they & theyr seruantes toke very moche syluer & gold, for to bye the chyldre of Israel to be their bonde men: There came vnto them also yet moo me of warre on euery syde, out of Siria and from the Palestynes.

* 1. mach. 1. d. Now when Judas & hys brethren sawe þe trouble increased, & that the host drew nye vnto their borders considering þe kynges wordes which he commaunded vnto the people: namely, that they shoulde utterly waste and destroye them: They sayde one to another: Let vs redress the decays of oure people, let vs fyght for oure folke and for oure Sanctuary. Then the congregacion were soone ready gathered to fyght, to praye & to make supplicacion vnto God for mercy & grace.

* 1. mach. 1. d. As for Ierusalem, it laye voyde, & was as it had bene a wyldernesse. There wente no man in nor out at it, and the Sanctuary was troden downe. The alcautes kepte the castell, there was the habitation of the heathen. The myrth of Jacob was take awaye, the pyper and the harpe was gone from amonge them.

* 1. mach. 1. d. They blewe out the trompette also wyth a loude voyce. The Iudas ordered* captaynes ouer the people: ouer thousandes, ouer hundredes, ouer fyfthe, and ouer ten. But as for such as buylded the houses, marped wyues, planted them vyneyardes, and those þe were fearfull: he commaunded them euery man to go home agayne, accordynge* to the lawe. So the host remoued, and pytched vpon the southsyde of Emmaus.

* 1. mach. 1. d. And Judas sayde: Arme youre selues, be stronger (O my chyldren) make you ready agaynst to morow in the moynynge, that ye maye fyght wyth these people, which are agreed together to destroye vs and oure sanctuary. Better is it for vs to dye in battail, than to se oure people and oure sanctuary in such a myserable case: * Neuerthelesse, as thy wyll is in heauen, so be it.

The. liii. Chapter.

* 1. mach. 1. d. Judas goeth agaynst Gorgias which lieth in waite. He putteth Gorgias and his host to flight. Lysias enuadeth Ierusalem, but Judas dysperseth him ouer. Judas purifeth the temple and dedycateth the altare.

* 1. mach. 1. d. When toke Gorgias fyue thousand men of fote, and a thousande of the best horsmen: & remoued by nyght, to come nye where the Iewes host laye, & so to slaye them sodenly. Now þe men that kepte the castell, were the conueyers of them. Then arose Judas to smyte the chefe & principall of þe kynges host at Emmaus, for the army was not yet come together. In the meane season came Gorgias by nyght in to Iudas to Iudas tentes: & when he founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaynes, & thought they had bene fled awaye, because of hym. But when it was daye, Iudas shewed hym selfe in the felde wyth thre thousande men only, whych had nether harnesse nor swerdes to their myndes.

* 1. mach. 1. d. But on the other syde, they sawe that the heathen were myghtie and well harnessed, and their horsme aboute them, and all these well experte in fettes of warre. Then sayde Iudas to the me that were with him: I care not ye the multitude of them, be not afrayed of their violence runnyng: remembre, how oure fathers were deliuered* in the reed see, when Pharaos folowed vpon them wyth a greate host.

* 1. mach. 1. d. Euen so lett vs also crye now towarde heauen: and the Lord shall haue mercy vpon vs, and remembre the couenaut of oure fathers, yee & destroye this host before oure face this daye: And all þe heathen shall know, that it is God hym selfe, whych deliuereth and saueth Israel.

* 1. mach. 1. d. As Iudas was speakynge these wordes, beholde there appeared one parte of the vpon the mount. But when Gorgias sawe that they of hys partye were fled, and the tentes bzent vp (for by the smoke they myght vnderstande what was done) they perceauynge this, were very soze afrayed: and when they sawe also that Iudas and hys host were in the felde ready to strike battayll, they fled euerychone into the lande of the heathen.

* 1. mach. 1. d. So Iudas turned agayne to spoylle the tentes, where they gatt moche golde and syluer, precious stones, purple & great ryches. Thus they went home, and songe a psalme of thankelgeuynge, and prayled God in heauen: * for he is gracious, & hys mercy endureth for euer: And so Israel had a greate victory in that daye.

Now all the heathen that escaped, came and tolde Lysias euery thinge as it happened. Wherfore Lysias was soze afrayed, & greued in his minde, because Israel had not gotten such myffortune as he wolde they shoulde, nether as þe kynge commaunded. The nexte yere folowing, gathered Lysias thre scoze thousande cholen men of fote, and fyue thousande horsmen, to fyght agaynst them.

* 1. mach. 1. d. So they came into Jewry, and pytched vpon their tentes at Bethozor, where Iudas came agaynst them with ten thousande me. And when he sawe so grea & myghtie an host, he made his prayer and sayde: Blessed be thou (O Saupoure of Israel) * whych dydest destroye þe violent power of the gyaunte, in the hande of thy seruant Dauid, * and gaue uictorie to the hoost of the heathen into the hande of Ionathas (the sonne of Saul) and of hys weapen bearer.

* 1. mach. 1. d. But thys host now into the hande of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded in their multitude and horsmen. Make them afrayed, & dyscomfytte the boldnes of their strenght, that they maye be moued thow the destruccio. Cast them downe thow the swerde of thy louers, then shall all they that knowe thy name, prayse the wyth thankelgeuynge.

* 1. mach. 1. d. So they stroke the batell, and there were slayne of Lysias host, fyue thousande men. Then Lysias seynge the dyscomfetyng of hys men, and the manynesse of the Iewes, how they were ready, either to lyue or to dye lyke men: he wete vnto Antioche, and chose out men of warre: that when they were gathered together, they might come agayne into Jewry. Then sayd Iudas and his brethren: behold, our enemyes are dyscomfyted: Let vs now go by, to cleue and to repaire the Sanctuary.

* 1. mach. 1. d. Apon thys, all the host gathered them together, and wente vpon into mount Syon. Now when they sawe the Sanctuary layd waste, þe altare despyled, the doores bzent vp, þe shrubbes growynge in the courtes, like as in a wod or vpon mountaynes, yee & þe prestes Celles were broken downe: They rente their clothes, made great lamentacion, cast asches vpon their heades, fell downe flat to the grounde, made a grea noyse wyth the trompettes, and cryed towarde heauen.

* 1. mach. 1. d. Then Iudas apoynted certayne men to fyght agaynst those which were in þe castell tyll they had clenched the Sanctuary. So he chose prestes þe were vndespyled, such as had pleasure in the lawe of God: and they clenched the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place. And for so moche as the altare of burnt offerynge was vnhallowed, he toke aduysment, what he myght do w all: so he thought it was best to destroye it (lest it shoulde happen to do the eny shame).

same) for the heathen had defiled it, & therefore they brake it downe. As for the stones, they layed them vp vpon the mountayne by the house in a conuenient place: tyll there came a pꝛophet, to shewe, what shulde be done wyth them.

I* So they toke whole stones accordyng to flawe, & buylded a new aulter such one as was before, & made vp þe Sanctuary wythin & without, & halowed þe house & the courtes. They made new ornamente, & brought the candlestick, the aulter of incense, & the table in to the temple. The incense layed they vpon the aulter, & lyghted the lampes whych were vpon þe candlestick, & they myght burne in the temple. They set the shewbread vpon the table, & haged vp the vayne, and set vp the temple, as it was afore. * And vpon þe xxv. daie of the ix. moneth, whych is called þe moneth of Cassieu, in þe xlviij. yeare: they rose vp by tymes in the mornynge for to do sacrifice (accordyng to the lawe) vpon the new burnt offering aulter that they had made: after the tyme and season that the heathen had defiled it. The same daie was it set vp agayne, with songes, pꝛyes, harpes and cymbales.

C And all the people fell vpon theyr faces, worshyping & thackynge God of heaue, whych had geuen the victorie. * So they kepte the dedicacion of the aulter. viij. dayes, offeringe burnt sacrifices & thankoffringes with gladnesse. They deckt the temple also w crownes & sheldes of gold, & halowed the portes & celles & haged doores vpon the. Thus there was very great gladnes amonge þe people, because the blasphemie of þe heathen was put away. So Judas & his brethren w the whole congregacion of Israel, ordeyned, * þe tyme of the dedicacion of the aulter shulde be kepte in his season fro yeare to yeare, by the space of. viij. dayes, fro the xxv. daie of the moneth Cassieu: wyth myght and gladnesse.

And at þe same tyme buylded they vp the mount Syon wyth hie walles and stronge towres rounde aboute: lest the Gentiles shuld come and treade it downe, as they dyd afore. Therefore Judas sett men of warre in it, to kepe it: and made it stronge, for to defende. * Bethlura: that the people myght haue a refuge agaynst the Edomites.

C The. v. Chapter.
Judas vanquished the heathen that go aboute to destroye Israel, & is helpe of his brethren Simon & Jonathan. He ouerthroweth þe cite of Ephron, because they benygne hym paasage thowow it.

It happened also þe whan the heathen rounde aboute her, how that the aulter & the Sanctuary were sett vpon their olde estate: it displeased them very sore, wherfore they thought to destroye þe generacion of Jacob that was amonge them: In so much that they beganne to slaye and to persecute certayne of þe people.

* Then Judas fought agaynst the chyl- dren of Esau in Idumea, and agaynst those which were at Arabathane (for they dwelt rounde aboute the Israelites) where he slew and spoyled a greate multitude of them. He thought also vpon the malice and vnfaithfulness of þe children of Zeau, how they were as snare and stoppe vnto the people, and how they layed wayte for them in the hie waye: wherfore he sent them vp in to towres, and came vnto them, destroyed them utterly, and bent vp theyr towres, wyth all that were in them.

Afterwarde wente he agaynst the chyl- dren of Ammon, wherof he founde a myghty power & a greate multitude of people, with Timothy ther captayne. So he stroke many battayls with them, whych were destroyed before him. And when he had slayne them, he wanne Gazer the cite, wyth the towres belongynge therto, and so turned agayne into Jewry. The heathen also in Galaad gathered the together, agaynst the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slaye the: but they fled to the castell of Dathemā, and sent letters vnto Judas & his brethren sayinge: The heathen are gathered agaynst vs on euery syde, to destroye vs, & now they make them for to come, and laye sege to the castell, wherunto we are fled, and Timothy is the captayne of their host: come therefore, and deliuer vs out of their handes: for there is a greate multitude of vs slayne all ready. Pee and oure brethren that were at Tabin, are slayne & destroyed (well nye a thousande men) and theyr wyues, theyr chyl- dren and theyr goodes haue the enemyes led awaye captiue.

Whyle these letters were yet a readyng, beholde, there came other messengers from Galilee, with rote clothes: which tolde euen the same tydynge, and sayde, that they of Ptolomays, of Tyrys and of Sydon were gathered agaynst the, and that all Galilee was filled with enemyes to destroye Israel.

* Whē Judas & the people herde thys, they came together (a greate congregacion) to deuise, what they myght do for theyr brethren, that were in trouble & beleged of theyr enemyes, And Judas sayd vnto Simon his brother: those the out certayne men, and go deliuer thy brethren in Galilee: As for me & my brother Jonathan, we will go into Galaadithim. So he left Josephus the sonne of Zachary, and Azarias to be Captaynes of the people, and to kepe the remnant of the host in Jewry, and commaunded them, sayinge: Take the ouerlyght of thys people, and se þe make no warre agaynst the heathen, vntyll the time that we come agayne. And vnto Symon he gaue thre thousande men, for to go into Galilee, but Judas hym selfe had

C Then wente Symon into Galilee, & stroke diuerse batelles wyth þe heathen: whom he discomfited, and folowed vpon the vnto þe porte of Ptolomais. And there were slaine of the heathen all most. iij. thousande men. So he toke the spoyles of them, and caried awaye the Israelites, that were in Galilee and Arabatis, wyth theyr wyues, theyr chyl- dren and all that they had, & brought them in to Jewry wyth greate gladnesse. Judas Machabeus also and his brother Jonathan wente ouer Iordane, ad traunpled. iij. dayes iourney in the wyldernesse: Where the Nabthees met them, and receaued them louingly, and tolde them euery thyng that had happened vnto theyr brethren in Galaadithim, and how that many of them were beleged in Barasa, Bosoz, Alunis, Casphoz, Mageth and Carnaim: all these are stronge walled and myghtie greates cities: and that they were kepte in other ctytes of Galaad also: & to morow they are appointed to bryge their host vnto these ctytes, to take them, & to wyne them in one daie.

So Judas and his host turned in all the haste in the wyldernesse towarde Bosoz, and wane the cite, slew all the males with the sword, toke all their goodes, and sett fyre vpon the cite. And in the nyght they toke their iourneys from thence, and came to the castell: And by tymes in the mornynge wle they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearyng ladders and other instrumentes of warre, to take þe castell and to ouercome them.

When Judas sawe that the battayll beganne, and that the noyse therof wente vprange in to the heauen, and that there was so greate a crye in þe ctyte: he sayd vnto his host: fyght this daie for your brethren. And so came behynde their enemyes in thre companyes, and blew vpon the trompettes, and cryed in their prayer to God.

But as soone as Timotheus host perceaued þe Machabeus was there, they fled from him, and the other slew them downe ryght sore: so þe there were kyllid of them the same daie, almost eyght thousande me. Then departed Judas vnto Maspha, layed sege vnto it, and wanne it, slew all the males in it, spoyled it, and set fyre vpon it. From thence wete he and toke Casbon, Mageth, Bosoz, and the other ctytes in Galaad.

D After thys gathered Timothy another hoste, which pitched their tentes before Raphon beyonde the water. Judas also sent to tye the hoste, & they brought him worde agayne, sayinge: All the heathen that be rounde aboute vs, are gathered vnto him, and the host is very great: Pee they haue hyed the Arabians to helpe them, & haue pitched their tentes beyonde the water, and are ready to come & fyght agaynst the. So Judas wente on to mete them.

And Timothy sayd vnto the captaynes of his host: when Judas & his host come nye the ryuer: þe go ouer first, we shal not be able to withstāde him: for why? he wil be to stronge for vs. But þe darre not come ouer, so that he pitch his tente beyōde þe water: the will we go ouer, for we shal be stronge ynough agaynst him. Now as soone as Judas came to þe ryuer, he appoynted certayne scyþers of the people, & commaunded them, sayinge: se that ye leaue none behinde vpon this syde of the ryuer, but let euery mā come to the battayll. So he wente fyrst ouer vnto them and his people after him.

And all the heathen were discomfited before him, and let their weapons fall, & rāne into þe cite that was at Carnaim. Whych cite Judas wanne, and bent the temple with all that were in it: So was Carnaim subdued, and myght not withstāde Judas. Then Judas gathered all þe Israelites that were in Galaadithim, from the lest vnto þe most, wyth theyr wyues and theyr chyl- dren (a very greate host) for to come into þe lande of Israel.

* So they came vnto Ephraim, which was a myghtie, greate and stronge cite, and laye in their waye. For they coulde not go by it, nether of the ryght hande ner of the lest, but must goo thowow it. Neuer thelesse they that were i þe cite, wolde not let the go thowow, but walled vp the portes with stones. And Judas sent vnto them w peaceable wordes sayinge: Let vs passe thowow your land, & we maye goo into oure awne countre: there shall no body do you harme, we will but only go thowow on fote. But they wolde not let them in.

Wherfore Judas commaunded a proclamation to be made thowow oute the hoste, that euery man shulde kepe his ordre: and so they dyd their best lyke valaunt men.

And Judas beleged þe cite all that daie and all that nyght, and so wanne it: where they slew as many as were males, and destroyed the cite, and spoyled it, and wente thowow all the cite ouer the þe were slayne. Then wete they ouer Iordane in to þe playne felde before Bethlā. And Judas helpe thoforwarde þe behynde, and gaue the people good exhortacion all þe waye thowow, tyll they were come into þe lande of Iuda. Thus they wente vp vnto the mount Syon, where they offred w myght & thackelgeuynge: because there were none of them slayne, but came home agayne peaceably.

Now what tyme as Judas & Jonathan were in the lande of Galaad, & Symon ther brother in Galilee before Ptolomays: Then

The vii. Chapter.

Demetrius was angry after he had killed Antiochus & Lysias. He troubled the children of Israel & sought counsel of certain wicked persons. The prayer of Judas against Micanor. Judas killed Micanor, after he had made his prayer.

In the Cii. yere came Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from the cite of Rome with a small company of men, vnto a citie of the lee coast, & there he bare rule. And it chanced, & when he came to Antioche the citie of his progenitors, his host toke Antiochus & Lysias, to bringe them vnto him. But when it was tolde hym, he sayd: let me not se theyr faces: So the host put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kyngdome, there came vnto hym wicked & vngodly me of Israel: whose captayne was Alcimus, that wolde haue bene made hys prest: These men accused y people of Israel vnto the kyng, sayinge: Judas & hys brethren haue slayne thy frendes, and driven vs out of our awne lade. Wherefore, sende now some man (to whom thou geuest credence) that he maye go and se all the destruccyon, which he hath done vnto vs & to the kynges lade, and lett him be punished with all hys frendes and fauourers.

Then the kyng chose Bachides a frende of his, which was a man of greate power in the realme (beyonde the greate water) and saythfull vnto the kyng: and sent him to se the destruccyon that Judas had done. And as for that wicked Alcimus, he made hym hys prest, and commaunded hym to be auenged of the children of Israel. So they stode vp, and came with a greate host into the lade of Iuda, sendinge messengers to Judas & hys brethren, & speaking vnto them with peaceable wordes: but vnder disceate. * Therefore Judas & hys people beleued not theyr saying, for they sawe that they were come with a greate host.

After this came the scribes together vnto Alcimus & Bachides, trustinge the best vnto them. And fyrst the Alcians requyred peace of the, sayinge: Alcimus the prest is come of the sede of Aarō, how can he disceane vs? So they gaue the lounge wordes, & swore vnto them, & sayde: we wyl do you no harme: nether your frendes: & they beleued them. But the very same daye toke they lx. men of them & slewe them accordyng to the wordes that are wyrtten: * They haue cast the flesh of thy sayntes, & shed their bloude rounde about Ierusalem, & there was no man wolde burye them. So there came a greate feare and drede amonge the people, sayinge: there is nether treuth nor ryghteousnesse in the, for they haue broken the appoyntement and othe y they made. And Bachides removed his host from Ierusalem, and pitched his tente at Betzecha: where he sent forth, & toke many of them that had forsaken hym: he slewe many of the people also, and cast them into a greate pyre. Then commytted he the lade vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with hym to helpe hym, & Bachides him self wote vnto the kyng. And thus Alcimus defended his hys presthode: & all such as vexed Israel resorted vnto hym: In so moche that they optayned the lade of Iuda, and dyd moche euell vnto the Israelites.

Now when Judas sawe all the myschefe that Alcimus and his company had done (ye more then the heathen the selues) vnto the Israelites: he wente forth rounde about all the borders of Iewry, and punished those vnsaythfull renegates, so that they came nomore out into the countre. So when Alcimus sawe, that Judas and his people had gotten the upperhand, and that he was not able to abyde them: he wente agayne to the kyng, and sayde all the worst of them that he coude. Then the kyng sent Micanor, one of hys chiefe prynces (whych bare euell wyl vnto Israel) and commaunded him, that he shoulde utterly destroye the people.

* So Micanor came to Ierusalem with a greate goost, and sent vnto Judas and his brethren with frendly wordes (but vnder disceate) sayinge: there shall be no warre betwixte me & you: I wyl come with a fewe men, to se how ye do, with frendshyppe. Upon this he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but y enemies were appoynted to take Judas by violence. Nevertheless it was tolde Judas, that he came vnto hym but vnder disceate: wherefore he gat hym awaye from him, and wolde se hys face nomore. When Micanor perceaued that hys counsell was betrayed, he went out to fight agaynst Judas, helpe Caphtarsalama: where there were slayne of Micanors host. v. M. men: and the resydue fled vnto the castell of David.

After this came Micanor vp vnto mount Syon: and the prestes with the elders of the people wote forth to salute hym peaceably, & to shewe hym the burnt sacrifices that were offered for the kyng. But he laughed the and y people to scoone, mocked them, defiled their offerings, & spake disdainfully, yee and swore in hys wrath, sayinge: * If Judas and hys host be not deliuered now in to my handes, as soone as euer I come agayne (I fare well) I shall burne vp this house. With that, wente he out in agreate anger. Then the prestes came in, and stode before the aulter of the temple, wepyng & sayinge: * For so moch as thou (O Lord) hast chosen this house, that thy name myght be called vpon therein, & that it shoulde be a house of prayer and petition for thy people: We are venge of this man & his host, & let them be slayne with the sword: remembre the blasphemies of them, and suffer them not to continue any longer.

When Micanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tente at Bethozon, and there an host met hym out of Syria. And Judas came to Adarfa with thre thousande men, & made his prayer vnto God, sayinge: O Lord, * because y messengers of kyng Senacherib blasphemed y, the angell went forth, and slewe an hundred foure score and fyue thousande of them. Euen so destroye thou this host before vs to daye, y other people maye knowe how that he hath blasphemed thy Sanctuary: & punish hym accordyng to hys malicioussnesse.

And so the hostes stroke the felde, the thyrtyene daye of the moneth * Adar: and Micanors host was dysconfited, & and he him self was fyrst slayne in the battaylle. When Micanors men of warre sawe that he was kyled, they cast awaye theyr weapons and fled, but the Iewes folowed vpon them an whole dayes iourney, from Adazer vnto Gazara, blowyng with y tropettes, and makynge tokens after them. So y Iewes came forth of all y townes there aboute, and blewe out theyr hornes vpon them, and turned agaynst them. Thus were they all slayne, and not one of them left.

Then they toke theyr substance for a pray, and smote of Micanors heade and his ryght hande (which he helde vp so proudly) and brought it with them, & haged it vnto Ierusalem. Wherefore, the people were exceedingly reioysed, and passed ouer that day in greate gladnesse. And Judas ordeyned, that y same daye (namely y thyrtynth daye of the moneth Adar) shoulde be kepte in myrth euery yere. Thus the lade of Iuda was in rest a yele whyle.

The viii. Chapter.

Judas consideringe the power and godly possesse of the Romaynes maketh peace with them. The rescripte of the Romaynes sent vnto the Iewes.

Judas heard also the same of the Romaynes, that they were myghty & valaunt men, & agreeable to all thynges y are required of them, & make peace w al men, which come vnto them, and how they were doughty men of strength. Welydes y it was tolde him of theyr battaylles, and noble actes which they dyd in Galacia, how they had conquered them, and brought them vnder tribute: and what great thynges they had done in Spayne, how that w theyr wysdome & sober behauiour they had wonne y mynes of siluer & gold y are there, & optayned all y lade, with other places farre from them: how they had dysconfyted & slayne downe y kynnes y came vpon them, from the uttermost parte of y earth, and how other people gaue the tribute euery yere. How they had slayne & ouercome Philip and Perles kynnes of Cethim, & other mo (in battaylle) which had brought theyr ordynance agaynst the: how they dysconfyted grete Antiochus kyng of Asia (that wolde nedes fyght w them) hauninge an hundred & twenty Elephantes, with horsemen, charrettes, and a very grete host: how they toke hym selfe alpye, & ordeyned hym (with such as shuld raygne after him) to paye the a grete tribute. * yee, and to fynde them good suertyes & pledge: helydes all this, how they had taken from hym India, Media, and Lydia (his best lades) and geuen them to kyng Eumenus.

Agayne, how they perceauyng y the Grekes were comynge to vere the: sent agaynst the a captayne of an host, which gaue the battaylle, slewe many of them, led awaye theyr wyues and children captiue, spoyled the, toke possession of theyr lade, destroyed theyr stronge holdes, and subdued them to be theyr bonde men, vnto this daye. Moreover, how that as for other kyngdomes and Iles, which somtyme withstode them, they destroyed them, and brought them vnder theyr domynion. But helpeuer theyr awne frendes and those that where confederat with them, and conquered kyngdomes both farre and nye: & that whosoeuer herde of theyr renowne, was afrayed of them: for whom they wold helpe to their kyngdomes, those raygned: & whom it lyked not them to raygne, they put him downe. And how they were come to grete preeminence: hauninge no kyng among them, nether any man clothed in purple, to be magnified there thorow, but had ordeyned them selues a perlamet, where in there sat thre hundred & twenty Senators daylye vpon the counsell, to dyspatch euery y busynesse of the people, & to kepe good ordie. And how that euery yere they chose a Mayre, to haue y gouernance of all theyr land: to whom euery man was obedient, & there was nether euell wyl nee dyscencion amonge them.

Then Judas chose Eupolemus y some of Ihou the sonne of Jacob, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, & sent them vnto Rome for to make frendshyppe and a boode of loue with them: that they myght take fro them the bondage of y Grekes, for y Jewes sawe, that the Grekes wolde subdue y kyngdome of Israel. So they went vnto Rome (a very grete iourney) & came into y perlamet, and sayd: Judas Machabeus with his brethren and y people of y Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a boode of frendshyppe and peace w you, & ye to note vs as your loners. All and fren and frendes. And þe matter pleased the Ro-maynes right wel, wherfore it was written vp: of the whiche þe Romaynes made a wytynge in tables of brasse, and sent it to Jerusalem: that they myght haue by them a me-moriall of the same peace & bonde of frend-shipp after this maner. God saue þe Romaynes and the people of the Jewes both by see and by land, and kepe the swerd and enemy fro the for euermore. If there come first eny warre vpon the Romaynes or eny of theyr frendes thow out all theyr dominion, the people of the Jewes shall help them (as the tying requyeth) & that w all theyr hertes.

Also they shall nether geue nor sende vnto theyr enemyes viayles, weapons, money ner shippes: but fulfyll this charge at þe Ro-maynes pleasure, & take nothyng fro them therfore. Agayne of the people of þe Jewes happen fyrst to haue warre, the Romaynes shall stonde by them w a good wyll, accordyn-ge as þe tyme wyll suffre. Nether shall they geue vnto þe Jewes enemyes, viayles, wea-pens, money ner shippes. Thus are the Ro-maynes content to do, and shall fulfyll their charge without eny discreete.

Accordynge to these articles, the Romaynes made the bonde with the Jewes. Now after these articles (sayde they) of eny of the parties wyll put to the, or take eny thyng from them: they shall do it w the consent of both: & what soeuer they adde vnto them or take from them, it shall stande fast. And as touchynge þe euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes, we haue written vnto hym, sayenge: wherfore layest þe thy heupocke vpon þe Jewes our frendes & louers?
If they make eny cōplaynte of the agayne vnto vs, we shall defende them, and fyght with the by see and by lande.

The ix. Chapter.

After the death of Apcanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie agaynst Judas. Judas is slayne. Jonathas is put in the chace of his brother. The Arrie beloune Jonathas and Bachides. Alcimus is taken with the palpe and dyeth. Bachides retourneth agayne into the king. He cometh vpon Jonathas by the counsell of cretyn wycked persones, and is ouercome. The treuce of Jonathas with Bachides.

In the meane season whē Demetrius was slayne in the felde, he proceeded further to sēde Bachides and Alcimus a-gayne into Jewry, & those that were in the ryght wyng of his hoost, with them. So they went forth by the waye þe ledeth vnto Galgala, and pitched theyr tentes before Bethlath which is in arbelleis, and wanne the cytie & slawe moche people. In the fyrst moneth of the Clij. yere, they brought theyr hoost to Jerusalem, and rose vp & came to Brea, with .xx. M. footmen. & .ii. M. horsemen.

Now Judas had pitched his tent at Lay-sa, with thre thousande chosen men. And when they sawe the multitude of the other army that it was so greete, they were sore afrayed, and many conueyed them selues out of the hoost. In so moche that there abode no mo of them but eyght hundred men. When Judas sawe þe his hoost fayled hym, and that he must nedes fight: it brake his herte, that he had no tyme to gather them together: wherfore the man was in extreme trouble.
Nethertheless, he sayde vnto them, that remained with hym. My lēt vs go agaynst oure enemyes, peraduenture we shall be able, to fyght with them. But they wolde haue stopped hym, sayenge: we shall not be able, therfore lēt vs now saue oure lyues, & turne agayne to our brethren and then will we fyght agaynst the, for we are here but fewe.
And Judas sayde: God forþyd, þe we shulde fle from them. Wherfore, of oure tyme become, let vs dye manfully for our brethren, and lēt vs not slayne oure honoure. Then the hoost remoued out of þe tentes, and stode agaynst them. The horsemen are deuyded in two partes: the syng casters & archers wente before þe hoost, and all the myghtye men were formost in þe felde. Bachides himselfe was in þe ryght wyng of þe battayll, & the hoost drewe nye in two partes, & blew the trompettes. They of Judas syde blew the trompettes also, & the earth shoke at the noyse of þe hostes, & they stroke a felde from the morow tyll nyght. And when Judas sawe þe Bachides hoost was strongest of þe ryght syde, he toke with hym all the hardy men, & brake þe ryght wyng of theyr ordre, & folowed vpon them vnto þe mount Azot.

Now when they which were of the left wyng, sawe that þe ryght syde was discōfyte, they persecuted Judas & them þe were w hym. Then was there a sore battaylle, for many were slayne & wounded of both þe parties. Judas also him selfe was kyled, & the remnant fled. So Jonathas and Symon toke Judas theyr brother, and buried hym in his fathers sepulchre in þe cytie of Modin.
And all þe people of Israel made greete la-mentacyon for hym, & mourned longe, sayenge: Alas, that this worthy shulde be slayne, which deliuered þe people of Israel. As for other thynges perceyvinge to þe battaylles of Judas, þe noble actes that he dyd & of his worthynesse: they are not wyrtten, for they were very many.

And after þe death of Judas, wycked men came vp in all þe coastes of Israel, and there arose all such as worcke vngodlynesse. In those dayes was there a greete dearthe in þe lande, and all the countre gaue ouer them selues and theyr wyues vnto Bachides. So Bachides chose wycked men, and made them lordes lordes in þe land. These sought out & made search for Judas frendes, and brought them vnto Bachides: which auenged hi self vpon them with great despyte. And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not sens þe tyme that no prophete was sene there.

Then came all Judas frendes together, and sayde vnto Jonathas: For so moche as thy brother Judas is deed, there is none ly-ke him to go forth agaynst our enemyes, a-gaynst Bachides, & such as are aduersaries vnto oure people. Wherfore this daye we chose the for þe, to be oure prync & captayne to ordre oure battaylle. And Jonathas to-ke þe gouernance vpon hym at the same tyme, and ruled i steade of his brother Judas.
The Bachides gatt knowledge therof, he sought for to sleie hym. But Jonathas and Symon his brother, perceauinge that, fled into the wilderness of Cherna with all their company, and pitched theyr tentes by the water pole of Asphar.

Which when Bachides vnderstode, he came ouer Jordane with all his hoost vpon þe Sabbath day. Now had Jonathas sent his brother Ihon (a captayne of the people) to praye his frendes the Nabuthytes, þe they wolde lende them their ordinaunce, for they had moche. So the chyldre of Iambry came out of Madaba, and toke Ihon and al that he had, and wete theyr waye withal. Then came worde vnto Jonathas & Symon his brother, that the chyldren of Iambry made a greete marriage, and brought the bride fro Madaba with greete pompe: for she was daughter to one of þe noblest prynces of Ca-naa. Wherfore they remembred the bloude of Ihon their brother, and wete vp and hid the selues vnder the shadowe of the mountayne.

So they lift vp theyr eyes, and looked, & beholde, there was moche a do, and great repayre: for the bridegrome came forth, & his frendes and his brethren met them w tym-panes, instrumentes of musicke, and many weapons. Then Jonathas and they þe were with him, rose out of their lurking places agaynst them, and slewe many of them.
As for the remnant, they fled into þe moun-taines, and they toke all theyr substāce. Thus the marriage was turned to mo-rninge, and the noyse of theyr melody into la-mentacyon. And so when they had auenged þe bloud of theyr brother, they turned agayne vnto Jordane.

Bachides hearynge this, came vnto the very border of Jordane with a great power vpon þe Sabbath daye. And Jonathas sayd to his companye, let vs get vp, and fyght agayne our enemyes: for it shaldesth not with vs to dape, as in tyme past: Beholde, oure enemyes are in our waye, the water of Jordane vpon the one syde of vs, woth bankes, fennes and woddes of the other syde, so that there is no place for vs to departe vnto.

Wherfore crie now vnto heauen, that ye maye be deliuered fro þe power of your ene-myes. So they stroke þe battaylle. And Jonathas stretched out his handes to smyte Bachides, but he fled backward. Then Jonathas & they þe were with him leapt into Jordane, and swymmed ouer Jordane vnto hym, and there were slayne of Bachides side that daye, a thousande men.

Therfore Bachides woth his hoost turned agayne to Jerusalem, and buylde vp þe castels and strong holdes that were i Jew-rye, Jericho, Emaus, Bethozon, Bethell, Chamnata, Phara and Topo, w hye wal-les, with portes and with lockes: & let men to kepe the, that they myght vse theyr malyce vpon Israel. He walled vp Bethsurath, Gazarah and the castell at Jerusalem also and prouided the woth men and vitayles.
He toke also the cheefest mens sonnes in the countre for pledges, and put them in the castell at Jerusalem to be kepte.

Afterwarde in the hundred fifty & thre yere in þe secōde moneth, Alcimus comaun-ded, that þe walles of the ynnmost Sanctuary shuld be destroyed, and the buyldinges of þe prophetes also. And when he beganne to destroie them, þe thynges þe he wete aboute, were hyndered, for he was smytte w a pal-sey, and his mouth shut, so that he coulde no more speake ner comaunde eny of his house concernynge his busynesse. Thus dyed Alci-mus in greete mysery at þe same tyme. And whē Bachides sawe that Alcimus was deed, he turned agayne to the kyng, and so þe lādē was in rest two yeres. Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, sayenge: Behold, Jonathas and his companye are at ease, and dwel without care. Wherfore let vs brige Bachides hyther, and he shall take them al in one nyght.

So they wente and gaue Bachides this counsell, which arose to come with a greete hoost, and sent lētters pryncely to his adheres, whiche were in Jewrye, to take Jona-thas & those þe were w hym: but they myght not for þe other had gottē knowledge of the-yr deuyce. And Jonathas toke fyfty me of þe countre (whiche were þe ringleaders of the) and slewe the. Then Jonathas and Symon woth theyr company departed vnto the cytie Bethbellen whiche lyeth in the wyldernes, & repayred þe decaye therof, & made it strong.
When Bachides knewe this, he gathered all his hoost, and sent worde to them that were of Jewry. Then came he and layed sege to Bethbellen & fought agaynst it a long season, & made instrumentes of warre. Now Jonathas left his brother Simō in þe cytie, Jui ii and

and wente forth hym selfe into the fildre, & came with a certayne nobye, & flewe Odares and his brethren and the children of Ishaeron in theyr tentes: so that he beganne to be stronge, and to increase in power.

As for Symon and his compaignes, they wente out of the citty, and went vnto the iustices of warre, & fought agaynst Bathydes, and discōfyt hym. And Bathydes was soze vered, because his counsell and traual was i wayne. Wherefore he was wroth at the wycked men (that gaue hym counsell to come into theyr lāde) and slewe many of them. Then purposed he with his compaignes to go awaye into his awne countre: wherof whē Jonathan had knowledge, he sent embassitours vnto hym, for to make peace w hym, and that he shuld deliuer hym his prisoners agayne. To the whych Bathydes cōfented gladly, and byd accordynge to his desyre: yee and made an othe, that he shulde neuer do hym harme al the dayes of his lyf. So he restozed vnto hym al the prisoners that he had taken out of the lāde of Iuda, & then turned and wente his waye into his awne lāde, nether proceded he any further to come vnto the borders of Iuda. Thus Israel had nomore warre. And Jonathan dwelt at Machabes, and beganne there to gouerne the people, and destroyed þ vngodly men out of Israel.

¶ Demetrius desyret to haue peace with Jonathan Alexander moueth warre agaynst Demetrius. Demetrius is slayne. The frendshyppe of Ptolomeus & Alexander.

In the hundred and thre scoze yere came Alexander þ sonne of noble Antiochus and toke Ptolomeus, whose cytyens receaued him, and there he raygned. When Demetrius herde therof, he gathered an exceeding greate host, and went forth agaynst hym to fyghe. Wherefore Demetrius sent lētters vnto Jonathan with loupng wordes, and prayled hym greatly. For he sayde: we will first make peace with hym, before he bynde hym selfe wth Alexander agaynst vs: els he shall remembre þ euell that we haue done agaynst hym, his brother & his people. And so he gaue Jonathan leue to gather an hoost, to make weapons, and to be confederat wth hym, & committed the pledges that were i the castell, to be deliuered vnto hym.

Then came Jonathan to Ierusalem, and red the lētters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were i the castell. And therfore were they soze afraied, because they herde, that þ kyng had geuen hym lycence to gather an hoost. Thus were the pledges deliuered vnto Jonathan, whych restozed the to theyr elders. Jonathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and beganne to buylde vp & to repayre the citty: commādyng the workmen, to wall it, and the mount Sion round aboute with fre stone, to be a stronge holde, and so they byd. As for þ heathen that were i þ castles which Bathydes had made by theyr fled: so that euery man left þ place, and wēt into his awne countre. Only at Bethsura remayned certayne of þ Jewes, whych had forsaken þ lawe and commaundementes of God, for Bethsura was theyr refuge.

Now when kyng Alexander herde of the promyses that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan, and when it was tolde hym of þ battels and noble actes, whych he and his brethren had done, and of the greate traualles that they had takē, he sayde: where shall we fynde soch a man? well, we will make him our frende, and be cōfederat wth hym. Alþs this he wrote a lētter vnto hym, with these wordes: kyng Alexander saluteth his brother Jonathan. We haue herde of the, þ thou art a valeant man, and mete to be our frende: wherfore this daye we ordeyne the to be the hye preste of thy people, and to be called the kynges frede. (Vpon this, he sent hym a purple clothynge, and a crowne of golde) that thou mayest conspyre what is for oure profyt, and kepe frendshyppe towarde vs.

So in the seventh moneth of the hundred and thre scoze yere vpo the solempne feast daye of the tabernacles, Jonathan put þ holy rayment vpon hym. Then gathered he an hoost, and made many weapons. Which whē Demetrius herde, he was maruelous sorow, & sayde: Alas, what haue we done, that Alexander hath prouoked vs in gettyn þ frendshyppe of the Jewes, for his awne defence? Yet will I wyte loupngly vnto them also, yee and promyse them dignities add rewarde, þ they maye be of my lyde. Whereupon he wrote vnto the these wordes. Kyng Demetrius sendeth greting vnto þ people of þ Jewes. Where as ye haue kepte your cōuenaunt towarde vs, & cōtynued in our frendshyp, not enclpnyng to our enemyes, we were glad, when we herde therof. Wherefore remayne styll, & be faythfull to vs: & we shall well recōpense you for þ thynges, þ ye haue done on oure part: we shall release you of many charges, & geue you rewarde. And now I dyscharge you & all þ Jewes frō tributes, I forgeue you þ customes of salt, and release you of þ crowne taxes, of the thyrd parte of seide, & half of þ frute of trees, which is myne awne dewtye. These I leaue for you, frō this daye forth: so þ they shal not be taken of the lande of Iuda ner of the thre cyties whych are added ther vnto out of Samaria and Galilee, from this daye forth for ever.

For euermore. Ierusalem also with al thynges be longyng thereto, shal be holy and fre, yee þ tythes and trybutes shall pertaine vnto it. As for the power of þ castell which is at Ierusalem, I remyt & geue it vnto þ hye preste, that he maye set i it soch mē, as he shal chose to kepe it. I frely deliuer al the Jewes that are prisoners of the shal be free from payng any trybute, yee euen of their catell.

All the solempne feastes, Sabbathes, new moones, the dayes appoynted, the thre dayes before & after the feast, shal be free for all the Jewes in my realme: so that in them no man shall haue power to do any thyng, or to moue any busynesse agaynst any of the in any maner of cause. There shall thyrty thousande also of the Jewes be wyrtten by in the kynges booke, and haue theyr wages payed, as all other men of warre of the kynges shulde haue: and of them shal be ordeyned certayne, to kepe þ kynges strong holdes: yee and some of the shal be set ouer the kynges busynesse, that they maye faythfully deale w the same. The Jewes also shal haue princes of theyr awne, and walke in theyr awne lawes, as the kyng hath commaunded in the lande of Iuda.

And the thre cyties that are fallen vnto Jewry from þ countre of Samaria & Galilee: shal be taken as Jewry, and be vnder one: nether be subiecte to any straunge Lord, but to the hye preste. As for Ptolomeus and the lande pertainynge thereto, I geue it vnto the Sanctuary at Ierusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy thynges. Whereouer, I will geue euery yere fyftene thousande Syckles of syluer out of þ kynges checker (which pertaineth vnto me) to the worke of the temple: yee and loke what remaineth (which they þ had oure matters in had in tymes past, haue not payed) þ same shall they geue vnto them also. And besydes all this, the fyue thousand Syckles which they take yearly of the rentes of the Sanctuary, shall belonge vnto the prestes that do seruyce.

Item, whosoever they be that fle vnto þ temple at Ierusalem or within the liberties therof, where as they are fallen into þ kynges daunger for any maner of busynesse, they shall be pardoned and all the goodes that they haue in my realme, shal be free. For the buyldynge also and repayring of the worke of the Sanctuary, expences shal be geuen out of the kynges Checker: yee and for the makynge of the walles rounde aboute Ierusalem, for þ breakynge downe of the olde and for the lettynge vp of þ stronge holdes in Jewry, shall the costes and charges be geuen out of the kynges Checker.

* I. mac. vii. 5

* But when Jonathan and the people

hearde these wordes, they gaue no credence vnto them, nether receaued them: for they remembred the greate wyckednesse that he had done vnto Israel, and how soze he had vered them. Wherefore, they agreed vnto Alexander, for he was a pryncce that had dealt frendly wth them, and so they stode by hym all waye. * Then gathered kyng Alexander a greate hoost, and brought his armye agaynst Demetrius. So the two kynges stroke bataylle together, but Demetrius host fled, and Alexander folowed after and fell vpon them. A myghty soze felde was it, contynuyng tyll the Sonne wente downe, and Demetrius was slayne the same daye.

And Alexander sente ambassitours vnto Ptolomeus the kyng of Egypte with these wordes, sayenge: For so much as I am come agayne to my realme, and am set in the trone of my progenytours, and haue gotten the domynyon, ouercomed Demetrius, conquered the lande, and styke a felde wth hym, so that we haue discōfyt both hym and his hoost, and spt in the trone of his kyngdome. Let vs now make frendshyppe together, geue me thy daughter to wyfe: so shall I be thy sonne in lawe, and both geue the rewarde, and her greate bygnite. Ptolomeus the kyng gaue answer, sayenge: happy be the daye wherein thou arte come agayne to the lande of thy progenytours, and set in the trone of thy kyngdome. As now will I fulfill thy wyllynge: but mete me at Ptolomeus, that we maye se one another, & that I maye mary my daughter vnto the accordynge to thy desyre. So Ptolomeus wente out of Egypte wth his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolomeus in the .xlii. yere: where kyng Alexander met him, and he gaue Alexander his daughter Cleopatra, & married the at Ptolomeus with greate wythynge, lyke as the maner of kynges is to be. The wrote kyng Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he shulde come and mete hym. So he wente honorably vnto Ptolomeus, and there he mete the two kynges, and gaue them greate prestes of golde and syluer, and founde fauoure i theyr syght. And there came together agaynst Jonathan certayne wycked men & vngacious personnes of Israel, makynge complayntes of hym, but þ kyng regarded the not. As for Jonathan, the kyng commaunded to take of his garmentes, and to clothe hym i purple: and so they byd. Then þ kyng appoynted hym to spt by hym, and sayde vnto his princes: Go with hym into þ myddel of the citty, and make a proclamacyon, that no man complayne agaynst hym of any matter, and that no man trouble hym for any maner of cause.

* Josephus. ca. vi. lib. xiii. Antio.

* Josephus. ca. vi. lib. xiii. Antio.

So it happened, that when hys accusers sawe the worshyppe which was proclamed of hym, and that he was clothed in purple: they fled euerychone. And the kynge made moch of hym, wrote hym amonge hys chere frendes, made hym a duke, and partaker of hys domynion. * Thus Jonathas went awayne to Jerusalem with peace & gladnes. In the xlv. yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius frō Creta to hys fathers lande: wherof, whē Alexander herde tell, he was ryght sozpy, and returned vnto Antioche. And Demetrius chose * Appollonius, (whych had the gouernaunce of Celosyppa) to be hys captayne.

So he gathered a greate hoost and came vnto Iamnia, and sente word vnto Jonathas the hys piete, sayeng: Darrest I with- stand vs thy self alone? As for me, I am but laughed to scozne and shamed, because thou proudest thy strength agaynst vs in smol- tyness. Now therfore, yf thou trustest in thyne awne strength, come downe to vs in- to the playne felde, and there let vs proue our strenght together: thou shalt fynde, that I haue valcaunt me of warre wyth me and shalt knowe who I am, and the other that stande by me.

Whych saye, that your fote is not able to stāde before oure face, for thy fathers haue bene twise chased fro the p̄ a wne lāde. And now, how wilt thou be able to abyde so greate an hoost of horsmen and fotemen in the fel- de, where as is nether rocke, stone nor place to fle vnto?

When Jonathas herd the wordes of Ap- pollonius, he was moued i hys mynde: wher- fore he chose sente thousand men, and wen- te out of Jerusalem, and Symon hys bro- ther met hym for to help hym. And they pit- ched theyr tētes at Joppa, but p̄ cytie kepte hym forth, for Joppa was an holde of Ap- pollonius. Then Jonathas layed sege to it, and they that were in the cytie, for verp fea- re let hym in: and so Jonathas wanne Jop- pa. Appollonius hearinge of thys take thre thousand horsmen, with a greate hoost of fote, and wente as though he wold go to A- zotus, and came immediatly to the playne felde: because he had so many horsmen, and put hys trust in the. So Jonathas folowed vpon hym to Azotus, and there they stroke the battaylle. Now had Appollonius lefte a thousand horsmē behynde them priuely in the tētes. And when Jonathas knewe that loch wayte was layed behynde them, they went rounde aboute the enemyes hoost and shot darters at the people frō the moynge to the euenynge. As for Jonathas people, they kepte theyr ordze as he had commaun- ded them, and the enemyes horses were euer labouringe.

Then broughte Symon forth hys hoost, & set them agaynst the fote men. For the hors- men were wery all ready. So he discoryted them, and they fled. And they that were sca- tred in the feld, gat the to Azotus, and ca- me into the temple of Wagon theyr Idoll, p̄ they myght there saue theyr lyues. But Jo- nathas let fyre vpon Azotus and all the cy- ties rounde aboute it, and toke theyr goodes and * bent vp the temple of Wagon, wyth all them that were fled into it.

Thus were slayne and bent well nye. viii. M. men. So Jonathas remoued the hoost from thence, and brought them to Ascalon: where the men of the cytie came forth, & met hym with greate worshyp. After this wēt Jonathas and hys hoost awayne to Jerusa- lem, with greate substance of good. And when kynge Alexander herde these thynges he thought to do Jonathas more worshyppe and sent hym a colar of golde, as the vse is to be geuen vnto such as are of the kynge's next bloude. He gaue hym also the cytie of Accaron (with the landes belongynge ther- to) in possession.

The xi. Chapter.

The difference betweene Ptolomee and Alexander hys sonne in lawe. The death of Alexander. Demetrius raygneth after the death of Ptolomee. Symon is besieged of Jonathas. Demetrius seynge that no man resisted hym, sendeth his armye agayne. Tri- phon moueth Antiochus agaynst Demetrius. De- metrius is deliuered by the succour of Jonathas. After hys deliuerance he breaketh hys couenaunt that he had made.

And the kynge of Egypte gathe- red an hoost (lyke the lande that lyeth vnder p̄ lee shore) and many wyues: * & v̄t aboute thozow di- scate to optayne p̄ kingdome of Alexander, & to lopne it vnto hys awne real- me. Vpō thys he toke hys iourney into Si- ria, & was lettē into the cyties, and mē came forth to mete hym: for kynge Alexander had commaunded them so to do, because he was hys father in lawe. Now whē Ptolomey en- tred into eny cytie, he left men of warre to kepe it, and this he dyd thozow out all the cities. And when he came to Azotus, * they thewed hym the temple of Wagon and Azotus that was bent vp, with the other thyn- ges whych were destroyed, the deed bodys cast abroad, & p̄ graues that they had made by p̄ waye syde, for loch as were slayne in p̄ felde. And tolde p̄ kynge that Jonathas had done all these thynges, to p̄ intēt they might get hys euell wyll. But the kynge sayde not a worde thereto. And Jonathas met the kynge wyth greate honour at Joppa, whe- re they saluted one another, and toke theyr rest. So whē Jonathas had gone w̄ p̄ kynge vnto the water that was called Cleuthe- rus, he turned agayne to Jerusalem.

Now

Nowe Ptolomey had gotten the domynion of the cyties vnto Seleucia vpon p̄ lee coast, p̄magynge wyched counceils agaynst A- lexander, and sent ambassitours vnto Deme- trius, sayeng: Come, let vs make a bond be- twyxe vs, so shall I geue the my daughter that Alexander hath, and thou shalt raygne in thy fathers kyngdome. I repente that I gaue Alexander my daughter, for the goeth aboute to slep me. And thus he sleaundred Alexander, because he wolde haue had hys realme.

Thus he toke hys daughter from hym, gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsoke A- lexander, so that his malice was openly kno- wne. And Ptolomey cam to Antioche, where he set two crownes vpo hys awne head: the crowne of Egypt and of Asia. In the meane season was kynge Alexander in Cilicia, for they that dwelt in those places, had rebel- led agaynst him. But when Alexander herde of thys, he came to warre agaynst hym. So kynge Ptolomey brought forth hys hoost & met hym with a myghty power, and chased him awaye. Then fled Alexander into Ara- by, there to be defended, and kynge Pto- lomes honoure increased. And zabbid p̄ Ara- bian smote of Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolomey. But the thyrde daye after, dyed kynge Ptolomey hym selfe: and whom he had sett in the strōge holdes, were slayne of those that were wythin the cyties. And Demetrius raygned in the hundred and se- uen and syrtie yere.

At the same tyme gathered Jonathas the that were in Jewry, to laye sege vnto the ca- stell whych was at Jerusalem, and so they made many instrumentes of warre agaynst it. Then wente there certayne vngodly per- sonnes (whych hated their awne people) vnto kynge Demetrius, and tolde hym that Jo- nathas besieged the castell. So whē he heard it, he was angrie, and immediatly came vnto Ptolomaïs, and wrote vnto Jonathas, that he shulde not laye sege to the castell, but come and speake wyth him in all the haste. Neuertheles, when Jonathas herde this, he commaunded to be sege it. He chose also cer- tayne of the elders and prestes of Israel, and put him selfe in the parell, and toke with him golde, syluer, clothynge, and diuerse p̄sentes: & wente to Ptolomaïs vnto the kynge, and founde hym gracious.

And though certayne vngodly men of hys awne people made cōplaintes vpon him, yet p̄ kynge intreated hym, * lyke as hys prede- cessours had done before: and promoted hym in the syght of all his frendes, cōfyrmed hym in the hys presthode with all p̄ worshyp p̄ he had afore, and made him hys chere frēde. Jo- nathas also despyed the kynge, that he wolde make Jewry fre, * w̄ the thre head cyties of Samaria and the landes pertaynyng ther- to: vpon thys dyd Jonathas promyse hym thre. C. talentes. Where vnto p̄ kynge cōsen- ted, & gaue Jonathas wytyng of the same, conteyning these wordes: Kynge Demetrius sendeth greetynge vnto his brother Jonathas & to the people of the Jewes. We sende you here a cōpy of the lettre which we dyd wyte vnto oure eldēt Lathenus, concernynge you that ye shulde knowe it.

Kynge Demetrius sendeth greetynge vnto Lathenus hys eldēt. For the saythfulnesse p̄ oure frendes the people of the Jewes kepe vnto vs, and for the louynge kynndes which they beare towarde vs: we are determyned to do the good. Wherfore we ordeyne all the coastes of Jewry with thre cyties, Lydda & Ramatha (whych are added vnto Jewrye from Samaria) and all the landes pertay- nyng there vnto, to be frely separated for soche as do sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concer- nyng the paymentes which the kynge toke yearly afore tyme, and the frutes also of the earth and trees. As for other tythes and tri- butes that belonged vnto vs, we discharge them therof from thys tyme forth. In lyke maner we graunte vnto them all the custo- mes of salt and crowne taxes, whych were brought vnto vs. And this fredome shall they haue fyne and stedfast, from thys ty- me forth for euermore. Therfore se that ye make a cōpy of these our lettres, and deliuer it vnto Jonathas: that it maye be kepte vpo the holy mount in a conuenient place.

After thys, when Demetrius the kynge sawe that his lande was in rest, and that no resystaunce was made him: he sent awaye all his hoost, euerp man to hys awne place, ex- cepte an army of straungers, whō he brought from the Isles of the heathen, wherfore all hys fathers hoost had euell wyll at hym. * Nowe was there one Tryphon (that had be- ne of Alexanders parte afore) whych when he sawe that all p̄ hoost murmured agaynst Demetrius: he wente to Emaleuel the Ara- bian (that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander) and laye sege vpon hym, to de- lyuer hym this yōge Antiochus: p̄ he myght raygne in hys fathers steade. He tolde hym also, what great euell Demetrius had done, and howe his men of warre loued him not: & so remayned there a longe season.

And Jonathas sent vnto kynge Deme- trius, to dyue them out whych were in the castell at Jerusalem, and in the other refu- ges, for they dyd Israel greate harme. So Demetrius sent worde vnto Jonathas, say- eng: I will not only do these thynges for p̄ and thy people, but at tyme conuenient I wil do both the and thy people great worshyppe. But nowe thou shalt do me a pleasure, yf thou wilt sende me men to helpe me: for all myne armye army is gone from me. So Jonathan set him the thousand strong men unto Antioche, & they came unto the kinge, wherfore the king was very glad at their coming. But they that were of the cytie (euen an hundred and twenty thousand men) gathered the together, and would haue slayne the kinge, which fled into his court, and the cytelins kepte the stretes of the cytie, and beganne to fyght.

Then the kinge called for the Jewes bel- pe, which came vnto hym all together, and wente a bode thowwe the cytie, and slew the same daye an hundred thousand men: set fyre vpon the cytie, gat many spoiles in that daye, and deliuered the kinge. So whē the cytelins sawe that the Jewes had gotten their wyll of the cytie, & they them selues dis- sayoynted of their purpose, they made thei supplicacion vnto the kinge, sayeng: Grant vs peace, and let the Jewes craue for trou- blyng vs and the cytie, and vpon this they cast awaye thei weapens. Thus they made peace, and the Jewes gatt great worship in the syght of the kinge, and in the syght of all that were in his realme, and were spoken of thowwe out the kyngdome: and so they ca- me agayne to Ierusalem wth great goodes.

So the kinge Demetrius sat in the trone of his kyngdome, and had peace in his lade. Neuerthelesse, he dyssembled in all that euer he spake, and wth dyuine hym selfe fro Jonathan, nether rewarded hym accordyng to the benefites which he had done for him, but troubled hym very soze. After this came Tryphon agayne wth yonge Antiochus, which raygned and was crowned kinge. Then there gathered vnto hym all the men of warre, who Demetrius had put awaye: thei fought against Demetrius, which fled and turned his backe. So Tryphon toke the Elephantes, & wane Antioche. And yong An- tiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, sayenge: I con- fyrm the in thy prestode, and make the ru- ler of iii. countres, & thou mayest be a frede of the kinges.

Vpon this he sent hym golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue hym lene to dyynke in golde, to be clothed in purple, and to were a colar of golde, he made his brother Symon also captayne, fro the coastes of Tyrys vnto the borders of Egypt. Then Jonathan toke his iourney, and wete thowwe the cyties beyonde the water of Iordane, & all the me of warre of Syria gathered them vnto him for to helpe him. So he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the cytie receaued hym honora- bly, and from thence wente he vnto Gaza, but they wolde not lett hym in: wherfore he layed sege vnto it, burnynge vp and spoy- lynge the places that were aboute the cytie.

And the cytelins of Gaza submitted thei selues vnto Jonathan, which made peace w

the, but toke of thei sonnes to pledge, sent them to Jerusalem, and wente thowwe the countre vnto Damaskus. Nowe wbe Jona- thas herde that Demetrius princes were co- me into Cades (which is in Galilee) wth a greate host, purpoyng to put Demetrius out from mebyng in the realme: he came a- gainst them, and sette Symon his brother in the lande, which came to Bethsura, and layed sege to it a longe season, and discomfi- ttd the. So they despyed to haue peace with hym, which he graunted them, and after- ward put them out from thence, toke the cy- tie, and sett men to kepe it. And Jonathan is his host came to the water of Genesar, and by tymes in the moynynge gatt them to the playne felde of Azo.

And beholde, the hostes of the heathen met them in the felde, and layed watch for them in the mountaynes: so that when Jo- nathan came against them, the other (which were layed to watch) rose out of thei pla- ces, and fought, and they that were of Jona- thas syde, fled euery man: and there was not one of them left, except Nathabias the son- ne of Absalomus, & Judas the sonne of Cal- phi the captayne of the host. Then Jona- thas rente his clothes, layed earth vpon his head, made his prayer, and turned agayne to the in the felde: where they fought toge- ther, & he put them to flyght. Nowe wbe his awne me, that were fled, sawe this: they tur- ned agayne vnto hym and helped him to fo- lowe vpon all their enemyes vnto their ten- tes at Cades. So there were slayne of the heathen the same daye the thousande men, and Jonathan turned agayne to Jerusalem.

The xij. Chapter.

Jonathan sendeth embassidours to Rome and to the people of Sparta to renewe their couenante of frend- ship. Jonathan putteth to flyght the princes of De- metrius. Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

Jonathan sayng that tyme was mete for hym, chose certayne men and sent the vnto Rome for to sta- blish & to renewe the frendshipp with the. He sent letters also vnto Sparta, and to other places in lyke ma- ner. So they wente vnto Rome, and entred into the counsell, & sayde: Jonathan the hye prest and the people of the Jewes sent vs vnto you, for to renewe the olde frendshipp and bonde of loue. Vpon this the Romaynes ga- ue them fre passortes, that men shulde lede them home into the lade of Iuda peaceably. And this is the copy of the letters that Jo- nathan wrote vnto the Spartians.

Jonathan the hye prest to the elders, pre- stes, & the other people of the Jewes, sende greetynge vnto the Spartians their brethren. There were letters sente longe a god vnto Onias the hye prest, fro Arius, which than raygned raygned amonge you: that ye ate onre bre- thren, as the wyrtynge made ther vpon, spe- cifyeth. And Onias entreated the embassi- toure that was sent, honorably, and recea- ued the letters: where in there was mencyon made of the bonde of loue and frendshipp.

But as for vs, we hede no soche wyrtynge: for why? we haue the holy booke of scrip- ture in oure handes to oure comforte. Neuerthe- les, we had rather sende vnto you, for the re- newynge of the brotherhode and frendshipp: lest we shulde be straunge vnto you: for it is longe, sens the tyme y ye sent woide vnto vs. Wherfore in the sacrificies that we offe- and other cerimonies vpon the hye solempne dayes and other, we alwaye remembre you without ceasynge (lyke as reason is, and as it becommeth vs to thynke vpon our bre- thren) yee and are ryght glad of poltre pro- sperous honoure.

And though we haue had great troubles and warres, so that the kynges aboute vs haue foughten against vs: yet wolde we not be greuous vnto you, ner to other of our lo- uers and frendes in these warres. For we haue had helpe from heauen, so that we are belaced, and oure enemyes subdued. Wber- fore we chose Numenius the sonne of Antio- chus and Antipater the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romaynes, for to renue the olde bonde of frendshipp and loue with them. We commaunded them also to come vnto you to salute you, and to deliuer you oure letters, concernynge the renouacyon of oure brotherhode. And nowe ye shall do ryght well, to geue vs an answer there vnto.

And this is the copy of the wyrtynge, which Arius the kyng of Sparta sent vnto Onias. Arius kyng of the Spartians sen- deth greetynge vnto Onias the hye prest. It is founde in wyrtynge, that the Spartians and Jewes are brethren, and come out of the generaciō of Abraham. And nowe for so moch as this is come to oure knowledge, ye shall do well, to wyte vnto vs of your prosperi- ty. As for vs, we haue wyrtynge onre myn- de vnto you: Oure catell and goodes are yours, & yours ours. These thynges haue we commaunded to be shewed vnto you.

When Jonathan herde, that Demetrius princes were come forth to fyght agaynst him, with a greater host then afoze, he went from Jerusalem, and met them in the lande of hemath, for he gaue thei no space to come into his awne countre. And he sent spyes vnto their tentes, which came agayne and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the nyght season. Wherfore when the tyme was gone downe, Jonathan comma- unded his men to wathe all the nyght, and to be ready w weapens for to fyght: and set watchmen rounde aboute the host. But when the aduersaries bethe that Jonathan was ready with his men to battayll, they feared, and were afrayed in their tentes, and kyndled fyres in their tentes; brake vp, and gat the awaye. Neuertheles Jonathan and his company knewe it not till the moynynge, for they sawe the fyres burnynge.

Then Jonathan folowed vpon them, but he myght not ouertake them, for they were gone ouer the water Cleutherns. So Jona- thas departed vnto Arabias (which were called sabadel) slewe the, and toke their goodes. He proceded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and wete thowwe all p cou- tre. But Simon his brother toke his iourney and came to Ascalon and to the nexte strōge holdes: departynge vnto Joppa, and wanne it. For he herde that they wolde stāde of De- metrius partye: wherfore he set me of warre in the cyte, to kepe it. After this came Jona- thas home agayne, and called the elders of p people together: and deuyled with them for to buyde vp the strōge holdes in Jewry, & the walles of Ierusalem, to set vp an hye wall betwixt the castell and the cyte, for to sepa- rate it from the cyte, that it myght be alone, and that men shulde nether hye nor sell in it.

Vpon this they came together for to buyde vp the cyte, and for so moch as the wall vpon the broke of the west syde (called Ca- phetah) was fallen downe, they repayred it. And Simon set vp Abiada in Sephelah, & made it strōge settynge portes & lockes vpon it. Nowe when * Tryphon purposed to ray- gne in Asya, to be crowned, and to slaye the kyng Antiochus: he was afrayed that Jo- nathan wolde not suffer hym, but fyght a- gainst him. Wherfore he wente about to sa- ke Jonathan, and to kill hym.

So he departed, and came vnto Beth- san. Then wente Jonathan forth agaynst hym to the battayll with fourty thousande chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan also. But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathan came wth so greate an hoste to destroye him, he was afrayed: and therfore he recea- ued him honorably, commaunded him vnto all his frendes, and gaue hym rewardes, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obe- dient vnto him as to him selfe.

And sayde vnto Jonathan: why hast thou caused this people to take soch tranayle, se- ynge there is no warre betwixte vs? Ther- fore sende the home agayne, and chose certay- ne men to wayte vpon the, and come thou to me to Ptolomais: for I wyll geue it p, with the other strōge holdes, men of warre and their officers. As for me, I must departe, this is onely the cause of my comynge. Jonathan belued him, and vpon as he sayde, puttynge awaye his host, which wente in to the lande of Iuda. He kepte vnt. (11. 12.) by him, wher-of he sent. ij. M. into Galile, and one. M. wente with him selfe.

Nowe as soone as Ionathas entred into Ptolomais, the cytelys spard the gates of the cytie, and toke him, and slewe all them with the swerde, & came in with him. Then sent Crispion an host of fote men and horsemen into Galilee and into the greete playne felde, to destroie all Ionathas company. But when they knewe that Ionathas was take, and all they sayne that wayted vpon hym: they toke counsell together, and came forth ready to the battayll. So when they whych folowed vpon the, sawe that it was a matter of lyfe, they turned backe agayne. As for the other, they wente into the lande of Iuda peaceably, & bewayled Ionathas, and them that were with hym ryght sore. And Israel made great lamentacion. Then all the heathen that were rounde aboute the, fought to destroie them. For they sayde: nowe haue they no captayne, nor any man to helpe the. Therefore lett vs overcome them, and rote out their name from amonge men.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

After Ionathas was taken. Symon is chosen captayne, of whom Crispion takynge hys chyldre and money for the redemption of Ionathas, killeth hym and hys chyldren. The graue of Ionathas. Crispion killeth Antiochus, and possedeth the realme. Demetrius taketh trece with Symon. Symon wynneth Gaza. He possedeth the towne of Spon. He maketh his sonne John Captayne.

Nowe when Simon berde y Crispion gathered a great hoste, to come into the lande of Iuda, & to destroie it: and sawe that the people was in great fearfulness and care: he came vnto Ierusalem, and gathered the people together, and gaue them exhortacyon, sayinge: Ye knowe what greete battayls I and my brethren and my fathers house haue fought for the lawe and the Sanctuary, and what manner of troubles we haue sene: thowow occasyon wherof * all my brethren are slayne for Israels sake, and I am left alone. And nowe lett not me spare myne awne lyfe in any maner of trouble, for I am no better then my brethren: but wyll auenge my people and the Sanctuary, oure chyldren and oure wyues: for all the heathen are gathered together, to destroie vs of very malice.

At these wordes the hertes of the people were kyndled together, so that they cryed w a loude voyce, sayinge. Thou shalt be oure captayne in steade of Judas and Ionathas thy brethren, ordre thou oure battell, & whatsoever thou commaundest vs, we shall do it. So he gathered all the men of warre, makinge haste to synge the all the walles of Ierusalem, which he made stronge rounde aboute. Then sent he Ionathas the sonne of Abbaloms with a fresh hoste vnto Joppa, which he gaue them out that were in the castell, and remayned there him selfe. Crispion also remoued from Ptolomais w a greete armye, to come in to the lande of Iuda, and Ionathas w him in warde. And Simon pyched his tentes at Addus before the playne felde.

But when Crispion knewe that Simon stode vpon in steade of hys brother Ionathas, & that he wolde warre agaynst him: he sent messengers vnto hym, sayinge: Where as we haue kepte Ionathas thy brother, it is for money that he is owynge in the kynges accompte, concernynge the busynesse that he had in hande. Wherfore sende now an. C. talentes of syluer and his two sonnes for surety, that when he is litten forth he shall not forsake vs: and we shall sende hym agayne. Neuerthelesse Simon knewe, that he dissembled in his wordes: yet commaunded he the money and chyldren to be deliuered vnto him: lest he shulde be y greater enemye agaynst the people of Israel: and saue, because he sent him not y money and the chyldren, therefore is Ionathas deed.

So Symon sent him the chyldren and an hundred talentes, but he dissembled, & wolde not let Ionathas go. Afterwarde came Crispion into the lande, to destroie it, and went rounde about by the waye, that ledeth vnto Addus. But where soeuer they wete, thytber wete Symon and his hoste also. Nowe they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Crispion, that he shulde make haste to come by the wyldernesse, and to sende them vnto the playnes. And Crispion made ready all hys horsemen, to come that same nyght. Neuerthelesse it was a very greete snowe, so that he came not in Gaaladithim. And whē he drew npe Baschama, he slewe Ionathas and his sonnes there, and then turned for to go home into his awne lande.

Then sent Symon for to set his brothers deede coarke, and buryed it in Modin hys fathers cytie. So all Israel bewayled hym w greete lamentacyon, and mourned for hym very longe. And Symon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a buyldynge hie to loke vnto, offre stone behynde and before. & set vpon leue pylers, one agaynst another (for his father, his mother and foure brethren) and set great pylers rounde aboute, with armes vpon them for a perpetuall memory, and carued wyppes besyde the armes: that they myght be sene of men sayynge in the see. Thys sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this daye.

* Nowe as Crispion wēt forth to walke w the yonge kyng Antiochus, he slewe hym traitorously, & raygned in his steade, crowning hym selfe kyng of Asia, and dyd much euill in the lande. Symon also buylte vpon the castles castles in Iewry, makinge the strong with hie towres, great walles, portes and lockes and layed vpon wyttayles in the strong holdes. And Simon chose certayne men, & sent them to kyng Demetrius: to besyde him, that he wolde discharge the lande from all bondage, for Crispion had spoyled it very sore. Wher vpon Demetrius the kyng answered him, and wrote vnto hym after thys maner.

Demetrius the kyng sendeth greetinge vnto Symon the hie priest hys frende, with the elders and people of y Jewes. The golden crowne and precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receaved: and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, yee and to wyte vnto oure officers, for to release you, concernynge the thynges wherin we made pou fre: and the appoyntment that we make with you, shall be firme and stable. The stronge holdes which ye haue buylded, shall be youre awne. As for any ouerspyght or fauote comytted vnto this daye, we forgette it, & the crowne tax that ye ought vs also. And where as was any other tribute i Ierusalem, it shall now be no tribute: and loke who are mete among you to be in oure counte, let them be wyten vpon, that there maye be peace betwyxe vs.

Thus the pock of the heathen was taken from Israel, in the hundred and seuentie thre yere. And the people of the Jewes beganne to wyte in theyr letters & actes on this manner. * In the fyrst yere of Symon the hie priest, and prince of the Jewes.

In thole dayes went Symon vnto Gaza, and beseged it rounde aboute, where he set vpon ordynance of warre. And wanne a towre, which he toke. So they that gatt in to the towre leapt into y cypre, whych was in a greete fear: In so moche that the people of the cite rente their clothes, and clymmed vpon vpon the walles with theyr wyues and chyldren besechyng Symon to be at one with them sayinge.

Whereas we not after oure wickednes, but be gracious vnto vs, and we shall do y scrupce. Then Symon for very pytie, wolde fyght nomore agaynst them, but put them out of the cytie, and caused the houses (wherin the Images were) to be clesed, and so entred the cypre with psalmes of prayse, geuyng thanckes vnto the Lord. So when he had cast all abhominacyons out of the cite, he set such mē in it as kepte the law of God, and made the cytie stronge, and buylded a dwellynge place for him selfe.

Now when they in the castell at Ierusalem were kepte so straitly, that they coude not come forth into the countree, and myght nether bye ner sell: they were very hungrye, and many of them famished to death: In so moche that they besought Symon to be at one with them, which he graunted them. So he put them out from thence, and clesed the castell from sylthynesse. And vpon the xxiiij. daye of the seconde moneth in the. C. lxxi. yere they entred into it with thanckesgeuyng and braunches of palme trees, with harpes, crowdes, cymbals, and lutes, syngeynge psalmes, and songes of prayse vnto God, for that the greete enemy of Israel was overcome.

And Symon ordeyned, that y same daye shuld be kepte euery yere in gladnesse, and made stronge the hie of y temple that was besyde the castell, where he dwelt hym selfe with his company. Symon also perceauynge that Ihon his sonne was a myghtie man of armes, made him captayne of all the hostes and caused him to dwell at Gaza.

The. xliij. Chapter.

Demetrius is overcome of Arsaces. Symon being captayne there is grace quered in Israel. For reuerent of frendshipp with the Romaynes and with the people of Sparta is requerd.

In the. C. lxxii. yere gathered kyng Demetrius his host, and departed vnto Media, to gett hym helpe for to fyght agaynst Crispion. Now when Arsaces the kyng of Persia and Media herde, y Demetrius was entred with hys borders: he sent one of his princes to take him alyue: and to brynge hym vnto hym. So he wente and slewe Demetrius hoste, toke hym selfe, brought hym to Arsaces, whych kepte hym in warde. And all the lande of Iuda was in rest, so longe as Symon lyued, for he sought the wealth of his people, therefore were they glad to haue hym for theyr ruler, and so do hym worshippe all waye.

Symon wane the cite of Joppa also for an haue towne, and made it an entrance vnto the Iles of y see. He enlarged the borders of his people, and coquered them more land: he gathered vpon many of theyr people that were prisoners: he had the dominion of Gaza, Bethlura and the castell, whych he clesed from sylthynesse, and there was no man that relisted him: So that euery man tyllid hys grounde in peace, the lande of Iuda and the trees gaue their fruite and encreace. The elders sat all in iudgement, and toke theyr deuice for the wealth of the lande: the yonge men put on worshippe and barnesse vpon the. He prouided vntalles for the cypres, and made goodly stronge holdes of them: so that the fame of hys worshippe was spoken of vnto y ende of the worlde. * For he made peace thowow out the land, and Israel was full of myrrh and ioye.

Euery man sat vnder his vyne and fygg trees, and there was no man to fraye them awaye. There was none in y lande to fyght agaynst the, for then the kynges were overcome.

come. he helped those that were in aduersy-te among his people, he was diligent to se lawe kepte: as for such as were vngodly ad wycked, he toke them awaye. he set vp the Sanctuary, and encreased the holy vessels of the temple.

When the Romaynes and Sparcians had gotten worde, that Ionathas was deed they were right sozpy. But when they hearde that Symon his brother was made hys prest in hys strede, & how he had wonne the lande agayne with the cities in it: they wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renue the frend-shipp, and bonde of loue, which they had made afore wth * Judas and * Ionathas hys brethren. Which writings were red before the congregacion at Jerusalem.

And this is the cōpy of the lēttres, that the Sparcians sent: The Senatours and citizens of Sparta sende greting vnto Symon the great prest, with the elders, prestes, & the other people of the Jewes their brethren: When youre ambassytours that were sent vnto oure people, certyfied vs of youre worshippe, honoure and prosperous wealth: we were glad of theyr cōmynge, and haue wrytten the carauide which they spake before the councell of the people: namely, that Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, And Antipater sonne of Jason & Jewes ambassytours are come vnto vs, for to renue the olde frendshipe with vs. Upon this the people consented, that the men shuld be honorably intre-ated, and that the cōpy of theyr carauide shul-de be writte in the speciall bookes of the people, for a perpetuall memozy vnto * Spar-cians: yee and that we shulde sende a cōpy of the same vnto Symon & great prest. After this dyd Symon sende Numenius vnto Rome, wth a golden chylde of a thousande poude weight, to cōfirme the frendshipe wth the: which when * Romaynes vnderstode, they sayde: What thackes shall we receyue agayne vnto Symon & his childe? For he hath stablished his brethren, & ouercome * enemies of Israel. Wherefore, they graunted him to be fre.
And all this wrote * Jewes in tables of brasse, & naped it vnto * pillars vpon * mounte Syon. The cōpy of the wrytinge is this.

The .xliii. daye of * moneth * Chul in the Clxxii. yere in * third yere of Symon & hys prest, in * great cōgregacion the prestes, rulers of * people, & elders of * cōtre at Asa-rame, were these wordes openly declared.

For so moch as there was moch warre in our land, therefore Symon the sonne of Iona-thas (come of the children of Iareb) and his brethren put them selues in parell, and resisted the enemyes of theyr people: & theyr Sanctuary & lawe myght be maynteyned, and dyd theyr people great worship: Iona-thas in lyke maner, after that he had gouerned hys people & bene their hys prest: dyed, and lyeth buried besyde hys elders.

After that wold theyr enemyes haue trodden their holy thinges vnder fote, destroyed their lande, and utterly waisted their Sanctuary. Then Symon withstode them, and fought for his people, spēt moch of hys owne monney, weapened the valeant men of hys people, gaue them wages, made stronge the cities of Iuda, wth Bethsura that lyeth vpon the borders of Ieruzalem (where the ordinauce of theyr enemyes laye somtyme) and set Jewes there for to kepe it.

he made fast Joppa also, which lyeth vpon the see, & Gaza that bordreth vpon * Azotus (where * enemies dwelt afore) & there he set Jewes to kepe it: and whatsoeuer was mete for the subduynge of the aduersaries, & layed he therein. Now whē the people sawe the noble actes of Symon, & what worshippe, he purposed to do for the, his godly behauoure, & faithfulness which he kepte vnto the, and how he fought by all wayes & wealth of his people, because he dyd all this, therefore they chose him to be theyr price & hys prest. And in his tyme they prospered well by him, so the heathen were take out of theyr lande: & they also which were in * egypte of Iuda at Jerusalem in the castell (where they wēt out and despoiled all thinges that were about the Sanctuary, & dyd greate harme vnto cōlynnes) and Symon put men of the Jewes in it, for the defence of the lande and citty, and set vp the walles of Jerusalem.

And kyng Demetrius confirmed hym in his hys presthode, made him his frēde, & dyd him great worshippe. For he herde that the Romayns called the Jewes theyr frendes, louers & brethren: how honorably they recea-ued Symons ambassytours: how the Jewes & prestes consented that he shulde be theyr price & hys prest perpetually (till God rapsed vp the true prophet) & that he shulde be theyr captaine, to care for the Sanctuary, & to set officers vpon the workes therof, ouer * land, ouer the weapens, ouer the houses of defence, to make prouision for the holy thin-ges, & to be obeyed of euery mā, & all * wrytinges of the land to be made in hys name: & he shulde be clothed in purple & golde, & that it shulde be lausfull for none of the people nor prestes to breake eny of these thynges, to wstande his wordes, ner to call eny congrega-cion in the land without him: that he shulde be clothed in purple, & weare a colar of gold: And yf ther were eny which disobeyed or brake this ordinaunce, & he shulde be punyshed.

So all the people consented to allowe Simon, and to do accordynge to these wordes: Symon also him self toke it vpon him, and was contente to be * hys prest, the capytayne and prince of the Jewes and prestes, and to gouerne gouerne them all. And they commaunded to make this wrytinge in tables of brasse, and fasten it vnto the compasse of the Sanctuary in an open place: and to laye vpon a cōpy of the same in the treasury, that Symon & hys posterite myght haue it.

The .xv. Chapter.

Antiochus maketh a cōuenant of frendshipp with Symon, & Tripho is persecuted. The Romaynes write letters vnto kynges and narbons in the defence of the Jewes. Antiochus refuseth the helpe that Symon sent hym, & breaketh hys cōuenant.

Demetrius sent letters fro * Jles of the see, vnto Symon & hys prest and prince of the Jewes, and to all * people confyrminge these wordes: Antiochus & kyng sendeth gretyng vnto Symon the hys prest and to the people of the Jewes. For so moch as certayne wicked mē haue gotten * kyngdome of oure progenitours, I am purposed to chalenge * realme agayne, and to reitore it to the olde estate.

Wherefore I haue gathered a great host, & made shippes of warre: & I maye goo thro-row the cōtre, & be auenged of the which haue destroyed oure land, and waisted many cities in my realme. And therefore now I make the free also fro all the tributes, wherof al kinges my progenitours haue discharged & and fro other customes (wher fro they haue released) & whatsoeuer they be: Yee I geue
* leaue to synpte money of thyne awne win-thyl lande. As for Jerusalem, I wyll that it be holy and free: & all the weapens and houses of defence which thou hast buylded & kepest in thine handes, shall be thyne. Whereas eny thing is or shall be owynge vnto the kyng, I forgiue it, fro this tyme forth for euer-dome. And whē we haue optayned our kingdome, we shall do * thy people and the temple great worshippe: so * pour honoure shall be knowne thorow out the whole worlde.

In the .Clxxiii. yere wente Antiochus into his fathers lande, & all the mē of warre came together vnto hym, so that fewe were left wth Triphon. So * kyng Antiochus followed vpon hi, but he fled vnto Doza, which lieth by the see syde: for he sawe * there was mischeffe commynge vnto him, & that his host had forsake him. Then cam Antiochus vnto Doza with an hundred and twety thousande mē of armes vpon fote, & eyght thousande horsē. So he cōpaied the cite rōnde about, & * shippes came by the see. Thus they vexed the cite by land & by water, in so moch * they suffred no mā to go in nor oute.

In the meane season came * Numenius (a they that had bene with him) from * citty of Rome, hauinge lēttres wrytten vnto the kynges and prouincies, wherin were cōteyned these wordes: Lucius & Mayre of Rome sendeth greting vnto Iolompy & kyng.

The embassytours of the Jewes our frendes beyng sent from Symon the hys prest and from the people of the Jewes, came vnto vs for to renue the olde frendshipe, and bonde of loue, brought a chylde of golde weyng a thousande pounde, which we were contente to receaue of them. Wherefore we thought it good to wryte vnto the kynges and prouincies, to do them no harme, nor to take parte agaynst them, theyr cities ner cōtreces, nether to maintene their enemyes agaynst the.
If there be eny wycked personnes therfore, fled from their cōtre vnto you, deliuer the vnto Symon the hys prest, that he maye punish them accordynge to theyr awne lawe.

The same wordes wrote the Romaynes also vnto Demetrius & kyng, to Attalus, Araba, Arsaces & to all regions: as Samsanes, to the of Sparta, Delo, Mido, Silo, Caria, Samos, Pamphilia, Lycia, Alicarnassum, & to the Rhodes, to * Kaseus, Coo, Sida, Arado, Gortina, Cnydū, to Cypres and to Cyren. And of euery lēttre they sent a cōpy to Symon & hys prest and to the people of the Jewes. So Antiochus the kyng brought his host vnto Doza & seconde tyme to take it: where he made diuerse ordinaunce of warre, & kepte Triphon, that he shuld not come forth. He sent Symon to Antiochus two thousande chosen men to help him with gold, syluer and other plentous geere: Pecurthelesse, he wolde not receaue them, but brake all * cōuenant which he made wth Symon afore, & withdrew him self fro him.

He sent Athenobius also a frende of hys vnto Symon, for to reason with him, saying: Ye withholde frome Joppa & Gaza (with the castell that is at Jerusalem) which are cy-ties of my realme, whose borders ye haue destroyed, & done greate euell in the lande, hauynge the dominacion in many other places of my kyngdome. Wherefore deliuer now * cities which ye haue taken, with * tributes of the places that ye haue rule vpon without * borders of Jewry: Or els geue my syue lūdret halentes of syluer, yee and for * harme that ye haue done in * cities & for the tributes of * same, other syue hundred halentes.
If no, we shall come and fyght agaynst you.

So Athenobius the kynges frende came to Jerusalem, & whē he sawe the great worship and honoure of Symon in gold, syluer & so great plenty of ornaments: he marue-led, and tolde Symon as * kyng commaunded hym. Then answered Symon and sayd vnto hym: * As for vs, we haue nether taken other mens lādes, ner withholde the, but only oure fathers heritage, which oure ene-myes had vnyghtcously in possession a certaine tyme. This heritage of oure fathers haue we chalenged in processe of tyme. And where where as thou cōplaynest concerning Toppa and Gaza, they dyd great harme to oure people and in oure lande, yet wpll we geue an. C. talentes for them.

Acuertheles Athenobius answered hym not one word, but turned agayne w^othful-ly vnto the kyng, & tolde him all these wodes, and the great dignite of Symon, with all that he had sene, and the kyng was very angrie. In the meane tyme fled Triphon by whyppe vnto Orthosaida. Then the kyng made Cendebens captayne of the see coast, & gaue him an host of fote men and horfmen, commaundynge him to remoue the host to-warde Jewry, and to buylde vp the cytie of Cedron, to make vp the portes, and to war-re agaynst the people of the Jewes. As for þ kyng hym selfe, he folowed vpon Triphon.
So Cendebens came vnto Iamnia, and be-ganne to vex the people, to treade downe Jewry, to take þ people prisoners, to slaye them, and * to buylde vp Cedron: where he sett horfmen and other men of warre, that they myght come forth and go thozow the stretes of Jewry, lyke as the kyng had commaunded hym.

The .xvi. Chapter.

Cendebeus the captayne of Antiochus hoste is put to flight of the sonnes of Symon Isidolomus & soune of Abobus Kr'leth Symon & his. ii. sonnes at a banquet. John killeth them that lye in waite for hys life.

Athen came Ihou by from * Gaza, and
 * i. i. i. i. i. i. f. tolde Symon his father, what Cen-debens had done amouge theyr people. Upon thys called Symon two of hys eldest sonnes, Judas and Ihou, and sayd vnto them: I and my brethren and my fathers house, haue euer fro our youth vnto this daye, foughten agaynst the enemyes of Israel, and God gaue vs good fortune to deli-uer Isracc off tymes. And now for so moch as I am olde, be ye in steade of me & my brother, to go forth and fyght for oure people, & the helpe of God be with you. So he chose xx. fighting men of þe countre, with hoys-men also, which wente forth agaynst Cen-debens, and rested at Modin.

In the mornynge they arose, and went in to the playne felde: and beholde, a myghty great host came agaynst them, both of fote men and horsmen. Now was there a water broke betwyxte them, and Ihon remoued þ host towarde them. And when he sawe that the people was afrayed to goo ouer the water broke, he wente ouer fyrst hym selfe: and the men singe this, folowed hym.

Then Ihon set his horsmen and fote men in ordze, the one by the other, for theyr enemies horsmen were very many. But when they blew vpon the prestes trompettes, Cendebeus fled wth his hoste, wherof many were slayne, and the remnaunt gat them to theyr stronge holde. Iudas also Ihons brother was wounded at the same tyme. And Ihon followed still vpon the enemyes, tyll he cam to Cedro* which he buylded. The enemyes fled also vnto the towres that were in the feldes of Azotus, and those dyd Ihon burne vp. Thus there were slayne. ii. W. men of them, and Ihon turned agayne peaceably into Jewry.

And in the felde of Jericho was Ptolomy the sonne of Abobus made captayne: which because he had aboundaunce of syluer and golde (for he had married y^e daughter of Symon y^e hys prest) waxed proude in hys mynde, and thought to conquere the lande, ymagining falsed agaynst Symon and his sonnes, to destrope them. Now as Symon was goyng aboute thoro the cyties, that were in the countre of Jewry, and caring for the: he came downe to Jericho with Nathaniag and Judas his sonnes, in the. Cxxvii. yere in the. xi. moneth called * Sabat. The Pto- * January lomy the sonne of Abobus receaued the (but with disceate) into a stronge house of hys called Doch, whych he had buylded, where he made them a bancket.

So when Symon and hys sonnes were mery and had dꝛöcken well, Ptolomy stode vp with hys men (whom he had hyd there) and toke theire weapens, entred into þe ban-cket house, and slewe Symon with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruantes. Soch great vn faythfulnesse dyd Ptolomy in Israell, and recompensed euell for good. Then wrote this Ptolomy þe same vnto kyng An-tiochus, requyringe him, that he shuld sende hym an host to helpe him: and so shuld he de-liuer hym the lande, with the cyties and tributes of the same. He sent other men also vnto Gaza, for to take Ihon: and wrote vnto the captaynes to come to him, and he shulde geue them splier, golde and rewardes. And to Ierusalem he sent other, to take it, & the Sanctuary.

Then ranne there one before, and tolde Jho in Gaza, that his father & his brethern were slayne, & how that Ptolomy had sent to slaye hym also. When Jhon herde this, he was sore abaithed, and layed handes of them that were come to destrope hym, and slewe them: for he knewe, that they went aboute to kyll hym.

As for other thynges concernyng Ihon: of hys warres, of hys noble actes (wherin he behaued hym selfe manfully) of the buyldinge of walles which he made, and other of his debes: They are wrytten in the cronicles of hys presthode, from the tyme forth that he was made hys prest after hys father.

The first Chapter.

¶ An Epistle of the Jewes that dwelt at Ierusalem sent vnto them which dwelt in Egypt, wher in they exhorte them to geue thanks for the death of Anio: chus. Of the tyme that was hyde in p pte. The pray er of Nehemias.

A The brethren of the Jewes which be at Jerusalem, and in the lande of Jewry, wth vnto those brethren of the Jewes that are thorow out Egypte. good fortune, health and peace.

God be gracious vnto you, and thyncke vpon his couenaunt that he made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob his saythful seruau-tes: * and geue you all such an herte, that ye maye loue and serue him, yee and persoume hys wyll withan whole herte and of a wyllynge mynde: He open youre hertes in hys lawe and in hys commaundementes, sende you peace: heare youre prayers, be at one with you, and neuer forsake you in tyme of trouble. This is here our prayer for you.

What tyme as Demetrius reigned, in þ Clix. yere, we Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs.
In those yeres, after that Jason departed oute of the holy lande and kyngdome, they brent vp the portes, & shed innocent bloude.
Then made we our prayer vnto the Lorde, and were hearde: we offered: and lyghted the candels, setting forth cakes and bzed. * And now come ye vnto the feaste of tabernacles in the moneth^r Casleu.

25 In the. Cxxxviii. yere, the people that was at Ierusalem and in Jewry, the coun-cell and Judas hym selfe, sent thys wholsa-me salutacion vnto Aristobolus kyng Ste-lomys master, which came of the generacio of the anoynted prestes: and to the Jewes that were in Egypte: In so moche as God hath deliuered vs from greate pears, we thanke hym hylpe. In that we resysted so myghtie a kyng. And why? he brought me out of Persis by heapes, to fyght agaynst vs and the holy cite. For as he was in Persis (namely, the Captayne wpyth the greate host) he perished in the temple of Naneas, beyng discaued thorow the deuice of Na-neas prestes. For as he was purposed to haue dwelt there, Antiochus and hys frendes came thither, to receaue moch money for a dowry. So whē Naneas prestes had layed forth the money, he entred with a small copany into the compasse of the temple, ad so they shut the temple.

T Now whē Antiochus entred by opening the preynt inraunce of the tēple, the prestes stoned the captayne to death, hewed the in peeces that were wyth hym, smote of theyr heades, and threwe them out. In al thinges God be praysed, whiche hath deliuered the wycked into our handes.

Where as we now are purposed to keepe the purification of the temple vpon the xxvj. daye of the moneth Casleu, we thought necessary to certifie you therof: that ye also myght *kepe the tabernacles feast daye, ad the daye of the fyre, whych was geuen vs when Nehemias offred, after that he had set vp the temple and the altar. For what tyme as oure fathers were led awaye vnto Babilon, the prestes (whych then sought the honoure of God) toke the fyre pryuely fro the altar, and hyd it in a valley, where as was a depe dyke pyt: and therein they kepte it, so that the place was vknownen to euery man. Now after many yeaeres when it pleased God that Nehemias shulde be sent from the kynge of Persia, * he sent the chylders chyldren of those prestes (which had hyd the fyre) to seke it. And as they tolde vs they founde no fyre, but thicke water. The commaunded he them to drawe it vp, & to bring it hym, and the offerings withal. Now whe the sacrifices were layed on and ordred, the prest Nehemias commaunded to spraynckle them and the wood wyth water. When thys was done, ad the tyme come that the Sun-ne shone, which afore was hyd in the cloude: there was a great fyre kyndled. In so moch that euery man marueled. Now all the prestes prayed, whyle the sacrifice was a ma-kinge. Ionathas prayed first, and the other gaue answer.

And Nehemias prayer was after this maner: O Lorde God maker of all thynges thou fearfull and stronge, thou ryghteous and mercyfull, thou that art onely, a gracyous kynge, onely lyberall, onely iust, Al-myghty and euerlastyng, thou that deli-uerest Israel from al trouble, thou that hast chosen the fathers and halowed them: recea-ue the offeringe for the whole people of Israel, preserue thyne awne porcion, and ha-lowe it, gather those together, that are sca-tered abroad from vs: deliuer them that are vnder the heathens bondage, loke vpo the whyche are despyled and abhorred; that the heathen maye knowe and se how that thou art our God: Punyshe them that oppresse, and proudly put vs to dishonoure. Set thy people agayne in thy holy place * lyke as Moses hath spoken.

And the priestes longe Psalmes of thankes-givinge, so long as the sacrifice endured.
Now when the sacrifice was bzint, Achemias commaunded the greate stones to be sprynckled wpth the residue of the water.
* Which whē it was done, there was syndled a

led a flammie of them also: but it was consumed thowhe y lpyght, that shyned from the aulter. So when this matter was knowne, it was tolde y kyng of Persia, y in the place where y prestes, which were led awaye, had hys pyre, there appeared water in steade of fyre, and that Nehemias & his company, had purfied the sacrefices withall. Then the kyng consyderynge & ponderynge the matter diligently, made hym a temple to proue the thyng that was done. And when he founde it so in dede, he gaue the prestes many gyftes & diuerse rewardes, yee, he toke them with his awne had and gaue them. And Nehemias called y same place Sephar, which is as moch to saye as a clensynge: but many men call it Sephi.

The ii. Chapter.

¶ Dom Jeremij hadde the tabernacle, the Arke, and the aulter in the hill. Of the v. booke of Jason con- tained in one.

Is founde also in the wytynges of Jeremij the prophet, that he commaunded them which were caried awaye, to take fyre, * as it is layde afore. * He commaunded them also, that they shuld not forget the lawe and commaundmentes of the Lorde, and that they shulde not erre in theyr myndes, when they se ymages of syluer and golde with theyr ornametes. These and soch other thynges commaunded he them, and exhorted them, that they shulde not lett the lawe of God go out of theyr hertes.

It is wyrtten also, how the prophet (at the commaundment of God) charged them to take the tabernacle, & the arke w them: and he wente forth vnto the mountayne, where Moyses clymed vp, * & sawe the heritagage of God. And when Jeremij came there he founde an open caue, wherein he layed the tabernacle, the arke, & the aulter of incense, and so stopped the hole. There came certayne men together also folowynge hym, to marcke the place, but they coude not fynde it. Which when Jeremij perceaued, he reproued them, saying: As for y place, it shal be unknowne, vntill the tyme y God gather his people together agayne, & receaue them vnto mercy. Then shal God shew them these thynges, & the maiesty of the Lorde shal appeare, * and y cloude also lyke as it was shewed vnto Moyses: and lyke as when Salomon despyred, that the place myght be sanctified, and it was shewed hym.

For he beyng a wyse man, handled honorably & wysely, offerynge vnto God in the halowynge of the temple, when it was finished. * And lyke as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lorde, the fyre came downe from heauen, & consumed y burnt offerynge: Euen so prayed Salomon also, * and the fyre came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt-offeringe. And Moyses sayd: because the sin-offeringe was not eaten, therefore it is consumed. In lyke maner Salomon kept the despyracyon (or halowynge) eyght dayes.

In the Annotations and wytynges of Jeremij, were these thynges put also: and how he made a lybrary, and how he gathered out of all countrees the booke of the prophetes, of Dauid, the Epistles of the kyn- ges, and of the presentes. Euen so Judas also, loke what he lerned by experience of warre, and soche thynges as hath happened vnto vs, he gathered them all together, and so we haue them by vs. If ye now desyre to haue the same, sende some body to fetch them vnto you. Where as we then are aboute to celebrate the purgification, we haue wyrtten vnto you. Therefore ye shal do wel, if ye kepe the same dayes. We hope also, that the God (whych deliuered hys people, and gaue them al the heritagage, kyngdome, presthode and Sanctuary * that he promysed them in the lawe) shal shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together fro vnder the heauē into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath clen- sed the place.

As concernynge Judas Machabeus and hys brethren, the purgification of the great temple, the dedication of the aulter, yee, and of the warres that concerne noble Antiochus and * Eupator his sonne, of y wytynges that came downe from heauē vpon those, which manfully defended the Jewes. For though they were but fewe, yet defended they the whole lande; droue awaye the enemyes host, reconered agayne the temple, that was spoken of thowhe out all the worlde deliuered the cytye, doyng theyr best, that the lawe of the Lorde which was put downe, myght wythall tranquylte be restored agayne vnto the Lorde, that was so merciful vnto the. As touchynge Jason also of Cyren, we haue vndertake compendiously to bring into one booke, the thynges that were comprehended of hym in pue. For we consyderynge the multitude of the booke, and howe harde it shulde be for them that wolde medle wth stozies & actes (ad that because of so diuerse matters) haue vndertake so to comprehend the stozies: that soch as are disposed to reade myght haue pleasure & profit therein: and that they whych are diligent in soche thynges, myght the better thinke vpon them: yee and that whosoener reade them, myght haue profyt therby.

Reuerthelesse, we oure selues that haue medled wth this matter for the shortning of it haue taken no smal labour, but great diligence, watchynge and traunple. Lyke as they

as they that make a feast, wolde saye do other men pleasure: Euen so we also (for many mens sakes) are very well cōtēt to take the labour, where as we maye shortly comprehend, the thynges that other men haue truly wyrtten.

For he y buyldeth an house anewe, must prouyde for many thynges, to y whole buyldynge: but he that paynteth it afterwarde, seeketh but only what is comly, mete & conueniēt to garnysh it wythall. Euen so do we also in lyke maner. And why? he that begyneth to wyrtte a stozie for y fyrst, must wyth his vnderstandynge gather the matter together, set hys wordes in ordre, and diligently seke out of euery parte: But he that afterwarde will shorten it, vseth few wordes, & toucheth not the matter at the largest. Let thys be sufficient for a prologe, now wyll we begyne to shewe the matter: for it is but a folyshe thyng to make a longe prologe, & to be shorte in the stozie it selfe.

The iii. Chapter.

¶ Of the honour done vnto the temple by the kynges of the Gentyles. Simon vttereth what treasure is in the temple. Heliodorus is sent to take them awaye. He is strepten of God, & healed at the prayer of Onias.

What tyme as the holy cyte was inhabited i all peace & wealth, and whē the lawes were yet very well kepte. (For so was it ordeyned by Onias y hye prest & other godly me y were enemyes to wyckednesse) It came thereto, * that euen the kynges & princes the selues vnto the place great worshippe, & garnysed the temple with greate gyftes: In so moch that Seleucus kyng of Asia of his awne rentes, bare all the costes belongynge to the seruice of the offerynge. Then * Simon of y tribe of Ben Jamim, a ruler of y temple, laboured to worcke some myscheffe i y cyte: but y hye preste resisted hi neuer thelesse when he myght not ouercome Onias, he gat hym to * Appolonius y sōne of Cherfa (whych the was chefe Lord i Celosyria and Phenices) and tolde hym, y the treasury in Jerusalem was full of innumerable money, & how that the comd goodes (whych belonged not vnto the offerynge) were excedinge greate also: yee & how it were possible, that all these myght come vnder the kynges power.

Now when Appolonius had shewed the kyng of the moneye, as it was tolde hym: y kyng called for Heliodorus his steward, & sent hym with a commaundement, to bring hym the same money. Immediately Heliodorus toke hys iourney, but vnder a coloure, as though he wolde go thowhe Celosyria and Phenices to viled y cyties, but hys purpose was to fulfill the kynges pleasure. So when he came to Jerusalem, ad was lounyngly receaued of the hye prest into the cyte: he tolde what was determyned concernynge the moneye, and shewed the cause of hys coming: he asked also, if it were so i dede. The hye prest tolde him, that there was soch money layed vp for the vpholdinge of wyddowes and fatherlesse chyliden, & how that a certayne of it belonged vnto hyrcan? Tobias a noble man: and that of al the monie (whych y wycked Simon had beuoyed) there were. iiii. hundred talentes of syluer, & ii. hundred of golde: yee and that it were impossible for those mens meanynge to be disceaued, that had layed vp the money in y place and temple (whych is had in worship thowhe the whole worlde) for the maiytenuance and honoure of the same. When vnto Heliodorus answered, that the kyng had commaunded hym in any wyse, to bypunge hym in the money.

So at the daye appoynted, Heliodorus entered into the temple to ordeyne thys matter. But there was no small feare thowhe out y whole cytie. The prestes fell downe before the aulter in theyr vestimentes, and called vnto heauen vpon hi, * whych had made a lawe concernynge stuffe geuen to kepe, that they shulde be safely preserved for soch as committed the vnto keepynge. Then who so had looked the hye prest in the face, it wold haue greued hys herte: For hys countenance and the chaungynge of his coloure, declared the inwarde sorowe of hys myde. The mā was all in heynesse, and his body in feare: wherby they that looked vpo hym, myght perceaue y greife of his herte. The other people also came out of theyr houses by heapes vnto y comon prayer because y place was lyke to come into confusyon. The weime came together thowhe y stretes, with hearye clothes aboute theyr brestes.

The wytyngs also that were kepte i rāne to Onias, some in the walles, other some looked out of the wyndowes: yee they all helde by theyr handes toward heauen, & prayed. A miserable thyng was it, to loke vpo the comen people, & the hye prest beyng in soch trouble. But they belought almighty God that the goodes whych were committed vnto them, myght be kepte whole, for those y had deliuered the vnto theyr keepynge. Reuerthelesse the thyng that Heliodorus was determyned to do, that perfourmed he i the same place, he hym selfe personally beyng about the treasury with hys men of warre. But y sperte of almighty God shewed him selfe opely, so that all they which presumed to obeie Heliodorus, fell thowhe the power of God into a greate fearfulness and drede. * For there appeared vnto them an hōse, w a terrible man sytting vpon hym, deckt in goodly arape, and the hōse smote at Heliodorus wyth hys fore fete. Now he that sat

upon y^e horse, had harnesse of golde vpon hi.
Moreover, there appeared. ii. sayre & beutyfull y^ege me in goodly aray, which stode by him, scourged hym of both the sydes, and gaue hym many strykes without ceasinge.

¶ With that fell heliodorus sodenly vnto y^e grounde. So they toke hym vp, beinge compased aboute wyth greate darchnesse, & bare hym out vpon a bere. Thus he that came with so many runners and men of warre in to the sayde treasury, was borne out, where as no man myght helpe hym: & so the power of God was manifest and knowne. He laye styll domme also by the power of God destitute of all hope & lyfe. And they prayled the Lord, that he had shewed his power vpon his place ad temple, whych a lytle afore was full of feare & trouble: and that thow the reuelacion of the almyghtie Lord, it was fylled wyth ioye and gladnesse.

The certayne of heliodorus frendes prayed Onias, that in all haste he wolde call vpon God, to graunte hi hys lyfe, whych was ge-uynge vpon the goost. So the hys prest considered the matter, ad lest the kyng shuld suspecte that the Jewes had done heliodorus some euell: he offered an healthofferynge for him. Now whē the hys prest had opeyned hys petition, the same yonge men in y^e same clothinge appeared, & stode besyde heliodo-rus, saye: Chancke Onias the hys prest, for* for his sake hath y^e Lord graunted y^e thy lyfe: therfore seing y^e God hath scourged the geue hym prayse & thākes, and shewe euery man hys myght & power. And whē they had spoke these wordes, they appeared nomore.

* Act. xxi. c.

So heliodorus offered vnto God, made great vowes vnto him, which had graunted him his lyfe, thāked Onias, toke hys hoost & wete agayne to the kyng. Then testified he vnto euery man of the greates workes of God, that he had sene wth his eyes. And whē the kyng asked heliodorus who were me-te to be sent yet once agayne to Ierusalem, he sayde: yf thou hast any enemy or aduersary vnto thy realme, sende him thither, & thou shalt haue hym punished, yf he escape wyth his lyfe: for in that place (no doute) there is a speciall power & working of God. For he y^e dwelleth in heauen, visiteth & defendeth y^e place: ad all that come to do it harme, he pu-nisheth ad plageth them. Thys is now the matter concernynge heliodorus, & the kepyng of the treasury at Ierusalem,

¶ The. liii. Chapter.

¶ Simon reporteth euell of Onias. Jason bespyng the office of the hys prest conuertyng the heage wyth rewardes. The wycked intent of Jason.

* ii. mac. iii. a

¶ This Symon now* (of whō we spake afore) beinge a betwayer of the money & of hys awne naturall contre, reported y^e worst of Onias: as though he had moued heliodorus vnto thys, & as though he had bene a bypinger by of euell. Thus was he not ashamed to call hym an enemy of y^e realme, that was so faythfull an ouerser & defender of the cite & of his people: yee ad so feruent in the lawe of God. But whē y^e malice of Simō increased so farre, that thow hys frendes there were certayne mālaughters comytted: Onias considered the parell that myght come thow this stryfe, & how that Appoloni* (namely the chefe Lord in Celosyia & Phenices) was all set vpon tyranny, and Symons malice increased the same: he gat him to the kyng, not as an accuser of the cytelins, but as one that by hi self intended y^e comon wealth of the whole multitude. For he sawe it was not possible to ly-ue in peace, nether Simon to leaue off from his folyshnesse, except y^e kyng dyd loke ther-to. But after the deeth of Seleucus, when Antioch* (whych is called the noble) toke y^e kyngdome: Jason the brother of Onias laboured to be hys prest: For he came vnto the kyng, and promised him thre hūdrēth & lx. talentes of syluer, & of y^e other rentes. lxxx. talentes. Besides this he promised him yet an. C. & l. yf he myght haue the scole of the chyliden, & that he myght call them of Ieru-salem Antiochians. Whych when the kyng had graunted, & he had gottē y^e superiourte, he began immediately to draw his kynsmē to the custome of the heathen, put downe y^e thynges that the Jewes had set by of loue, by John y^e father of Eupolemi* whych was sent ambassytoure vnto Rome, for to make y^e bonde of frendshyppe & loue. He put downe all the Jewes & Lyberties of the Jewes, & set vpon the wycked statutes. He durst make a fyghtyng scole vnder the castell, and let sayre yonge men to lerne the maners of whores and brothels.

23

This was now y^e begynnyng of the heathenyssh & straunge conuersion, brought in thow the vngacious & vndeare wyckednesse of Jason, whych shulde not be called a prest, but an vngodly personne. In so moch that the prestes were now nomore occupied about the seruyce of the auter, but despyled the temple, regarded not the offerynges: yee gaue their diligence to lerne to fyght, to wraastle, to leape, to daunce, & to put at y^e stone not setting by y^e honour of y^e fathers, but lyked the gloze of the Grekes best of all: for the whych they stroue periously, & were gredy to folowe theyr statutes, yee, they lust was in all thinges to be lyke the, whych afore were theyr enemyes & destroyers. Now beit to do wyckedly agaynst y^e lawe of God shall not escape unpunished: but of this we shall speake here after.

¶ What tyme as the Olympiades sportes beinge presente) this vngacious Jason sent wycked men, bearyng from them of Ierusalem (whych now were called Antiochians) iii. C. drachmars of syluer for an offerynge to Hercules. These had they y^e carped them despyred vnder socha falshe, as though they shulde not haue bene offered but bestowed to other vles. Neuertheles, he that sent them, sent them to the intēt that they shulde be of fred vnto Hercules. But because of those y^e were present, they were geuen as to the makyng of Gyppes. And Appoloni* the sonne of Nesteus was sent into Egypte, because of the noble men of kyng Ptolomy Phylometor. Now when Antiochus perceaued, that he was put out from medlyng in y^e realme, he sought his awne profyte, departed from thence, came to Ioppa, & then to Ieru-salem: where he was honorably receaued of Jason, & of y^e cytle, & was brought in wyth torche lyght and wyth greates prayse: and so he turned his hoost vnto Phenices.

¶ After. iii. yere Jason sent Menela*, the foresayde Simōs brother, * to beare y^e money vnto y^e kyng, & to byng hys answer of other necessary matters. But he (whē he was prayled of the kyng for magnifying of his power) turned y^e presthod vnto him selfe, laying vpon. iii. C. talentes of syluer for Jason. So whē he had gottē comāndement from the kyng (he came haupng nothinge y^e becometh a prest) but bearyng y^e stomach of a cruel tyrant, & y^e wrath of a wilde brute beest. ¶ The Jason (whych had disceued his awne brother) seinge that he him selfe was begyled also, was fayne to fle into the lande of the Ammonites, & Menelaus gat the dominion. But as for y^e money y^e he had promised vnto y^e kyng, he dyd nothinge therein, when Sosstratus the ruler of the castell requyred it of him. For Sosstratus was y^e mā that gathered the customes: wherfore they were both called before y^e kyng. Thus was Menelaus put out of the presthode, & Lysmachus his brother came in his steade. Sostratus also was made Lord of y^e Cyziās.

¶ It happened in the meane season, that y^e ¶ Charliās & Mallaciās made insurreccion, because they were geuen for a present vnto kyng Antiochus concubynne. Then came the kyng in all the haste, to styll them agayne, & to pacyfy y^e matter, leauyng Andronicus there to be his deputye as one mete therfore.
Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a fyght conuenient tyme, stole certayne vessels of golde out of the temple, and gaue them to Andronic* for a present: & some he solde at Cyzus and in the cyttes therby.

¶ Whych when Onias knewe of a suertye, he reproued him: but he kepte him in a Sanctuary beside Daphnis, that lieth by Antio-che. Wherfore Menelaus gat hi to Andro-nicus, & prayed hi y^e he wolde slaye Onias.

So whē he came to Onias, he couceled him craftely to come out of the Sanctuary ge-uynge hym his hande with an othe (how be it he suspecte hym) & then he slew Onias, wythout any regarde of ryghtuousnesse.

For the whych cause not only the Jewes, but other nacjons also toke indignacion, & were displeased for the vngodly death of so godly a man.

¶ And when the kyng was come agayne from Cilicia, the Jewes and certayne of y^e Grekes wente vnto hym, cōplaininge for the vngodly death of Onias. Yee An-tiochus him selfe was sorry in hys mynde for Onias, so that it pited him, & he wepte, re-membryng his sobernesse & manerly beha-uoure. Wherfore he was so kyndled in hys mynde, that he comāded Andronicus to be strypped out of his purple clothys, & so to be led thow out the cite: yee, & the vngacious man to be slayne in the same place where he comitted his wyckednes vpon Onias. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punysshment, as he had deserued. Now when Lysmachus had done many wycked dedes in the temple thow the counsell of Menelaus, and the voyce came abroad: the multitude gathered them together agaynst Lysmachus: for he had carped out now moch golde.

¶ So when the people arose, and were full of dyspleasure, Lysmachus armed. iii. M. vntyghtes to defende hym: a certayne tyrante beyng theyr captayne, whych was gro-wen both in age and woodnesse. But when the people vnderstode the purpose of Lysmachus, some gat stones, some good stroge clubbes, & some cast adys vpon Lysmachus Thus there were many of the wounded, some beyng slayne, & al y^e other chased awaye, But as for the wycked churchrobber hym selfe, they kylled hi besyde the treasury. Of these matters therfore there was kepte a courte agaynst Menelaus. Now when the kyng came to Cyzus, they made a complaynte vnto him of Menelaus, concerning this busynesse, and the ambassytours were thre.
But Menelaus wēt & promised Ptolomy, to geue hym moch money, yf he wolde persuade y^e kyng. So Ptolomy wēt to the hig into a courte (where as he was sett to coole hym) & brought hym out of y^e mynde. In so moch that he discharged Menelaus fro the accusacions, that not wythstandynge was cause of all myschefe: and those poore men, whych yf they had tolde their cause, yee, before the Scythians, they shulde haue bene in-ged innocent, them he condemned to death.

¶ Thus were they soone punished, whych folowed vpon the matter for y^e cytle, for the people, & for the holy vessel. Wherfore they of Cyzus toke indignacyō, and buried the likk li^{ly} honorably honorably. And so thozow p couetousnesse of them that were in power. Menelaus remayned ityll in aucthorite, increasynge in malice, to the hurte of the citefyns.

The. v. Chapter.

Of the signes and tokens sene in Jerusalem, at the ende and fall of Jason. The pursute of Antiochus agaynst the Jewes. The spoilinge of the temple.

At the same tyme Antioch⁹ made hym ready to go agayne in to Egypte. The were there sene at Jerusalem. xl. dayes longe, how they had rapynge of golde, & speares. There were sene also whole hostes of men weapened, and howses runnyng in an ordie, how they came together, how they helde forth theyr wyldes, how the harnessed men drew out theyr swordes, and shott their dartes.

The thynke of the golden weapens was sene, and of all maner of armure. Wherefore euery man prayed, that those tokes myght turne to good. Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene deed: Jason toke a. iiij. men, and came sodenly vpon the cite. The citefyns ran into the walles, at the last was the cite taken, & Menelaus fled into the castell.

As for Jason, he spared not his awne citefyns in the slaughter, nether cōsidered he what greute euell it were, to destrope p prosperite of his awne kynsmen: but vpon as one that had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of hys frendes. For all this gat he not the superiourite, but at p last receaued cōfysion for hys malice. * and fled agayne lyke a vagabunde into the lāde of the Ammonites.

Finally, for a rewarde of his wyckednesse he was accused before Aretha the kynge of the Arabias. In somoch that he was sayne to fle from cite to cite, beyng deppressed of euery man as a forsaker of the lawes, & an abhominable personne. And at the last (as an open enemy of hys awne natural countre and of the citefyns) he was bypnen into Egypte.

Thus he that afore put many out of theyr awne natyue land, perished fro home hym self. He went to Lacedemō, thynckinge there to haue gottē succoure by reason of kynred. And he that afore had casten many one out vnburied, was thzowen out hym selfe, no man mournynge for hym, ner puttynge him in his graue: so that he nether enioyed p buriall of a straunger, nether was he partaker of hys fathers sepulchre.

Now whē this was done, the kynge suspecte, that the Jewes wolde haue fallen from hym: wherefore he came in a greute dyspleasure out of Egypte, & toke p cite by violēce. He commaunded hys men of warre also, that they shuld kyl & not spare, but slaye downe such as withstode them, or clymed vpon the houses.

Thus was there a greute slaughter of yonge men, olde men, women, children and virgines. In. iiii. dayes were there slayne. lxxx. iiij. fourty thousande put in prison, and no lesse solde. Yet was he not content w thys but durst go into the moost holy tēple (Menelaus that traytoure to the lawes & to his awne natural countre, beyng his gyde) and with his wicked hādes toke the holy vessel, which other kynges & cyties had geue thither for the garnynginge & honour of p place: them toke he in his hādes vnworthely, & despyled them.

So madde was Antiochus, that he considered not, how that God was a lytle wroth for the synnes of them that dwelt in p cite, for the whych such confusyon came vpon that place. * And whyp p it had not happened the to haue bene lapped in many synnes, this Antiochus (as soone as he had come) had sodenly bene punyshed, and butt out for hys presumption, * lyke as heliodorus was, who Seleucus the kynge sente to robbe the treasury. Neuertheles, God hath not chosen the people for the places sake, but the place for the peoples sake: and therefore is the place become partaker of p peoples trouble, but afterwarde shall it enioye the wealth of the. And lyke as it is now forsake in the wrath of almyghty God, so when the greute God is reconcyled, it shall be sett vpon hys worshyp agayne.

So when Antiochus had taken a. iiij. and viii. C. talentes out of the temple, he gat hi to Antioche in all the haste, thynckynge in his pride, that he myght make mē sayle vpon p dyse land, and to go vpon p see, soch an hys mynde had he. He lefte debtyes there, to deare the people: At Jerusalem left he Philyppe a Whigā, in maners more cruell thē hym selfe p let him there: At Garpsim he left Andronic⁹ & Menelaus, which were more greuous to the citefyns thē other. * Now as he was thus set in malice agaynst the Jewes, he sent Apollonius an hated prynce, wth xxii. C. commaunding him to slaye thole p were of perfect age, and to sell the women, maydens & childre. Whē he cam now to Jerusalem, he sayned peace, & kepte hym styll vntill the Sabbath daye. And then he commaunded his mē to take them to their weapens (for the Jewes kepte holy daye) & so he slew all them that were gone forth to p ope playe, runnyng here & there thzow the cite wth hys men weapened, and murdered a great nōbre. * But iudas Machabe⁹ which was the tenth, fled into the wyldernesse, led hys lyfe there wth hys company amonge wyld beasts and vpon the mountaynes, dwellynge dwellynge there and eatyng grasse, lest they shuld be partakers of the fylthynesse.

The. vi. Chapter.

Of the Jewes are compelled to leaue the lawe of God. The temple is despyled. The readers are monyshed that they shall not abhorre the aduersite wher wth p Lord afflicteth them. The greuous payne of Eleazarus.

At longe after thys, sent the king a messenger of Antioche, for to compell the Jewes, to alre the ordinaunces of the fathers and p lawe of God, to despyle the temple that was at Jerusalem, & to call it p temple of Jupiter Olympius: & that they shulde be in Gazartm, as those whych dwell at the place of Jupiter p herberous. Thys wycked sedycion of p vngodly was heuy vpon all the people: for the temple was ful of voluptuousnes, bybbyngge & bollying of the heathen, of rybaudes & harlottes together. The women went into the holy place, and bare in that was not laul. The aulter also was full of vnlaulfull thynge, whych p lawe forbiddeth to laye vpon it. The Sabbathes were not kepte, p other solempne feastes of the lāde were not regarded. To be playne, there durst no man be a knowne that he was a Jewe. In p day of the kynge byzth they were compelled p force to offre: and when the feast of Bachus was kepte, they were constrained to weare garlandes of vyue, and so to go aboute the honoure of Bachus.

Whereover thozow p counsell of Ptolomi, there went out a commaundement in the nexte cyties of the heathen, that they shulde intreate p Jewes in lyke maner: namely, to compell them for to do sacrifice after p lawes of the Gentiles: & who so wolde not, to put the to death. A pyteous thynge was it to se. There were. ii. women accused to haue circumcised theyr sonnes, whom when they had led rounde aboute p cite (the babes hanging at their byestes) they caste the downe headlings ouer the walles. Some that were crepte in denes & had kepte the Sabbath were accused vnto Philyppe, & bent in the fyre: because that for the feare of God they kepte the commaundement so styll, & wolde not defende them selues. Now I beseeche all those whych reade thys boke, that they refuse it not for these falles of aduersite: & iudge p thinges (that are happened) for no destrucyon, but for achastening of oure people. And why? Whē God suffereth not synners longe to folow theyr awne mynde, but shortly punyssheth the, * it is a token of hys greute louyng kyndnes. For this grace haue we of God more then other people, p he suffereth not vs long to synne unpunished like as other nacōs, p when p daye of iudgemēt cometh, he maye punyssh them in the fulnes of theyr synnes. If we synne, he correcteth vs, but he neuer wythdroweth hys mercie fro vs: & though he punyssh wyth aduersite, yet doth he neuer forsake hys people. But lett thys that we haue spoken now wth fewe wordes, be for a warnyng and exhortacyon of the heathen.

Now wyl we come to the declarynge of p matter. Eleazar one of p principall Scribes, an aged man & of a well fauored countenance, was constrained to gape wth open mouth, & to eate swynes flesch. But he despyed rather to dye gloriously then to lyue wth shame, offred hym selfe wyllygly to p martyrdome. Now when he saw p he must nedes go to it, he toke it paciēly: for he was at apoynte wth hym selfe, p he wolde consent to no vnlaulfull thynge for eny pleasure of lyfe. They p stode by beyng moued w pyte (but not aryght) for the olde frendshyp of p man, toke hym as pde ppyely, & prayed hym, that he wolde let such flesch be brought hym as were laulful to eate, & then to make a countenance, as though he had eaten of the flesch of the sacrifice lyke as the kynge commaunded, for so he myght be delpyered fro death: so for the olde frendshype of the mā, they shewed hym thys kyndnes.

But he beganne to consydre hys discrete & honorable age, his noble and worthyfull stock, & who p fro hys youth vphē had bene of an honest & good couerlacō: pce & how constantly he had kepte the ordinaunces and lawes comaunded by God, wherefore he gaue them this answer, & sayd: Yet had I rather fyrt be layed in my graue. * For it becometh not myne age (sayde he) in eny wyse to dissemble, wherby many pōg personnes might thyncke, that Eleazar being. lxxx. yere olde & x. were now gone to a straunge lyfe: & so thozow myne pporisy (for a lytle tyme of a trasptory lyfe) they myght be discaued: by thys meanes also shuld I despyle myne age, & make it abhominable. For though I were now delpyered fro the tormentes of men, yet shuld I not escape the hād of almyghty God, nether alpyue ner deid. Wherefore, I wyl dye manfully & do as it becometh myne age. Wherby I maye paradytūre leaue an exāple of stedfastnes for such as be yonge, p wth a ready mynde & manfully dye an honest death, for p most worthy & holy lawes.

When he had sayde these wordes, immediately he was drawen to p torment. Now they that led hym & were mylde a lytle afore, beganne to take dyspleasure because of p wordes p he sayd: for they thought he had spokē them of an hys mynde. But when he was in hys martyrdome, he mourned & sayd Thou O Lord which hast p holy knowlege, knowest opely: that where as I myght be delpyered from death, I suffre these sore paynes of my body: but in my mynde I am wel content to suffre the because I feare the

Thus this man dyed, leapinge the memorial of hys death for an example, not only vnto yonge men, but vnto all the people, to be stedfast and manly.

The. vii. Chapter.

The punishment of the. vii. brethren and of their mother.

It happened also, & there were. vii. brethren (with their mother) taken, & compelled by the kynge * against the lawe, to eate swynes flesh: namely with scourges and lathes whippes. And one of them whych was the eldest, sayd: what sekest thou, and what requyrest thou of vs? As for vs, we are ready rather to suffre death, then to offende the lawes of God and the fathers. Then was the kynge angrye, and bad heate cauldrons and brazen pottes. Whych when they were made hote, immediatly he commaunded the tongue of hym that spake fyrst, to be cut out, to pul the skynne ouer hys heade, to pare of the edges of hys handes and fete: yee and that in the syght of his mother & the other of hys brethren. Now when he was cleane marded, he commaunded a fyre to be made, & so (whyle there was any breath in hym) to be fcyed in the cauldron: In the which whyle he had bene longe payned the other brethren with their mother exhorted him to dye manfully, sayenge: The Lord God shall rewarde the treuth, and conforthe vs, lyke as Moses testified * & declarerth in hys songe, sayenge: and he wyll haue compassyon on hys seruauntes.

* Deu. xxxiii.

So when the fyrst was deed after this maner, they brought the seconde to haue hys derpsyd, pulled the skynne with the heare ouer hys heade, & asked hym, yf he wolde eate swynes flesh, or he were payned in the other members also thowow out hys body. But he answered boldly, and sayde: I wyll not do it. And so was he tormeted lyke as the fyrst, and when he was euen at the geuyngge vpon the goost he sayde: Thou most vngyracious persone puttest vs now to death, but the kynge of the world shal rayse vs vp (whych dye for his lawes) in the resurreccio of euerylastyng lye.

After hym, was the thyrde had in derpsyon and when he was requyred, he put out hys tongue, and that ryght soone, holdyngge forth hys handes manfully, and spake with a stedfast fayth: These haue I of heauē, but now for the lawe of God I despyse them: for my trust is, that I shall receaue them of hym againe. In so moch that the kynge and they whych were with hym, marueled at the yongmans boldnesse, that he nothyng regarded the paynes.

Now when he was deed also, they beared the fourth with tormentes in lyke maner. So whē he was now at hys death, he sayed

It is better that we beynge put to death of men, haue oure hope and trust in God for he shall rayse vs vp againe. * As for the, thou shalt haue no resurreccio on to lyfe.

* Job. xxi.

And when they had spoken to the fyrst, they tormeted hym. The loked he vnto the kynge, & sayd: thou hast power amonge men for thou art a mortall mā also thy selfe, to do what thou wilt, but thynke not, that God hath forsaken oure generacyon. Abide the, tarp styll a whyle, and thou shalt see the great power of God, how he wyll punyssh the and thy selfe. After hym they brought the fyrte, whych beyng at the poynte of death, sayd, Be not discaued (O kynge) for this we suffre for our awne sakes, because we haue offēded our God, & therfore maruelous thynges are shewed vpon vs. But thynke not thou, whych takest in hande to stryue agaynst God, that thou shalt escape unpunished.

This excellent mother (worthy to be well reported of, and had in remembrance) sawe her seuen sonnes dye in one daye, and suffred it paciētly, because of the hope that she had in God: yee, she exhorted euery one of the in especyall, and that boldly & stedfastly with pacyfte wysdome, wakyngge vpon her wyrd thought with a manly stomache, and sayde vnto them: I cannot tell how ye came in my wombe, for I neither gaue you brethren soule, nor no lyfe. It is not I that toynded the members of youre bodys together, but the maker of the world, which fashyoned the byrth of man, and beganne all thynges. Euen he also of hys awne mercy shall geue you breath and lyfe agayne, lyke as ye now regardenot your awne selues for his lawes sake.

Now thought Antiochus that she had despyed hym, therfore he let her go with her reproues, & beganne to exhorte the yongest sonne (whych yet was left) not only with wordes but swore vnto hym with an ooth, that he shuld make hym a ryche and welthy man (yf he wolde forsake the lawes of hys fathers) yee, and that he shulde geue hym, whatsoeuer were necessary for hym. But when the yonge man wolde not be moued, for all these thynges, he called hys mother, & counceled her to saue her sonnes lyfe. And when he had exhorted her with many wordes, she promysed hym that she shulde speake vnto her sone. So she turned her vnto hym (laughyngge the cruell tyrante to scoone) & spake with a bolde voyce: O my sonne, haue ppytie vpon me, that bare the. ix. monthes in my wombe, that gaue the sucke, notified the & brought the vnto this age.

I beseeche the (my sonne) loke vpon heauen & earth and all that is therein, and cōsydye, that God made them and mans generacyon of naught: so shalt thou not feare this hangman, but suffre death stedfastly, lyke as

as

as thy brethren haue done: that I may receaue the agayne in the same mercy with thy brethren.

Whyle she was yet speakyngge these wordes, the yonge man sayd: whom loke ye for? Wherfore do ye tarp? I wyll not obeye the kynges comaundement, * but the lawe that God gaue vs by Moses. As for thou that pnyngnest all myschefe agaynst the Jewes, thou shalt not escape the hande of God, for we suffre these thynges, because of oure synnes.

And though God be angrye with vs a lytle whyle (for oure chastenyngge and refozmacyon) yet shal he be at one agayne with his seruauntes. But thou. (O shamefull & most abhomyable persone.) Abide not thy selfe thowow wayne hope, in beyngge so malycyous vnto the seruauntes of God: for thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of the God whych is almyghty, and seyth all thynges. Thy brethren that haue suffred a lytle payne, are now vnder the couenaunt of euerylastyng lyfe: but thowow the iudgement of God, thou shalt be punished ryghteously for thy pryde.

* Mat. ii. c.

As for me (lyke as my brethren haue done) I offre my soule & my body for the lawes of our fathers, callyngge vpon God, that he wyll soone be mercyfull vnto our people: yee and with payne and punishment * to make the graunte, that he only is God. In me now & in my brethren the wrath of almyghty God is at an ende, whych ryghteously is fallen vpon all oure people.

Then the kynge beyngge kyndled in anger, was moze cruell vpon him then vpon all the other, and toke in dygnacyon, that he was so lyghtly regarded. So this yonge man dyed vndeptyd, & put hys trust styll in the Lord. Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death also. Let this now be ynough spoken, concernyngge the offerynges, and extreme cruellnesse.

The. viii. Chapter.

Judas gathereth together hys hoste. Alcanor is sent agaynst Judas. Judas exhorted hys souldyars to conqumies Alcanor is overcome. The Jewes geue thankes after they haue put their enemyes to flight, & praye vnto the Lord for the fathers and vnto the wyddowes. Alcanor flyeth vnto Antiochus.

When Judas Machabeus, and they that were with him, wente pryuely to the towne, called they the kynfolkes & frendes together, toke vnto them all such as cōtymed yet the fayth and lawe of the Jewes and brought forth. vi. M. men.

So they called vpon the Lord, that he wolde haue an eye vnto hys people, whych was trodden downe of euery man: to be gracious vnto the temple that was despyled of the vngodly: to haue cōpassyon vpon the destruction of the cite, whych was woztly lyke to be layed waste, to heare the voyce of the bloude that cryed vnto him: to remembre the most vngyfteous deathe of yonge innocent chyldre, the blasphemys also done vnto hys name, and to punyssh them.

Now when Machabeus had gathered this multitude together, he was to myghty for the heathen (for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercy) he fell vpon the towne and ctytes vntowares, bent them, toke the most commodious places, and slewe many of the enemyes. But specially he made such chafes by nyght, in so moch that hys manlynesse was spoken of euery where.

So when Philippe sawe that the man increased by lytle and lytle, & that the matter prospered with hym for the most parte: he wrote vnto Ptolomey (whych was a captayne in Celosiria & Phenices) to helpe him in the kynges basynes. Then sent he Alcanor Patrocle (a speciall frende of hys) in all the haste, and gaue him of the comen sort of the heathen no lesse then. xx. M. harnessed men, to rote out the whole generacyon of the Jewes, haupngge to helpe hym one Sorgias a man of warre, whych in matters concerninge battayls, had greater experyence. Alcanor ordered also the tribute (whych the Romanaynes shulde haue had) to be geuen vnto the kynge out of the captuyte of the Jewes, namely. ii. M. talentes. And immediatly he sent to the cities of the see coast, requyryng them for to bye Jewes to be their seruauntes and bonde men, promysyngge to sell them lxx. and ten for one talent: but he cōsydered not the wrath of almyghty God, that was to come vpon hym.

When Judas knewe of this, he tolde the Jewes that were with hym of Alcanors cōmyngge. Now were there some of them fearful, not trustyngge vnto the ryghteousnes of God, and fled they awaye.

But the other that remayned, came together, and besought the Lord, to deliuer the fro that wycked Alcanor, whych had solde them or euer he came nye them: and though he wolde not do it for they lakes, yet for the couenaunt that he made with their fathers, and because they called vpon hys holy & glorious name. * And so Machabeus called hys men together, namely aboute. vi. M. exhortyng the not to agree vnto their enemyes, * neither to be afraied for the multitude of their aduersaries cōmyngge agaynst them vngyfteously: but to fyght manly, cōsyderyngge the reprofe that they had done to the holy place without cause, how they had despyled and oppressed the ctyte, yee, and destroyed the lawes of the fathers. * For they (sayd: he) trust in theyr weapons and boldness, but our confidence is in the almyghty Lorde, which in the twynchynge of an eye maye both destroy them that come agaynst vs, and all the worlde.

He exhorted them also to cal to remembrance of helpe, that God shewd vnto there fathers: * as whē there perished an. C. & lxxxv. M. of Schennacheribys people: And of the batayl that they had in Babylon agaynst the Gallacyans: how all the Macedonyans that came to helpe them, stode in feare: and how they beig but only vi. M. slewe an. C. & xx. M. thowse helpe that was geuen them from heauē, wherby they also had receaued many benefytes.

Thowse thesē wordes the mē toke good herces vnto them, ready to dye for the lawe and the cōtre. So he set vpon eury company a captayne, one of hys awne brethern: Simon, Joseph & Jonathas: geuyng eche one. xv. C. men. He caused also to reade the holy booke vnto them, & to geue them a token of the helpe of God.

* Then he hym selfe beyng captayne in the fore front of the battayl, buckled wyth Ricanor. And God was theyr helpe, in so moch that they slewe aboue lx. M. men & compelled the more parte of Ricanoz hooft to fle, they were so wounded and feable. Thus they toke the money fro those that came to bye them, and folowed vpon the on eury syde.
But when the tyme came vpon them, they returned, for it was the Sabbath, and therfore they folowed nomore vpon them. So they toke theyr weapons & spoyles and kepte the Sabbath, geuyng thanckes vnto Lorde, which had deliuered them that daye, and shewed the hys mercy. After the Sab-both * they distributed the spoyles to the fcke, to fatherlesse and to wyddowes, and the residue had they them selues wyth the-yrs. When thys was done, and they all had made a generall prayer: they besought the mercifull Lorde to be at one wyth hys seruauntes.

Of those also that were wyth Timotheus and Bachides, which fought agaynst them they slewe. xx. M. wanne hys and strōge hol-des, and deuyded moos spoyles: euer geuyng an equal porcyon vnto f fcke, to father-les, to wyddowes and to aged persons. And when they had dyligently gathered theyr weapons together, they layed the all in con-ueniente places, & the remnaunt of the spoy-les brought they to Jerusalem. They slewe also Bypharches & wycked personne, which was wyth Tymotheus, and had vexed many Jewes. And when they helde the thankesgeuyng at Jerusalem for the vyctory, they brēt those that had set fyre on f portes of f tēple: namely Calisthenes, whych was fled into an house: & so they gat a wo-thy rewarde for theyr wyckednesse. As for that most vngacious Ricanoz, whych had brought a thousande marchauntes, to bye the Jewes, he was thowse the helpe of the Lorde brought downe euen of them whom he regarded not: in so moch that he put of hys glorious raymet, fled by see, and came alone to Antioche, wyth greate shame and dyshonour, whych he gat thowse the destruction of hys hooft. Thus he that prompted the Romaynes to paye the theyr tribute, when he toke Jerusalem: beganne now to saye playnely, that God was the defender of the Jewes, & therfore not possible to wo-unde them, because they folowed the lawes whych God had made.

The ix. Chapter.

Antiochus willing to spoyle Jerusalem is dyrected to fight. As he persecuteth the Jewes, he is directed to fight. The sained repentance of Antiochus.

* At the same tyme came Antiochus agayne wyth dyshonour out of Persys. For when he came to Jerusalem, ad vndertoke to robbe the tēple and to subdue the ctye, the people ranne together and defended them selues, in so moch that he and hys were fayne to fle wyth shame.

And so after that flight, it happened that Antiochus came agayne wyth dyshonou-re. But when he came to Egbatana, he gat knowlege what was happened vnto Ricanoz and Tymotheus. Now as he was auisinge him selfe in his wrath, he thought he was able to auenge the injury that was done to them, vpon the Jewes: and therfore commaunded to make ready hys charer, hastynge on hys iourney wythout ceasyn-ge, the iudgement of God prouokynge hym because he had spoken so proudly, f he wol-de come to Jerusalem, and make it a graue of the Jewes. But the Lorde God of Israell, that seyth all thynges, smote hym wyth an inuysible plague, whych no man coude heale.

For as soone as he had spoken these wodes, there came vpo hym an horrible payne of hys bowels, and a sore grefe of f armes.

And that was but ryght: for he had martyred other mens bowels wyth dysurde and straunge tormentes, howbeit he wolde in no wyle ceasse from his malice. For he was yet the prouder & more malicious agaynst the Jewes: But whyle he was commaundyng to make haste in the matter, it happened that he fel downe violently from the charer so that it brolde hys body, and dyd greate payne.

And

And so he that thought he myght commaunde the floudes of the see (so proude was he beyonde the condycion of man) & to weye the hys mountaynes in a payre of balauce, was now brought downe to the grounde, & caried vpon an horlytter, knowlegynge the manysfeste power of God vpon hym: so that f wycked body of hys * was full of wormes, whych in hys payne fell quicke out of hys flesh. In so moch that hys hooft was greued wyth the smell and stynck of hym. Thus he that a lytle afore thought he myght reache to the starrs of heauen, hym myght no man now abyde ner beare, for the vehemence of styncke.

Therfore, he beyng brought from hys great pynde, beganne for to come to f knowledge of hym self: for the punishment of God warned hym, and hys payne increased ener-more and more. And whē he hym self might not abyde hys awne styncke, he sayde these wordes: It is reasō to be obediēt vnto God, and that a man desyre not to be lyke vnto hym. Thys wycked personne prayed also vnto the Lorde, of whom he shulde haue optained no mercy. And as for f ctye that he came vnto so hastily, to byrge it downe to the grounde, and to make it a graue for deed men: now he desirerh to deliuer it free.

And as touchyng f Jewes, whom he had iudged not worthy to be buryed, but wolde haue cast them out for to be deuoured of the foules & wyld beasts, sayeng, that he wol-de haue destroyed both olde & ponge: Now he promysed, to make the lyke the ctyes of Athens. And where as he had spoyled the holy temple afore, now he maketh promysse to garnyshe it with greate gifies, to increase the holy ornamentes, and of his awne retes to beare the costes, and charges belonginge to the offeringes: pee, and that he wolde also become a Jewe him self, to go thowse eury place of the worlde, and to preach the power of God.

But when his paynes wolde not ceasse, (for f ryghteous iudgement of God was come vpo him) out of a very despayre he wrote vnto the Jewes a lettre of intercession, coneyninge these wordes: The kynge and prince Antiochus wiseth vnto f vertuous ctyens of the Jewes, moch health ad good prosperite.

If ye and poure chyldren fare well, and yf all thynges go after poure mynde: we ge-ue greate thanckes. In my syknesse also do I remembre you loungly: for as I came out of Persia, and was taken wyth sore dy-sease: I thought it necessary to care for the comē wealth. Nether despayre I in my self, but haue a good hope to escape this syknes.

But consyderinge that my father led an hooft sometyme in the hyer places, and spewed who shulde raygne after hym, that (yf there happened any cōtrouersy, or eny harde thyng were declared) they in f lande myght knowe theyr chefe Lorde, that there shuld be no insurreccion: Agayne: when I ponde by my self, how that all the myghtie men and neighbourours rōde about, are layd wyte, and loke but for oportynyte to do harme: I haue ordened that my sonne Antiochus shal raygne after me, whom I oft commended to many of you, when I was in the hyer kyn-domes, and haue wyrtten vnto him as it fo-loweth herafter. Therfore I praye you & re-quyre you, to remembre the benefytes that I haue done vnto you generally, and in especiall (and that eury mā wylbe saythfull to me & my sonne) For I hope that he shal be of sober and louinge behauoure, & yf he folowe my deuyce, he shal be indifferent vnto you.

* Thus, that murthurer & blasphemour of God was sore smytten: & lyke as he had in-treated other men, so he dyed a myserable death in a straunge cōtre vpon a moun-taine. And hys body dyd Philippe (f went wyth hym) carie awaye: whych fearynge the sonne of Antiochus, wente into Egypte to Ptolomy Philometor.

The x. Chapter.

Judas Machabees taketh the cite & the temple. He beginneth to write f actes of Judas. The Jewes fght agaynst the Idumeans: Timotheus inuadeth Idumey, wyth whom Judas hopeth battell. Timotheus appeareth in the ager to the helpe of the Jewes. Timotheus is slayne.

Machabeus now and his company (thowse the helpe of the Lorde) wanne the temple and the ctye agayne, destroyed the altiers and chappels that f heathen had buylded thowse the strettes: censed f temple, * made another autler of byrche stone, and after two yea-res they offered sacrifices, set forth the incense, the lyghtes and shewe byrd. When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the grounde, and besought the Lorde, that they myght come nomore into such trouble: but yf they spynned eny more agaynst hym, he hym selfe to chasten them wyth mercy, and not to come in the handes of those aleautes and blasphemous men.

Now vpon the same daye that f stranngers poluted f temple, it happened that on the very same daye it was censed agayne: namely, * the. xxi. daye of the moneth called Casseu. They kepte. viii. dayes in gladnesse lyke as in the feast of the tabernacles: remembyng that not longe afore, they helde the feast of the tabernacles vpon the mountaynes and in denues lyke beasts. And to the same token they bare grene bowes, bzaunches and palmes, before him that had geuen them good fortune to cense his place. They agreed

agreed also together, and made a statute, p every yere those dayes shoulde be solemply kepte of all the people of the Jewes.

Now Antiochus then (that was called the noble) dyed, it is sufficiently tolde. Now will we speake of Eupator the sonne of that wycked Antiochus, how it happened wth him: & so wth fewe wordes to comprehend the aduersyte that chaunced in the warres.
When he had taken in þe kyngdome, he made one Lysias (which had bene captayne of the host in Phenices and Syria) ruler ouer the matters of the realme. For Ptolomy that was called Macron, beyng a ruler for the Jewes (and specially, to spt in iudgement for such wydges as was done vnto them) vndertoke to deale peaceably wth them. For the wyche cause he was accused of the frenches before Eupator: and when he was suspecte to be a traytour (because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had comytted vnto him: and because he departed from noble Antiochus, that he was come vnto) he poysoned hym selfe, and dyed.

Now when Gorgias was gouernoure of the same places, he toke straungers and vndertoke oftynges to warre with the Jewes.
Mozouet, the Idumeans þe helde the ströge holdes, receaued those that were dyscuen frö Jerusalem, and toke in hande to warre also
* But they that were wth Machabeus be fought and prayed vnto the Lorde, that he wolde be their helper: and so they fell into þe stronge holdes of the Idumeans, and wane many places by strength: Sochas came agaynst them they slewe, and kyllid nolesse of all together (then twetye thousande. Reuerthelesse some, no lesse then nyne thousande, were fled into twoo stronge towres, ha-uyng all maner of ordinaunce to withstande them.

Then Machabeus leauing Symon, Josephus, zacheus, and those that were wth them (which were very many) wente to be-sege them, & to fyght where most nede was.
Now they that were wth Symon, beyng led wth couetousnesse, were intreated for money, thozow certayne of those that laye in the towres: toke. lxx. M. drachmas: & let some of them escape. But when it was tolde Machabeus what had happened, he called þe captaynes of the people together, accusinge those persones, þe they had solde the brethre for money, and let their enemyes go. So he slewe those traytours, and immediatly wete in hande wth the. ii. towres. And whē they had ordred the selues manly wth their wea-pens and handes, they slewe in the two castels moe then twetye thousande.

* Now Timotheus whom þe Jewes had ouercome afore, gathered a multitude of straunge people, brought an hoste also of hoysmen of the Assyans, to wyne Jery by strength. But when he drew nyte, Machabeus & they þe were wth hym * fell to theye prayer, spynckled althes vpo their heades, being gyrded wth bearte cloth about their loynes, fell downe before the aulter, and de-sought the Lorde that he wolde be mercyfull to them, but an enemye vnto their enemyes, & to take parte agaynst their aduersaries, * accordyng as it is promysed in the lawe.

So after þe prayer, they wete on further frö the ctye: and whē they came nyte þe enemyes, they prepared them selues agaynst them.

And by tymes in þe moornyng at the breake of the daye, both the hostes buckled together. * The one parte had the Lorde for their refuge, which is þe geuer of prosperite strength and victoie. The other had a maly stomack which is a captayne of warre.

The battayll now beyng greute, * there appeared vnto the enemyes from heauen. v. men vpo horsbackes wth byrdels of golde, ledyng the Jewes, & two of them haupng Machabeus betwixte them, that kepte him safe on euery syde wth their weapons, but shot darteres and lightenynges vpon the ene-myes: where thozow they were confounded wth byndnesse & so sore afayed, that they fell downe. There were slayne of fote men twentye thousande and fyue hundred, and fyre hundred horsmen. As for Timotheus him selfe, he fled vnto Sazar a very stronge holde, wherein Cereas was captayne. But Machabeus and his company layed sege to it chearfully. iiii. dayes.

Now they that were wth in trustyng to the strength of the place, cursed and banned exccadyngly, and made great crakyng wth wycked wordes. Reuerthelesse, vpon the fyft daye in the moornyng. xx. pong men of Machabeus company, beyng let on fyre in their myndes (because of the blasphemie) came mally vnto the wall, and wth bolde stomakes they and theye other companyons clymmed vpon the towres, vnder-takynge to set fyre vpon the portes, & to burne those blasphemous persones quicke Two dayes were they destroyng þe castell, whych when they founde Timotheus (that was crept into a corner) they kyllid hym, & slew Cereas his brother in lyke maner wth Appollophanes. When this was done, they songe psalmes, wth prayes and thank-geuyng vnto the Lorde, whych had done to great thynges for Israel, and gyue them the victoie.

The. xi. Chapter.

* Lysias goeth aboute to ouercome þe Jewes. Succoure is sent from babilon vnto the Jewes. The letter of Lysias to the Jewes. The letter of hyng Antiochus vnto the Jewes. A letter of the same vnto the Jewes. A letter of the Romaynes to the Jewes.

Not

At longe after this, Lysias þe kynges steward & a kynsman of hys (whych had the gouernaunce of hys matters) toke sore displeasure for þe thynges that had happened: and whē he had gathered. lxxx. M. men of fote wth all the hoste of þe hoysmen, he came agaynst the Je-wes, thynckynge to wyne þe ctye, to make it an habitacyon for the heathen, * and þe te-ple wolde he haue to be an house of lucre, ly-ke as the other goddes houses of the heathen are, & to sell the prestes offyce euery yere: Not cōsidering the power of God, but was wylde in his mynde, * trustyng in þe multitude of fote men, in thousandes of hoysmen, and in his. lxxx. Elephantes.

So he came into Jery & then to Beth-sura (a castell of defence) lyng in a narrow place. v. furlonges from Jerusalem, & wane it. Now when Machabeus and hys company knewe that the stronge holdes were taken, * they fell to their prayers wth wepyng & teares before the Lorde. And all þe people in lyke maner besought him, þe he wolde send a good angell to deliuer Israel. Machabeus hym self was the fyrst that made him ready to the battayll, exhortyng þe other that were wth hym, to couerde the selues, & to helpe their brethzen. And when they were goyng forth of Jerusalem together wth a redy & wyllyng mynde, * there appeared before the vpon horsbacke a man in whyte clothynge wth harness of golde, shakynge his speare.
Then they prayed the Lorde all together, whych had shewed them mercy, & were comforted in their myndes: in somoch that they were ready, not only to fyght wth men, but wth the most cruell beastes, yee & retourne thozow walles of yron.

Thus they wente on wyllyngly haupng an helper frö heauen, and þe Lorde mercyfull vnto the. They fell myghtely vpo their ene-myes lyke lyons, brought downe. xi. M. fote men. xvi. M. horsmen, put all þe other to flight many of the beyng wounded, and some gat awaye naked. Yee Lysias hi self was sayne to the shamefully, and so to escape. Reuerthelesse, þe mā was not without vnderstanding, but cōsidered by hym self þe hys power was mynded, and pōdred how the Jewes being defended by þe helpe of Almighty God, were not able to be ouercome: wherfore he sent the worde, & promysed, þe he wolde cōsente to all thynges which were reasonable, and to make þe hyng their frēde. To þe which prayer of Lysias Machabeus agreed, sekynge in all thynges þe comen wealth & whatsoeuer Ma-chabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Jewes, the hyng graunted it. For there were letters wyttē vnto the Jewes from Lysias, conteynyng these wordes.
Lysias sendeth gretynge to the people of the Jewes. Ihon and Absalon whych were sent from you, deliuered me wrytynges, & recoyred me to fulfyll the thynges concernyng the ycarande. Therfore loke what might be graunted, I certified þe hyng therof: & whatsoeuer was cōuenient. I agreed ther-to. If ye now will be saythfull in þe matters I shall endeuer my selfe herafter also to do you good. As concernyng other thynges by euery article therof: I haue comytted the to poure messaungers, & to thole whom I sent vnto you, to comē wth you of þe same, fare ye well. In the. C. and. xlviij. yere, the. xxiij. daye of the moneth Dioscorinthus.

Now þe hynges letre cōteyned these wodes. Hyng Antiochus sendeth gretige vnto his brother Lysias. For so moch as oure father, * is now deed, oure wyl is, that they which are in oure realme, lyue wthout eny insurreccion, & euery mā to be diliget in hys awne matters. We vnderstāde also, þe þe Je-wes wolde not consent to oure father, for to be brought vnto þe custome of the Gētyles, but styly to kepe their awne statutes: for þe whych cause they requyre of vs also, to lett them remayne styll by their awne lawes.

Wherfore, oure mynde is, þe this people shal be in rest: we haue concluded & determy-ned also, to restoze them their tēple agayne: that they maye lyue accordyng to the vñe & custome of their forefathers. Thou shalt do vs a pleasure therfore, þe þe sende vnto them and agre wth the: that when they are certifyed of oure mynde, they maye be of good chere, and loke to their awne wealth.

And this was the letre, that the hyng wrote vnto þe Jewes: hyng Antiochus sendeth gretynge vnto the counsell and þe other people of þe Jewes: If ye fare well, we haue our desyre: as for vs, we are in good health.
Menelaus came and tolde vs, how & poure desyre was to come downe to poure people, whych are wth vs.

Wherfore those that wyl come, we geue the fre lyberte, vnto the. xxx. daye of the mo-neth of April, þe they may vñe þe meates of þe we

we maye cast y^e best to youre profyte, for we must departe now vnto Antioche. And therfore write shortly agayne, y^e we maye knowe your munde: fare well. In y^e hundreth. xlviij. yere, the .xv. daye of the moneth of Aprill.

The .xii. Chapter.

Timotheus troubleth the Jewes. The topked dede of the Jewes agaynst the Jewes. Judas is avenged of them. He setteth fyre on y^e gate of Jamnia. The pursute of the Jewes agaynst Timotheus. Timotheus is taken and let go unhurt. Judas pursueth Gorgias. Judas offereth sacrifice for the dede, sheweth the hope of the resurrection.

When these couenautes were made Apolias went vnto the kynge, & the Jewes tylded their grounde. But Timotheus, Apollonius y^e sonne of Cemei, Jerome & Demiofon y^e proude, Ricano y^e captayne of Cyperis, & they that laye in those places: wolde not lett the lyeue in rest & peace. They of Joppa also dyd euen soch a shamefull dede. They prayed the Jewes y^e dwelt amonge them, to go with their wyues & chylde into y^e hyppes whych they had prepared, and dyd wyth the, as though they had ought them no euill wyl. For so moch the as there was gone forth a general proclamacion thowow the cytye because of peace, they colcted therto, & suspecte nothyng: but when they were gone forth into y^e depe, they drowned no lesse then .ii. C. of them.

Whē Judas knew of this cruell trewred vnto his people, he commaunded those that were with hi to make the ready, exhortyng them to call vpon God the ryghteous iudge: went forth agaynst those murtherers of his brethren, set fyre in the haue by nyght, brent vnto the hyppes, and those that escaped from the fyre, he slewe with y^e swearde. And when he had done thys, he departed as though he wolde come agayne, and rore out all the of Joppa. But when he had gottē worde, that y^e Jamnites were mynded to do in lyke manner vnto y^e Jewes whych dwelt amonge the, he came vpon the Jamnites by nyght, & lett fyre on the haue wyth the hyppes: so that the lyght of the fyre was sene at Jerusalem vpon .ii. C. and .xl. furlonges.

Now when they were gone from thence ix. furlonges, in their iourney toward Timotheus. v. thousande men of fote and. v. hundredth horsmen of the Arabians, fought with him. So when y^e battell was earnest, & prospered wyth Judas thowow the helpe of God: the respydue of the Arabians beyng overcome, besought Judas to be at one with them, & promysed to geue hym certayne pastures, and to do him good in other thinges. Judas thynkynge that they shulde in dede be profytable concernynge many thynges, promysed them peate: wher vpon they shoke handes, and so they departed to their tentes. Judas wente also vnto a cytye, whych was very faste kepte with byrdes, fenced round aboute with walles, and dyuerse kyndes of people dwellinge therein, called Caspin.

They that were within it, put soch trust in the strenght of the walles, & in their stoare of vitayles: that they were y^e slacke in their doynges, cursynge and reuylinge Judas wth blasphemys, and speakynge soch wordes as it becommeth not. But Machabeus callynge vpon the great Wynde of the worlde (whych without any battail rāmes, or ordynance of warre, dyd cast downe y^e walles of Jericho, in y^e tyme of Josue) fell manfully vpon y^e walles, toke the cytye, & thowow the helpe of the Lord made an exceedynge greute slaughter: In so moch y^e lake of two furlonges brode whych laye therby, semed to flowe wyth the bloude of the slayne.

Then departed they from thence. vii. C. & L. furlonges, and came to Tarnca vnto the Jewes that are called Tubianei. But as for Timotheus, they coulde not get him there: for (not one matter dyspatched) he was departed from thence, and had lefte certayne men in a very strong holde. But Dosithus & Solipater, whych were Captaynes with Machabeus, slewe those y^e Timotheus had lefte in the house of defence, euen .x. M. men. And Machabeus prepared him with the. vi. M. men y^e were aboute hym, set the in ordre by companyes, and wete forth agaynst Timotheus, whych had wyth hym .ii. C. & .xx. M. men of fote. ii. M. and. v. C. horsmen.

When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas comynge, he sent y^e women, chylde and the other baggage vnto a castell called Carnion. (For it coulde not be wōne, & was harde to come vnto, the wayes of y^e same places were so narrow) & whē Judas company came first in syght, y^e enemyes were smytten with feare, thowow the presence of God, whych seythall thynges: In so moch y^e they sleynge one here, another there, were rather discōfited of their awne people, & and wounded wth strokes of their awne swerdes. Judas also was very earnest in folowynge vpon them, punishynge those vngodly, & slewe. xxx. M. men of the. Timotheus also him self fell into y^e handes of Dosithus and Solipater, whō he besought with many prayers, to let hym go with his lyfe: because he had many of the Jewes fathers & brethren iⁿ prison, whych (yf they put hi to death) myght be disapointed. So whē he had promysed faythfully to deliuer the agayne accordyng to y^e condicion made, they let hym go wythout harme, for the health of the brethren. And when Judas had slayne. xxv. M. he wente from Carnion.

Now after y^e he had chased awaye & slayne his enemyes, he remoued y^e hoste toward Ephas a stroge cytye, wherin dwelt many diuerse people of the heathen, & the stronge ponge men kepte the walles, defendyng the myghtely.

mightely. In this cytye was moch ordynance and prouision of darteres. But whē Judas and his company had called vpon Almighty God (whych wyth hys power breaketh the strenght of the enemyes) they wāne the cytye, and slewe. xxv. M. of the, y^e were within from thence wente they to the cytye of the Scythias, whych lyeth. vi. C. furlonges frō Jerusalem. But when y^e Jewes whych were in the cytye testified, that the cytyens dealt louynghly with them, pee, and increated them kynoly in the tyme of their aduersyte, Judas and hys company gaue them thāckes, bespynging them to be freddy still vnto them: and so they came to Jerusalem the hye feast of the weekes beyng at hande. And after the feast of pentecost they went forth agaynst Gorgias the gouernoure of Idumea, wyth iii. M. men of fote & .iiii. C. horsmen. Which when they met together, it chaunced a fewe of y^e Jewes to be slayne. And Dosithus one of y^e Bachenors a mighty horsman toke hold of Gorgias, & wolde haue take him quicke. But an horsman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote of his arme, so y^e Gorgias escaped & fled into Idumea. When they now y^e were of Gorgias side, had foughten longe & were weary: Judas called vpon the Lord, that he wolde be their helper, & captayne of the felde: and with that, he beganne with a manly voyce to take vpon a longe of prayer, & a crye: In so moch y^e he made the enemyes afrayed, and Gorgias mē of warre toke their flight. So Judas gathered his hoste, & came into y^e cytye of Abdolla. And when the seuen daye came vpon the, they clenched them selues (as the custome was) & kepte the Sabbath in y^e same place. And vpon the daye folowynge, Judas & his company cam to take vpon the bodies of the that were slayne, and to bury the in the fathers graues. Now vnder the cotes of certayne Jewes whych were slayne, they founde Jewels that they had taken out of y^e temple & from the Idols of the Jamnites: whych thyng is forbydden the Jewes by y^e lawe. Then euery man sawe, y^e this was the cause, wherfore they were slayne.

And so euery man gaue thāckes vnto y^e Lord for hys ryghteous iudgement, which had opened the thyng that was hyd. They fell downe also vnto the prayers, and besought God, y^e the fawte whych was made, myght be put out of remembrance. Besydes that, Judas exhorted y^e people earnestly, to kepe the selues from soch synne: for so moch as they sawe before their eyes: y^e these men were slayne for the same offence. So he gathered of euery one a certayne, in so moch y^e he brought together two thousande drachmas of syluer, which he sent vnto Jerusalem, that there myght a sacrifice be offered for the mysdede. In the which place he dyd well and ryght: for he had some consideracyon & ponderynge of the lyfe that is after this tyme. For yf he had not thought that they, whych were slayne, dyd yet lyue, it had bene superfluous and vayne, to make eny vowe or sacrifice, for the, that were dede. But for so moch as he sawe, that they whych dye in the fauoure & beleue of God, are in good rest and ioye, he thought it to be good & honorable for a recōcilyng, to do the same for those whych were slayne, that the offence myght be forgotten.

The .xiii. Chapter.

The comynge of Eupator into Joppa. The death of Menelaus: Machabeus going to sepyght agaynst Eupator, moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. He killeth. xliiij. thousande men in the tentes of Antiochus. Machabeus the betrayer of the Jewes is taken. Antiochus retapneth frendshipp with the Jewes.

Ephas. yere gatt y^e Judas knowe. Antiochus Eupator was comynge with a greute powere into Joppa, & Apolias the stewart and ruler of his matters with him hauinge an. C. and. x. M. men of fote. v. M. horsmen. xliij. Elephantes, and. iii. C. charrettes. Menelaus also loded him self with them (but with greute dyscreete) and spake sayre to the kynge, not for eny good of y^e cōtre, but because he thought to haue bene made some greute man of auctorite. But y^e kynge of kynge moued Antiochus mynde agaynst thys vngodly personne, & Apolias infourmyd the kynge, & that this Menelaus was y^e cause of all myschefe: so that the kynge commaunded to take him, and (as the maner of the is) to put hym vnto death in the same daye.

There was also in the same place a tower of L. cubytes hye, heapped with asbes: but aboue it was so made, that mē myght lōke downe on euery syde. Wher into the kynge commaunded that shamefull person to be cast amonge the asbes, as one that was cause of all vnglacionsnesse. And reaso it was that the vntyrst shulde dye soch a death, and not to be buryed: for he had done moch myschefe vnto the altar of God (whose fyre & asbes were holy) therfore was it right, y^e he hym selfe also shulde be destroyed wyth asbes.

But the kynge was wōd in hys mynde, and came to the we he him selfe more cruell vnto the Jewes, then hys father was. Whych when Judas perceaued, & he commaunded the people to call vpon y^e Lord nyght and daye: that he wolde now helpe the also, lyke as he had done alwaye: For they were afrayed to be put from their lawe, from their natural countre and from the holy temple: and not to suffre the people (whych a lytle whyle afore beganne to recouer) to be subdued agayne of the blasphemous nacyns.

So when they had done thys together, & besought the Lord for mercy, wyth wepyng and fastynge thre dayes longe, stett vpon the grounde: Judas exhorted them, to make make them selues ready. But he and the elders together deuised, to go forth first with their people, afore the kynge brought his hoost into Jewry, and afore he beleaged Jerusaleme, & to committe the matter vnto God.

¶ Wherefore he ascribed the power of all thynges vnto God the maker of the worlde exhortinge his people to fight manfully (peruen unto death) for the lawes, the temple, the cite, their awne natyue countre, and to defende the citesyns: and set his hoost before Modyn. He gaue them also that were wyth him, a token of the victorie of God, chosinge out the malpest yongemen, wente by nyght into the kynges pauplyd, slewe of the hoost xliii. M. men, & the greatest Elephantes, wyth those that latt vpon them.

¶ Thus when they had brought a greatescare and rumour amonge & tentes of their enemyes, & all thynges went prosperously wyth the, they departed in the breake of the daye, God beinge their helper and defender. Now whē the kynge perceaued the manynesse of the Jewes, he wente aboute to take the stronge places by craft, and remoued his hoost vnto Bethsura, which was a well kepte house of defence of the Jewes: but they were chased awaye, hurte, and discomfited.

¶ And Judas sent vnto the that were in it such thynges as were necessary. In & Jewes hoost also there was one Rhodocus, whych tolde the enemyes they secretes: but they sought hym out, & whē they had gotte hym, they put hi in prison. After this byd & kynge comē with the that were in Bethsura, toke truce with them, departed, and stroke a battail wyth Judas, whych ouer came hym.

¶ But when he vnderstode, that Philippe (whom he had left to be ouersee of his busynesses at Antioche) beganne to rebel agaynst him, he was astonnyed in his mynde: so & he pelded hym self to the Jewes, & made the anothre, to do whatsoeuer they thought ryght.

¶ Now when he was reconcyled wyth the, he offred, made moch of the temple, gaue grete gyftes vnto it, embraced Machabeus, makinge hym captayne and gouernour from Ptolomays vnto the Serrenes.

¶ Neuerthelesse when he came to Ptolomays, & people of the cytie were not content with the bonde of frendshyppe: for they were afrayed, that he wolde breake & couenaunt. Then wente Lysias vp into the seate, and enfourmed the people, shewed the the cause why, and pacified the. So he came agayne to Antioche. This is now the matter concerninge the kynges iourney, and his returne.

The xliii. Chapter.

¶ The motion of the kynge, Demetrius sendeth Alciano to helpe the Jewes. Alciano maketh a compact with the Jewes, whych he yet breaketh through the motion of the kynge. Alciano commaundeth Razis to be taken. The holynes of Razis.

¶ After the yeres was Judas in fourmed, how that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a greates power and shyppes, thorow the hauens of Tripolis, to take certayne commodious places and countrees, agaynst Antiochus & his captayne Lysias. Now Alcimus (whych had bene hye prest, & wyllfully defyled him self, in the tyme of the myrtynge) seying, & by no meanes he coulde be helped, ner haue any more intrauce to the aultare: he came to kynge Demetrius in the hūdzeth and one & fiftye yere, presentynge vnto hym a crowne of Golde, a palme & an olyue tree: which (as me thought) belonged to the temple, and & daye he helde his tongue. But when he had gotten oportynite for his madnesse, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked hym, what thynges or counsels & Jewes leane vnto? he answered: The Jewes that be called Asidei (whose captayne is Judas Machabeus) mayntayne warres, make insurreccyons, and will not let the realm be in peace.

¶ For I beynge depnyed of my fathers honoure (I meane the hye presthode) am come hyther: partly because I was faithfull vnto the kynge, and partly because I sought & profyt of the cytelyns. And why? all oure people, thorow the wickednesse of them, are not a litle troubled. Wherefore I beseeche the (O kynge) consydre all these thynges diligently, and then make some prouision for & lande & the people, accordynge to the kynnesse that thou hast offred vnto the. For as longe as Judas hath the vpperhāde, it is not possible that men can lyue in peace.

¶ When he had spoken these wordes, other frendes also haupnge euell wyll at Judas, sett the kynge Demetrius on fyre agaynst hi. ¶ Which immediately sent Alciano (ruler of the Elephantes) a captayne, into Jewry, commaundynge him, to take Judas him selfe alpye, but to slaye the & were wyth hym, and to make Alcimus hye prest of & great temple.

¶ Then the heathen which fled oute of Jewry from Judas, came to Alciano by flockes, thynckinge the harme and decaye of the Jewes to be their welfare. Now when the Jewes herde of Alcianos commynge, and the gathering together of the heathen: they speckled the selues with earth, & besought hym, which made them bys people, and cuer defended his a wne porcion with euident tokens, that he wolde preferue them still. So at the commaundement of the captayne, they remoued fro thence, & came to a towne called Pella. And Symon Judas brother fell in hāde w Alciano, but thorow & sodayne commynge of the enemyes, he was afrayed.

holde stomaches that they had to fyght for these naturall countre, durst not proue the matter with bloudsheddyng. Wherefore he sent Possidonius, Theodocius & Mathias before, to geue and to take peace. So when they had taken longe aduilement there vpo and the captayne shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde: to haue peace. And they apoynted a daye to fyt vpo these matters quyetly among them selues, the stoles also were brought and set forth. Neuerthelesse, Judas commaunded certayne men of armes to wayte in conuenient places, lest there shulde sodenly arys any euell thorow the enemyes. And so they comoned reasonably together.

¶ Alciano, whyle he abode at Jerusalem, ordered him selfe not vnreasonably, but sent awaye the people that were gathered together. He loued Judas euery wyth his herte, & fauoured him. He prayed hym also to take a wyfe, and to byngne forth chyldren. So he maried, lyued in rest, and they led a comen lyfe. But Alcimus perceauinge the loue that was betwyxte them, and how they were agreed together, came to Demetrius, & tolde him that Alciano had taken straunge matters in hande, and ordered Judas (an enemy of the realme) to be the kynges successoure. Then the kynge was sore displeased, & thorow & wycked accusacions, which Alcimus made of Alciano, he was so prouoked, that he wrote vnto Alciano, saying: that he was very angrey for the frendshyppe and agreement, whych he had made w Machabeus. Neuertheles he commaunded him in all the haste, that he shulde take Machabeus prisoner, and sende hym to Antioche.

¶ Whych letters whē Alciano had sene, he was at his wyttys ende, & sore grieved, & he shulde breake the thynges wherin they had agreed: specially, seynge Machabeus was & mā, & neuer dyd him harme. But because he myght not wythstande the kynge, he sought oportynite to fulfil his commaundement. Notwithstanding when Machabeus sawe that Alciano beganne to be churlysh vnto him, & & he intreated him more roughly then he was wonte, he perceaued & such vnkynndnes came not of good, and therfore he gathered a few of his men, & withdrew him selfe fro Alciano. Whych whē he knewe that Machabeus had manfully presented him, he came into & great and most holy temple: and commaunded & prestes (whych were doyng their vsuall offerings) to deliuer him & mā. And whē they swore & they coulde not tel where & mā was who he sought, he stretched out his hāde, & made an othe, sayinge: If ye wyll not deliuer me Judas captiue, I shall remoue this temple of God ito & playne felde. I shall breake downe & aultar, & consecrate this temple vnto to Bachus. After these wordes he departed. Then the prestes lyft vp their handes towarde heauen, & besought hym & was euery & defender of their people, saying: Thou O Lord of all, whych hast nede of nothyng, woldest & the temple of thy habitacyon shulde be amonge vs. Therfore now O most holy Lord, kepe this house euery vndefyled, whych lately was clesed. Now was there accused vnto Alciano, one Razis an Alderman of Jerusalem, a louer of the whole cyte, & a man of good repute: whych for & kynde herte & he bare vnto & people, was called a father of & Jewes. This mā oft tymes, whē the Jewes were mynded to kepe the selues vndefyled, defended & deliuered the, beyng content stedfastly to speide his body and his lyfe for his people.

¶ So Alciano wyllynge to declare & hate that he bare to the Jewes, sent fyue hūdzeth men of warre to take him: for he thought, yf he gat him, he shulde bryge & Jewes in grete decaye. Now when & people beganne to rushe at his house, to breake & dores, & to set fyre on it: he beinge now take, wolde haue defended him selfe with his sword: chosynge rather to dye manfully, then to pelde hym selfe to those wicked doers: & because of his noble stocke, he had rather haue bene put to extreme cruelte. Notwithstandinge what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, & & multitude fell in violently betwyxte & dores: he ranne boldly to the wal, & cast him selfe downe manfully amonge the heape of them, which gaue soone place to his fall, so & he fel vpo his belly. Neuertheles, while there was yet breath within hym, he was kyndled in his mynde, & whyle his bloude gusheth out excreadynge (for he was very sore wounded) he raue thorow the myddest of the people, and gat hym to the toppe of a rocke. So when his bloude was now gone, he toke out his awn bowels w both his hādes, & thre w the vpon & people callynge vpon & Lord of lyfe & spryte to rewarde him this agayne, and so he dyed.

The xv. Chapter.

¶ Alciano goeth aboute to come vpo Judas on & Saboth daye. The blasphemie of Alciano. Machabeus expoundynge vnto & Jewes & buson, holdynge their breathes. The prayer of Machabeus. After the holde of Alciano is ouercome, Machabeus commaundeth both his herd and his handes to be cut of and his tonge to be geuen vnto folwes.

¶ Now when Alciano knewe & Judas was in the countre of Samaria, he thought wyth all his power to stryke a felde wyth him vpon a Sabboth daye. Neuerthelesse the Jewes & were compelled to go wyth hym, sayde: O do not so cruelly and vnkynndly, but halowe the Sabboth daye, and worshippe him that seyth all thynges. For all thys, yet sayd the vngacious personne: Is there a myghtie one in heauē, that commaunded the Sabboth daye daye to be kepte: And when they sayde: yet the Iyunge God, the myghtie Lord in heauen * commaunded the seuenth daye to be kepte, he sayde: And I am myghty vpon earth, to commaunde them for to arme them selves, and to perfourme the kynges busynesse. Notwithstandinge he myght not haue his purpose.

Alicano had deuyled wyth great pryde to ouercome Judas, & to byrge awaye the victory. But Machabeus had euer a fast confidence and a perfecte hope in God, that he wolde helpe hym, & exhorted his people, not to be afrayed at the cominge of the heathen: but alwaye to remember the help that had bene shewed vnto them from heauē, yee & to be sure now also, that almyghty God wolde geue them the victory. He spake vnto them out of the lawe and prophetes, putting them in remembraunce of the battayls that they had stricken afore, and made them to be of a good corage.

So when their hartes were plucte vp, he shewed them also the disceatfullnesse of the heathen, and how they wolde kepe no countaunt nor othe. Thus he weapened them not wyth the armour of shylde and speare, but wyth wholsome wordes and exhortacions. He shewed the a dreame also, wherthorowe he made them all glad, whych was thys: he thought that he sawe Onias (whych had bene hye prest, a vertuous and lounge man, sad and of honest couersacion, well spoken, & one that had bene excepted in Godlynes from a chyld) holdyng vp his handes toward heauen, and prayenge for his people. After this there appeared vnto him another man, whych was aged, honorable and glorious. And Onias sayde: This is a louer of the brethren, and of the people of Israell. This is he that prayeth much for the people and for all þe holy cite: Jeremy þe prophete of God. He thought also that Jeremy helde out his ryght hande, and gaue vnto Judas a swerde of Golde, saynge: Take this holy swerde, a gyfte from God, wherewith thou shalt smyte downe the enemyes of the people of Israell.

And so they were well comforted thorow the wordes of Judas, and toke corage vnto them, so that the yonge men were determined in their myndes to fyght, & to byde shylly at it: In so much þe in the thynges whych they toke in hande, their boldnesse shewed þe same, because the holy cite and the temple were in parell: for the whiche they toke more care, then for their wyues, chyldren, brethren and kynfolkes. Agayne, they that were in the cite, were most carefull for those whiche were to fyght. Now when they were all in a hope that the iudgement of the matter was at hande, and the enemyes byrge, the host bernge set in araye, the Elephantes and howe in euery one standyng in his place, Machabeus considered the comyng of the multitude, the ordynaunce of dyuerse weapons, the cruelties of the beastes, and helde vp his handes toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord þe both wonders, * whych geneth not the victory after the multitude of weapons and power of the host (but to the that please hym) accordyng to his awone wyll. Therefore in his prayer he sayd these wordes,

O Lord, * thou þe dydest sende thyne Angell in the tyme of Ezechiah kyng of Iuda, and in the hoste of Sennacherib slewest an hundred foure score & fyue thousand: sende now also thy good angell before vs (O Lord of heauens) in the fearfulness and drede of thy myghtie arme, that they whiche come against thy holy people to blasphem the, maye be afrayed. And so he made an ende of his wordes. The Alicanoz & they that were with hym, drew nye wyth shawmes and songes: but Judas and his company wyth prayer and calling vpon God.

With their handes they smote, but wyth theyr hartes they prayed vnto the Lord, & flew no lesse then xxxv. M. me: for thorow þe present helpe of God they were gloriously comforted.

Now when they left of, & were turnyng agayne with ioye, they vnderstode that Alicanoz hym selfe was slayne wyth the other. When they gaue a grete shoute and a crye, prayyng the Almighty Lord with a loude voyce. And Judas (whych was euer ready to spende his body & lyfe for his cytelys) commaunded to linte of Alicanoz head, with his arme & hande, & to be brought to Ierusalem. When he came t. re, he called all the people, & the prestes at þe altar wyth those that were in the castell, & shewed the Alicanoz head, and his wycked hande, whych he had presumptuously holden vp agaynst the temple of God. He caused þe tongue also of þe godly Alicanoz to be cut i lytle peces, & to be cast to the foules, & the cruel mans hande to be hanged vp before the temple.

So euery man gaue thanckes vnto the Lord, saynge: blessed be he, that hath kepte his place vndeuyled.

As for Alicanoz head, he hanged it vp vpon the hye castell, for an euident & playne token of þe helpe of God. And so they agreed all together, to kepe that daye holy, namely the xiii. daye of the moneth Adar, which in þe Sytylans language is called the nexte daye before Marchochus daye. Thus was Alicanoz slayne, and from that tyme forth the Iewes had the cite in possellion: And here will I now make an ende.

dab begat Naasson. * Naasson begat Sal-fourtene generacyons. And from the captiuy-te of Babylon vnto Christ, are fourtene generacyons.

The byrth of Iesus Christ was on this wyse. ✠ When his mother Mary was maryed to Joseph (before they came to dwell to gether) she was founde with chylde by the holy ghoost. Then Joseph her husbände (because he was a ryghteous man, and wolde not put her to shame) he was mynded preue-ly to departe from her. But whyll he thus thought, beholde, the aungell of the Lorde appeared vnto hym in slepe, saying: Joseph, thou sonne of Dauid: feare not to take vnto the Mary thy wyfe. For that which is conceaued in her, cometh of the holy ghoost. She shall byrnge forth a sonne, and thou shalt cal hys name * Iesus. For he shall saue his people from theyr synnes.

At this was done, y^t it might be fulfilled, which was spokē of the Lorde by y^e prophet, saying: * Behold, a mayd shalbe wth chylde, & shall byrning forth a sonne, & they shall call his name Emanuel, which ysa man interpret, it is as moch to say as God with vs. ✠

And Joseph as he awoke out of slepe, dyd as the angel of the Lorde had byd-den hym: and he toke hys wyfe vnto hym, & knewe her not, tyll she had brought forth * her fyrst begotten sonne, and called his name Iesus.

The. ij. Chapter.

The tyme and place of Christes byrth. The wyse men offre theyr presents. Christ breth into Egyppe, the younge chylde are slayne, Christ turneth into Galile.

At this tyme Iesus was bozne at Beth leem a cytie of Jewry, in the tyme of Herode the kynge. Beholde, there came wyse men fro the east to Jerusalem, saying: Where is he that is bozne king of Jewes? For we haue sene hys starre in the east, and are come to worshippe hym.

When Herode the kynge had hearde these thynges, he was troubled, and all the cyte of Jerusalem with hym. And whan he had gathered all the chiefe prestes and scribes of the people togeather, he demaunded of them, where Christ shulde be bozne. And they sayd vnto hym: At Bethleem in Jewrye. For thus it is wyrtte by the prophet: * And y^e Bethleem in the lande of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda. For * oute of the thal there come vnto me the captayne, that shall gouerne my people Israel.

Then Herode (whē he had pryncely called the wyse men) he enquyred of the diligent what tyme the starre appered, & he had them

At ij go to go to Bethleem, & sayd: Good your waye thi ther, & searche diligently for the childe. And whe ye haue founde him, bring me word agayne, that I maye come and worshyp hym also.

¶ When they had heard this, they departed: and lo, the starre which they sawe in the east, wēt before the, till it came, & stode ouer the place, wherein the childe was. When they sawe the starre, they were exceedingly glad: and went into the house, and founde the childe with Mary his mother: & fel downe flatt and worshipped hym, and opened their treasures, & offered vnto hym gyftes, golde, franchincense, & myrr. And after they were warned of God in a dreame (that they shuld not go agayne to Herode) they returned into their awne countre another waye.

¶ When they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appered to Joseph in a dreame saying, arise, & take the childe and his mother, and fflye into Egypt: and be thou there till I bringe the worde. For it shall come to passe that Herode shall seeke the childe, to destroye hym. So when he awoke, he toke the childe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt, and was there vnto the deeth of He-rode, that it myght be fulfilled, which was spoken of by the prophete, sayenge:

* out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.
¶ Then Herode when he sawe that he was mo-ked of the wise men, he was exceeding wroth, & sent forth men of warre, & slew all the chyldre that were in Bethleem, and in all the coastes, (as many as were two yere olde or vnder) accordynge to the tyme, whiche he had diligently knowe out of the wise men.

¶ When was fulfilled that, which was spoken by the prophete Jeremie: where as he sayd: in Rama was there a voyce herde: lamenta-cyon, weping, and great mourninge. Rachel weping for her chyldren, & wolde not be comforted: because they were not.

¶ But when Herode was deed: behold, an angel of the Lord appered in a dreame to Joseph, in Egypt, sayenge: arise, and take the childe of his mother, and go into the lande of Israell. For they are deed which sought the chyldes lyfe. And he arose, and toke the childe and his mother, & came into the land of Israell. But when he hearde that Archelaus dyd raygne in Jewry, in the rowme of his father Herode, he was afrayde to go thither. Notwithstandinge, after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned a syde into a citty which is called Nazareth: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophetes: he shalbe called a Nazarene.

The. iij. Chapter.

¶ The baptyme, preachynge and offyce of John, and howe Jesus was baptised of hym in Iordane.

¶ In those dayes came John the baptiste, preachynge in the wyldernes of Jewry, and sayenge: Repent of the life that is past, for the kingdome of heauen is at hand. For this is he, of whom the prophete Esaye spake, which sayeth: The voyce of a cryer in the wyldernes, prepare ye the waye of the Lord: & make his pathes streygth. This John had his rayment of camels heer. And a girdell of a skynne about his loynes. His meate was locustes and wilde hony. Then went out to hym Jerusalem and all Jewry, and all the region rounde about Iordan, and were baptised of hym in Iordan, confessynge their synnes.

¶ But when he sawe many of the Pha-riseses and Saducees come to his baptyme, he sayd vnto them: O generation of vyppers, who hath taught you to fle from the venge-aunce to come? Bring forth therfore the fruites that belong to repentance. And be not of such mynde that ye wolde saye win your selues: we haue Abraham to oure father.
For I saye vnto you: that God is able to bring to passe, that of these stones ther shall erise vyldernesse vnto Abraham. Euen now is the axe also put vnto the roote of the trees: so that euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruite, is hewen downe, and cast into the fyre.

I baptise you in water vnto repentaun-ce: but he that shall come after me is myghtyer then I, whose shoes I am not worthy to be-are. He shall baptise you with the holy ghost and with fyre: whose fan is in his hand, & he will purge his floore, & gather his wheat into the barn, but will burne the chaffe w vniuencheable fyre.

¶ Then cometh Jesus from Galile to Iordan vnto John to be baptised of hym.
But John forbade hym, sayenge: I haue nede to be baptised of the: and comest thou to me? Jesus answered & said vnto him: Let it be so now. For thus it becometh vs to fulfill all righteousnesse. Then he suffered hym. And Jesus when he was baptised, came straight waye out of the water. And lo: heuen was open vnto him: and he sawe the syete of God descendynge lyke a dove, and lyghtynge vpon hym. And loo, there came a voyce from heauen sayenge: This is my beloued sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

The. iij. Chapter.

¶ Christ fasteth and is tempted: he calleth Peter, Andrew, James, and John: and healeth the syke.

¶ When was Jesus led awaye of the spyrte: into wyldernes: to be tempted of the denell. And when he had fasted four-ty dayes and forty nyghtes, he was at the last an hūgred. And when the tempter came to hym, he sayde: If thou be the sonne of God commande

comande, that these stones be made bread:
But he answered and sayde: it is wyrtten, man shall not lyue by bread onely, but by euery worde that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

¶ Then the deuyl taketh hym vp into a ho-lye citty, & setteth hym on a pynacle of the te-ple, and sayeth vnto him: If thou be the sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe headlong. For it is wyrtten: he shall geue his angels charge ouer the, & with their handes they shal holde the vp, lest at any tyme thou dash thy foete against a stone. And Jesus sayde to hym: it is wyrtten agayne: Thou shalt not tempte the Lord thy God.

¶ Agayne, the deuyl taketh hym vp into an exceeding hye mountayne, and sheweth hym all the kyngdomes of the world, and the glory of the, and sayeth vnto hym: all these will I geue the, if thou wilt fall downe, & wor-shyppe me. Then sayeth Jesus vnto hym Awyde Satan. For it is wyrtten: Thou shalt worshyp the Lord thy God, and hym onely shalt thou serue.

¶ Then the deuyl leaueth him, and behold, the angels came, & ministered vnto him.

¶ When Jesus had heard that John was taken, he departed into Galyle, and left Nazareth, and went and dwelt in Capernaum: whiche is a citty vpon the see coast: in the borders of zabuld & Neptalim: that it myght be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, sayenge: The lande of zabuld & Nepta-lim, by the waye of the see beyonde Iordan, Galile of the Gentils: the people which sat in darknesse and in the shadowe of death, sawe great light: & to the which sat in the region of shadowe of death, is the light sprung vp.

¶ From that tyme, Jesus began to pre-che, and to saye: Repent, for the kyngdome of heauen is at hande.

¶ As Jesus walked by the see of Galile he sawe two brethren: Symon, which was called Peter, & Andrew his brother, casting a nett into the see (for they were fishers) ad he sayth vnto them: folowe me, and I will make you (to become) fishers of men. And they streygth waye lefte the nettes, and folowed hym.

¶ And when he was gone forth fro thence, he sawe other two brethren, James the sonne of zebede, & John his brother, in a shyp wth zebede their father, mending their nettes, & he called them. And they immediatly lefte the shyp and their father, and folowed hym.

¶ And Jesus went about all Galile, teachyng in their synagoges, & preachynge the gospel of the kyngdome, and healing all maner of syknes, & all maner of discaise amonge the people. And his fame spread abroade throughout al Siria. And they brought vnto him all synners people that were taken with dy-uers diseases and gryppynge, and them that were possessed with deuyls: and those which were lunatyke, & those that had the palsye: & he healed the. And ther folowed hym great multitudes of people, from Galile, & and from the ten ctyes, and from Jerusalem, and from Jewry, and from the regions that lye beyonde Iordan.

The. v. Chapter.

¶ In this chapter and in the two nexte folowynge is contayned the most excellent and louynge sermō of Christ in the mount: whiche sermō is the very heve that openeth the vnderstandynge into the lawe. In this fifth chapter, Christ sayeth the preacheth of the beatitudes or blessings, of manlyng, of wrath and anger: of aduour, of fastynge, of sufferynge wronge and of loue, euen toward a mans enemyes.

¶ When he sawe the people, he went vp into a mountayne, and when he was sett, his discyples came to hi: and after that he had opened his mouth, he taught the, sayenge: Blessed are the poore in sperte, for they shal be the kyngdome of heauen. Blessed are they that mourne, for they shal receaue comfort. Blessed are they that are meke: for they shal receaue the inheritaunce of the earth. Blessed are they which hunger and thurst after righteousnes: for they shal be satisfied. Blessed are they that are merciful: for they shal obteyne mercy. Blessed are the pure in berte: for they shal see God. Blessed are the peace makers: for they shal be called the children of God. Blessed are they which suffer persecucion for righteousnes sake: for their is the kyngdome of heauen. Blessed are ye, when men recyle you, and persecute you, and shall falsly say all maner of euill sayenge against you, for my sake. Reioyse & be glad for grete is your rewarde in heuen. For so persecuted they the prophetes, which were before you.

¶ Ye are the salt of the earth: But if ye salt haue lost the saltnes, what shalbe seasoned therwith? It is thence forth good for nothyng, but to be cast out, and to be troden downe of men. Ye are the light of the world.
A citty that is set on an hyll cannot be hyd, neither do men lyght a candell, and put it vnder a bushell, but on a candlestyk, and it geneth light vnto all that are in the house. Let your light so shyne before men. That they maye see your good workes, & glorify your father, which is in heauen.

¶ Thinke not that I am come to destroye the lawe, or the prophetes: no, I am not come to destroye, but to fulfill. For truly I saye vnto you: till heauen and earth passe, one tott or one tyle of the lawe shal not cease, till all be fulfilled.

¶ Whosoever therfore breaketh one of these leest commaundementes, and teacheth men so, he shalbe called the leest in the kyngdome of heauen. But whosoever doeth and teacheth, the same shalbe called grete in the kyngdome

kyngdome of heauen. X

X For I saye vnto you: except your righteousnesse exceede the ryghteousnesse of the Scribes and Pharisees, ye cannot entre into the kyngdome of heauen.

X Ye haue heard that it was sayd vnto the of olde tyme. * Thou shalt no kill: whosoever killeth, shall be in daunger of iudgement. But I say vnto you: that whosoever is angry with his brother (vnadvisedly) shall be in daunger of iudgement. And whosoever saye vnto his brother: Racha, shall be in daunger of a counsell. But whosoever sayeth thou foole, shall be in daunger of hell fyre.

Therefore, if thou offerest thy gyfte at the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought agaynst the: leaue thy gyfte there, and go thy waye first, and be reconciled to thy brother, and then come, and offer thy gyfte. X

X Agree with thine aduersary quicly, while thou art in the waye with him, lest at any tyme the aduersary deliuer the to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer the to the minister, and then thou be cast into prison. Verily, I say vnto the: thou shalt not come out thence, till thou haue payed the vtmost farthinge.

Ye haue herde that it was sayd vnto them of olde tyme. * Thou shalt no commit adoutrye. But I say vnto you: that whosoever loketh on another mans wyfe to lust after her, hath committed adoutrye with her all ready in his hert.

X If thy ryght eye hynder the, plucke hym out, and cast hym from the. For better it is vnto the, that one of thy members perishe, then if thy whole body shuld be cast into hell. And if thy ryght hand hynder the, cutt hym of, and cast hym from the. For better it is vnto the, that one of thy members perishe, then that all thy body shuld be cast into hell. X

It is sayd, whosoever putteth awaye his wyfe, * lett hym geue her a letter of the deuozement. But I say vnto you: that whosoever doth put awaye his wyfe (excepte it be for fornicary) causeth her to breake matrimony. And whosoever marryeth her that is deuozed, committeth adoutrye.

Agayne, ye haue heard how it was sayd to them of olde tyme: * thou shalt not forswear thy selfe, but shalt perfourme vnto the Lord those thinges that thou swearest.

But I say vnto you: sweare not at all: neither by heauen, * for it is Goddes seate, nor by the earth, for it is his fote stole: neither by Ierusalem, for it is the cytie of the great king: neither shalt thou sweare by thy heed, because I cannt make one heare whyte or blacke. But your communicacyon shall be, ye, ye, ay, ay: for whatsoener is added moze then these, it commeth of euyll.

Ye haue heard that it is sayd: an eye for an eye: and a toth for a toth. But I saye vnto you, if ye resist not euell. But who-soener geue the a blowe on the ryght cheke, turne to hym the other also. And if any man wyl sue the at the law, and take awaye thy coate, let hym haue thy clooke also. And whosoener wyl copell the to go a myle, go with hym twayne. Geue to hym that asketh, and froghym that wolde borrowe, turne not thou awaye.

X Ye haue heard that it is sayde, * thou shalt loue thine neyghbour, and hate thine enemy. But I saye vnto you: loue your enemies. * Blesse the that curse you. * Do good to them that hate you. * Praye for the which hurt you and persecute you, that ye maye be the chyldre of your father which is in heauen: for he maketh his sonne to aryse on yercell, & on y good, & sendeth rayne on y iust & on y vniust. For if ye loue the which loue you: what reward haue ye? Do not the publicans also euen the same? And if ye make moche of your brethren only, what singular thinge do ye? Do not also the publicans lyke wyse? Ye shall therefore be perfecte, euen as your father which is in heauen is perfecte. X

Of Almes, prayer and fastyng. He teacheth the carefull keeping of wordly thynges.

Make the hede, if ye geue not your almes in the sight of men, to the intent that ye wold be sene of them. Or els ye haue no rewarde with your father which is in heauen.

Therefore, whā thou geuest thine almes, let not troptes be blowe before the, as the hypocrites do in the synagoges and in the stretes: for to be prayled of men. Verily, I saye vnto you: they haue their rewarde. But when thou wylt geue almes, let not thy left hande knowe what thy ryghte hande doth, that thine almes maye be in secreete: and thy father which seeth in secreete, shall rewarde the openly. X

And when thou prayest * thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are. For they vse to stand prayeng in the synagoges, and in the corners of the stretes, that they maye be sene of men. Verily, I saye vnto you: they haue theyre rewarde. But when thou prayest * entre into thy chamber, & when thou hast shut thy doore praye to thy father which is in secreete: & thy father which seeth in secreete, shall rewarde the openly. X

But when ye praye * habbe not moch, as the heathen do: for they thynke it will come to passe, that they shall be herd for their moch babylnges sake. Be not ye therefore lyke vnto them. * For your father knoweth what thynges thinges ye haue made of before ye aske of him: after this maner therefore praye ye.

X Our father which art in heauen, haloed be thy name. Let thy kyngdome come. Thy will be fulfilled, as well in earth, as it is in heauen. Geue vs this daye our daylye bread. And forgeue vs our dettes, as we forgeue our detters. And leade vs not into temptacyon: but deliuer vs from euyll. For thine is the kyngdome and the power, and the glorie for euer. Amen. Therefore, if ye forgeue other men theyr trespasses, your heavenly father shall forgeue you. (your trespasses.) But if ye wyl not forgeue men theyr trespasses, nomore shall your father forgeue you your trespasses.

X Moreover, when ye fast, be not sad as the hypocrites are. For they disfigure their faces, that it maye appeare vnto men, how that they fast. Verily, I saye vnto you, they haue theyre rewarde. But thou, when thou fastest, anoynte thine heed, and wash thy face, that it appere not vnto men, how that thou fastest: but vnto thy father, which is in secreete: and thy father which seeth in secreete, shall rewarde the openly.

Laye not vp for your selues treasure vpon earth, where the rust and mothe doth corrupte, and where theues breake through, and steale. But laye vp for you, treasures in heauen, where neither rust nor mothe doth corrupte, and where theues do not breake thorow nor steale. For where your treasure is, there will your hert be also. X

X The light of the body is the eye. Wherefore, if thine eye be single, all thy body shall be full of light. But and if thine eye be wicked, all thy body shall be full of darchnesse. Wherefore, if the lyght is in the be darchnesse, how greates is that darchnesse?

X No man can serue two masters. For either he shall hate the one and loue the other, or els leane to the one, and despyse the other: ye cannot serue God and Man. Therefore I saye vnto you: * be not carefull for your lyfe, what ye shall eat or drinke, nor yet for your bodye, what rayment ye shall put on. Is not the lyfe more worth than meat: and the body more of value than rayment? Behold, the foules of the ayer: for they sowe not, neither do they reape, nor cary into the barnes: and your heavenly father feedeth the. Are ye not moch better then they?

X Whyche of you (by takyng carefull thought) can adde one cubyte vnto his stature? And why care ye for rayment? Consydre the lylies of the felde, how they growe. They labour not, neither do they spynne. And yet I saye vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his royaltie was not arrayed lyke one of these. Wherefore, if God so cloth the grasse of the felde (which though it stande to daye, is to morow cast into y fornasse) shall he not moch more do the same for you, O ye of lytle fayth?

Therefore, take no thought, saying: what shall we eat, or what shall we drynke, or wherewith shall we be clothed: after all these thynges do the gentyls seke. For your heavenly father knoweth, that ye haue nede of all these thynges. But rather seke ye first the kyngdome of God, and the ryghteousnesse therof, and all these thinges shall be ministred vnto you. X

Care not then for the morow, for the morowe daye shall care for it selfe: sufficient is to the daye, is the trauayle therof.

The vii Chapter.

The sayynges of Iesus and his disciples, touching the resurrection of the dead, and the daye of iudgement.

Iudge not, that ye be not iudged. (condemne not, and ye shall not be condemned.) For as ye iudge, so shall ye be iudged. * And with what measure ye mete, with the same shall other men measure to you. * Why seest thou a mote in thy brothers eye, but considerest not the beame that is in thine awne eye? Or how sayest thou to thy brother: * Brother, suffre me, I wyl plucke out a mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beame is in thine awne eye. Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beame out of thine awne eye, and then shalt thou se clearly to plucke out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

Geue not ye that which is holy vnto dogges, neither cast ye your pearles before swyne, lest they treade the vnder their fete & the other turne agaynst you, & al to rent you.

Alke, and it shall be geuen you: * Seke, & it shall fynde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you. For whosoever asketh, receaueth: and whosoever seeketh, fyndeth: and to hym that knocketh, it shall be opened. Is there any man amonge you, which (if his sonne aske bread) wyl offer him a stone? Or if he aske fische, will he geue him a serpent? If ye then (whā ye are euell) can geue your children good gyftes, how moch more shall your father which is in heauen, geue good thynges, if ye aske of hym?

Therefore, * whatsoener ye wolde y men shulde do to you: do ye euen so to them also. For this is the lawe and the prophetes.

* Enter in at the strait gate: for wyde is the gate, and broad is the waye that leade to destruction: and many there be which go in ther at. For strait is the gate, and narrow is the waye, which leade vnto lyfe, and fewe there be that fynde it. * Beware of false prophetes, which come to you in sheepes clothynge, but in wardly they are rauen.

nyng wolues. Ye shall knowe them by theyr frutes:

* Luke. vi. 8 * Do me gather grapes of thornes? or figges of thistles? Eue so euery good tree bringeth forth good frutes. But a corrupte tree, bringeth forth euell frutes. * A good tree can not byynge forth bad frute: nether can a bad tree byynge forth good frutes. * Euery tree byynge forth good frute, is hewen downe, and cast into fyre. Wherefore, by theyr frutes ye shall knowe them.

* Mat. xiii. 12 * Not euery one y sayth vnto me, * Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kyngdome of heauen: but he that doth the wyl of my father, which is in heauen. * (Ye shall enter into the kyngdome of heauen.)

* Mat. xiii. 12 * Many wyl saye to me in y daye: Lord, Lord, haue we not prophesied thowow thy name? * And thowow thy name haue cast out deuyls? And done many miracles thowow thy name? And then wyl I knowledge vnto them. I neuer knewe you.

* Mat. xiii. 12 * Departe from me, ye that worcke iniquyte.

* Mat. xiii. 12 * For whosoener heareth of me these wordes, & doth the same, I wyl lyeke hym vnto a wyse man, which buylt his house vpon a rock: and a shower of rayne descended, & the floudes came, & the wyndes blew, and yet vpon that house, & it fell not, because it was grounded on the rocke. And euery one y heareth of me these wordes, & ad doth them not, shalbe likened vnto a folysh mā, which built his house vpon sande: and a shower of rayne descended, and the floudes came, and the wyndes blew, and yet vpon that house, and it fell, and greute was the fall of it.

whan I come vnto hym, I wyl heale hym. The Centurion answered, & sayd: Syr, I am not worthy, that thou shouldest come vnder my rofe: but speake the word only, and my seruant shalbe healed. For I also my self am a man subiect to the auctorite of another, and haue souldyers vnder me, and I saye to this man: go, & he goeth: and to another come, and he cometh, & to my seruant do this, and he doeth it. When Iesus herd these wordes, he marueled: and sayde to them that followed him. Verely, I saye vnto you: I haue not founde so greatesayth in Israhell. I saye vnto you y many shall come from the east, and west, and shall rest with Abraham and Isaac and Iacob in the kyngdome of heauen: but the children of the kyngdome shalbe cast out into vter darknes: there shalbe weping and gnashyng of teth. And Iesus sayde vnto the Centurion: go thy waye, and as thou beleuest, so be it vnto the. And his seruant was healed in the selfe same houre.

* And whē Iesus was come into Peters house, he sawe his wyues mother lyeinge in bed, and sycke of a feuer. And he touched her hande, and the feuer left her: and she arose, & minystrer vnto them.

When the euen dyed on, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils. And he cast out the spytes with a word, ad healed all that were sycke, that it myght be fulfilled, which was spoken by Esay y prophete, when he sayth: * He toke on hym oure infirmities, and bare oure syknes.

Whē Iesus sawe moche people about hy, he commaunded that they shulde go vnto the other syde of the water. And a certayne scribe (whan he was come) sayde vnto him: * Master, I wil folowe the whither soeuer thou goest. And Iesus sayeth vnto him: the foxes haue holes, and the byrdes of the ayer haue nestes: but the sonne of man hath not where to reste his head. And another of the nobber of his disciples sayd vnto him: * Master, suffer me first to go and bury my father. But Iesus sayde vnto hym: folowe me, and let the deed burye theyr deed.

The he arose * and rebuked the wyndes and the see, and there folowed a greute calme. But the men marueled, sayenge: what maner of man is this, that both wyndes and see obey hym? * And whē he was come to y other syde, in to the countre of the Geragesites, ther met him two possessed of deuylles, which came out of the graues, and were out of measure fencer, so that no man might go by that waye. And beholde, they cryed out sayenge: * O Iesu sonne of God: what haue we to do with y? Art thou come hyther to torment vs before the tyme? And ther was a good waye of ledd them: a heerd of many swyne, fedynge. So, the deuyls besought him, sayenge, yf thou cast vs out, suffre vs to go oure waye into the heerd of swyne. And he sayde vnto them: go poure wayes. Then wēt they out, and departed into the heerd of swyne. And beholde, the whole heerd of swyne was carried headlynge into the see, and perished in the waters. Then they that kepte the, fledd, and wēt their wayes into the cytie, and tolde euery thynge, and what had fortunēd vnto the possessed of the deuyls. And beholde, the whole cytie came out to mete Iesus: and when they sawe him, * they besought him y he wolde departe out of their coastes.

¶ He healeth the palsy, calleth Matthew from the custome, and swereth for his disciples, healeth the woman of the bloody fluse, helpeth Iairus daughter, geureth sight vnto the blynde, maketh a domine man to speake, and bypurcheth out a deuill.

¶ Entred also into a shyppe, and passed ouer, ad came into his awne cytie, and beholde, * they brought to hym a man sicke of the palsy, lyeinge in a bed. And when Iesus sawe the sayth of them, he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsy: sonne, be of good cheare, thy synnes be forgiven the. And beholde: certayne of the scribes sayde within them selues: this man blasphemeth. And when Iesus sawe their thoughtes, he sayde. Whether is easer to saye, thy synnes be forgiven the, or to saye, arise and walke? But that ye maye knowe, that the sonne of man hath power to forgive synnes in erth. Then sayeth he vnto the sicke of the palsy: * arise, take vp thy bed, ad go vnto thyne house. And he arose, ad departed to his house. But the people that sawe it, marueled, and glorified God, which had geuen such power vnto men.

¶ And as Iesus passed forth from thence, he sawe a mā (named Matthew) syttinge at the receate of custome, and he sayeth vnto him: folow me. And he arose, & folowed him. And it came to passe as Iesus sat at meate in his house: beholde, many publicans also and synners that came, sat downe with Iesus and his disciples.

And when y pharisees sawe it, they sayde vnto his disciples: why eateth youre master with publicans and synners? But when Iesus heard that, he sayde vnto them. The

that be stronge, nede not the phylisyon, but they that are sicke. Soo ye rather and learne what y meaneth. * I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice. For I am not come to call the ryghtewes, but synners to repentaunce.

¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn vnto him, sayenge: * why do we and the pharisees fast, for the most parte: but thy disciples fast not? And Iesus sayde vnto the: can the bydegromes children mourne as long as the bydegrome is with them? But the dayes wyl come, when the bydegrome shalbe taken from them, and then shall they fast. No man putteth a pece of new cloth in an olde garment. For then taketh he awaye the pece from the garment, and the rent is made worse. Nether do men put new wyne into olde bottels: els the bottels breake, and the wyne runneth out, and the bottels perishe. But they putt new wyne into new bottels, and both are saued together.

¶ Whyle he thus spake vnto the, * beholde, ther came a certayne ruler, & worshipped him, sayenge: my daughter is eue now diseased, but come and laye thy hand vpon her, & she shal lyeue. And Iesus arose, ad folowed him, and (so dyd) his disciples. * And beholde, a woman which was diseased with an yssue of bloude twelue yeres, came behynde him, ad touched the hēme of his vesture. For she sayde within her selfe: yf I maye touche but euen his vesture onely, I shalbe safe. But Iesus turned him aboute, and whan he sawe her, he sayde. Daughter, be of good comforte, thy faith hath made the safe. And the woman was made whole, euen that same tyme.

¶ And when Iesus came into the rulers house, and sawe the minstrels, ad the people makinge a nopsle, he sayde vnto the: get you hence, for y maye is not deed. * But they sayd: And they laughed him to scoorne. But whan the people were put forth, he wēt in, and toke her by y hande, & sayde: damsell, arise. And y damsell arose. And this nopsle went abroade into all that lande.

And whan Iesus departed thence, two blynde men folowed him, crynges sayenge: O thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs: And when he was come into the house, the blynde came to him. And Iesus sayeth vnto them: Belene ye, that I am able to do this? They saye vnto him: Lord, we beleue. Then touched he their eyes, sayenge: * accordynge to youre sayth be it vnto you. And their eyes were opened. And Iesus charged them sayenge. Se that no mā knowe of it. But they, whan they were departed, spreed abroade his name in all that lande.

As they wēt out, beholde * they brought to him a domine mā possessed of a deuill. And whan y deuill was cast out, y domine spake. A a v And le his house? ¶ he that is not with me, is a-gaynst me. And he þ gathreth not with me scattereth abrode. Wherefore, I saye vnto you, all maner of synne and blasphemy shal-be forgiven vnto men * but the blasphemy agaynst the sprete, shall not be forgiven vnto men. * And whosoener speaketh a worde agaynst the sonne of man, it shall be forgiven hym. But whosoener speaketh agaynst the holý gōst, it shall not be forgiven him, nether in this worlde, nether in the worlde to come: * Either make the tree good, and his frute good, or els make the tree euyl, and hys frute euyl. * For the tree is known by his frute. O generation of hyppers, how can ye speake good thynges, when ye yonce selues are euyl? * For out of the abounddānce of the hert, the mouth speaketh. A good man out of good treasure of the hert, bringeth forth good thynges. And an euyl man, out of euyl treasure, bringeth forth euyl thynges. But I say vnto you, of eue-ry ydell worde that men shall haue spoken, they shall geue accountes in the daye of iud-gement. * For out of thy wordes thou shalt be iustified: And out of thy wordes thou shalt be condemned. ¶

† Then certayne of the Scribes and of the Pharises asked him saying. * Master, we wylle a signe of the. But he answered and sayde to them. * The euill and aduoucerous generacion * seeketh a signe and ther shall no signe be geuen to them, but the signe of the Prophet Jonas. * For as Jonas was thre dayes and thre nightes in the whales belly, so shall the sonne of mā be thre dayes and thre nightes in the herte of yerth. The men of ninine shall ryle in the iudgement with this nacion, & condēne it, because * they amended at the preaching of Jonas. Beholde, here is one greater then Jonas. * The quene of the south shall rise in the iudgement with this generacion, and shall condēne it: for she came from the vtmost partes of the worlde to heare y wylsōme of Salomon. And behold, in this place is one greater then Salomon.

* When the vnclene spryte is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout drye places, seeking rest, and findeth none. Then he saith: I will retourne into my house, from whence I came out. And when he is come, he fyndeth it empty, and swepte, and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh vnto him seuen other sprytes worse then him selfe, and so entreth he in, and dwelleth there. And * the ende of that man is worse then the beginning. Euen so shall it be also, vnto this froward generation.

Of S. Matthew.

1. Whyle he yet talked to the people: * beholde his mother and his brethren stode without, desyringe to speake with him. Then one sayde vnto him beholde, * thy mother and thy brethren stande without, desyringe to speake with the:

But he answered, & sayde vnto him that had tolde him. Whos my mother? or who are my brethzen? And he stretched forth hys hand towards his disciples, & sayd. * beholde my mother and my brethzē. For whosoever doth ^{the} will of my father which is in heauen, ^{he} same is my brother, sister, and mother. ¶

The.riij.Chapter.

The pybble of the sede, of the taces, of the mu:
nardelene, of the leuen, of the treasure hyd in the sel: de, of the perles, and of the nett.

Ihesame daye wēt Iesus out of the house, * and sat by the see syde, and moche people were gathered together vnto him, so gretly þ he went and sat in a shippe, and all the people stode on the shore. And he spake many thynges to the by similitudes, sayinge: Beholde, the sower went forth to sowe. And whan he sowed, some sedes fell by the wayes syde, and the fowles came, and deuoured them vp. Some fell vpon stony places, where they had not moche erth, and anon they spronge vp, because they had no depnesse of erth: and when the sonne was vp, they caught heat, & because they had no rote, they wyddred awaye. Agayne, some fell amonge thornes, and the thornes spronge vp ad choaked them. But some fell into good ground, & brought forth frute: some an hūdred folde, some syrtie folde, some thyrtye folde. Whosoeuer hath eares to heare, let him heare.

23 And the disciples came, & sayde vnto him: Why speakest thou to the by parables? he answered and sayde vnto them: * it is geue[n] vnto you to knowe the secretes of the kyngdome of heaue[n], but to them it is not geuen.

* For whosoever hath, to him shall be geue: and he shall haue aboundaunce. But whosoeuer hath not: from him shall be taken awaye euē that also which he hath. Therefore speake I to them by similitude: for they seinge, se not: and hearinge, they heare not: nother do they vnderstand. And in this is fulfilled the prophecie of Esaias, which sayth: * with the eares ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstand and seinge ye shall se, and shall not perceaue.
For these peoples hertes is waxed grosse, ad their eares are dull of hearynge, and theyr eyes haue they closed, lest at any tyme they shuld se with their eyes, ad heare with their eares, & shuld vnderstand with their herte, & be conuerted, that I also myght heale them.

* But blessed are your eyes, for they see: & your ears, for they hear. Alas, I weep for you, * that many prophets & righteous men haue despyred to se those thinges which ye se, & haue not sene them: & to heare those thinges which ye heare, and haue not hearde them. * heare ye therfore y^e similitude of the sower. Whā one heareth y^e worde of the kingdome, & vnderstandeth it not, then cometh y^e euill man, & taketh a waye that which was sowne in hys hert: this is he, which was souene by the waye syde. But he that receaued the sede which was cast into stony places, y^e same is he that heareth the worde, and anone withiope receaueth it, yet hath he no rote in hym selfe, but dureth for a season: for whā tribulacyon or persecutyon happeneth because of the worde, by and by he falleth. He also that receaued sede into y^e thornes, is he y^e heareth the worde: and the care of this worl-de, and the dyspaytfullnes of ryches, choke vp the worde, and so is he made vnfructfull.

But he that receaued sede into y^e good ground is he that heareth the worde, and vnderstandeth it: which also beareth fruite, & bringeth forth, some an hundred folde, some sixtye folde, some thyrtye folde.

Another similitude put he forth vnto the, sayinge: ¶* The kyngdome of heauen is lykened vnto a man, which sowed good seed in his felde. But whyll men slept, his ene-mie came, & sowed tares among the wheate, & went his waye. But when the blade was sprōg vp, and had brought forth frute, there appeared the tares also. So the seruantes of the hougholder came, and sayde vnto him.
Syr, dydest thou sowe good seed i thy felde: frō whēce then hath it tares? He sayde vnto them, the enuious man hath done this.
The seruantes sayde vnto him: wylt thou then that we go, and weede them vp? But he sayde, nay, lest while ye gather vp the tares ye plucke vp also the wheate with them, let bothe growe together untill the harvest, and in tyme of harvest, I wyl saye to the reapers gather ye fyrst the tares, and bynde them together in sheues to be bzent: but gather the wheate into my barn. ¶

✠ Another parable put he forth vnto the, sayinge. * The kyngdome of heauē is lyke to a grayne of mustard seed, which a man to-ke & sowed in his felde, which is the leest of all seedes. But when it is growne, it is the greatest among herbes, and is a tree: so that the byrdes of the ayer come, and make theyr nestes in the braunches therof.

Another similitude spake he vnto them:
* The kyngdom of heauē is lyke vnto leuē, which a woman taketh and hydeth in thre peckes of meale, tyll all be leuened.

* All these thinges spake Iesus vnto þe people by similitudes, & with out a parable spake he nothyng vnto the. that it myght be fulfilled, which was spokē by þe prophet, that saith * I will open my mouth in parables: I will

will speake forth thynges which haue bene kepte secret fro þe begynning of þe world.

¶ When the people were sent away, then came Iesus into þe house. * And his disciples came vnto him, saying: declare vnto vs þe parable of the tares of the felde. He answered and sayd vnto them. He þe soweth the good seed, is þe sonne of man. The felde is the world. And the chyldren of the kyngdome, they are the good seed: the tares are the chyldren of the wycked: the enemye that soweth them, is the deuyl. The harvest is the ende of the world: the reapers be þe Angells. Eue as the tares therfore, are gathered & brent in the fyre: so shall it be in þe ende of this world. * The sonne of man shall sende forth his Angells, & they shall gather out of his kyngdome all thynges that offende, and the which do inquite: and shall cast them into a furnes of fyre. There shall be wailing & gnashyng of teth. * Then shall the righteous shine as the Sonne in the kyngdome of their father. Who soeuer hath eares to heare, let him heare.

Agayne, the kyngdome of heauē is lyke vnto a nett, þe was cast into þe see & gathered of all kynde of fyshes: which whē it was full, he drew it to land, & sat downe & gathered þe good into vessels, but cast þe bad awaye. So shall it be at the ende of þe world. The Angells shall come & seuer þe bad fro amōge the good, & shall cast the into a furnace of fyre: there shall be wailing & gnashyng of teth.

¶ And it came to passe that whē Iesus had finished these similitudes, he departed thence: And whan he came into his awne countrey, he taught them in their synagoges, in so moch, þe they were astōned and sayde: whē ce cometh this wysdome and powers vnto him? * Is not this the carpenters sonne? Is not hys mother called Mary? and hys brethren, James and Ioses and Simon and Judas? And are not all his systers with vs? Whence hath he then all these thynges? And they were offended at hym. Iesus sayde vnto them: * A prophete is not without honoure, saue in his awne countrey, and in hys awne house. And he did not many miracles there, because of thei vnbelefe.

¶ The xiiij. Chapter.

¶ Iohn to Iohn and beaded. Chyldredeth syue thousande men with v. louses and two fshes, and appeared by nyght vnto hys disciples upon the see.

¶ That tyme * Herode the tetrarcha heard of þe fame of Iesu, & sayde vnto his seruantes: this is Iohn þe Baptist. He is rysen fro the deed, & therfore are miracles wrought by hi. For Herode * had take Iohn, & hold hi, & put him in prison because of Herodias, his brother Philipps wyfe. For Iohn sayd vnto him: * It is not lawfull for þe to haue her. And when he wolde haue put hym to deeth, he feared þe people, * because they counted him as a prophet.

But whē Herodes * byrth daye was kepte, the daughter of Herodias daunced before the, & pleased Herode. * Wherfore he pro-myssed with an othe, that he wolde geue her whatsoeuer she wolde aske. And she beyng instructe of her mother befoze, sayde: geue me here Iohn Baptistes heed in a platter.

And the kyng was soz. Neuerthelesse, for the othes sake, & them which sate also at the table, he commaunded it to be geue her: & sent tourtē tours, & beheaded Iohn in the prison and his heed was brought in a platter. & ge-ue to þe damsell, and she brought it to her mother. And his disciples came & toke vp hys body, and buried it: went, and tolde Iesus.

Whē Iesus hearde of it, he * departed thence in a shyppe vnto a desert place, out of the waye. And when þe people had harde therof, they folowed him on fote and left the cyties.
And Iesus went forth, & sawe moch peopel, and was moued with mercie toward them, and he healed of them those that were sycke.

And when þe euen drew on, his disciples came to him, saying: this is a deserte place, & þe houre is now past, let þe people departe, that they maye go into the townes, and bye the vntaples. But Iesus sayde vnto the. They haue no nede to go awaye. Geue ye them to eate. They saue vnto him: we haue here but
v. louses and two fshes. He sayde: bynge the hyther to me. And he commaunded the people to syt downe on the grasse, & he toke the
v. louses & the ij. fshes, and lyft vp hys eyes toward heauen & blessed. And whan he had broke the, he gaue the louses to hys disciples, & his disciples gaue the to the people.

And they dyd all eate, ad were suffysed. And they gathered vp (of the fragmentes that remayned.) xij. basketesfull. And they that dyd eate, were aboute. v. M. mē, besyde we-men and chyldren.

* And streyght waye Iesus made his disciples to get vnto a shyppe, and to goobefoze him vnto þe other syde whill he sent the people awaye. And when the people were sent awaye, he * wēt vp into a mountayne to praye to praye alone. And whē night was come, he was there him selfe alone. But þe shyppe was now in þe myddes of þe see, & was toost wyth waues, for it was a contrary wynde.

And in the fourth wathe of þe nyght, Iesus wēt vnto the walkynge on þe see. And whē þe disciples sawe hym walkynge on the see, they were troubled, saying: it is some spri-te, & they cryed out for fearre. But streyght waye, Iesus spake vnto them, saying: be of good cheare, it is I. be not a frayd.

Peter answered hym, and sayde: Lorde, yf it be thou, byd me come vnto þe on þe water. And he sayde, come. And when Peter was come downe out of the shyppe, he walked on the water, to go to Iesus. But whē he sawe a myghty wynde, he was a frayd.
And when he beganne to syncke, he cryed sayig: lorde saue me. And immediatly Jesus stretchyd forth his hand, & caught him, & sayd vnto hi: O thou of lytell fayth, wherfore dydest thou doubt? * And whan they were come into þe shyppe, the wynde ceased.

¶ Then they that were in þe shyppe, came and worshipped hym, saying: of a truthe thou art the sonne of God. And when they were gone ouer they came into the lande of Genesareth. And when the men of the place had knowledge of him, they set out messa-ngers into all that countrey rounde about the coast & brought vnto him all that were sycke, & besought hym, yf they myght touche the hemme of his vesture only. And as many as touched it were made safe.

¶ The xv. Chapter.

¶ Chyffe escryeth his disciples, & rebuketh the scribes & Pharises for thei geuynge godes commaun-dement to gozow their awne tradicions. The thyng that goeth into the mouth defyleth not the man. He defyleth the womā of cananes daughter, healeth the multitude, & woth. iij. louses & a fewe fshes fles fedeth. iij. M. mē, besyde women & chyldren.

¶ Then * came to Iesus Scribes and Pharises (whiche were come from Jerusalem) saying: why do thy disciples transgresse the tradicion of the elders: for they walsh not thei handes whē they eate bread. But he answered & sayde vnto them: why do ye also transgresse the commaundement of God, because of poure awne tradicion: For God commaundeth sayinge: * honoure father and mother, and he that curseth father or mother: let hym dye the deeth. But ye saue: euery one shall sape to his father and mother: * what gift so euer shulde haue come of me, the same is turned vnto thy profyt: & so shall he not honoure his father or his mother. And thus haue ye made the commaundement of God of none effecte, because of poure awne tradicion. Proferites, full well dyd I saue prophesie of pou, sayig: * This people draweth nye vnto me with thei mouth, and honoureth me with lyppes, howbeit, their hertes are farre from me: but in vayne do they serue me, teachynge the doctrines and preceptes of men.

And he called the people to him, and sayd vnto them: heare and vnderstande. That whych goeth into the mouth, defyleth not the man: but that which cometh out of the mouth, defyleth the man.

Then came his disciples, and sayde vnto him: knowest þe not, that þe Pharises were offended at this saying? But he answered and sayd. Euery plātē which my heauenly father hath not planted, shall be plucked vp by the rotes. Let the alone, they be þe blynde leaders of þe blynde. If the blynde leade the blynde, both shall fall into the dyche.

Then answered Peter & sayd vnto him: declare vnto vs this parable. Iesus sayde: are ye also yet without vnderstandyng? do not ye yet vnderstāde, yf whatsoeuer stretcheth in at the mouth, goeth into þe bely, & is cast out into the draught? But those thynges whych procede out of þe mouth, come forth fro þe hert, & they defyle þe man. For out of þe herte procede euill thoughtes, murders, breakynge of wedlocke, whordōs, thefes, falsedynesse, blasphemies. These are þe thinges, which defyle a mā. But to take meate wth vnwalshen handes, defyleth not a mā.

* And Iesus went thence, & departed into the coastes of Tyre and Sydon. & beholde, a woman of Canaan (which cam out of the same coastes) cryed vnto him, saying: haue mercy on me o Lorde, þe sonne of Dauid.
My daughter is piteously vexed wyth a deuyl. But he answered her nothing at all, & his disciples came, and besought him, sayinge: sende her awaye, for she crieth after vs: But he answered, & sayde: I am not set
* but vnto þe lost shepe of þe house of Israel.

Then cam she, & worshipped hym, saying: lorde, helpe me. He answered and said: it is not mete, to take þe chyldrens bread, and to cast it to dogges. She answered & sayde: truthe Lorde, for the dogges eate of þe credmes, which fall from their masters table.
Then Iesus answered and sayde vnto her, O woman, grete is thy faith, be it vnto the, euen as þe wilt. And her daughter was made whole euen at that same tyme.

And Iesus went awaye from thence, and cam nye vnto the see of Galile, & went vp into a mountayne, & sat downe there. And moche people came vnto him, bringyng to them those þe were lame, blind, deafe, may-med, ad other many: & cast them downe at Iesus fete. * And he healed the in so moch, þe people wondered, whan they sawe þe dumme speake, þe maymed to be whole, the lame to walke, and the blynde to se. And they glorified the God of Israel.

* Then

The Gospell.

* Mar. viii. a * Then Jesus called his disciples vnto him, & sayde: I haue compassyō on the people, because they continue with me now, iii. dayes, & haue nothing to eate: & I will not let the departe fasting, lest they miscarry by the waye. And his disciples saye vnto him: whence shal we get so moche bread in the wyldernes, as to suffise so greute a multitude? And Jesus sayeth vnto the: howe many loanes haue ye? And they saye: scue, & a fewe lytle fysshes. And he commaunded the people to syt doune on the grounde: and toke the scuen loanes, & the fysshes: & after he had geue thākes, he brake them, and gaue to his disciples, & the disciples gaue the to the people. And they dyd all eate, and were suffised. And they toke vp (of the broken meate that was left) scue baskettes full. And yet they dyd eate were. iiii. M. men. besyde wme & chylde. And he sent awaye the people, and toke hypppe, & came to the parties of Magdala.

The. xvi. Chapter.

The Pharisees requyre a token. Jesus warneth his disciples of the Pharisees doctrine. The confession of Peter. The keyes of heauen. The saythfull must beare the crosse after Christ.

* Mar. viii. b * He Pharisees also w the Saducees, came and tēpted him & despyed him. He wolde shewe them a sygne from heuen. He answered and sayde vnto them: whan it begynneth to drawe toward eue, ye saye, it wyl be fayre wether, for the skye is reed. And in the moynynge: It wyl be foule wether to daye, for the skye is gloumyng reed. O ye pharisees, ye can discerne the outward apperance of the skye: but can ye not discern the sygnes of the tymes? The frowarde & aduoutrous nacyon requyret h a sygne, and there shall no sygne be geuen vnto it, but the sygne of the Prophet Jonas. And he lefte them, and departed.

23 And when his disciples were come to the other syde of the water, they had forgottē to take bread with the. Then Jesus sayde vnto them: Take hede and beware of the leuen of the Pharisees & of the Saducees. And they thought in the selues sayig: we haue taken no bread w vs. Which whā Jesus vnderstode, he sayd vnto them: O ye of lytell faith, why take ye thought within your selues, because ye haue brought no bread? Do ye not yet perceaue, nether remember those. v. loanes, whē there were. v. M. mē, & how many baskettes toke ye vnto? Ne ther the. vii. loanes whē there were. iiii. M. mē: & how many baskettes toke ye vnto? how happeneth it that ye do not vnderstande, that I spake it not vnto you cōcernyng bread, but that ye shulde beware of the leuen of the Pharisees, & of the Saducees? Then vnderstode they, how that he had not the beware of the leuen of breed: but of the doctrine of the Pharisees, and of the Saducees.

And when Jesus came into the coastes of the cite which is called Cefarea Philippi, he asked his disciples sayinge: whom do men saye I the sonne of mā am? They sayde: some saye that thou art John Baptist, some helyas, some Jeremias, or one of the prophetes. He sayeth vnto them: but whom saye ye that I am? Simon Peter answered & sayde: Thou art Christ the sonne of the luyngge God. And Jesus answered, & sayde vnto hym: happy art thou Simon the sonne of Ionas, for fleche & bloud hath not opened that vnto the: but my father which is in heuē. And I saye also vnto the: thou art Peter: & vpon this rocke I will bylde my cōgregacion. And whā I shal be here, I will geue vnto the the keyes of the kyngdō of heuē: And whatsoeuer thou byndest in erth, shall be bounde in heuē: & whatsoeuer thou loofest in erth, shal be lowsed in heuē.

Then charged he his disciples, that they shulde tell no man, that he was Jesus Christ. From that tyme forth began Jesus to shewe vnto his disciples, how that he must go vnto Ierusalem, & suffer many thinges of the elders, & the prestes, & scribes, & must be kylled, and be raysted agayne the thyrde daye. And when Peter had take him asyde, he began to rebuke him, sayig: master, fauer thy selfe, this shal not happē vnto the: but he turned him aboute, and sayde vnto Peter: go after me Satan, thou byndest me: for thou sauncest not the thiges that be of God, but those that be of men.

Then sayde Jesus vnto his disciples: If eny man wil folowe me, let hi forsake him selfe & take vnto his crosse, & folowe me. For whoso wil saue his lyfe, shal lose it. Agayne, whoso doth lose his life for my sake, shal fynde it. For what doth it profet a mā, if he wyne all the whole world: & lose his awne soule? Or what shal a man geue to redeme his soule agayne with all? For the sonne of man shal come in the gloze of his father, w his āgels: & then shal he rewarde euery man accordyng to his dedes. Cereyly I saye vnto you, that he that standinge here, which shal not tast of deeth, tyll they se the sonne of mā come in his kyngdome.

The. xvii. Chapter.

The transfiguration of Christ. He healeth the lunaticke, & payeth tribute.

And after. vi. dayes, Jesus taketh Peter, James and John his brother, and bringeth them vp into an hye mountaine out of the waye, and was transfigured before them: & his face dyd shyne as the sonne, and his clothes were as whyte as the lyght.

And beholde, there apere vnto the Moses & Elias talkyng wth hym. The answered Peter, and sayde vnto Jesus, Lorde, here is good beinge for vs. If thou wyle, let vs make here. iij. tabernacles: one for the, and one for Moses, and one for helyas. Whyle he yet spake, beholde, a bright cloude shadowed the. And beholde, there came a voyce out of the cloude which sayd: this is my beloued sonne: in who I deelyte: heare hym. And when the disciples hearde these thynges, they fell on they faces: & were sore afraied. And Jesus came & touched them, & sayd: aryse, & be not a frayd. And when they had lyft vp they eyes they sawe no man saue Jesus onely.

And whan they came downe fro the mountayne, Jesus charged the sayig: shew this vnto no mā, vntyll the sonne of man be ryson agayne fro the deeth. And his disciples asked him, sayig: why then saye the scribes, & helyas muste fyrst come? Jesus answered, and sayde vnto the: helyas truly shal fyrst come, and restore all thynges. But I saye vnto you, that helyas is come already, & they knewe hi not: but haue done vnto hym whatsoeuer they lusted. In lykwysse shal all the sonne of mā suffre of the. Then the disciples vnderstode, that he spake vnto the of John Baptist. And whē they were come to a people, ther came to him a certayne mā knelyng downe to him, & sayeng: Master, haue mercy on my sonne, for he is lunaticke & sore vexed, for oft tymes he falleth into the fyre, & oft into the water. And I brought him to thy disciples, & they coulde not heale hi. Jesus answered & sayd: O faythles & croked nation: how longe shall I be with you? how longe shall I suffre you? bring hym hyther. And Jesus rebuked the deuyll, & he departed out of hi. And the chylde was healed euen in the same tyme.

Then came the disciples to Jesus secretly & sayde: why could not we cast hym out? Jesus sayd vnto the: Because of your vnbelefe. For verely I saye vnto you: if ye haue sayth as a grayne of musterd seed, ye shall saye vnto this mountayne: remoue hence to poudre pte, and it shall remoue: nether shal eny thinge be vnpowable vnto you. Howbeit this kynde goeth not out, but by prayer and fastyng. While they were occupied in Galilee Jesus sayde vnto them: it wyl come to passe that the sonne of man shal be betrayed into the handes of men, and they shall kyl him, and the thyrde daye shal he ryse agayne. And they were exceeding sore.

And when they were come to the citty of Capernaū, they wnt to receaue tribute money, cam to Peter, & sayd: Doth your master paye trybute? he sayeth: yee. And when he was come into the house, Jesus pteuē hym sayig: what thinkest thou Simon? of who do the kynges of the erth take trybute or toll,

Of the chyldezen, or of straungers? Peter sayeth vnto hym: of straungers. Jesus sayeth vnto him: Then are the chyldezen fre: not withstanding, lest we shuld offende the, go thou to the see, & cast an angle, & take the fyrst cometh vp: & whē thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt fynde a pce of twentie pence: that take, & geue it vnto them for me & the.

The. xviii. Chapter.

The teachers of the lawe & pharisees: to auoyde the scallpōs of euell & to geue anothers offence.

The same tyme came the disciples vnto Jesus, sayig: who is the grea test in the kyngdō of heauen? Jesus called a chylde vnto hym, & set him in the myddes of them, & sayd: Verely I saye vnto you: except ye turne, & become as chyldezen, ye shall not enter into the kyngdō of heauen. Whosoever therfore humbleth him selfe, as this chylde, the same is the grea test in the kyngdō of heauen. And whoso receaueth such a chylde in my name, receaueth me. But whoso doth offende one of these lytle ones which beleue in me: it were better for hym, that a myllstone were hāged aboute his necke, & that he were drowned in the depth of the see. Wo vnto the world because of offences. Necessary it is that offences come: But wo vnto the mā, by whom the offence cometh.

Wherfore if thy hande or thy fote hinder the, cut him of & cast it from the. It is better for the to enter into lyfe halt or maymed, rather then thou shuldest hauinge two handes or two fete be cast into euerlastyng fyre. And if thyne eye offende the, plucke it out, and caste it fro the. It is better for the to enter into lyfe w one eye, rather then hauinge two eyes to be cast into hell fyre. Take hede: that ye despyse not one of these lytel ones. For I saye vnto you, that in heauē their angels do alwayes beholde the face of my father, which is in heauē. For the sonne of mā is come to saue that which was lost. How thynke ye? If a man haue an hūdred shepe, & one of the be gone astray, doth he not leaue nyntye & nyne in the mountayns, & goeth & seeketh the which was gone astray? And if it happē that he fynd it, verely I saye vnto you: he reioyseth more of the shepe then of the nynty & nyne which wēt not astray. Ene so it is not the wyll of your father in heauen, that one of these lytel ones shulde perishe.

Wherfore if thy brother trespass agaynst the, go & tell hym his faute betwene hym & the alone. If he heare the, thou hast wonne thy brother: But if he heare the not, then take yet wth the one or two, & in the mouth of two or thre witnesses, euery mater may be established. If he heare not the, tell it vnto the congregacyon. If he heare not the congregacyon let him be vnto the as an heathen mā & as a publicā. Verely I saye vnto you: whatsoeuer ye bynde on erth, shal be bounde in heauen. And whatsoeuer ye lose on erth, shal be lowsed shall haue it of my father which is in heauē.

For where two or thre are gathered together in my name, there am I in myddes of the.

Then came Peter to hym, & sayde: Lorde howe oft shall I forgene my brother, yf he synne agaynst me: & yll seven tymes? Iesus sayeth vnto hym: I saye not vnto the vntill therfore is the kyngdō of heauen lyke-wolde take acountes of hys seruautes. And whē he had begō to reckē, one was brought vnto him, whych ought him ten thousand ta-lentes, but forasmuch as he was not able to paye, his Lorde commaunded him to be solde, & hys wyfe & chyldren, & all y he had, and payment to be made. The seruaunt fell downe, & besought him, saying: Syr, haue patience w me, and I wyll paye the all. Then had the Lorde ptye on that seruaunt, & lowed hym and forgane hym the det.

So the same seruaunt, went out, & fōde out of hys felowes which ought him an hūdred pence: & he layed handes on hym, & toke

And his felowe fell downe, & besought hym into prison, tyll he shulde paye the det. So, whē his felowes sawe what was done, they called hym & sayd vnto hym: Thou vngre-cyous seruaunt, I forgane the all that det,

The xix. Chapter.

Chap. xix. giveth answer concerninge in xpage, and teacheth not to be carefull, nor to loue worldly thynges.

And it came to passe that when Jesus had fynished these sayin-ges, he gat hym from Galile, & came into the coastes of Iewry beyonde Iordā, & moche people folowed hym, & he healed them there.

The Pharises also came vnto him tēptinge him, & saying vnto him: Is it lawfull for a man to make a deuozement w his wyfe for any maner of cause? he answered & sayd vnto the: haue ye not red, how y he which made mā at y begynnyng made the mā & woman: & sayd, for thys cause shall a man leaue father & mother, & shall cleue vnto hys wyfe, & they twayne shalbe one flesche. Wherefo-re now, they are not twayne, but one flesche.

Let not man therfore put a sundre, y whych God hath coupled together. They saye vnto hym: why dyd Moses then commaunde to ge-ue a testimōnall of dyuozement, & to put her awaye? he sayde vnto the: Moses (because of the hardnes of your hertes & suffered you to put awaye your wyfes: But frō y beginnyng it was not so. * I saye vnto you: whosoeuer putteth awaye his wyfe (except it be for fornicacion) & marieth another, breaketh wedlocke. And whoso marieth her whych is deuozed, doeth commyt aduoutry.

hys disciples saye vnto him: yf y mater be so betwene man & wyfe, then is it not good to mary. he sayd vnto them: all men cannot cōprehend this saying * saue they to whom it is geue: for there are some chaste whych are so borne out of their mothers wōbe. And ther are some chaste, which be made chaste of mē. And ther be chaste, which haue made the selues chaste for y kyngdome of heuē sake.
he that can cōprehēde it, let him cōprehēde it.
* The were there brought vnto hym ponge chyldre, that he shuld put hys handes on the, & praye. And y disciples rebuked them. But Jesus sayde vnto them: suffer the chyldren & forbid them not to come vnto me: for of such is the kyngdō of heauē. And whē he had put hys handes on them, he departed thence.

And beholde, one came, & sayd vnto him:
* good master, what good thyng shall I do that I maye haue eternall lyfe? he sayd vnto hi: why callest thou me good? (* there is none good but one, & y is God. But yf y wilt entre into lyfe, kepe the commaundmentes. he sayeth vnto hym. Whych? Iesus sayde * Thou shalt not comit manslaughter. Thou shalt not comyt aduoutrye: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness: ho-noure father and mother: * and y shalt loue thyne neybour as thy selfe. The pouge man sayeth vnto hi: All these thynges haue I kepte frō my youth vp: what lacke I yet? Iesus sayd vnto hym, yf thou wilt be perfecte * go & sell all that y hast, & geue to y poore, & shall haue treasure in heauē, & come & folow me. But when the pouge mā herde y saying, he wēt awaye sozr. For he had grete possessyons.

Then Jesus sayd vnto his disciples: Were ly I say vnto you: * it shalbe harde for the ry-che to enter into the kyngdō of heauē. And a-gayne I saye vnto you: it is easier for a camell to go through the eye of a needle, the for the ryche to enter into the kyngdome of God.
Whē the disciples hearde this, they were exceedingly amated, saying: who than cā be saued? But Jesus behelde them, and sayd vnto them: wyth men this is vnpossyble * but w God all thynges are possyble.

* Then answered Peter, & sayd vnto him:

Of S. Matthew.

Jo. r.

Behold we haue forsake all, and folowed the, what shall we haue therfore? Iesus sayd vnto the: verely I saye vnto you: that when the sonne of man shal sit in the seate of hys maiesty, ye y haue folowed me there generacyon * shall sit also vpon xij. seates, & iudge the xij. trybes of Israel. * And euery one that forsaketh house, or brethren, or systers, or father, or mother, or wyfe, or chyldren, or landes, for my names sake, * shall receaue an hundred folde, & shall inheret euerlastyn-ge lyfe. * But many that are fyrst, shalbe last and the last shalbe fyrst.

The xx. Chapter.

Chap. xx. teacheth by a synilprubethat God is better vnto no man. he teacheth hys disciples to be lowlye, & geue the wylde men the right.

A the kyngdome of heauen is lyke vnto a man y is an hou-holder, whych went out early in the mornynge to hyer labourers into hys vyneyard. And whan the agreement was made wyth the labourers for a peny a daye, he sent them into hys vyneyarde. And he went out about the thirde houre, & sawe other stādpyng ydell in y market place, & sayde vnto the: go ye also into the vyneyarde: & whatsoeuer is ryght, I wyll geue you. And they went thez waye.
Agayne, he went out about the fyfte & syn-the houre, & dyd lyke wyse. And aboute the eleueth houre he wēt out, & fōunde other stan-dyng ydell, & sayd vnto the: why stande ye here all the daye ydell? they saye vnto hym because no man hath hyred vs. he sayeth vnto the: go ye also into the vyneyarde: & whatsoeuer is ryght, that shall ye receaue.

So, when euen was come, the Lorde of the vyneyarde sayeth vnto his steward: call y labourers, & geue them their hyer, begynnyng at y laste vntill y fyrst. And whā they dyd come, y cam about y eleueth houre, they recea-ued euery mā a peny. But whan the fyrst came also, they supposed y they shuld haue re-ceaued moze, & they lyke wyse receaued eue-ry mā a peny. And when they had receaued it, they murmured agaynst y good mā of the house, saylge: These last haue wrought but one houre, & y hast made the equal vnto vs, which haue borne y burthen & heat of y day.

But he answered vnto one of the & sayde: frende, I do the no wronge: dydest thou not agre w me for a penny? Take that thine is & go thy waye: I wyll geue vnto thys last, euen as vnto the. Is it not lawfull for me to do as me lysteth w myne awne goodes? Is thyne eye enuyll, because I am good? * So y last shalbe fyrst, & the fyrst shalbe last. For many be called, but fewe be chosen. A

And Jesus going vnto Ierusalem, to-ke the xij. disciples as yde in the waye, & sayd vnto them: Beholde, we go vnto Ierusalem, & the sonne of mā shalbe betrayed vnto the chiefe prestes, & vnto the Scribes, & they shall condemne hym to deeth, & shall deliuer hym to the gentyls, to be mocked and to be scourged, and to be crucified: and the thyrde daye he shall ryle agayne.

* He came to him the mother of zebe-des chyldren, w her sonnes, worshyping him & desyryng a certayne thyng of hi. And he sayeth vnto her, what wilt thou? she sayde vnto him: Graunte, y these my two son-nes may sit, the one on thy ryght hāde, and the other on the lefte, in thy kyngdome.

But Jesus answered & sayde: y wot not what ye aske. Are ye able to dryncke of y cuppe that I shall dryncke of: & to be baptised w y baptyme, y I am baptised w? they saye vnto him: we are. he sayde vnto them: ye shall dryncke in dede of my cup: & be baptised w y baptyme that I am baptised wth.
But to sit on my ryght hande & on my leff, is not myne to geue: but it shall chaunce vnto the, y it is y prepared for of my father. A

* And when y ten heard this, they disoy-ned at the two bytchē: But Jesus called the vnto him, & sayde: ye knowe that the princes of the nations haue dominō ouer them.
And they that are great men, exerceyse auctorite vpon them. It shal not be so amōge you.
But whosoever wyll be grete amōge you, let him be your minister: and whoso wyll be chefe amōge you, let him be your seruaunt: euen as the sonne of mā cam, not to be mi-nistred vnto, but to minister, & to geue his lyfe a redemption for many. A

* And as they departed frō hiericho, moche people folowed hi. And beholde, two blynd men sittinge by the way syde, when they he-arde that Jesus passed by, they cried sayinge: O lord thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs. And the people rebuked them, because they shulde holde their peace. But they cried the moze sayinge. haue mercy on vs. O Lord thou sonne of Dauid. And Jesus stode still, and called them, & sayde: what wyll ye that I shall do vnto you? they saye vnto him: Lorde, that oure eyes maye be opened.
So Jesus had compassiō on them, and touched their eyes, & immediatly their eyes re-ceaued syght. And they folowed him.

their garmentes in y waye. Other cut doune

* And whē he was come to Ierusalem, all y cite was moued, saying: who is this? And the people sayd: this is Iesus. * the Prophet of Nazareth (a cyte) of Galile. * And Iesus went into the tēple of God, & cast out all the y folde & bought in the temple, & ouerthrew the tables of y mony chaungers, & the seates of them that solde dones, & sayd vnto them: It is wrytē: my house shalbe called y hou to him in the temple, & he healed them.

When the chiefe prestes & scribes sawe y wonders that he dyd, & the chylde cpyng in the temple (saying: Hosanna to the son ne of David) they disayned, and sayd vnto him: hearest thou what these saye? But Ie sus saith vnto them why not? haue ye neuer redde. * Out of the mouth of babes & sucke lynges thou haste ordeyned prayse. / And he lefte them, and went out of the cytie. * vnto Bethanie, & had his abydinge there.

* In the moynge as he returned into y cytie agayne, he hūged: & whā he had spyd a fygge tree i the waye, he came to it, & fou de nothynge therō, but leaues onely, & sayde vnto it: Neuer frute growe on the hēce for wardes. And anone y fygg tree roddered a waye. And when hys discyples sawe it, they marueled, saying. how soone is y fygge tree wydderd a waye? Iesus answered, and sayd vnto the: Verely I saye vnto you. * yf ye ha ue sayth & dout not, ye shal not onely do this that is happened vnto y fygge tree: but also yf ye shal saye vnto this mountayne, remo ue, & cast thy selfe into the see, it shalbe done.
* And all thinges whatsoeuer ye aske i pra yer (yf ye beleue) ye shal receaue them.

* And when he was come in to y tēple, the chiefe prestes & the elders of the people ca me vnto him (as he was teachinge) & sayde:
By what auctorite doest thou these thynges?
& who gaue the thys power? Iesus answer ed & sayde vnto the: I also wyl aske of you a certayne thing, which yf ye tell me, I wyl telle you.

he wyl tell you by what auctorite I do these thynges. The baptisme of Iohn: whence was it: fro heauen or of mē? And they thou ght amonge them selues, saying: yf we saye fro heauen, he wyl saye vnto vs: why dyd ye not then beleue him? But yf we shall saye of men, then feare we the people. * For all men holde Iohn as a prophet. And they answered vnto Iesus & sayde: we cannot tell. And he sayd vnto the: nether tell I you, by what au ctozite I do these thynges. * What saye ye to this? * A man had two sonnes, & cam to the fyrt, & sayde: sonne, go & worke to daye i my vineparde. He answered & sayde, I wyl not, but after ward, he repēted, & went. The cam he to the secōde, & sayd lyke wyse. And he answered, & sayd: I wyl syz, & wēt not. Whe ther of the twayne dyd y wyl of the fathr?
And they saye vnto him: the fyrt. Iesus say eth vnto the: verely I saye vnto you, the pub licans & harlotes go into the kyngdō of God before you. For * Iohn cam vnto you by the waye of ryghtewesnes, and ye beleued hym not: but publicans & harlotes beleued hym.
And ye (whā ye had sene it) were not mo ued afterwarde wyth repentaunce, that ye myght haue beleued hym.

* Herke another similitude. * Ther was a certayne man an housholder, whych plātēd a vineparde, & hedged it rounde about, & ma de a wynepresse in it, & bilt a tower, & let it out to husbandmen, & wēt into a straung cou tre. And when y tyme of y frute drewe nea re, he sent his seruantes to the husbāndmen y they myght receaue the frutes of it. And y husbāndmen caught his seruantes, & bet one, killed another, & stoned another. Agayne, he sent other seruantes, moo then the fyrt: & ad they dyd vnto the lyke wyse. But last of all, he sent vnto the his awne sonne, saying: they wyl stande in awe of my sonne. But whē y husbāndmen sawe the sonne, they sayd amō ge them selues: * This is the heyze: come, let vs kyll him, & let vs enioye his inheritaunce.
And they caught hym, & thrust hym out of y vineparde, & slewe him. When the Lorde ther fore of the vineyard cometh, what wil he do vnto those husbāndmen? They sayd vnto hi: For as much as they be euell, he will cruellye destroie the, & will let out his vineyard vnto other husbādmē, which shal deliuer hym the frute in due seasons. Iesus sayeth vnto the: dyd ye neuer reade in y scriptures? The stone whych the bylders refused, the same is become the heade of the corner: thys is y Lor des doynge, & it is meruelous in youre eyes.
Therfore saye I vnto you, y kyngdō of God shalbe taken fro you, and geuen to a nation, whych shal byynge forth the frutes therof.
And * whosoever falleth on this stone, shal be broken in peces: but on whosoever it fall eth it shal all to greynd hym. And when the chefe

chefe prestes and pharises had hearde hys parables, they perceaued, that he speake of them. * And they went about to laye handes on him. * but they feared the people, because they tooke him as a prophet. * And Iesus answered, & spake vnto the agayne by para bles and sayde.

The xxij. Chapter.

The marriage of the kynges sonne. Tribute to be geuen to the Emperour. Christ cōfute the opynion of the Saduces touching the resurreccion, & answer eth the scribe vnto hys question.

The kyngdome of heauen is lyke vnto a man that was a kyng, whych made a mariage for hys sonne & sent forth his seruantes, to call them that were byd to the weddinge, & they wolde not co me. Agayne, he sent forth other seruantes sayinge: Tell the whych are byddē: behold, I haue prepared my dynner: my oxen & my fatlynges are kyllēd, & all thynges are ready, come vnto y mariage. But they made lyght of it, & wēt their wayes: one to his ferme pla ce, another to hys marchaundise, & the tēna unt toke his seruantes, & intereated the shā me fully ad slewe them. But when the kyng hearde therof, he was wroth, & sent forth his men of warre & destroyed those murderers, and bent vp theyr eytie.

Thē sayd he to his seruantes: y mariage in dede is prepared. But they whych were bydden, were not worthy. Sooe ye therfore out into y hys wayes: & as many as ye fynde byd the to the mariage. And the seruantes went out into the hys wayes, & gathered to gether all, as many as they couide fynde, both good & bad, & the weddinge was fur nished with gesses. Thē the kyng came in, to se the gesses, & whā he spyd there a mā, whych had not on a weddinge garment, he sayd vnto hym: frēde, how camest thou in hyther not hauyng a weddinge garment?
And he was euē spechelesse. Thē sayd y king to the ministers: take & bynde him hand and fote, & cast hym into viter darcknes. * there shal be wepyng & gnasyng of teth. For many be called but few are chosen.

* Then went the pharises, & toke coun sell how they myght tangle hi in his wordes.
And they sent out vnto hym theyr discyples wyth herodes seruantes, sayinge: * Ma ster, we knowe that y art true, & teachest the waye of God truly, nether carest y for eny man, for thou regardest not the outward ap pearānce of mē. Tell vs therfore: how thyn kest y? Is it lawfull y tribute be geuē vnto Cesar or not? But Iesus perceauyng theyr wyckednes, sayde: Why tēpte ye me ye ppo crites? Shewe me y tribute mony. And they toke hi a peny. And he sayde vnto the: whose is this ymage & superscripcio? They saye vn to him, Cesars. Thē sayd he vnto the: * Geue therfore vnto Cesar, y thynges whych are Ce sars.

sars: & vnto God, those thynges are Gods. *
When they had hearde these wordes, they marueled, & left hym, & went theyr waye.

* The same daye came to him the Saduces (which saye y there is no resurreccio) & asaid him sayinge: Master, Moses sayde: that yf a man dye hauyng no chylde, hys brother shulde marry hys wyfe, & reyse vp seed vnto his brother. Ther were with vs seue brethren: & the fyrt married a wyfe, & deceased wout ylle & lefte his wyfe vnto his brother. Lyke wyse, the secōde & y thyr, vnto y seuenth.
Laste of all y womā dyed also. Therfore, in y resurreccion, whose wyfe shal she be of the seue? For they all had her. Iesus answered & sayde vnto the: ye do erre, not knowinge the scriptures, nor the power of God. For in the resurreccion, they nether marry, nor are ma ryed but are as the Angels in heauen.

But as touchyng the resurreccion of the dead: haue ye not red that which is spokē vn to you of God, whych sayth: I am the God of Abraham & the God of Isaac, & the God of Jacob? God is not a God of dead, but of lyuynge. And whē y people heard this, they were astonnyed at his doctryne.

* But whē the pharises had heard, y he had put the Saduces to silence, they came together, & one of the which was (a doctour of lawe) asaid him a question, tēptyng him, & saying: Master, which is the greates coma ndemēt in the lawe? Iesus sayd vnto hym: Thou shalt loue y Lorde thy God wyth all thy herte, and wyth all thy soule, & wyth all thy mynde. This is the fyrt & greates coma ndemēt. And the secōde is lyke vnto it. *
Thou shalt loue thyne neybour as thy self.
In these two commaundementes hange all the lawe and the prophetes.

Whyle the pharises were gathered toge ther, Iesus asked the, saying: what thynke ye of Christ? Whose sōne is he? They saye vn to him: the sonne of David. He sayde vnto them: how then doeth David call hym his sonne? I make thynne enemyes thy foote stoole. If David then, call him Lorde, how is he the sonne? And no mā was able to answer him anye thing: nether durste eny man (from that daye forth) aske him any moo questions.

* For all they that take the swearde, shall perle with p swearde. Thinkest thou that I cannot now praye to my father, and he shall geue me? (euen now) more then twelue legions of angels? But how then shall the scriptures be fulfilled? for * this must it be. In that same houre sayde Jesus to the multitude: * ye be come out as it were vnto a thefe, with swordes and stauces, for to take me. I sat daylie with you, teachinge in the temple, and ye toke me not. * But all this is done, that the scriptures of the prophetes might be fulfilled. * Then all the disciples forsoke hi, and fled. And they toke Jesus, & led him to Cappas hpe Preste, where the scribes and elders were assembled. But Peter folowed him a farre of, vnto the hpe prestes palace: & went in, and sate with the seruantes, to se the ende.

* The chefe prestes and the elders, and all the counsell, sought false witness agaynst Jesus (for to put hym to deeth) but founde none: pcc, when many false witness came, yet founde they none. At the last came two false witness, and sayde: This felowe sayde. * I am able to destroye p temple of God, & to buyde it agayne in thre dayes. * And the chefe preste arose, & sayd vnto him: answerest thou nothyng? Why do these beare witness against the? But Jesus helde hys peace. * And the chefe preste answered and sayde vnto him: I charge the by the lyvinge God, p thou tell vs, whether thou be Christ the sonne of God. Jesus sayeth vnto hym, thou hast sayd. Neuerthelesse I saye vnto you * hre after shall ye se the sonne of man syttinge on p right hande of power, and comyn in the cloudes of the skye.

* The p hpe preste ret his clothes, sayinge: he hath spoken blasphemye. what nede we of enymoo witness? Beholde, now ye haue hearde his blasphemye: what thike ye? They answered, and sayde: he is worthy to dye. * Then dyd they spyt in his face, & buffeted him with fistes. And other smote him on hys face wth the palme of their handes, sayinge: tell vs thou Christ, who is he that smote the?

Peter sat wth oute in the palace. And a dāsell came to him, sayinge: Thou also wast with Jesus of Galile: but he denyed before the all, saying. I woot not what thou sayest. Whē he was gone out into the porche, a nother wenche sawe him, and sayde vnto them that were there: This felowe was also with Jesus of Nazareth. And agayne he denyed with an othe: (sayeng.) I do not knowe the mā. And after a whyle, came vnto him they

And Peter remembred the worde of Jesu, which sayde vnto him: before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denye me thryle: and he went out, and wepte bittterly.

The xxviij. Chapter.

Chap. xxviij. Judas han: geth hym fyle. Chyph is crucified amonge the tres. The dyeth and is buryed, watchmen kepe the graue.

When p mornynge was come, all the chefe prestes & the elders of the people helde a counsaile agaynst Jesus, to put him to deeth, & brought him bounde: and deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate the debite.

Then Judas (which had betrayed him) seying that he was cōdemyned, repented him selfe, and brought agayne the thirtie plates of syluer, to the chefe prestes & elders, sayinge: I haue synned, betrayinge the innocent blood. And they saye: what is that to vs? Se thou to that. And he cast downe the syluer plates in the temple, and departed: * and went and hanged hym selfe.

And the chefe prestes toke the syluer plates and sayd: it is not lawfull for to put them into the treasure, because it is the pryce of blood. And they toke counsell: and bought wth them a potters felde to bury straungers in. Wherfore p felde is called * Bethanema, that is p felde of blood, vntill this daye. Then was fulfilled, that which was spoken: * by Jerem the prophet, sayinge: * and they toke thirtie syluer plates, the pryce of him p was valued, who they bought of the chyldren of Israel, and gaue them for the potters felde, as the Lorde apointed me. * Jesus stode before the debite, and the debite asked him, sayinge: art thou the kyng of the Jewes? Jesus sayeth vnto him: Thou sayest. And when he was accused of the chefe prestes & elders, he answered nothyng. Then sayeth Pilate vnto him: hearest thou not, how many witnesses they laye agaynst the? * and he answered him to neuer a worde: in so moch that the debite marueyled greatlye.

* At that feast, the debite was wonte to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner, whom they wold desier. He had then a notable prisoner, called Barrabas. Therefore, when they were gathered together, Pilate sayd: * whether will ye that I geue loofe vnto you? Barrabas, or Jesus, whych is called Christ? For he knewe p for enuie they had deliuered him.

When

When he was set downe to geue iudgement, his wyfe sent vnto him sayinge: haue p nothi ge to do with p iust mā. For I haue suffered many thinges this daye in my slepe because of him. * But the chefe prestes and the elders perswaded the people, p they shulde aske Barrabas, & destroye Jesus. The debite answered, and sayde vnto the: whether of the twayne, will ye, that I let loofe vnto you? They sayd: * Barrabas. Pilate sayde vnto them: * what shall I do then with Jesus whych is called Christ? They all sayd vnto him: let hi be crucified. The debite sayde: what euill hath he done? But they cryed the more, sayinge: let him be crucified. When Pilate sawe p he coulde preuaile nothyng, but that more busyness was made, he toke water, and washed hys handes before the people, sayinge: I am innocent of the blood of this iust person, ye shall se. Then answered all the people, and sayd: his blood be on vs, and on oure chyldren. * Then let he Barrabas loofe vnto them, and scourged Jesus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

* Then the soudeours of the debite toke Jesus in the comen hall, and gathered vnto him al the company. And they stripped him, and put on him a purpill robe, and platted a crowne of thornes and put vpon his heed, & a rede in his ryght hande: and bowed p knee before him: & mocked hi, sayinge: haile, kyng of the Jewes: and whan they had spyt vpo him, they toke the rede, and smote him on the heed.

And after that they had mocked him, they toke the robe of him agayne, and put hys awne rayment on him, & led him awaye to crucifye him. And as they came out, * they founde a mā of Tyzen (named Simon) him they cōpelled to beare his crosse. * And they came vnto the place which is called Golgotha (p is to saye, a place of deed mē sculles) and gaue hym veneger to drinke myngled with gall. And when he had tasted therof, he wolde not drinke.

When they had crucified him, they parted his garmentes, & dyd cast lottes: p it myght be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet. * They departed my garmentes amonge them: and vpon my vesture dyd they cast lottes. And they sate and watched him there, and * set vp ouer his heed the cause of hys deeth, wyrtten: This is Jesus the kyng of the Jewes. * Then were there two theues crucified with him, one on the ryght hande, and another on the lyfte.

* They that passed by, reuyled him, wagginge their heades, and sayinge: thou that destroyest the temple of God and dydest byld it in thre dayes, saue thy selfe. * If thou be the sonne of God, come downe from the crosse. Like wyse also p hpe prestes, mockig him with p scribes and elders sayde: he saued other, him selfe can he not saue. If he be p kyng of Israel: let him now come downe fro the crosse, & we will beleue him. * He trusted in God, let him deliuer him now, p he wyll saue him: for he sayde, I am p sonne of God. The theues also, which were crucified with him, cast the same in his tethe.

* It was p syxte houre was there dercknes ouer all the lande vnto the nyth houre. And about the nyth houre, Jesus cryed, wth a loude voyce, sayinge: Eli, Eli lama sabath: thanp. That is to saye: * my God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Some of them p stode there, whē they herde p, sayde: This man calleth for helias. And streyght waye * one of them ranne, and toke a sponge, and whan he had fylled it full of veneger, he put it on a rede, and gaue him to dryncke. Other sayde, let be: let vs se whether helias will come, & deliuer hi. Jesus, whan he had cried agayne w a loude voyce, yelded vp p goost.

And beholde, p bayle of the temple dyd rent in to two partes, from the toppe to the bottome, and the earth dyd quake, and the stones rent and graues dyd open: and many bodyes of saintes which slept, arose, & went out of the graues after his resurreccyon, and came in to the holy cytic, and appeared vnto many. * When the Centurion and they that were with him watchinge Jesus, sawe the erth quake, and those thinges which happened, they feared greatly, sayig: Truly, this was the sonne of God.

* And many women were there: beholdinge hym a farre of) whych folowed Jesus fro Galile, mynstringe vnto him. Amonge which was Mary Magdalen, and Mary mother of James and Iosef, and the mother of zebedes chyldren. When p euen was come * there came a riche man of Aramathia named Ioseph, which also was Jesus disciple.

He went to Pilate and begged the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commaunded the bodye to be deliuered. And whan Ioseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth, and layed it in hys newe tombe, whych he had hewen out, euen in the rocke, and rolled a greate stone to the doze of the sepulcre & departed. And there was * Mary Magdalene and the other Mary syttinge ouer agaynst the sepulcre. The nexte daye that folowed, the daye of preparinge, the hpe prestes and pharisees came together vnto Pilate, sayeng: Sp, we remembre, that this deceauer sayde whyle he was yet aliv.

* After thre dayes I wyll aryse agayne. To maunde therfore that the sepulcre be made sure vntill the thryd daye, lest hys disciples come, & steale him awaye and saye vnto the people: he is ryfen from the deed, & the last error shall be worse then the fyrst. Pilate sayde

In the begynnynge of the Gospell of Iesu Christ the sonne of God, as it is writen in the prophetes, behold, I sende my messenger before thy face which shall prepare thy way before the.

The voyce of a cryer in the wilderness: prepare ye the waye of the Lorde, & make his pathes straight. John dyd baptysme in the wilderness, and preached the baptysme of repentance, for the remission of synnes. And all the lande of Jewrie and they of Jerusalem, went out vnto hym, and were all baptysed of him in the ruer Jordan, confessynge their synnes.

John was clothed with camilles henn, and was a gerdill of a syn about hys lynes. And he dyd eate locustes and wild: hony, & preached sayinge. he that is stronger then I, cometh after me, whose sholchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnloose, I haue baptysed you wyth water: but he shall baptysen you with the holy goost.

And it came to passe in those dayes, Iesus cam fro Nazareth, of Galile: and was baptysed of John in Jordan: And asone as he was come vp out of the water: he sawe heauen open, & the sprete descended vpon him lyke adoue: And ther came a voyce from heauen. Thou art my deare sonne in whom I deulte.

And immediatly the sprete droue him into wilderness: and he was there in wilderness xl. dayes, and was tempted of Satan, & was with wilde beastes. And the angells minystrted vnto hym. After that John was taken, Iesus came into Galile: preachinge the Gospell, of the kyngdome of God, & sayinge. the tyme is come, & the kyngdome of God is at hand: repent, and beleue the Gospell.

As he walked by the see of Galile, he sawe Symon & Andrew his brother, casting nettes into the see, for they were fyshers. And Iesus sayde vnto them: folowe me, & I will make you to become fyshers of men. And straight waye, they forsoke their nettes, & folowed him. And when he had gone a lytell further thence, he sawe James the sonne of zebede, & John his brother, which also were in the shyppe, mendinge their nettes. And asone he called them. ther zebede in the shyp wyth the hyred seruantes, and folowed hym.

And they came into Capernaum: and straight waye on the Saboth dayes, he entred into the synagoge, & taught. And they were astonnyed at hys learnynge. For he taught them as one that had auctorite, & not as the scribes.

And there was in their synagoge a man vexed with an vncleane spirite, and he cryed sayinge. What haue we to do with the thou Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroye vs? I knowe the what thou art, eue that holy one of God. And Iesus rebuked hym sayinge: holde thy peace, and come out of the man. And whan the vncleane spirite had toarne him, & cryed with a loude voyce, he came out of him. And they were all amazed, in so much that they demaunded one of another amonge them selues sayinge: what thyng is this? What newe doctrine is this? For with auctorite commaunded he the foule spirites, and they obeyed hym. And immediatly his fame spred abroad through out all the region borderinge on Galile.

And forth with, whan they were come out of the synagoge, they entred into the house of Symon and Andrew, wyth James and John. But Symons mother in lawe laye sick of a feuer. And asone they tell him of her. And he came, & toke her by the hande: & lifte her vp: & pmediatly the feuer forsoke hyr, & she minystrted vnto the. And at euen when some was downe, they brought vnto him all that were dyscased, and them that were vexed with deuyls. And all the cytie was gathered together at the doore, & he healed many that were sick of dyuers diseases, & cast out many deuyls, & suffered not the deuyls to speake, because they knewe him.

And in the mornynge very early, Iesus (whan he was rylen vp) departed, and wet out into a solitary place, and there prayed. And Symon and they that were with hym, folowed after hym. And when they had founde him, they saye vnto him: all men seke for the. And he sayd vnto them: let vs go in to the next townes, that I maye preach there also: for therfore am I come. And he preached in their synagoges, in all Galile, and cast the deuyls out.

And ther came a leper to him, beseechynge hym, and knelyng downe, and sayng vnto him, if thou wilt, thou cannest make me cleane. And Iesus had compassion on hym, & put forth his hande, touched hym, & sayeth vnto him: I will, be thou cleane. And asone as he had spoken, immediatly the leprosy departed fro him, and he sent him awaye forth with, and sayeth vnto hym. See thou saye nothyng to any man: but get the hence, & clewe thy selfe to the prieste, and offer for thy cleansinge, those thynges whych Moses commaunded, for a witnesse vnto them. But he (asone as he was departed) beganne to tell many thynges, and to publyshe the sayenge: in so much that Iesus coulde nomore openly entre into the cytie, but was without in desert places. And they came to hym from euery quarter.

The healeth the man of the p. lxxv, calleth Levi the customer, eateth wyth open synners, and correcteth his disciples.

After a fewe dayes also, he entred into Capernaum agayne, and it was noyced that he was in the house. And asone many were gathered together, in so much that now there was no roome to receaue them, no not so moche as about the doore. And he preached the worde vnto them. And they came vnto him, bringynge one synke of a palsey whych was borne of fowre men. And when they coulde not come nye vnto him for ptease, they vncouered the rofe of the house that he was in. And wher they had broken vp the rofe, they dyd (wyth coardes) let downe the bed wherin the synke of the palsey laye. When Iesus sawe their fawth, he sayde vnto the synke of the palsey: sonne thy synnes be forgiven the.

But ther were certayne of the scribes sittyng there, & thynkyng in their hertes: why doth he speake thus blasphemys? who can forgive synnes, but God onely? And immediatly when Iesus perceaued in hys sperte, that they so thought wyth in them selues, he sayeth vnto them: why thynke ye soch thynges in youre hertes? Whether is it easier to saye to the synke of the palsey: thy synnes be forgiven the: or to saye, arise, take vp thy bed, and walke? But that ye maye knowe, that the sonne of man hath power in earth to forgive synnes, he spake vnto the synke of the palsey: I saye vnto the: arise, & take vp thy bed, and get the hense vnto thyn house. And immediatly he arose, toke vp the bed, and went forth befoze them all: in so much that they were all amazed, & glorified God, sayinge: we neuer sawe it on this fallpon.

And he went agayne vnto the see, & all the people resorted vnto hym, and he taught them. And as Iesus passed by, he sawe Leuy the sonne of Alpha, sittyng at the recepte of custome, and sayde vnto hi: folowe me. And he arose, and folowed hym. And it came to passe that whan Iesus late at meate in hys house, many publicans and synners late also together at meate wyth Iesus and his disciples. For there were many, & folowed hym. And when the scribes and pharises sawe him eate with publicans and synners, they sayde vnto his disciples: how dyspeneth it, that he eateth & dyspynketh wyth publicans and synners, sayde vnto them: Ye haue the watch go your waye, make it as sure as ye can. So they went, and made the sepulchre sure with watchmen, and sealed the stone.

The xxiij. Chapter.

The resurrection of Christ. The hypocrites geue the souldiers money to save that Christ was stolen out of the graue. Christ appeareth to hys disciples, and sendeth them forth to preach and to baptysen.

On an euening of the Sabothes, whych dawnech the fyrst daye of the Sabathes, came Mary Magdalene & the other Mary, to se the sepulchre.

And beholde, ther was a greate earthquake. For the angell of the Lorde descended fro heauen, & came & rowlled backe the stone fro the doore, and sat vpon it. Hys countenance was lyke lychtynge, and his rayment whyte as snowe. And for feare of him the keepers were astonnyed, and became as deed men.

The angell answered, & sayd vnto the women, feare ye not. For I knowe, ye seke Iesus which was crucified: he is not here: he is rylen as he sayde. Come se the place where he laye: & go quickly, & tell his disciples, that he is rylen agayne fro the deed. And beholde, he goeth befoze you into Galile, there he shall se him. Lo I haue tolde you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and greate ioye, & dyd runne, to byng his disciples worde. And as they wet to tell his disciples: beholde, Iesus met the, sayinge: All halle. And they came, & held him by the fete, & worshipped him. The sayd Iesus vnto the: be not a frayde. Go tell my brethren, that they go into Galile: & there shall they se me. Wher they were gone, beholde, some of the keepers came into the cytie & shewed vnto the hye prestes, all the thynges that had happened. And they gathered the together with the elders, & toke counsell, & gaue large money vnto the souldiers, sayng: Saye ye, if any man cometh to you, & saye vnto you, saye ye, we haue seene nothyng. And if they saye, we haue seene nothyng, we will perswade him, and saue you harmeles. So they toke the money, & dyd as they were taught. And this sayenge is noyced amonge the Jewes vnto this daye.

Then the xij. disciples wet awaye into Galile, into a mountayne where Iesus had appointed them. And wher they sawe him, they worshipped him. But some doubted. And Iesus came, and spake vnto the, sayinge: All power is geuen vnto me in heauen, & in erth. So ye therefore, & teach all nacions, baptysing them in the name of the father, & of the sonne, & of the holy goost: Teachinge the to obserue all thynges, whatsoeuer I haue commaunded you. And lo, I am wyth you all waye, euen vntill the ende of the worlde.

¶ The parable of the sower. Christ telleth the tempest of the see, whereby obeyed hym.

And he began agayne, to teach by þ see syde. And there gathered together vnto him moche people, so greatly that he entred into a ship, * And sat in the see, and all the people was by the see syde on the shore. And he taught them many thinges by parables, and sayde vnto them in his doctrine: hearken to: behold, * there went out a sower to sow. And it so-turned as he sowed, that some fell by þ waye syde, and the fowles of the ayre came, and deuoured it vp: Some fell on stony grounde where it had not moche erth: and immediatly sprāge vp, because it had not depth of erth: but as sone as the sonne was vp, it caught heat: & because it had not rotynge, it wyd-dyed awaye.

And some fell amonge thornes, & þe thornes grew vp, and choked it, and it gaue no fruite. And some fel vpon good ground, and vpdelde fruite that sprong vp, and grewe, and brought forth, some thyrty folde, and some syrtte folde, and some an hundred folde. And he sayde vnto them: he that hath eares to heare let him heare. K

And when he was alone, they that were about hym wyth the twelue asked hym of the parable. And he sayde vnto them. * To you is it geuen to knowe the mystery of the kyngdome of God. But vnto them that are without, all thinges happen by parables: y when they se, they maye se, and not discern, and when they heare, * they maye heare, and not vnderstande: lest at any tyme they shoulde turne, and these synnes shoulde be forgiven them. And he sayde vnto them: Knowe ye not this parable: and how then wyll ye knowe all other parables?

*The sower soweth the worde. And they (wherof some be rehearsed to be by þ waye fynde) are those, where the worde is sown: And whā they heare, Sathā cometh immediatly, and taketh awaye the worde þ was sown in theyr hertes. Whan he purged the possed from the vncleane spere: the wom in from the bloudy flur, and sayde: the captaynes daughter.

And when he was come out of the shippe, immediatly there met hym out of the graues a man possessed of an vncleane spere, whych had hys abydinge amonge the graues. And no man coude bynde him: no not with cheynes, because that when he was often boude with fetters and cheynes, he plucked the chaynes a sundre, and brake the fetters in peces, neither coude eny man tame hi. And alwayes, nyght and dape he was in the mountaynes and in the graues, cryeng and beating hym selfe wyth stones. But when he had spied Iesus a farre of, he ranne, and worshiped hym, and cryed with a loude voyce and sayde: what haue I to do wyth the? Iesus thou sonne of ymoost hyst God: I requyre the in the name of God that thou toimet me not. for he sayd vnto hym: come out of the man thou foule spere. And he asked hym: what is thy name? And he answered and sayde vnto hym: my name is Legion, for we are many. And he prayd hym instantly, that he wolde not sende them awaye out of the countree.

23 But ther was there nye vnto the mountayns * a greete heerd of swyne fedynge, & all y deuyls belought him, sayinge: sende vs in to the heerd of swyne, that we maye enter into the. And anone Iesus gaue them leaue. And the vncleane spere went out, and entered in to y swyne. And y heerd was carped headlyng into the see. They were allmost .ij. And were drowned in y see. And y swyne heerd fled, and tolde it in the cytie, and in the felde. And they went out for to se, what had happened: & came to Iesus, and sawe him y was vexed with the fende & had y Legion, spt, both clothed and in his eyght mynde, and they were afraped. And they y sawe it tolde them, how it had happened to him that was possessed wyth the deuyl: & also of y swyne. * And they beganne to praye hym, that he wolde departe out of their coast. * And when he was come into the shippe, he y had the deuyl, prayed hym, that he myght be w him. howbeit, Iesus wolde not suffice hym, but sayde vnto him: go to thyne awne house and to thy frendes, and shewe the how great

And when Iesus was come ouer agayne by thyppe vnto the other syde, moch people gathered vnto him, and he was nye vnto the see. * And beholde, ther came one of the rulers of y Synagoge, whose name was Jairus: and when he sawe him, he fel downe at his fete, and besought hym greatly, sayinge: my daughter lyeth at poynt of deeth, I pray the come, and laye thy hande on her, that she maye be safe and lyue. And he wet with hym, & moch people folowed him, & throgged hym.

And streyght waye the fountayne of her bloude was dryed up, & she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plage.

And Iesus immediatly felynge in hi selfe, that vertue proceeded fro him, touned him aboute in the preasse, and sayde, who touched my clothes? And hys dyscyples sayde vnto him: y seest the people thrust y, and askest, y who dyd touche me? And he looked round about for to se her that had done thys thyng. But the woman fearing and trebling (knowyng what was done wyth in her) came, and fell downe befoze him, & tolde him all the truth. And he sayd vnto her: daughter * thy fayth hath saued the: go in peace, and be whole of thy plage.

And that they shuld not put on two cootes. And he sayde vnto the: whersoeuer ye entre i to an house, there abide, thyll ye departe thence. * And whosoever shall not receaue you nor heare you, wher ye departe thence, shake of y duste that is vnder youre fete, for a witness vnto them. * I saye verely vnto you: it shalbe easier for zodom & Gomoz in the dape of iudgement, then for that cytie. * And they wet out & preached, that men shuld repent: & they cast out many deuyls: & annoynted many y were sycke wyth oyle, and healed them.

* And kynge herode hearde of hym (for hys name was spred abroade) and he sayde: John Baptiste is risen agayne fro y deed, & therfore myracles are wrought by hi. Other sayd it is helyas: some sayd: it is a prophet, as one of the prophetes. But when herode hearde of hym, he sayde: it is John whom I beheaded. he is risen from deeth agayne. * For herode hym selfe had sent forth men of warre, and layed handes vpon John, and boode hym, & cast hym into prison for herodias sake, hys brother Jhylyppes wyfe (because he had maryed her). For John sayde vnto herode. * It is not lawfull for y to haue thy brothers wyfe. herodias layd wayte for hym, and wolde haue kylled him, but she coude not. For herode feared John, knowig that he was a iust ma & an holy: & gaue hym reuerence: and when he hearde hym, he dyd many thynges, and hearde hym gladly.

And when a couenient dape was come, y herode on hys * byrth dape, made a supper to y lordes hys captayns, & chefe estatces of Galile: & wha y daughter of the same herodias cam in, & daunced, & pleased herode & the that sate at bourde also: the kynge sayde vnto y damosell: aske of me what thou wilt, and I wyll geue it the. * And he swore vnto hyr: whatsoeuer y shalt aske of me, I wyll geue it y, cuen vnto y one halfe of my kynge-dome. And she went forth, & sayde vnto her mother: what shall I aske? she sayd: John Baptistes head. And she cal streyght waye wyth haste vnto y kynge, & asked, sayinge: I wyll, y thou geue me by and by in a charger, the heed of John Baptiste. And y kynge was sor: howbeit for hys othes sake, and for theyr sakes whych sate at supper also, he wolde not cast her off. And immediatly the kynge sent the hangman, and commaunded hys head to be brought in. And he went, and beheaded hym in the prison, and brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the damosell, and the damosell gaue it to her mother. And when hys dyscyples hearde of it, they came, and toke vphys body, and layed it in a graue.

And the apostles gathered the felues together vnto Iesus, and told hym all thynges both what they had done, and what they had taught. And he sayd vnto the: come ye alone out of y waye into the wyldernes, & rest a whyle. For there were many comers, and goers, and they had no leasure so moch as to cate. * And he went by shippe out of the waye into a deserte place. And the people spied the when they departed: & many knewe hym, & ranne a fote thither out of all cyties, and cam thither befoze the, and came together vnto hym. And Iesus wet out & sawe moche people, & had compassyon on the, because they were lyke shepe, not hauinge a shepherde. And he beganne to teach the many thynges.

* And when y dape was now farre spent, y hys dyscyples came vnto hym, sayinge: thys is a deserte place, and now the tyme is farre passed, let them departe, that they maye go into the countrey round about, and into the tounes, & bye them bread: for they haue no thyng to cate. he answered and layd vnto them, geue ye them to cate. And they sayde vnto hi: shall we go & bye two hundred penyworth of bread, & geue the to cate? he sayde vnto the: how many loaves haue ye. So they lokte. And wher they had searched, they sayd:

Ge fyue and

fyue & two fyfthes. And he commaunded them, to make them all fyt doune by copanyes vpo the grene grasse. And they late doune here arowe and there arowe, by hundredes ad by fyfties. And wha he had taken the fyue loanes and the two fyfthes, ad looked vp to heauen, he blessed and brake the loanes, and gaue them to hys dyscyples, to set before the: & the two fyfthes deuided he amog them all. And they all dyd eate, and were satysfied. And they toke vp twelue baskettes full ther of, ad of the fyfthes. And they that dyd eate, were about fyue thousand men.

* And streyght waye he caused his dysciples to go into the thyppe, and to go ouer the see before vnto Bethsayda, whyle se set a waye the people. * And allone as he had sent them a waye, he departed to a mountayne to pray. * And wha eue was come, the thyppe was in the myddes of the see, and he alone on the lande, & he sawe them troubled in rowynge, for the wynde was contrary vnto them. And aboute the fourth watch of the nyght, he came vnto them, walkynge vpon the see, ad wolde haue passed by the. But wha they sawe hym walkynge vpo the see, they supposed it had bene a spete, & cryed out: for they all sawe hym, and were afayed. And anone he talked wpth them, and sayd vnto them: be of good cheare, it is I, be not afayed. * And he went vp vnto them into the thyppe, & the wynde ceased, & they were sore amased in the felues beyode measure, and marueyled. For they remembred not of the loanes, because their herte was byndyd.

And whan they were ouer the water, they came into the lande of Genezareth & due vp into the hauen, And allone as they were come out of the thyppe, streyght waye they knewe hym, and ranne forth through out all the regyon rounde about, & began to cry about in beddes those that were speke, when they heard that he was there. And whyther soeuer he entred, into townes, cytyes, or vyllages, they layde the speke folkes in the streets, & prayed hym that they myght touche, & it were but the heme of hys vesture. And as many as touched hym, were safe. *

The vij. Chapter.

The dysciples eate wth vnwaschen handes. The commaundment of God is transgessed by menes tradicions. Of the woman of Syrophenicia. Of the Sabbath.

* And the Pharysees came together vnto hym, & dyuers of the Scribes whych came fro Jerusalem. And when they sawe certayne of his dysciples eate bread wth common (that is to saye, wth vnwaschen) handes, they complayned. For the Pharysees and all the Jewes, excepte they wash their handes ofte, eate not, obseruyng the tradicions of the elders. And when they come fro the market, except they washe, they eate not. And many other thynges there be, which they haue taken vpon the to obserue, as the washyng of cuppes and cruces, and, brasen vessels, and of tables.

Then asked hym the Pharysees & Scribes: why walke not thy dysciples accordyng to the custome, ordeyned by the elders, but eate bread wth vnwaschen handes? he answered & sayd vnto the: well prophesied Elayus of you, ypocrytes, as it is wyrtten: * Why people honoereth me wth theyr lippes, but they herte is farre fro me: howbeit, I wayne do they serue me, teachyng the doctrines ad commaundmentes of me. For ye laye the commaundment of God aparte, & obserue the constitucyons of me, as the washyng of cruces & of cuppes, ad many other such lyke thynges ye do.

And he sayd vnto the: well, ye cast a syde the commaundment of God, to mayntayne poure a wone constitucyons. * For Moyses sayd: honoure thy father & thy mother: & whoso curseth father or mother, let him dye the death. But ye saye: a mā shall saye to father or mother, Corban: whych is: what gyfte soeuer cometh fro me, shalbe fro thy profyt. And so ye suffre him no more to do ought for hys father or his mother, and make the worde of God of none effecte, throughe poure a wone constitucyon whych ye haue ordeyned. And many such thynges do ye.

And whan he had called all the people vnto hym, he sayd vnto the: herken vnto me, euery one of you, and vnderstande. * There is no thyng wth out a man that can defyle him, wha it entreteth into him: but the thynges whych proceade out of a man, those are they that defyle the man. If eny man haue cares to heare, let hym heare. And when he came in to the house a waye from the people, his dysciples asked him of the similitude. And he sayd vnto the: are ye also so greatly wth out vnderstandinge? Dope not yet perceaue, & what soeuer thyng from wout, entreteth in to a mā, it can not defyle hi, because it entreteth not into his hert but into the vely: & goeth out into the draught, pourgyng out all meates.

And he sayd: that whych cometh out of a man defyleth the man. For from wth in, euery out of the herte of men proceade euill thoughtes, aduouty, fornicacyon, murder, theft, couetousnes, fraude, decepte, vncleynes, a wycked eye, blasphemys, pryde, folyshnes: all these euill thynges come fro w in, and defyle a man. * And from thence he rose, & went into the borders of Tyre & Sidon: & entred into an house, & wolde that no mā shuld haue knowe. But he could not be hyd. For a certayne woman (whose daughter had a foule spete) as soone as she heard of hym, came, and fell at hys fete. The woman was a Greke out of the nacyn of Syrophenicia, & she besought hesought him, that he wolde cast out the deuyll from her daughter. But Iesus sayd vnto her: let the chyldren fyrst be fedd. For it is not mete, to take the chyldrens bread, and to cast it vnto whelpes. She answered & sayde vnto hym: enen to lord, & neuerthelesse, the whelpes also eat vnder the table of the chyldrens cromes. And he sayd vnto her: for thys sayinge go thy waye, the deuyll is gone out of thy daughter. And when she was come home to her house, she founde that the deuyll was departed, and her daughter lyng on the bedd.

* And he departed agayne fro the coastes of Tyre and Sidon, and came vnto the see of Galile theow the myddes of the coastes of the tencyties. * And they brought vnto him one that was deaffe ad had an impediment in hys speche, and they prayed hym to put his hande vpo him. And when he had taken hym asyde from the people, he put hys fyngers into hys eares, and dyd spyt, & touched hys tonge, and looked vp to heauen, and syghed, and sayde vnto hym: Ephata, that is to saye, be opened. And streyght waye his eares were opened, and the streyng of his tounge was loosed, and he spake playne. * And he commaunded the, that they shulde tell no man. But the more he forbade them, so much the more a greete deale they published, sayng: he hath done all thynges well, he hath made both the deaffe to heare, and the dome to speake. *

The viij. Chapter.

The miracle of the seuen loanes. The Pharysees alke a sygne. The leuen of the Pharysees. The blinde receaueth hys sight.

And those dayes * wha ther was a very great company, and had no thyng to eate. Iesus called his dysciples to him, and sayd vnto them: I haue compassyon on the people, because they haue nowe bene w me thre dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and yf I sende the a waye fastyng to theyr a wone houses, they shall saynt by the waye. * For diuers of them came from farre. And his dysciples answered hym: where shulde a man haue bread here in the wyldernes to satysfy these? And he asked them: how many loanes haue ye? They sayde: seuen. And he commaunded the people to fyt doune on the grounde. And he toke the seuen loanes, and whan he had genen thanckes, he brake, and gaue to hys dysciples, to set before them. And they did set them before the people. And they had a fewe small fyfthes. And whan he had blessed, he commaunded them also to be sett before them. And they dyd eate, and were satysfied. And they toke vnto the broken meate that was left seuen baskettes full. And they that dyd eate: were about foure thousande.

And he sent them awaye. *

And anone he entred into a thyppe with his disciples, and came into the parties of Dalmanutha. * And the Pharysees came forth, and beganne to dispute with hym, schyng of hym a sygne from heauen, tēptynge hym. And whan he had syghed in hys spete, he sayeth: why doth thys generacyon seke a sygne? Verely I saye vnto you, there shall no sygne be geuen vnto thys generacyon. And he left them, and went into the ship agayne, and departed ouer the water.

And they had forgotten to take bread w them, nether had they in the thyppe with them more then one loafe. And he charged them, sayng. * Take hede, beware of the leuen of the Pharysees, and of the leuen of herode. And they reasoned amonge them selues sayenge: We haue no bread. And Iesus knewe it, and saith vnto the: why take ye thought, because ye haue no bread: perceaue ye not yet nether vnderstande? Haue ye poure hert yet blynded? Haue ye eyes, and se not? and haue ye eares, and heare not? Dope not also remēbre? * When I brake fyue loanes among fyue thousande men, how many baskettes full of broken meate toke ye vp? They saye vnto him, twelue. * When I brake seuen among foure thousand, how many baskettes of the leauynge of the broken meate toke ye vp? They sayd: seue. And he sayd vnto the: how happeneth it that ye do not vnderstande?

* And he came to Bethsayda, and they brought a blinde man vnto hym, and desired hym to touche him. And he caught the blynde by the hand, and lead him out of the towne: and wha he had fyt in his eyes, ad put his handes vpo him, he asked him yf he sawe ought. And he looked vp, & sayd: I se the men: for I perceaue the walke, as they were trees. After that, he put hys handes agayne vpon hys eyes, and made hym se. And he was restored, and sawe euery man clearly. And he sent him home to his house, sayng: nether go into the towne, ner tel it to eny in the towne. *

* And Iesus went out, & hys dysciples into the townes that longe to the cytie called, Cesarea Philippi. And by the waye he asked his dysciples, sayng vnto the: whom do me saye yf I am? And they answered: some saye, that thou art John baptist, & some saye, he lias. Agayne, some saye, that that thou arte one of the nobre of the pyhetes. And he sayd vnto them: but whom saye ye yf I am? Peter answered & sayth vnto him: * thou art very Christ. And he charged the, that they shulde tell no mā of him. And he beganne to teach the: how that the sonne of mā must suffre many thynges, and be reproued of the elders, and of the hye prestes, and scribes, and be kyled, & after thre dayes aryse agayne. And he spake that sayinge openly. And Peter toke hym asked, and began to chide him. But he turned about, and looked on his disciples, and rebuked Peter, saying: Go after me Satan. For thou sauest not the things that be of God, but the things that be of men.

* And when he had called the people unto him with his disciples also, he sayde unto them: Whosoever will folowe me, lett hym forsake him self, and take vpon hym the crosse, and folowe me. For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it. But whosoever shall lose his life, for my sake & the gospells, the same shall save it. If oz what shall it profit a man, if he wyne all the world, and lose his awne soule: oz what shall a man geue to redeme his soule with all agayne? Whosoever therfore shall be ashamed of me & of my wordes, in this aduoutrous and synfull generation: of hym also shall the sonne of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glorie of his father with the holy angels.

The .ix. Chapter.

The transfiguration. The lunaphe dyshealed. The dyshealed who shulde be the greatest. Disciples are forsydden.

And he sayd vnto them: Verily, I saye vnto you: * Ther be some among the that stande here, which shall not taste of death, tyll they haue sene the kyngdome of God come with power.

* And after sixe dayes Jesus taketh Peter and James, and John, and ledeyth them vp into an hye mountayne out of the waye alone: and he was transfigured before them. And his raiment byd shyne, and became very whyte, euenas snowe: so whyt as no fuller can make vpon the earth. And there appeared vnto the Elias with Moses. And they talked with Iesu. And Peter answered & sayth to Iesu: Master, here is good beyng for vs: let vs make also .iiij. tabernacles, one for the, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. For he wylt not what he sayd: for they were afraied. And there was a cloude that shadowed them. And a voyce came out of the cloude, saying: * This is my beloued sonne: heare hym. And sodenly whan they had looked rounde aboute, they sawe no man moze then Jesus onely with them.

* And as they came downe fro the hyll, he charged them, that they shuld tell no man those thynges that they had sene, tyll the sonne of man were rylen fro death agayne. And they kepte that sayeng with them, and demaunded one of another, what the sayeng from death agayne shulde meane. And they asked hym, sayinge: why then saye the scribes, that Elias must first come: he answered and sayd: vnto the: * Elias verily when he cometh first, restozeth all thynges. And the sonne of man (as it is wryten of him) shall suffre many thynges, & be sett at naught. But I saye vnto you, that Elias is come, and they haue done vnto hym whatsoeuer they wolde, as it was wryten of hym.

And whā he came to his disciples, he sawe moche people about them, & the scribes disputing w them. And streight waye all the people (whā they behelde hym) were amazed, & ran to hym, & saluted hym. And he asked the scribes: what dispute ye amōg the? * And one of the company answered, & sayde: Master, I haue brought vnto my sone, whych hath a dome sprete. And whensoeuer he taketh him, he teareth him, and he someth, and gnaweth with his teth, and pineth awaye. And I spake to thy disciples that they shuld caste hym out, and they coulde not.

He answereth him, and sayth: O faithles nation, how longe shall I be w you? how longe shall I suffice you? Bynge hym vnto me. And they brought hi vnto hym. And as sone as the sprete sawe hym, he tare hi. And he fell downe on the ground, wallowing & foming. And he asketh his father: how longe is it ago: sene this happened hym? And he sayde: of a chyld: & oft tymes it hath cast hym into the fyre, & into the water, to destroye hym. But if thou canst do eny thyng, haue mercy on vs and helpe vs. Jesus sayd vnto hym: if thou couldest beleue * all thynges are possible to hym that beleueth. And streight waye the father of the chyld cried with teares, saying, Lord, I beleue, helpe thou myne vnbeleue.

When Jesus sawe the people came running together vnto him, he rebuked the foule sprete, saying vnto hym: Thou dome & deest sprete, I charge the come out of him, and entre nomoze into him. And the sprete (whā he had cried, & rent hym sore) came out of hym, and he was as one that had bene dead, in so moche that many sayd: he is deed. But Jesus caught his hand, and lyft him vp: and he rose. And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked hym secretly: why coulde not we cast hym oute? And he sayde vnto them: this kynde can come forth by nothing: but by prayer and fastynge.

* And they departed thens, & toke theyr iorney thozow Galile, and he wold not, that eny man shuld knowe it. For he taught his disciples, and sayd vnto them: * the sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the handes of men, and they shall kyl him: and after that he is kylled, he shall aryl agayne the thyrde daye. But they wylt not what he sayde, and were afraied to aske him. And he came to Capernaum. And whā he was come into the house, he asked the: what was it ye disputed among your selues by the waye? And they helde their peace: for by the waye they had reasoned among them selues, who shuld be the cheffest. And when he was set downe, he called the twelve to hym, and sayd vnto the: if eny man desyre to be first, the same shalbe last of all, and seruaunt to all. * And he toke a chyld, and set hym in the myddes of the: & when he had taken hym in his armes, he sayde vnto them: whosoever receaueth eny soche a chyld in my name, receaueth me. And whosoever receaueth me, receaueth not me, but hym that sent me.

I John answered hym, sayinge: * Master, we sawe one cast out demyls in thy name, & he foloweth not vs: ad we forbade hym, because he foloweth vs not. But Jesus sayde: forbyd him not. For * ther is no man whych (if he do a myracle in my name) can lyghtly speake euill of me. For he is not agaynst vs, is on our parte. * Whosoever shall in my name geue you a cuppe of water to drinke, because ye belonge to Chypse, verily I saye vnto you: he shall not lose his reward. * And whosoever shall offende one of these lytellos, that belue in me, it were better for hym, if a myllstone were hanged aboute his necke, and he were cast into the see. * Wherefore if thy hande hynder the, cut it of. It is better for the, to entre into lyfe maimed, then (hauynge two handes) to go into hell, into fyre that neuer shalbe quenched, where theyr worne dyeth not, and the fyre goeth not out. And if thy fote be a hynderaunce vnto the, cut it of. It is better for the to go halt into lyfe, then (hauynge two fete) to be cast into hell, into fyre that neuer shalbe quenched: where theyr worne dyeth not, and the fyre goeth not out. * And if thyne eye hynder the, plucke it out. It is better for the to go into the kyngdome of God wyth one eye, then (hauynge two eyes) to be cast into hell fyre: where theyr worne dyeth not, and the fyre goeth not out.

* Every man shalbe salted wyth fyre. * And every sacrifice shalbe seasoned with salt. * Salt is good. But if the salt be vnseasony, what shall ye season ther wyth? haue salt in your selues: and haue peace amonge your selues, one wyth another.

The .x. Chapter.

Of deuocement. The ppele manqueth with chypse. Of the sonne of rebecce. Wherbyne the blynde man.

And whan he rose from thence, he went into the coastes of Turye thzough the regyon that is beyonde Jordan: And the people resorted vnto hym a frethe. And as he was wont, he taught them agayne. And the Pharyses came, and asked hym. Is it lawfull for a man to put awaye his wyfe: to proue hym. And he answered, and sayd vnto the: * what byd Moses byd you do: and they sayde, Moses suffered to wryte a testimonall of deuocement, and to put her awaye. And Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: For the hardnes of your herte he wrote this precept vnto you. But at the first creacyon. * God made them man and woman. Therfore shall a man leaue his father & mother, & byde by his wyfe, & they twayne shalbe one fleche. So then are they now not twayne, but one fleche. Therfore, what God hath coupled together let not man separate.

And in the house his disciples asked him againe of the same matter. And he sayeth vnto them. * Whosoever putteth awaye his wyfe, & marryeth another, breaketh wedlocke to her ward. And if a woman forsake her husband, and be marryed to another, she committeth aduoutre. * And they brought chyldren to hym, that he shulde touch them. And his disciples rebuked those that brought them. But when Jesus sawe it, he was dyspleased & sayd vnto them: Suffer the chyldren to come vnto me, forbyd them not. For of such is the kyngdome of God. Verily I saye vnto you, whosoever doth not receaue the kyngdome of God as a chyld, he shal not entre therein. And whā he had taken the by in his armes, he put his handes vpon them, and blessed them.

* And when he was gone forth into the waye, ther came one runninge and kniled to hym, & asked hym: * good master, what shal I do, that I maye enheret eternall lyfe? Jesus sayde vnto hym: why callest thou me good? There is none good, but one, which is God. Thou knowest the comaundementes: bycause thou knowest the comaundementes: bycause he not matrimony: kyll not: steale not, beare no false wytnes: defraude no man: honoure thy father and mother. He answered & sayd vnto hym: Master, all these I haue obserued from my yowth. Jesus behelde hym, and fauoured hym, and sayd vnto hym: one thyngge thou lackest. * So thy waye (sell that thou hast, and geue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, folowe me) And he was dysforyted because of that sayinge, and went awaye mourning for he had great possessyons.

And whā Jesus had looked rounde aboute, he sayde vnto his disciples. * how vncaspe shall they haue money: entre into the kyngdome of God. And the disciples were astonnyed at his wordes. But Jesus answered againe, & sayeth vnto the: chyldre, how harde is it for the, that trust in money, to entre into the kyngdome of God? It is easier for a camel to go thzow the eye of an needle, then for the ppele to entre into the kyngdome of God. And they were astonnyed out of measure, sayinge betwene them selues: who then can be saued? Jesus looked vpon them, and sayd. with me it is vnpossible, but not with God: for * with God all thynges are possible.

that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to crye, ad to saye: Iesus, thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me. And many rebuked hym that he shuld holde hys peace. But he cryed the more a greate deale: thou sonne of Dauid haue mercy on me. And Iesus stode still, ad commaunded hym to be called: And they called vpon hym, sayinge vnto hym: Be of good comforte: ryse, he calleth the. And he threwe awaye hys cloke, and rose, and came to Iesus. And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto hym: what wylt thou that I do vnto the? The blinde sayde vnto hym: Master, that I myght se. Iesus sayde vnto hym: go thy waye, thy fayth hath saued the. And immediately he receaued hys sight, & folowed Iesus in the waye.

¶ Mary Magdalene anoynteth Christ. The easter is: he is eate. Christ is taken. Where he was buried, with many other things that were becommen of Christ.

After two dayes was Easter, and the dayes of twete breed. And the hye Priestes and scribes sought, how they myght take hym by craft, & put him to deeth. But they sayde: not in the feast daye, lest any busynesse arys amonge the people. And whan he was at Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, euen as he sat at meate, ther cam a woman hauyng an alabastrer boxe of oynment, called Marde, that was pure and costly: & she brake the boxe, & powred it on his heed. And ther were some, that were not content wyth in the selues, & sayde: what neded this waste of oynment? For it myght haue bene solde for more then thre hundred pens, & haue bene geuen vnto the poore. And they grudged agaynst her.

And Iesus sayde: lett her alone, why trouble ye her? She hath done a good worke on me. For ye haue poore w pou all wayes: when soeuer ye wyll, ye maye do them good: but me haue ye not alwayes. She hath done y she coulde: she came a fore hande, to anoynt my body to buryng. Merely I saye vnto you: wheresoeuer this Gospell shalbe preached thowow out the whole worlde: this also that she hath done, shalbe rehearsed in remembrance of her.

¶ And Judas Iscariot, one of the twelue went a waye vnto the hye Priestes, to betraye him vnto them. When they herde that, they were glad, and promysed that they wolde geue hym money. And he sought, how he myght conveniently betraye him.

¶ And the fyrste daye of twete breed, when they offered Pasche, his disciples sayd vnto hi: where wyll y that we go & prepare, that thou mayest eate the Pasche? And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, & sayeth vnto the: Go ye into the cite, & ther shall mete you a man bearing a pitcher of water, followe hi. And whither soeuer he goeth in, saye ye to y good mā of y house, y master sayeth: where is the grest chābre, where I shall eate pasche with my disciples? And he wyll shewe you a grete parlour, paved and prepared: there make ready for vs. And his disciples went forth, and came into the cite, and founde as he had sayde vnto them: and they made ready the Pasche.

¶ And whan it was now nyght he came with the xij. And as they sat at borde & dyd eate Iesus sayde: Merely I saye vnto you: one of you (yeateth with me) shal betraye me. And they beganne to be sorie, & to saye to him one by one: is it I? And another sayde:

¶ Moreover, when ye se y abhominacion of desolacion (whereof is spoken by Daniel y prophet) stand where it ought not: lett hym y readeth vnderstand. Then lett the that be in Turpe, fflye to the mountaynes. And lett hym that is on the house toppe, not go downe into the house, nether entre therein, to fetch any thing out of his house. And lett hym that is in the felde, not tourne backe agayne vnto the thinges which he left behynde him, for to take his clothes with him. Wo shall be then to them that are with chylde, and to them that geue sucke in those dayes. But praye ye that poure flyght be not in the winter. For ther shalbe in those dayes suche tribulacion, as was not from the begynnyng of creatures (which God created) vnto this tyme, nether shalbe. And excepte that y Lord shuld shorte those dayes no fleshe shulde be saved. But for the electes sake, whom he hath chosen, he hath shortened those dayes.

¶ And then, yf any man saye to you, lo he is Christ: lo, he is there, beleue not. For false Christes & false prophetes shal ryl, & shal shewe myracles & wondres, to deceaue yf it were possible, euen the electe. But take ye hede: behold, I haue shewed you all thinges before.

¶ Moreover, in those dayes, after that tribulacio, the sonne shal be darke, and the mone shal not geue her light, & the starres of heauen shal fall: & the powers which are in heauen, shal moue. And then shal they se the sonne of man commynge in the cloudes, w grete power & glory. And then shal he sende his angels, & shal gather together his electe fro the fourre wyndes, from the ende of the erthe, to the vtremost parte of heauen.

¶ Learne a symilitude of the figge tree. When his braunche is yet tender, and hath brought forth leaues, ye knowe, y sommer is nere. So ye in lyke maner: when ye se these thynges come to passe: vnderstand, that he is nye euen at y doores. Merely I saye vnto you, that this generacio shal not passe, tyll these thinges be done. heauen and erth shal passe, but my wordes shal not passe. But of that daye & tyme knoweth no man: no not y Angels which are in heauen: & neither the sonne him selfe: saue the father only.

¶ And whan Iesus sat ouer agaynst the treasury, he behelde, how the people put money into the treasury. And many that were ryche, cast in moch. And ther cam a certayne poore wydowe, and she threwe in two mytes, which make a farthyng. And he called vnto hym his discyples & sayeth vnto the. Merely I saye vnto you, that this poore wydowe hath cast moare in, then all they which haue cast into the treasury. For they all dyd cast in of their superfluyte: but she of her pouerte, dyd cast in all that she had, euen all her lyuyng.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

¶ The ende of the worlde. The daye and the houre is vnknewen.

And as he went out of the temple, one of his discyples sayde vnto hym: Master. se what stones, and what buyldynges are here. And Iesus answered and sayde vnto hym: Seest y these grete buyldynges? There shal not be left one stone vpon another, that shal not be thowen downe. And as he sat on mounte Oluyete, ouer agaynst the temple, Peter, and James, and John, and Andzew, asked hym secretly: tell vs, when shal these thynges be? And what is the sygne when all these thynges shalbe fulfilled? And Iesus answered them, and began to saye: take hede, lest any mā deceaue you. For many shal come in my name sayyng: I am Christ, and shal deceaue many.

When ye shal heare of warres, and tydings of warres, be ye not troubled. For soch tynges must nedes be: But the ende is not yet. For ther shal nacpō aryl agaynst nacpō, and kyngdome agaynst kyngdome. And ther shalbe erth quakes in all quarters, and famyment shal ther be, and troubles. These are y begynnynges of sorowes. But take ye hede to poure selues. For they shal bypunge you vp to the counseils, and into the synagoges, and ye shalbe beaten: yee, and shalbe brought before rulers and kinges for my sake, for a testimoniall vnto the. And the Gospell must fyrste be publyshed amonge all nacpōns.

¶ But whē they leade you and present you, take ye no thought, nether ymagin afoze hāde what ye shal saye: but what soeuer is geuen you in the same houre, that speake. For it is not ye y speake, but the holy ghoft. The brother shal deluyce y the brother to deeth, and the father the sonne: and the chylzen shal ryl agaynst the father & mothers, and shal put them to deeth. And ye shalbe hated of all men for my names sake. But whoso endureth vnto the ende, the same shal be safe.

¶ Moreover

behynde hym. And the seconde toke by, and dyed: nether left he any seed. And the thyrde lyke wyse. And seuen had her, & left no seed behynde the. Last of all the wyse dyed also. In the resurreccyon therfore when they shal ryl agayne: whose wyse shal be of the? For seuf had her to wyse. And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them: Do ye not therfore erre, because ye vnderstande not the scriptures, nether the power of God? For whē they shal ryl agayne fro deeth, they nether marry, nor are marryed: but are as the angels, which are in heauē. As touching the deed, y they ryl agayne: haue ye not redde i the booke of Moses, how in y burne, God spake vnto hym, sayyng: I am the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac, & the God of Jacob? He is no God of deed, but y God of lyuyng. Ye are therfore greatly deceaued.

¶ And whā ther came one of the Scrybes, and had hearde them disputyng to gether (and perceaued that he had answered them well) he asked hym: which is the fyrst of all the commaundementes? Iesus answered him, the fyrste of all the commaundementes is: Heare O Israell: The Lorde oure God, is Lorde onely: And thou shalt loue the Lorde thy God with all thy hert, & wyth all thy soule, and wyth all thy mynde, and with all thy strength. This is the fyrste commaundment. And the seconde is lyke vnto this: Thou shalt loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe. Ther is none other commaundment greater then these.

And the Scribe sayde vnto him: well master, thou hast sayd the truthe, for ther is one God, & ther is none but he. And to loue hym wyth all the herte, and wyth all the mynde, & wyth all the soule, & wyth all the strength: and to loue a mans neyghbour as hym selfe, is a greater thyng, then all burnt offerynges and sacrifices. And when Iesus sawe y he answered discretly, he sayde vnto hym: Thou art not farre from the kyngdome of God. And no man after that, durst aske hym any questyon.

And Iesus answered & sayde, teachyng in the temple: how saye the Scrybes y Christ is the sonne of Dauid: for Dauid him selfe inspyred w y holy goost, sayd: The Lorde sayde to my Lorde, syt on my ryght hande tyll I make thyn enemyes thy fote stole. Dauid hi selfe calleth hi Lorde: & how is he then his sonne? And moche people hearde him gladly.

And he sayde vnto them in his doctrine: be ware of the Scribes, which loue to go in lōge clothynge: & loue salutations in the market places, and the chiefe seates in the congregacions, & the vppermost roomes at feastes: whych deuoure wydowes houses, & vnder a pretence, make longe prayers. These shal receaue greater dampnacion.

* And as they dyd eate, Iesus toke bread: and whan he had geuen thanks he brake it, and gaue to the, and sayde: Take, eate, this is my body. And he toke the cup, & when he had geuen thanks he toke it to them, & they all dranke of it. and he sayde vnto the: This is my bloude of the newe Testamēt, whych is shedd for many. Clerely I saye vnto you: I wyll dryncke nomore of the frute of the vyne: vntyll that daye, that I dricke it newe in the kyngdome of God. * And when they had sayde grace: they went out to mount Oliuete.

And Iesus sayeth vnto the: All ye shal be offended because of me this nyght. For it is wyrtten: * I wyll smyte the shepheard, & the shepe shal be scattered: But after that I am rysen agayne, I wyll go into Galyle before you. Peter sayde vnto him: And though all men be offended, yet wyll not I. And Iesus sayeth vnto him: Clerely I saye vnto the, that this daye, eue, in this nyght before the cocke crowe twyse, thou shalt denye me thre tymes. But he spake moze vehemently: no, yf I shulde dye with the, I wyll not denye the: I lyke wyse also sayde they all.

* And they came into a place which was named Gethsemani. And he sayeth to his disciples: Syt ye here, whyle I go alyde, and praye. And he taketh wyth him Peter & James & John, & began to waxe abashed, & to be in an agonye, & sayeth vnto them: * My soule is heuy, eue vnto the deeth, tarp ye here and wathe. And he went forth a lytle & fell downe flat on the grounde, & prayed: that if it were possible, the houre myght passe fro him. And he sayde: * Abba father, all thynges are possible vnto the, take awaye this cup from me. Neuerthelesse, not that I will: but that thou wilt, be done.

And he cam & founde the slepyng, & sayeth to Peter: Simon, sleepest thou? Couldst not thou wathe one houre? wathe ye, & praye, lest ye entre into temptacion, the spere trulye is ready, but the flesch is weake. * And agayne he went alyde, & prayde, and spake the same wordes. And he returned, & founde the a slepe agayne. For their eyes were heuy: neither wist they, what to answer him. And he came the thirde tyme & sayde vnto the: slepe hengs forth, and take youre ease, it is ynough. The houre is come, beholde, the sonne of mā is betrayed into the handes of synners. Arise vp, let vs go. Lo, he that betraeth me, is at hande. * And immediatly whill he yet spake, cometh Judas (which was one of the twelue) & with him a greate number of people wyth sweardes and stauces from the hye prestes and Serybes & elders. And he that betrayed him, had geuen the a generall token, saying: whosoener I do kysse, that same is he: take him & leade him a waye warly. And as sone as he was come, he goeth streight waye to him, & sayeth vnto him: Master, Master, & kysse him: And they layde their handes on him, and toke him. And one of the that stode by, dyue out a swearde, and smote a seruaunt of the hye preste, & cut of his eare.

And Iesus answered & sayd vnto them: * ye be come out as vnto a shepe w sweardes & w stauces, for to take me. I was daylye w you in the tēple, teachinge, & yetoke me not: but these thinges come to passe, that the scriptures shuld be fulfilled. * And they all forsoke him, & ranne awaye. And there folowed him a certayne younge man, clothed in lynnen vpon bare, & the yongmen caught him, & he lefte his lynnen garment, & fled from the naked. * And they ledd Iesus awaye to the hyest preste of all: & with him come all the hye prestes, & the elders, & the Scribes. And Peter folowed him a greate waye of (euen tyll he was come into the palace of the hye preste) and he sat with the seruautes, and warmed him selfe at the fyre.

* And the hye prestes & all the counsell sought for witness agaynst Iesu, to put hym to deeth, & founde none: for many bare falsse witness agaynst hym, but their wytnesses agreed not together. And ther arose certayne, and brought falsse witness agaynst hym, sayinge. We herde him saye: * I will destroye this temple that is made wyth handes, and wyth in thre dayes I wyll builde another, made without handes. But yet their wytnesses agreed not together.

* And the hye preste stode vp amongest them, and asked Iesus, sayinge: answerest thou thinge? how is it that these beare witness agaynst the? But he helde his peace, & answered nothing. Agayne * the hyeste preste asked him, & sayde vnto him: Art thou Christ the sonne of the blessed? And Iesus sayd: I am.

* And ye shall se the sonne of man sytting on the ryghte had of power, & commyng in the cloudes of heauen. Then the hye preste rent his clothes, & sayd: what nede we eny further of wytnesses? Ye haue heard blasphemye, what thinke ye? and they all condemned hym to be worthy of deeth. And some began to spit at him, & to couer his face, & to beate hi with fistes, & to saye vnto him, Areade: And the seruautes boffeted him on the face.

And as Peter was beneth in the palace ther cam one of the wēches of the hyest preste: * when she sawe Peter warminge hym self, she loketh on hym, & sayeth: wast not thou also, also w Iesus of Nazareth? And he denyed, saying: I knowe hym not, nether wote I what thou sayest. And he went out into the porche, and the cocke crowe. And a damsell (whan she sawe him) began agayne to saye to them that stode by, this is one of the. And he denyed it agayne. And anone after, they that stode by, sayde agayne to Peter: suerly thou art one of them, for thou art of Galyle, & thy speache agreth therto. But he beganne to curle, & to sweare, sayinge: I knowe not this man of whom ye speake. And agayne the cocke crowe, & Peter remembered the worde that Iesus sayde vnto him: before the cocke crowe twyse, thou shalt denye me thre tymes. And he beganne to wepe.

The xv. Chapter.

Of the passion, death, and burfall of Christ.

And anone in the dawninge * the hye prestes helde a counsell w the elders & the Serybes, & the whole congregacion, & bounde Iesus, & ledde him a waye, & deliuered him to Pilate. And Pilate asked him: art thou the kyng of the Jewes? And he answered, & sayd vnto hym: thou sayest it. And the hye prestes accused him of many thiges. So Pilate asked hi agayne, sayinge: * Answerest thou nothing? Beholde, how many thiges they lay vnto thy charge. Iesus yet answered nothing, so that Pilate merueyled.

At that feast Pilate dyd delyuer vnto the a prisoner: whomsoever they wolde desyre. And ther was one that was named Barababas, whych laye bounde with them that made insurreccyon: he had commytted murder. And the people called vnto him, and began to desyre him, that he wolde do, accordynge as he had euer done vnto them. Pilate answered them saye: Will ye that I let lowse vnto you the kyng of the Jewes? For he knewe, that the hye prestes had delyuered him of enuy. But the hye prestes moued the people, that he shulde rather delyuer Barababas vnto them.

Pilate answered agayne, and sayde vnto them: * What wyll ye then that I do vnto him, whō ye call the kyng of the Jewes? And they cryed agayne: crucifye him. Pilate sayd vnto the, what cupill hath he done? And they cryed the moare feruentlye: Crucifye hym. And so Pilate wyllinge to content the people, * let lose Barababas vnto them & delyuered vp Iesus (whan he had scourged hym) for to be crucified.

And the souldyers ledd him awaye into the common hall, and called together the whole multitude, & they clothed him with purple, & they platted a crowne of thornes, & crowned him withall, & beganne to salute him: Hail ye kyng of the Jewes. And they smote hym, on the heed w a rede and dyd spitt vpon hym & bowed their knes, & worshypped him.

And whē they had mocked him, they toke the purple of hym, & put his a wne clothes on him, & ledde hym out, to crucifye him. * And they compellid one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (the father of Alexander and Rufus) whych came out of the felds, to beare his crosse. * And they brought him to a place named Golgotha (whych is of a man interpreted: the place of deed mens sculles) and they gaue him to drinke, wyne mingled wyth myre, but he receaued it not.

And when they had crucified him * they parted his garments, castinge lotes vpon them, what euery man shulde take. And it was aboute the thirde houre, & they crucified him. And the tyle of his cause was wyrtten: The kyng of the Jewes. * And they crucified with him two theues. The one on the right hande, & the other on his lyfte. And the scripture was fulfilled whych sayeth: * he was counted amonge the wycked.

* And they that went by, rayled on hym: wagging their heedes, & ad saying: A wretchethou that destroyest the temple, and byldest it in thre dayes: saue thy selfe, & come downe from the crosse. Lyke wyse also mocked hym the hye prestes amonge them selues with the Serybes & sayde, he saved other men, hym selfe he cannot saue. Let Christ the kyng of Israell descende now fro the crosse, that we maye se, & beleue. And they that were crucified with him checked him also.

* And whē the syxte houre was come, darcknes arose ouer all the erth, vntyll the nyynth houre. And at the nyynth houre Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, saying: Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani: whych is (yf one interpret it) * my God, my God why hast thou forsaken me? And some of them that stode by, when they hearde that, sayd: beholde, he calleth for Helias. * And one ran, and fylled a sponge full of veneger, and put it on a rede, & gaue him to drinke, sayinge: let him alone, let vs se, whether Helias wyll come and take hym downe.

But Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, & ad gaue vp the goost. * And the bayle of the tēple dyd rent in two peces, from the toppe to the bottome. * And when the Centurion (whych stode before him) sawe, that he so cryed, and gaue vp the goost, he sayde: truly this man, was the sonne of God. * Ther were also women a good waye of, beholdinge him: amonge whom was Mary Magdalen, and Mary the mother of James the ylle: & of Ioseph, & Mary Salome * (whych also when he was in Galyle had folowed him & mynistrd vnto him) and many other women, whych came by with him vnto Ierusalem.

And now when the euen was come (because it was it was the daye of preparing that goeth before the Sabbath) * Joseph of p cite of Aramaria, a noble Coucellour which also looked for p kyngdome of God, came, & wēt in bol-dely vnto Pilate, & begged of hym the body of Iesu. And Pilate merueled, that he was alredy deed, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him, whether he had bene eny whyle deed. And whē he knewe the tru-eth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Joseph. And he bought a linnen clothe, ad toke him downe, and wrappēd him in the linnen clothe, and layde him in a sepulchre, that was hewen out of the rocke. And Mary Magdalen and Mary Ioses behelde where he was layde. **¶

The xvi. Chapter.

¶ The xvi. chapter, and aperteth to the Apostles:
to whom he cometh to the preaching of the Gospell.

And when p Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalen, & Mary Jacob, & Salome, bought sweete odoures, p they myght come, & anoint him. * And early in the mornynge, the fyrst daye of the Sabbath they came vnto the sepulchre, when the Sōne was risen. And they sayd among them sel-ues: who shall rolle vs awaye the stone fro the doore of the sepulchre? And when they loked, they sawe how that the stone was rolled awaye, for it was a very greate one. And they wēt into p sepulchre, and sawe a younge man sittynge on the ryght syde, clothed in a longe white garment, & they were afraied.
* And he sayeth vnto them, be not afraied: ye see Iesus of Nazareth, which was crucified. He is risen, he is not here. Beholde the place where they had put hi. But goo your waye, and tell his disciples, & Peter, that he goeth before you into Galile: there shall ye se hi, as he sayd vnto you. ¶ * And they wēt oute quickly, and fledd from the sepulchre.
For they trembled & were amased. Nether sayde they eny thyng to eny man, for they were afraied.

* When Iesus was risen early the fyrst daye after the Sabbath * he appeared fyrst to Mary Magdalen, out of who he had cast seuen deuyls. And she went, and tolde them that were with him, as they mourned & weapte. And they, whan they herde that he was a lyue, and had appered vnto her, beleued it not. * After that, appeared he vnto two of them in a straunge fygure, as they walked, & went in to the country. And they went & tolde it to the remnaunt. And they beleued not these also. **¶

* Afterwarde he appeared vnto the eleuen as they sate at meate: and cast in their teth their vnbelefe, and hardnes of herte: because they beleued not them which had sene that he was risen agayne fro the deed. And he sayde vnto the: * Goo ye into al the worl-de, and preache the Gospell to all creatures, he that beleueth & is baptised, shall be saued. But he that beleueth not, shall be dampned.

And these tokens shall folowe them that beleue. * In my name they shall cast out deuyls, they shall speake with newe tonges, they shall dryue awaye serpentes. And yf they drynke any deadly thyng, it shall not hurte them. They shall laye their handes on the sycke, & they shall recouer.

So then, when p Lorde had spoken vnto them * he was receaued into heauen, and is on the right hand of God. And they went forth, and preached euery where: the Lorde workynge with them * and confyrmyng the worde with myracles folowing.

As moche as many haue ta-claraciō of those thynges, which are most surely to be beleued amonge vs, euen as they deliue-red them vnto vs, whych from the begyn-nyng sawe them the selues with their eyes, and were ministers of the thynges that they declared: (I determyned also (as sone as I had searched out diligently all thynges from

The fyrst Chapter.

¶ The conception and birth of Iohn the Baptist. The conception of Christe. The thankfull songes of Mary and zachary.

There was in p dayes of He-rode the kynge of Iurie, a certayne puelle named zacharyas * of the course of Abia. And his wyfe was of the daughters of Aaron: and her name was Elizabeth:

they were, both ryghteous before God, and walked in all the lawes and ordynaunces of the Lorde, that no mā coulde fynde fau-oure with them. And they had no chylde, because that Elizabeth was barren, and they booth were now well stricken in age.

And it came to passe, p whā zachary executed the prestes offyce before God, as hys course came (accorpyng to the custome of the prestes office) hys lot fell to burne incense.

And he * went into the temple of the Lorde, & the whoale multitude of p people were with out in prayer, whill the incense was a burninge. And ther appeared vnto him a n Angell of the Lorde, standynge on the ryght syde of the altare of incense. And when zacharyas sawe him, he was abashed, & feare cā on him.

But the Angell sayde vnto him: feare not zachary, for thy prayer is hearde. And thy wyfe Elizabeth shall beare thea sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn, ad thou shalt haue ioye and gladnes, and many shall re-ioyce at his byrth. For he shall be greate in the syght of the Lorde, and shall nether drinke wyne ner stronge drinke. And he shall be fylled with the holy goost, euen fro his mothers wombe: and many of the chyliden of Israel shall tourne to their Lord God. And he shall go before him in the spyte & power of * he-lias: to tourne the hertes of the fathers to the chylde, and the vnbeleuers to the wy-ldome of the iuste men, to make readye a perfekte people for the Lorde.

And zacharyas sayde vnto the angell: by what token shall I knowe this? For * I am olde, and my wyfe well strycken in yeres.
And p angell answered, and sayd vnto him.
I am Gabriel, that stande in the prestens of God, and am sent to speake vnto the: and to shewe the these glad tydinges. And beholde it shall come to passe, that thou shalt be domme, ad not be habyle to speake, vntill the daye that these thynges be performed, because thou beleuest not my wordes, which shall be ful-fylled in their season.

And the people wayted for zacharyas, ad merueyled that he tarped in the temple. And when he came out, he coulde not speke vnto them. And they perceaued, that he had sene a visyon in the temple. And he beckened vnto them, and remayned speechlesse.

And it fortunēd, that as sone as the dayes of his office were out, he departed into his awne house. And after those dayes, his wyfe Elizabeth conceaued, & hid her selfe fyue monethes, sayinge: Thehys wyfe hath God dealte with me, in the dayes wherein he hath looked on me, to take from me my rebuke amonge men. And in the syxt moneth the angell Gabriel was sent from God vnto a cyprie of Galile, named Nazareth, to a virgin sponsed to a man, whose name was Ioseph, of the house of Dauid, ad the virgins name was Mary. And the angell went in vnto her, and sayde. Haille full of grace, the Lorde is with the: blessed art thou amonge women.

When she sawe him, she was abashed at his sayinge: and cast in her mynde, what maner of salutation that shulde be. And the angell sayde vnto her: feare not Mary: for thou hast foude grace with God. Behold, * thou shalt conceaue in thy wombe, & beare a sonne, & * shalt call his name Iesus. He shall be greate, & shall be called the sonne of the hyst.

And the Lorde God shall geue vnto him the seate of his father Dauid ad * he shall rapgne ouer the house of Jacob for euer, and * of his kyngdome there shall be none ende.

Then sayde Mary vnto the angell: how shall this be, seynge I knowe not a mā? And the angell answered, & sayde vnto her. The holy goost shall come vpon p, and the power of the hyst shall ouer shadowe the. Therfore also that holy thyng which shall be borne, shall be called the sonne of God. And be-holde, thy colyn Elizabeth, the hath also conceaued a sone in her age. And this is her fyr-moneth, which was called barre: for * with God shall nothinge be impossible. And Mary sayde: beholde the hande mayden of p Lorde, be it vnto me according to thy worde, **¶
And the angell departed from her.

And Mary arose in those dayes, & wēt into the mountayns with haste, into the cyprie of Iewrie, and entred into the house of zachary, and saluted Elizabeth. And it fortuned, that whan Elizabeth heard: si saluta-cyon of Mary, the babe sprāge in her wombe.
And Elizabeth was fylled with the holy ghost, & cried with a loude voyce, and sayde: Blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the frute of thy wombe. And whence happeneth this to me, that p mother of my Lorde shulde come to me? For lo, as sone as the voyce of thy salutiō sounded in myne e-ares, the babe sprang in my wombe for ioye.
And blessed art thou that hast beleued: for those thynges shall be performed, which were tolde the from the Lorde. And Mary sayde.

* My soule magnifieth the Lorde. And my sprete hath reioyced in God my sauour. ¶ For he hath looked on the lowe degre of hys hande mayden: for lo: now from hence forth shall all generacions call me blessed. Because he that is myghty, hath done to me greate thynges, & holyc is his name. And his mercy is on the that feare him, from generacion to generacion. He hath shewed strength with his arme, he hath scattered the that are prou-de in the ymaginacyon of their herte. * He hath putte downe the myghty from theyr seates, and exalted them of lowe degre. He hath fylled the hongrye with good thynges: and sent awaye the ryche emptye. He hath helped hys seruaunt Israel, in remembraun-ce of hys mercy.

* Euen as he promysed to oure fathers, Abraham, and to his seede for euer. And Mary abode with her aboute a. iij. monethes, ad retourned agayne to her awne house.

* Elizabeths tyme came that she shulde be deliuered, and she brought forth a sonne.
And her neyghbours and her colyns hear-de howe

howe the Lorde had shewed greate mercy vpon her, and they reioysed with her.

And it fortuneth that in y^e eighth daye, they came * to circumsise the chylde: and called his name zacharias, after y^e name of hys father. And his mother answered and sayde: not so but he shalbe called John. And they sayd vnto her: Ther is none in thy kynred, that is named with this name: And they made sygnys to his father, howe he wolde haue becalled. And he asked for wytyng tables, and wrote, saying: his name is John. And they marvelled all. And hys mouth was opened immediately, & his tonge also, & he spake, and prayled God. And feare came on all the that dwelt nye vnto them. And all these saynges were noysed abroade throughout all y^e hyll countre of Iurie: and all they that herde the layde them vp in their hertes, saying: What manner of chylde shall this be? And the hande of the Lorde was with him:

And his father zacharias was filled with the holy goost, and prophesied sayinge:

Prayled be the Lord God of Israel, for he hath visited and redeemed his people: And hath rayled vp * an horne of saluacion vnto vs, in the house of his seruaut Dauid.

Euē as he promysed by the mouth of his holy prophetes, which were sens the worlde began. That we shulde be saued frō oure enemies, and from the hande of all that hate vs.

That he wolde deale mercifully with oure fathers, and remember his holy couenaunt.

* And that he wolde performe the oothe, which he sware to oure father Abraham, for to geue vs.

* That we deliuered oute of the handes of oure enemies, might serue him with out feare, all the dayes of oure lyfe, in such holynes and rightewesnes as are accept before hi. And thou chylde shalt be called the Prophet of the hiest: for thou shalt go before the face of the Lorde, to prepare his wayes: to geue knowlege of saluacyon vnto his people for the remission of synnes. Through the tender mercy of oure God, wherby the daye springe from an hie hath visited vs.

* To geue light to the y^e late in darcknes & in the shadowe of deathe, to gyde oure fete into the waye of peace. And the childe grewe and waxed strong in sperte, and was in wilderness, tyll the daye came, when he shulde thewe him selfe vnto the Israelites.

The seconde Chapter.

The birth and circumcision of Christ. How he was reared into the temple, how Simeon and Anna prophesied of him, and how he was founde in the temple amonge the doctours.

And it chaunced in those dayes: that ther went oute a commaundement from Augustus the Emperour, y^e all the worlde shulde be taxed. And thys taxing was the fyrst, & executed when Syrenius was leutenant in Syria. And euery man went vnto his awne cytie to be taxed. And Joseph also ascended frō Galile, out of a cytie called Nazareth, into Iewry: vnto * the cytie of Dauid, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lynage of Dauid, to be taxed with Mary his spoused wyfe, which was with childe.

And it fortuneth that while they were there, her tyme was come that she shulde be deliuered. And she brought forth her fyrst begotten sonne, & wrapped him in swadlinge clothes, and layde him in a manger, because ther was no rowme for the in the ymne.

And ther were in the same region shepherdes, watchyng and kepyng their flocke by night. And lo, the angell of the Lorde stode harde by them, and the brightnes of the Lorde shone rounde aboute the, & they were soze afrayed. And the angell sayde vnto the: Be not afrayed. For beholde, I bringe you tydings of greate ioye, that shall come to all people: for vnto you is bozne this daye in the cytie of Dauid, a sauoure which is Christ y^e Lord. And take this for a sygne: ye shall fynde the childe wrapped in swadlinge clothes, & layed in a manger. And streyght waye ther was with the angel a multitude of heauenly sowdysers, prayling God: & sayinge: Glory to God on hye, and peace on the erth. & vnto men a good wyll.

And it fortuneth, as sone as y^e angels were gone awaye from them into heauē, * The shepherdes sayde one to another: let vs go now enū vnto Bethlehem, and se this thing that we heare saye is happened, which the Lorde hath shewed vnto vs. And they came as hast, & founde Mary ad Joseph & the babe layde in a manger. And when they had sene it, they published abrode the sayinge, which was tolde them of that chylde. And all they that hearde it, wondered at those thynges which were tolde the of the shepherdes. But Mary kepte all those saynges, and pondered them in her hert. And the shepherdes returned, praysynge and laudinge God for all the thynges that they had herde and sene, enū as it was tolde vnto them.

* And whē the eighth daye was come y^e the childe shulde be * circumcised * his name was called Jesus * which was named of y^e Angell, before he was concained i^y wybe.

* And when the tyme of their purificaciō * (after the lawe of Moses) was come, they brought him to Iherusalem, to present him to the Lorde (as it is wyrtten in the lawe of the Lorde * euery man chylde that fyrst openeth y^e matrix, shalbe called holy to y^e Lord) and to offer (as it is sayde in the lawe of the Lorde) a payre of turtle doves, or two ponge pigions. And beholde, ther was a man in Iherusalem Iherusalem whose name was Simeō. And the same man was iuste & godly, & looked for the consolacion of Israel, and the holy goost was in him. And an answer had he receaved of the holy goost y^e he shulde not se deeth, excepte he fyrst sawe the Lordes Christ. And he came by inspiracion into the temple.

And when the father & mother brought in the chylde Jesus: to do for him after y^e custome of the * lawe, then toke he him vp in his armes, & sayd: Lorde, & now letteth y^e thy seruaut departe in peace, accordyng to thy promys. For myne eyes haue sene y^e saluacion: which thou hast prepared before the face of all people * A lyght to lighten y^e gentyls, & the glory of thy people Israel.

* And his father & mother: meruylled at those thynges, which were spoken of hym. And Simeon blessed them, and sayde vnto Mary his mother: beholde, this chylde is sett to be y^e fall and vprysing agayne of many in Israel, & for a sygne which is spokē agaynst. And mozeouer, y^e the swerde of all peerce thy soule: that the thoughtes of many hertes maye be opened.

And ther was a Prophetesse, one Anna, y^e daughter of Phanuel of the trybe of Aser: which was of a greate age, & had lyued with an husbāde. vii. yeres from her virginite, And she had bene a wedowe aboute. iiii. scoore & iiii. yere, which departed not from the temple, but serued God with fastinges and prayers nyght & daye. And she came forth y^e same houre, and prayled the Lorde, & spake of him, to all the that looked for redempcyon in Iherusalem.

And whan they had perfourmed all thynges accordyng to the lawe of the Lorde, they returned into Galile, to their awne citie Nazareth. And * the chylde grewe, and waxed stronge in sperte, & was fylled with wysdome, & the grace of God was vpon him.

And his father & mother went to Iherusalem euery yere * at the feaste of easter. And when he was. xij. yere olde, they went vp to Iherusalem after the custome of the feaste daye. And when they had fulfilled the dayes: as they returned home, the chylde Jesus a bode styll in Iherusalem, & hys father & mother knewe not of it: but they supposyng him to haue bene in the cōpany, came a dayes iorney & sought him amonge their kynnstolke & acquaintaunce. And when they founde him not, they went backe agayne to Iherusalem, and sought him. And it fortuneth that after. iij. dayes, they founde him in the temple, sittynge in the middes of the doctours, hearing them, & posynge them * And all that hearde him, were astounyed at his vnderstanding & answers.

And when they sawe him, they marueyled. And his mother sayde vnto him: sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? Beholde, thy father & I haue sought the, forowge. And he sayde vnto the: how is it y^e ye sought me? Wist ye not, that I must goo aboute my fathers busynes? And * they vnderstode not that sayinge which he spake vnto them. And he wēt downe wth them, & came to Nazareth, & was obedient vnto them. But his mother kept all these saynges together in her hert. And Jesus prospered in wysdome & age, and in fauoure, with soo many.

The preaching, baptysme, and presentment of John. The baptysme of Christ, and archerfall of the generation of the fathers.

At the fyftene yere of the raygne of Cyberus the Emperoure, Pontius Pylate beyng leutenant of Iewrie, and * Herode beyng tetrach of Galile, and his brother Philip tetrach of Iudaea & of the region of the Tetrachites, & Lyfaniath the tetrach of Abylene: whē Anna and Cayphas were the hie prestes, y^e worde of the Lorde came vnto John the sonne of zacharias in the wilderness. And he came in to all the coastes aboute Iordan, preaching * y^e baptysme of repentance for the remission of synnes, as it is wyrtte in the boke of y^e wordes of Esayas the prophet, sayenge: * The voyce of a cryar in wilderness: prepare ye y^e waye of the Lord, make his pathes strayght. Euery valley shalbe fylled, & euery mountayne & hyll shalbe brought lowe. And thynges that be croked, shalbe made streyght: & y^e rough wayes shalbe made playne: & all fleshe shall se y^e saluacion of God.

Thē sayde he to the people, that were comeforth to be baptyled of him: * Dye generation of vyppers, who hath taught you to fye from the wrath to come? Bryngge forth therfore due frutes of repentance, & begyn not to saye wyth in youre selues: we haue Abraham to oure father. For I saye vnto you, God is able of these stones to reyse vp chyl dren vnto Abraham. Now also is the ax leyde vnto the rote of the trees: * euery tree therfore which bryngeth not forth good fruite, is he wen downe, & cast into the fyre.

And y^e people asked him, sayinge: * what shall we do then? he answered and sayeth, vnto the: he that hath two coates: lett him parte wyth hym that hath none, & he y^e hath meate, lett him do lyke wyse.

Then cam y^e publicans also to be baptised, & sayde vnto him: Master, what shal we do? And he sayde vnto them: requyre no moze, then that which is appoynted vnto you.

The soudyours lyke wyse demaunded of him, sayinge: and what shal we do? And he sayde vnto them: hurt no man: nether trouble eny man wrongfully: and be cōsent with youre wages.

The Gospell.

As the people were in a doute, and all men mysyd in their hertes of John, whether he were verie Christ, John answered & sayde vnto them all: * I baptise you wyth water, but one stronger the I shall come after me, whose shoe I latchet I am not worthy to vnloose: he shall baptise you with the holy goost, & wylt poure his flooze, and gather the cozne into his barn: but the chaffe wylt he burne with fyre that neuer shalbe quenched. And many other thinges in his exhortacion preached he vnto the people.

* Then herode the Tetrach (when he was rebuked of hym for herodias his brother Philipps wyfe, & for all synis which herode dyd: added this aboute all, and layed John in prison.

And it fortuned that whan all the people receaued baptyme (* whē Iesus was baptised and dyd praye) the heauen was opened, and the holy goost cam downe in a bodely shape lyke a doue vpon him, and a voyce came from heauen, which sayde: * Thou arte my beloued sonne, in the do I deuyte.

And Iesus him selfe began to be aboute thyrty yere of age, so that he was * synposid to be the sonne of Ioseph: whych was sonne of hely: whych was the sonne of Mathat whych was the sonne of Leui: whych was sonne of Melchi: whych was the sonne of Ianna: whych was the sonne of Ioseph: whych was the sonne of Matathias: which was the sonne of Amos: which was sonne of Naum: whych was the sonne of hely: which was the sonne of Ragge: which was the sonne of Maath: which was the sonne of Matathias: which was sonne of Semel: which was the sonne of Ioseph: which was the sonne of Iuda: which was the sonne of Ioanaa: whych was the sonne of Abela: whych was the sonne of zorobabel: whych was the sonne of Salathiel: which was the sonne of Neri: which was the sonne of Melchi: whych was the sonne of Abdi: whych was the sonne of Coosam: which was sonne of helmadan: whych was the sonne of her: which was sonne of Ielo: which was the sonne of heliezer: which was the sonne of Ioram: which was the sonne of Mattha: which was the sonne of Leui: which was the sonne of Simeon: which was the sonne of Iuda: which was the sonne of Ioseph: which was the sonne of Ionam: which was the sonne of heliachim: which was the sonne of Melcha: which was sonne of Menā: which was the sonne of Mathatha: which was the sonne of Nathan: which was the sonne of Jesse: which was the sonne of Dabed: which was the sonne of Boos: which was sonne of Salmon: which was sonne of Maassan:

The. iij. Chapter.

Iesus is led into the wilderness, and fasteth all the tyme of his temptation, ouercometh the deuill, goeth into Galile, preacheth at Nazareth & Capernaum: the Jewes despyse hym, the deuill knowlege hym, he cometh to Bethers house, healeth his mother in lawe, & doth greates myracles.

Iesus beyng full of the holy goost, returned from Iordā and was led by the sprete into wilderness, and was. xl. dayes tempted of the deuill. And in those dayes dyd he eate nothyng. And when they were ended, he afterwarde hungered. And the deuill sayde vnto him: yf thou be the sonne of God commaunde this stone that it be bredd. And Iesus answered hym, saying: It is written: man shall not lyue by bredd only, but by euery worde of God.

And the deuill toke him into an hye mountayne, and shewed him all the kyngdoms of the worlde, euen in the twyncklyng of an eye. And the deuill sayde vnto him: all this power will I geue the euery whit, & I glory of them: for they are deliuered vnto me, and to whomsoever I wyl, I geue it. Yf therfore wylt thou fall downe before me & worship me, they shalbe all thine. Iesus answered and sayde vnto him: hence from me Satan. For it is written: * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue.

And he caried him to Ierusalem, and set him on a pynacle of the temple, and sayd vnto him: Yf thou be the sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence. For it is written: * he shall geue his Angels charge ouer the, to kepe the, and in their handes they shall beare the vp, that thou dalste not thy fore agaynst a stone. And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto hym, it is sayd: * thou shalt not tempte the Lord thy God. And as sone as all the tentacion was ended, the deuill departed from hym for a season.

Of S. Luke.

For. v.

* And Iesus returned by the power of the sprete, into Galile, and there went a fame of him thowow out all the region. And he taught in theyr synagoges and was comended of all men.

* And he came to Nazareth where he was nourished and (as hys custome was) he went into the synagoge on the Saboth daye, and stode vp for to reade. And there was deliuered vnto hym the boke of the prophete Esayas. * And when he had opened the boke, he foude the place, where it was wyrtten. * The sprete of the Lord vpon me, because he hath annointed me: to preache the Gospell to the poore he hath sent me: to heale the broken hearted, to preache deliuerance to the captiue, & syght to the blynde: frely to set at liberte the that are brysed, and to preache the acceptable yere of the Lord.

And he closed the boke, and gaue it agayne to the mynyster, and satte downe. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagoge, were fastened on him. And he began to saye vnto them: This daye is this scripture fulfilled in your eares. And all bare hym wytnes: and wondred at the gracious wordes, which proceeded out of of hys mouth, & ad they sayde: Is not this Iosephs sonne?

And he sayd vnto them: Ye wylt vterly saye vnto me this prouerbe: Phisicion, heale thy selfe. * What soeuer we haue heard done in Capernaum, do the same here lyke wise in thyn awne countre. And he sayde: Verely I saye vnto you: * No prophete is accepted in hys awne countre.

But I tell you of a treuth: * many widowes were in Israel in the daies of helias when heauen was shut thre yeres and fyre monethes, when greates famylment was throughout all the lande, and vnto noone of the was helias sent, saue into Sarepta beydes Sidon, vnto a womā that was a wedowe. * And many lepers were in Israel in the tyme of helys the prophete: & none of the was clesed, sauyng Naaman the Syryā.

And all they in the synagoge (when they herde these thinges, were filled with wrath: and rose vp, and thrust him out of the cyte, & ledd him euē vnto the edge of the hyll (where on the cytie was bylte) & they myght cast him downe headlyng. But he departed, and went hys waye euen thowow the myddes of the. * And came downe to Capernaū, (a cytie of Galile) and there taught them on the saboth dayes. * And they were astonyed at his doctryne: for his preaching was with power. * And in the synagoge there was a man which had an vnclane sprete of a deuill, and cryed with a loude voyce, sayenge: let me alone, what hast thou to do with vs, thou Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroye vs? I knowe the what thou art, euē the holy of God. And Iesus rebuked him, sayinge: holde thy peace, and come out of hym. And whan the deuill had thowen hym in the myddes, he came out of him, and hurt hi not. And feare cam on the all, and they spake among them selues, sayinge: what maner a thing is this? For with auctorite & power he commaundeth the foules spretes, and they come out. And the fame of hym was spred abrode thowowe out euery place of the countre rounde aboute. *

* And whan he was rylen vp & come out of the synagoge, he entred into Simons house. And Simons mother in lawe was taken with a great feuer, and they made intercession to hym for her. And he stode ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and the feuer left her. And immediatly she arose, and mynistered vnto them.

When the sonne was downe, all they that had syck, take with diuers diseases, brought them vnto hym: and he layde hys handes on euery one of the, and healed them. * And the uyls also came out of many, crying & saying: thou art Christ the sonne of God. And he rebuked the, and suffered them not to speake: for they knewe that he was Christ.

As sone as it was daye, he departed, and went into a desert place, & the people sought him, and came to hym, and kept hym that he shulde not departe from them. And he sayde vnto them: I must preache the kyngdome of God to other cyties also: * for therfore am I sent. And he preached in the synagoges of Galile.

The. v. Chapter.

Christ preacheth in the synagoge. The disciples forsake all, and folowe him. He cleseth the leper: healeth the man of the palsey, calleth Mattheu the custom, and caryeth with open synners.

It came to passe that (whā I people prealled vpon him, to heare the word of God) he stode by the lake of Genezareth: * and sawe two shyppes stande by the lake syde, but the fisherimen were gone oute of them, and were walshyng their nettes. And he entred into one of the shyppes, (which perteyned to Simon) and prayed him that he wold thrust oute a lytell from the lande. And he satte downe, and taught the people out of the shyp. When he had lestte speakinge, he sayde vnto Simon: Launche out into the depe, & ad let synne your nettes to make a draught. And Simon answered, and sayd vnto hym: * After, we haue laboured all night, and haue taken nothyng.ouerthesse, at thy commaundement I wyl lose forth the net. And whē they had this done, they clesed a greates multitude of fyshes. But theyr net brake, & they beckened to theyr felowes (which were in the other shyp) that they shulde come, and helpe helpe them. And they came: and fylled both the shypes, that they soucke agayne.

When Simon Peter sawe thys, he fell downe at Iesus knees, saying: Lord, go fro me, for I am a sinful man. For he was astonysed & all y were with hym, at the draughte of fyshes which they had taken: and so was also James and John the sonnes of zebede, which were parteners with Symon. And Iesus sayde vnto Symon: feare not, from hence forth thou shalt catche men. And they brought the shypes to lande, *and forsoke all, and folowed hym.  Mat. xiii. d. * Mar. iiii. a. Mar. i. b.*

And it fortuneth that whan he was in a certen cytie: behold, ther was a man ful of leprosy, & when he had spyed Iesus, he fell flat on hys face, and besought hym, saying: Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane. And he stretched forth his hand, and touched him saying: I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosy departed fro hym. And he charged him, y he shuld tell no man: but go (saith he) and shewe thy selfe to the preste, & offer for thy cleansyng accordyng, as Moyses commaunded, for a wytnes vnto them.  Leuit. xiii. a.

But so moche the more went there a fame abrode of hym, and moche people came together to heare, & to be healed of hym fro theyr infirmities. And he kepte hym oute of the waye in the wildernesses, and gaue him selfe to prayer.

And it happened on a certen daye: that he taught: and ther sate the Pharises and doctors of lawe, which were come out of all the townes of Galile and Jewrye, and Ierusalem. And the power of the Lord was present, to heale the. *And behold, men brought in a bed, a man which was takē with a palsy: and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to laye him before hym. And when they coude not fynde on what syde they myghte bring hym in (because of the prease) they went vp on the toppe of the house & let him downe thowowe the tplyng, beed and all, euen in the myddes before Iesus. When he sawe theyr fayth he sayd vnto him: man, thy synnes be forgiven the. And the scribes and the pharises began to thinke, saying: What felowe is this, which speaketh blasphemye? who can forgene synnes but God only?  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. a. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

But whē Iesus perceaued their thoughtes, he answered, and said vnto them: What thynke ye in your hertes? whether is easier to saye thy synnes be forgiven the, or to saye: ryse vp, and walke. But y pe maye knowe that the sonne of mā hath power to forgene synne on earth, he sayd vnto the sycke of the palsy: I saye vnto y: arise, take vp thy bed, and go vnto thy house. And immediatly he rose vp before them, and toke vp hys bedd, (wher on he laye) and departed to hys awne house, prayysing God. And they were all amased, and they gaue the glozy vnto God. And were fylled with feare, saying: We haue seene straunge thynges to daye.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b.

*And after this, he went forth, and sawe a publican named Leuy, syttinge at the receyte of custome, & he sayd vnto him: folowe me. And he left all, and rose vp, and folowed him: And Leuy made hym a greate feaste in his awne house. And ther was a great companye of publicans and of other that sate at meate, with them. And the scribes and pharises murmured against his disciples, saying: Why do ye eate and drynke with publicans and sinners? And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them: They that are whole, nede not the phisicion: but they that are sycke. I came not to call the ryghte wes, but synners to repentance.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

And they sayde vnto hym: *Why do the disciples of John fast often, and praye, & the disciples of the pharises also: but thynkeate and drynke? he sayde vnto them: Can ye make the chyldre of the wedding fast, whyle the byrdgrome is with the? The dayes wyl come, when the byrdgrome also shalbe takē awaye from the: then shall they fast in those dayes.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

he spake also vnto them a similitude. No man putteth a pece of a newe garment, into an old vesture, for yf he do, then breaketh he the newe, and the pece that was takē out of the newe, agreeth not with the olde. And no man powreth newe wyne into olde bottels. For yf he do, the newe wyne wyl burst the bottels, and runne out it self, and the bottels shall perysh. But newe wyne must be put in to newe bottels, and both are preserued. No man also that drynketh old wyne, straight waye can awaye with newe: for he sayeth the olde is better.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.*

The. vi. Chapter.

¶ Hee teacheth the disciples, that plucke the eares of corne, he healeth the man with the withered hand, choseth hys twelve apostles, maketh a shewe sermon and teacheth to do good for euill.

¶ It happened on the sabbath, that he went thowowe the corne felde, and hys disciples plucked the eares of corne, and dyd eate, and rubbed them in theyr handes. And certayn of the pharises said vnto them: Why do ye that, which is not lawfull to do on the Sabbath dayes? And Iesus answered the, and sayde: *haue ye not redde what Dauid dyd, when he him selfe was an hungred, and they which were with hym: howe he went into the house of God, and dyd take and eate the shew *bread, and gaue also to them that were with hym: which are not lawfull to eate, but for the prestes only? And he sayde vnto them: The sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath daye.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

*And

And it fortuneth in another Sabbath also, that he entred into the synagoge, & taught. And ther was a man, whose right hande was dyed vp. And the scribes & pharises watched hym whether he wolde heale on the sabbath daye, that they myght fynde how to accuse hi. But he knewe their thoughtes, and sayd to the man which had y withred hand: Ryse vp, and stande forth in the myddes. And he arose & stode forth. Then sayd Iesus vnto the: I wyl aske you a question: whether is it lawfull on the sabbath dayes to do good, or to do euill? to saue ones life, or to destrope it? And he behelde them all in compasse, and sayd vnto the mā: Stretch forth thy hand. And he dyd so: & hys hande was restored agayne as whole as the other. And they were fylled with madnes, and communed together amonge them selues, what they myght do to Iesu.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

And it fortuneth in those dayes y he went out into a mountayne for to praye, & continued all nyght in prayer to God. And as soone at it was daye, he called hys disciples, & of them he chose. xij. whō also he called apostles. Symon whom he also named Peter, & Andrey hys brother, James ad John, Philip & Bartholomew, Mattheu & Thomas, James the sonne of Alphceus, and Symon which is called zelotes, and Judas James sonne, and Judas Iscarioth, the same that was the traytour.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

*And he came downe with the, & stode in the playne felde, and the company of hys disciples *and a greate multitude of people (out of all Jewrye and Ierusalem, & from the see coast of Tyre and Sidon) which came to heare him, and to be healed of their dysleasies and they y were vexed with foule spretes and they were healed. And al y people pressed to touche him, for ther went yrtue oute of hym, and healed them all.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

And he lyft vp his eyes vpo the disciples and sayd: *Blessed be ye poze, for yours is the kingdome of God. Blessed are ye that hunger now, for ye shalbe satisfied. Blessed are ye y wepe now, for ye shal laugh. Blessed shall ye be, when men hate you, & thrust you out of their company, and rayle on you, and abhorre your names as an euill thing, for the sonne of mannes sake. Reioyse ye in y daye, and be glad: for beholde, your rewarde is greate in heauen. For thus dyd theyr fathers vnto the prophetes.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

But I wyl vnto you that are ryche: for ye haue pour consolaciō. Woe vnto you that are full: for ye shal hunger. Woe vnto you y now laugh: for ye shal wepe & wepe. Woe vnto you whē all men prayse you: for so dyd theyr fathers to the false prophetes.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

But I saye vnto you which heare. Loue poure enemyes. Do good to them which hate you. Blesse the that curse you. And praye for them which wrongfullye trouble you. And vnto hym that smyteth the on the one cheeke, offer also the other. *And him that taketh awaye thy gowne, forbyd not to take thy cote also. Seue to euery man that asketh of the. And of him y taketh awaye thy goodes, aske the not agayne. And as ye wolde that men shuld do to you, do ye also to them lyke wyse.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

And yf ye loue the which loue you, what thanke haue ye? For synners also loue theyr louers. And yf ye do good for them which do good for you, what thāke haue ye? For synners also do euen the same. And yf ye lede to them of whō ye hope to receaue: what thāke haue ye? for synners also lende to synners, to receaue soch lyke agayne. But loue ye poure enemyes, and do good, and lende, lokyng for nothyng agayne: and your rewarde shal be greate, and ye shalbe the chyldren of the hys: for he is kynde vnto the vnkynde and to the euill.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

*Be ye therfore mercyfull, as your father also is mercyfull. *Judge not, and ye shal not be iudged: Condempe not, and ye shal not be condempned. For geue, and ye shal be forgiven. *Geue, and it shalbe geue vnto you: good measure and pressed downe, ad shaken together and runnyng ouer, shall me geue into poure bolomes. For with the same measure that ye mete withall, shall other men mete to you agayne.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

And he put forth a similitude vnto them *Can the blynde leade the blynde? Do they not both fall into the dyche? *The discipule is not aboue his master. Euery man shalbe perfecte, euen as hys master is. Why seest thou a moate in thy brothers eye, but considerest not the beame that is in thyne awne eye? Either howe canst thou saye to thy brother. Brother, let me pull out the moate that is in thyne eye, whē thou seest not the beame that is i thyne awne eye. Thou hypocrite cast out the beame out of thyne awne eye fyrst, & then shalt thou se perfectly, to pull oute the moate that is in thy brothers eye.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

*For it is not a good tree, that bringeth forth euill frute: neither is that an euill tree, that bygeth forth good frute. For euery tre is known by hys frute. For of thornes do not men gather fygges, nor of busshes gather they grapes. A good mā out of y good treasure of hys herte, byngeth forth that which is good. And an euill man, out of the euill treasure of his hert, byngeth forth that which is euill. For of the aboundance of the hert, hys mouth speaketh.  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

Why call ye me *Lord Lord, and do not as I byd you: whosouer cometh to me & heareth my saynges, and doth the same, I wyl shewe you to whom he is lyke. He is lyke a man  Mat. ix. a. Mar. ii. b. Luc. ix. b. and. xiii. d.

man which bylt an house, and dygged depe, and layde the foundation on a rock. When the waters arose, the flud bet vpon that house, & coule not moue it. For it was grounded vpon a rocke. But he that heareth and doth not, is lyke a man that without foundacyon bylt an house vpon the earth, against which yflood dyd beat: and it fell immediatly. And the fall of that house was greate.

The vii. Chapter.

The healeth the captayne seruante, rapeth the widowes sonne, enuoyeth the dyscyples whom John baptist sent vnto hym, comendeth John: re- pomyeth the Jewes and eateth with the pharisees. The woman washeth hys fete with her teares, and he forgiveth her her synnes.

When he had ended all hys sayenges in the audyence of y people, * he en- tred into Capernaum. And a certē Centurions seruante which was deare vnto hym laye syck, and was in parell of death. And whan he heard of Jesu, he sent vnto him the elders of the Jewes, beseechinge him that he wold come, & heale his seruante. And whā they came to Jesu, they besoughte hi instāly, saying: He is worthy that thou shuldest do this for hym. For he loueth oure nacion, and hath buylt vs a synagoge. And Jesus went with them.

25 And whan he was now, not farre frō the house, the Centurion sent frendes to hym, sayinge vnto hym: * Lorde, trouble not thy self: for I am not worthy: that thou shuldest enter vnder my roffe. Wherefore I thought not my self worthy to come vnto y: but saye thou the word, & my seruante shalbe whole. For I also am a man set vnder power, and haue vnder me souldiers, & I saye vnto one go, and he goeth, & to another, come, & he cometh: and to my seruante, do this, & he doth it. When Jesus heard thys, he meruayled at him, and turned hym about, and sayde to the people that folowed him: I saye vnto you, I haue not founde so great faith, no, not in Is- rael. And they that were sent, turned backe home agayne and founde the seruante whole that had bene sycke.

* And it fortunēd after this, y he went into a cytie which is called Naim, & many of his disciples went with him, and moche peo- ple. When he came nye to the gate of the cy- tie: behold, ther was a deed man carped out, which was the onely sonne of his mother, & she was a wedowe, & moche people of the cy- tie was with her. And when the Lorde sawe her, he had compassion on her, and sayde vn- to her: wepe not. And he came nye, & touched the coffin: and they that bare him stode styl. And he sayde: Ponge man, I saye vnto the, aryse. And he that was deed, sat vp, & began to speake. * And he deliuered him to his mo- ther. And ther came a feare on them al. And they gaue the glori vnto God, sayinge: * A great prophete is rysen vp amōg vs, & God hath visited his people. * And thys rumoz of him went forth throughout al Ju- ry, and thozow out all the regions which lye rounde about.

And the disciples of John shewed him of all these thinges. * And John called vnto hi two of his disciples, & sent the to Jesus, say- ing: Art thou he that shuld come: or shall we looke for another? When the men were come vnto him, they sayde: John baptiste sent vs vnto the, saying: Art thou he y shuld come? or shall we wayte for another? And in that same houre he cured many of their infyrmi- tes and plages, and of euill spyrtes, and vn- to many y were blynd he gaue sight. And he answered, & sayd vnto them: Go your waye and bring worde agayne to John, what thi- ges ye haue sene & heard, how y the blynde se, the halt go, the lepers are clefed, the deaff heare, the dead rysē agayne: to the pooze is y glad tydinges preached, & happy is he that is not offended at me.

* And whē the messengers of John were departed, he began to speake vnto y people concerninge John. What went ye out into y wilderness for to se: a redbreake w the wind? But what went ye out for to se? A man clo- thed in soft raymēt? Behold, they which are gorgeously apparellēd, and lyue delicatly, are in kynges courtēs. But what wente ye forth to se? A prophete? Yee, I saye to you, & more then a prophete. This is he, of whom it is writen: * Beholde, I sende myne an- gell before thy face which shall prepare thy waye before y. For I saye vnto you, amōge wemen childe, is ther not a greater prophete then John baptiste. Neuerthelesse, he tha is lesse, i y kyngdom of God is greater the he.

And all the people, and the publicāns that heard him, & iustificed God, and were bap- tised with the baptysme of John. But the pharisees and lawers despised the counsell of Spd agaynst them selues, and were not ba- ptised of hym.

And the Lorde sayd: * Wherunto shall I lyken the men of this generacion: and what thing are they like? They are like vnto chil- dzen lytting in the market place, & cryng one to another, and saying: We haue pyped vnto you, & ye haue not daused: we haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wepte. For John baptist came, nether eatyng bread, ner dryn- kyng wyne, and ye saye: he hath the deuyl. If the sonne of mā is come, and eateth & dryn- keth, & ye saye: behold a gluttonous man, & an vnmeasurable dryncker of wyne, a frend of publicāns and synners. And how shuld it be iustified of all her children.

* And one of the pharisees desired hym y he wolde cate with hym. And he went into the the pharisees house, and sat downe to meate. * And behold a woman in that cytie (which was a synner) as sone as she knewe that Je- sus sat at meat in the pharisees house, she bro- ught an alabaster boxe of oynment, & stode at his fete behinde hym wepyng, & begāne to walsh hys fete w teares, and dyd wyppē the with y heares of her head, & kysled his fete, & anoynted them with the oynment.

When the pharise (which had bidde him) sawe, he spake within hym selfe, sayinge: If thys man were a prophete, he wolde surely knowe who, & what maner of womā thys is that touched hym, for she is a synner. And Jesus answered, and sayd vnto him: Simō, I haue some what to saye vnto the. And he sayd: master, saye on. There was a certayne lender which had two debtors, the one ought fyue hundred pence, and the other fyfty. Whē they had nothyng to paye, he forgauē them both. Tell me therfore, which of them wyll loue hym most? Simon answered and sayd: I suppose that he to whom he forgauē most. And he sayde vnto hym: Thou hast truly iudged.

And he turned to the woman, & sayd vn- to Simon: Seest thou this womā. I entred into thy house, thou gauest me no water for my fete: but she hath welshed my fete with teares, and wypped them with the heares of her head. Thou gauest me no kysse: but she, fence the tyme I came in, hath not ceased to kysse my fete. Myne head w oyle thou didest not anoynte: but she hath anoynted my fete with oynment. Wherefore, I saye vnto the: many synnes are forgiven her, for she loued inoch. To whom lesse is forgiven, the same doeth lesse loue. And he sayde vnto her: thy synnes are forgiven the. And they that late at meat w him, begāne to saye within them selues. Who is this which forgiveth synnes also? And he sayd to the womā: * Thy faith hath saued the. Go in peace. I

Chysp with hys apostles goeth frō tollne to tollne and preacheth, sheweth the parable of the seide, telleth who ys hys mother, and hys brother, & sheweth the ragyn of the see: deliuereth the dyuyl, & dyueth the deuyls into the herd of swyne: deliuereth the syche woman, and happye daughter.

And it fortunēd afterwarde, that he hym selfe also wente through oute cyties and townes: preachinge, and shewyng the kyngdome of God, and the twelue with hym. And also * cer- tayne women, which were healed of euill spyrtes, and infirmytes. Mary which is cal- led Magdalen (oute of whom wente seuen deuyls) and Joanna the wyfe of Chusa. He- rodes stewart, and Susanna, and many other, which minystrēd vnto hym of theyr substance. * When moche people were ga- thered together, & d were come to him out of all cytes, he spake by a similitude. * The so- wer wente out to sowe hys seede: and as he sowed, some fell by the waye syde, & it was troden downe, and the foules of the ayre de- uoured it vp. And some fell on stone, and as sone as it was sprōge vp, it withered awaye because it lacked moystnes. And some fell a- monge thornes, and the thornes sprange vp with it, and choked it. And some fel on good grounde, and sprange vp, and bare frute, an hundred folde. And as he sayd these thinges, he cryed: he that hath eares to heare, let hym heare.

And his disciples asked hym sayenge: what maner of similitude is thys? And he sayd: vnto you is it geue to knowe the secre- tes of the kyngdome of God: but to other by parables, y whē they se, they shuld not se: * y whē they heare, they shuld not vnderstāde. The parable is this: * The seed is y worde of God. Those that are besyde the waye, are they that heare, then cometh the deuyl, and taketh awaye the worde out of their hertes, lest they shulde beleue and be saued. They on the stones, are they which when they heare, receaue the word with ioye, and these haue no rotes: which for a whyle beleue, and in tyme of temptacyon go awaye. And that which fell amonge thornes, are they which whan they haue heard, go forth, and are cho- ked with cares and ryches, and voluptuous lyuynge, and bynge forth no frute. That which fell in the good grounde, are they, which with a pure and good herte heare the worde, and kepe it, and bynge forth frute thozow pacence. I

* A woman, whan he lygtheth a candell, couereth it with a vessel, or putteth it vnder a table, but setteth it on a candellsticke, that they which enter in, may se the light. * No- thig is in secret, y shal not come abrode. Ne- ther any thyng hydd, that shal not be kno- wen, and come to lyghte. Take hede ther- fore, howe ye heare. For whosoener hath, to hym shalbe geuen: * And whosoener hath not, from him shal be taken: euen that same which he supposeth that he hath.

* Then came to him his mother & his bre- thren, and coule not come at him for prease. And it was tolde hym, and sayde: Thy mo- ther and thy brethren stande without, and wold se the. He answered and said vnto the: my mother and my brethren are these, which heare the worde of God, and do it.

* And it chaunced on a certayne dape, y he went into a shyp, and his disciples also, & he sayde vnto them: Let vs go ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they lauched forth. But as they sayled, he fell a slepe: and there arose a storme of wynde in the lake, & they were fylled w water, and were in icopardy.

And they came to hym, and awoke hym saying: Master master, we are loost. Then he arose, and rebuked the wynde and the tēpest me. And he sayde vnto them: where is poure fayth? They feared, and wondred amonge t he selues, saying: what (thynke ye) is this?

for he commaundeth both the windes & water, ad they obey hym? I  And they sayled vnto the regio of the Gederenites, which is ouer agaynst Galile.

And whan he went out to land, ther met him out of the cytie a certayne man, which had a deuill longe tyme, and ware no clothes, nether abode in eny house: but in graues. When he sawe Iesus & had cryed, he fell downe befoze him, & wth a loude voyce sayde: * What haue I to do with the Iesus, þ^e sonne of the God moost hyest: I beseeche the tozmett me not: for he commaunded the foule sprete to come oute of the man. For ofte tymes he had caught hym, and he was bounde with chaynes, and kepte with fetters: and he brake the bondes, and was carryed of the fende into wyldernes.

E And Iesus asked him saying: What is thy name? And he sayde: Legion, because many deuyls were entered into hym. And they besought hym that he wolde not commaunde them, to go out into the depe. And there was there, an heard of many swyne, feeding on an hyll: ad they besought him, that he wold suffer them to enter into them. And he suffered them. Then went the deuyls out of the man, & entered into the swyne. And the heard cane heedlyng with violence into the lake, and were choked. When the herdmen sawe what had chaunsed, they fled, and tolde it in the cytic & in the villages.

And they came out to see what was done: and came to Iesus, & founde the man (out of whom the deuyls were departed) sitting at the fete of Iesus: clothed, & in his right myn-de, and they were a frayed. They also which sawe it, tolde them by what meanes he (that was possessed of the deuyl) was healed. And all þe multitude of the Sederenites, besought him, that he wold departe from the: for they were taken with great feare. * And he gate him vp into the ship, and returned backe a-gayne. Then the man (out of whom the deuyls were departed) besought hym that he myght be with hym. But Iesus lent him a-wayne, sayinge: Go home agayne to thynne awne houle, and shewe what thinges soeuer God hath done for þe. And he wēt his waye, and preached thorow out all the cytie, what thinges soeuer Iesus had done vnto him.

And it fortuned that whe Iesus was come agayne, the people receaued hi. For they all wayted for him. * And beholde, there came a man named Iairus (& he was a ruler of the synagoge) & he fell downe at Ies^{us} fete praying him, & he wold come into his house, for he had but one daughter onely, ypp^d a. xij. yeare of age, and she laye a dying. But as he went, the people thronged hym.

* And a woman, hauing an issue of bloud xij. yeres (which had spent all her substance vpon phisitions, nether coulde be holpen of eny) came behynd him, & touched the hem of his rayment: & immediately her issue of bloud stauined. And Iesus sayd: who is it þat touched me? Whilſe euery mā denyed, Peter (and they þat were wth hym) sayd: After, the people thrust the & vexed the, & sayest thou who touched me? And Iesus sayd: Some body hath touched me: for I perceiue, that vertue is gone out of me. When the woman sawe that she was not hyd, she came trymblyng, and fell at Iesus fete, and tolde hym before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediatly. And he sayd vnto her: Daughter, be of good comforte.
* Thy fayth hath laued the, go in peace.

Whyle he yet spake, ther came one fra the rulers of the synagoges house, which sayd to hym: thy daughter is deed, be leafe not þ̄ Master. But when Iesus hearde that worde, he answered the father of the damosell. * Feare not, beleue onely, ad she shalbe made whole.
And when he came to the house, he suffred no man to go in with hym, saue Peter, James, and John, and the father and the mother of the mayde. Euery body weept, and sozowed for her. And he said: Wepe not. The damosel is not deed, * but slepeth: And they laught hym to scoorne, knowyng that she was deed.
And he thrust them all out. ad caught her by the hand, and cryed, say(ng): Mayde, aryse.
And her sprete came agayne, and she rose straight wape. And he commaunded to geue her meat. And the father & the mother of her were astonyed. But he warned them, þ̄ they shuld tell no man what was done.

* And herode the Tetrarch heard of al þ it was layde of some, that John was rpsen agayne from death: and of some, that helias had appeared, and of some, that one of the olde prophetes was rpsen agayne. And he-rode layde: John haue I beheaded: but who is this of whom I heare such thinges. And he desyred to se him.

And the apostles returned: & tolde him all that they had done. * And he toke the, & wēt asyde into a solitary place nye vnto the cytie that is called Bethsaida. Which whā þ people knewe, they folowed him. And he receaued them, & spake vnto the of the kyngdome of God, & healed them þ had nede to be healed. And when the daye begāne to weare awaye, then came the. xij. and sayd vnto him: send the people awaye, that they maye go in to the townes and next villages & lodge, & get meate, for we are here in a place of wyl-dernes. But he sayd vnto the: Geue ye the to eate. And they sayd: We haue no mo but. v. loaves and two fyshes, except we shulde go and bye meate for all this people. And they were about a. v. M. men. And he sayd to his disciples: Cause them to sit downe by fyfties in a cōpanye. And they dyd so, and made the al to sit downe. And he toke the fyue loaves and the two fyshes, and loked vp to heauen: and blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people. And they all dyd eat, & were satisfyed. And there was taken vp of that remayned to them, twelue baskettes full of broken meate.

* And it fortuned as he was alone praying; his disciples were with him, and he asked them sayeng: * Who saye the people that

Peter answered, & sayde: * thou art y^e Christ me, and of my wordes, of him shall the sonne of man be ashamed, when he cometh in his maiestye, and in the maiestye of his father, and of the holy angels. I tell you of a treuth:

* There be some standinge here, which shall not tast of death, tyll they se the kyngdome of God.

* And it fortuned þ about an. viij. dayes after these saienges, he toke Peter and John and James, & went vp into a mountayne to praye. And as he prayed, the lastyon of hys countenaunce was chaunged, & his garmēt was whyte, & shone. And behold, there talked with him two men which were Moses and helias, & appeared in the maiesty, & spake of hys departyng, which he shulde ende at Jerusalem. But Peter and they that were with him, were heuy with slepe. And when they awooke, they sawe his maiesty, & two men standinge with him.

* And it chaunced as they departed from him, Peter sayde vnto Iesus: ¶ After, it is good bringe here for vs. Let vs make also thre tabernacles, one for the, ad one for Moyses, and one for helias (and wist not what he sayd.) While he thus spake, there came a cloude and ouershadowed the, and they feared when they were come into y cloude. And there came a voyce out of the cloude laying: * This is my deare sonne, * heare him. And as soone as the voyce was past, Iesus was founde alone. And they kept it cloose: & tolde no man in those dayes, any of those thinges which they had seene.

* And it chaunced that on the nexte daye (as they came downe from the hyll) moche people met him. And beholde, a man of the company cried oute, sayenge: Master, I be-seche the behold my sonne, for he is all that I haue: and se, a sprete taketh him, and sodenly he cryeth, and ^{he knoocketh} fereth hym, that he cometh agayne, and with moch payne departeth from him, when he hath rent him, &c.
* I besought thy disciples to cast him out, & they coulde not, Iesus answered and sayde: O fapthles, and croked nacion, howe longe shall I be with you: & shal suffice you: Bring thy sonne hither. As he was yet a comming, the fende rent him, and tare him. And Iesus rebuked the vncleane sprete, and healed the chylde, and deliuered him to his father. * And they were all amased at the myghtye power of God.

But whyle they wondered euery one at all thinges which he dyd, he sayde vnto hys disciples: Lett these sayinges sinke downe in to your eares. For it will come to passe, that *the sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the handes of men. * But they wist not what y worde meant, and it was hyd from them, y as he him of that sayinge. And there entred a thought among them which of them shulde be the greatest. When Jesus perceaued the thought of their hartes, he toke a chylde, and set him hard by hym, & sayd vnto the: Who-soeuer receaueth this childe in my name, receaueth me. * And whosoever receaueth me, receaueth him that sent me. For he that is left among you all, the same shal be greates.

And John answered, and sayde: Master, we sawe one castinge oute deuyls in thy name, ad we forbade him, because he foloweth not with vs. And Ies^s sayd vnto him: * For byd ye him not. For he that is not agaynst vs, is with vs.

And it fortuneth when the tyme was come that he shulde be receaued vp, he set hys face to go to Ierusalem, and sent messengers before him. And they went and entred into a cytie of the Samaritans, to make ready for him. And they wold not receaue him, because his face was as though he wold go to Ierusalem. When his disciples, James & John sawe this, they sayde: Lorde, wilt thou that we commaunde fyre to come downe fro heauen and consume them, euⁿ as * Elias dyd? Jesus turned about, and rebuked them, saying: ye wote not what maner spyt ye are of. For the sonne of man is not come to destroye mynes lyues, but to saue the. And they wet to another towne. * And it chaunced that as they were walking in the waye, a certayne man sayd vnto him: * I wyll folowe the whithersoever thou goo. Jesus sayde vnto him: foxes haue holes, ad byrdes of the ayre haue nestes: but the sonne of man hath not where to laye his head.

And he sayde vnto another: folowe me. And the same sayde: Lorde, suffer me first to go and bury my father. Jesus sayde vnto hi: * Let the deed bury their deed: but go, and preach the kyngdome of God. And another sayde: Lorde, * I wyll folowe the: but let me first go byd them fare well, which are at home at my house. Jesus sayde vnto hym: No man that putteth hys handes to the plow, and loketh backe, is apte to the kyngdome of God.

The .x. Chapter.

The sendeth the .lxx. before hym to preache, and geueth them a charge how to behaue them selues, prayeth hys heauynly father, and sheweth the scrpte that re- pced hym, and (by the example of the samaritan) sheweth who ys a mans neyghbour, Martha receaueth the Lorde into her house. Mary Magdalene ys dyspry gent in hearing hys woide.

After these thynges, the Lorde appoynted other .lxx. (and two) also, and sent them two and two before hym into euery cytie & place, why- ther he him selfe wolde come. Therefore sayd he vnto them: * the harvest is great, but the labourers are fewe. Praye ye therfore for lord of the harvest, to sende forth labourers into his harvest. So your wayes: * behold, I sende you forth as laves among wolues. Beare no wallet, nether scrip, nor shoes, * sit lute no ma by the waye. * Into whatsoeuer house ye enter, fyrst saye: Peace be to this house. And if the sonne of peace be there, your peace shall rest vpon him: if not, it shall turne to you agayne. And in the same house tarye still, eatyng and dryckyng such as they geue: For the labourer is worthy of hys rewarde.

Go not from house to house, & into what soeuer cytie ye entre, & they receaue you, cate such thynges as are set before you, and heale the sicke that are therein, and saye vnto them: the kyngdome of God is come nye vpon you. * But into whatsoeuer cytie ye enter, & they receaue you not, go your wayes out into the stretes of the same, & saye: euen the very dust of youre cytie (which cleaueth on vs) do we wypp of agaynst you: Notwithstanding, be ye sure of this, that the kyngdome of God was come nye vpon you. I saye vnto you: yf it shal be easier in that daye for zodome, then for that cytie.

* Wo vnto the Chorazin: wo vnto the Bethsaida. For yf miracles had bene done in Tyre and Sidon, which haue bene done i you, they had (a greates whyle ago) repented of theyr synnes, lytting in heercloth and ashes. Neuertheles, it shal be easier for Tyre and Sidon, at the iudgement, then for you. And thou Capernaum (which art exalted to heauen) shalt be thrust downe to hell. * He yf heareth you, heareth me: and he that despyseth you, despyseth me: and he that despyseth me, despyseth him that sent me.

And the .lxx. turned agayne w lope, sayd: Lorde, euen yf very deuils are subdued to vs thowow thy name. And he sayd vnto them: * I sawe Satan (as it had bene lightening) falling downe from heauen. * Behold, I geue vnto you power, to treade on serpentes, and scorpions, and ouer all maner power of the enemy, and nothing shull hurte you. Neuertheles, in this reioyse not, yf spretes are subdued vnto you: but reioyse, that * poure names are wyrtten in heauen.

That same houre reioysed Jesus in the holy ghoist, and sayd: I thanke the, O father. * Lorde of heauen and earth, that thou hast byd these thynges from the wyse and prudent, and hast opened them vnto babes. Euen so father, for so pleased it the. * All thynges are geuen me of my father. * No man knoweth who the sonne is, but the father: ad who the father is, but the sonne, & he to who yf sonne wyll shewe hym.

And he turned to his disciples, and sayde secretly: * Happy are the eyes, which se yf thynges that ye se. For I tell you, that many prophetes prophetes and kinges haue desired to se those thynges which ye se, and haue not sene the: and to heare those thynges which ye heare, and haue not hearde them.

And behold a certayne lawyer stode by, & tempted him, saying: * Master, what shall I do, to inheret eternall lyfe? He sayde vnto him: What is witten in the lawe? how redest thou? And he answered ad sayde: * loue the Lorde thy God, with all thy hert, & with all thy soule, & with all thy strength, & with all thy mynde: and thy neyghbour as thy selfe. And he sayde vnto him: Thou hast answered right. This do, and thou shalt lyue. But he wyllynge to iustifie him selfe, sayde vnto Iesus: And who is my neyghbour?

Iesus answered, & sayde, A certayne man descended from Iherusalem to Hierico, & fell among thenes, which robbed him of his rayment & wounded him, ad departed, leuyng him halfe deed. And it chaunced, that ther came downe a certayne Preste yf same waye, & whⁿ he sawe hi, he passed by. And lyke wyse a Leuite, whⁿ he wet nye to yf place, came ad lokid on hi, & passed by. But a certayne Samaritane, as he ioyneped, came vnto hym: ad when he sawe him, he had compassion on him & wet to, and boude vp his woundes, & poured in oyle & wyne, and set him on his awne beast, and brought him to a comen ynn, ad made prouision for him. And on the morow, whⁿ he departed, he toke out .ij. pence, & gaue the to yf host, & sayd vnto hi: Take care of hi & whatsoeuer yf spendest moare, whⁿ I come agayne I will recopence the. Which now of these thre thyngest yf, was neyghbour vnto him yf fell among the thenes? And he sayd: he that shewed mercy on him. Then sayde Ies^s vnto him: Go, and do thou lyke wyse.

It fortuneth that as they went, he entered into a certayne towne. And a certayne womā named Martha receaued him into her house. And this woman had a syster called Mary, which also sate at Iesus fete, & heard his worde. But Martha was cōbzed aboute moche seruyng, & stode & sayde: Lorde, doest yf not care, that my syster hath left me to serue alone? Byd her therfore, yf she helpe me. And Iesus answered, & sayde vnto her: Martha, Martha, thou art carefull, & troubled about many thynges: vcerys one is nedefull. Mary hath cholen the good parte, which shall not be taken a waye from her.

The .xj. Chapter.

The teacheth his disciples to praye, dyspucth out a deuyl, & rebuketh the blasphemous Pharisees. They requyre sy- gures & tokens. He eateth with the Pharisees, & reponerth the pporcle of the Pharisees, scrptes and pporcles.

Ad it fortuneth as he was pray- yng in a certayne place: whⁿ he ceased, one of his disciples sayde vnto hym: Lorde, teache vs to praye, as John also taught hys disciples. And he sayde vnto them: when ye praye, saye. * O our father which art i hea- uen, halowed be thy name. Thy kyngdome come. Thy will be fulfilled, euen in erth also as it is in heauen. Dure dayly breed geue vs this daye. And forgeue vs our synnes: for euen we forgeue euery man that treapseth vs. And Leade vs not into temptation. But deliuer vs from euyl.

And he sayd vnto them: * yf any of you shall haue a frend, & shall go to him at myd- night, and saye vnto him, frende: lende me thre loanes, for a frende of myne is come out of the waye to me, and I haue nothyng to set before him, and he within answerre, and saye: trouble me not, the dore is now shut, and my chylzen are with me in the cham- ber, I cannot ryse and geue the. I saye vnto you, though he wyll not arise and geue him, because he is his frende: yet because of his im- portunite he will rise, ad geue him as many as he nedeth. And I saye vnto you: * aske, and it shal be geuen you. Seeke, and ye shall fynde: knocke, ad it shal be opened vnto you. For every one yf asketh, receaueth: and he that seeketh, fyndeth: & to him yf knocketh, shall it be opened. yf yf sonne shall aske breed of eny of you that is a father, wyll he geue him a stone? Or yf he aske fysh, wyll he for fysh geue him a serpent? Or yf he aske an egge, will he offer him a scorpion? yf ye then be yng euyl, can geue good giftes vnto you: re chylzen, how moch moare shall your fa- ther of heauen geue the holy spret to them, that desyre it of him.

* And he was castinge out a deuyl, and the same was domme. And whⁿ he had cast out the deuyl, the dome spake, & the peo- ple wondred. But some of them sayde: * he casteth out deuyls thowowe Beelzebub the chefe of the deuyls. And other tempted him and requyred of him a signe from heauen. But he knowing their thoughtes, sayd vnto them: Euery kyngdome deuided agaynst it selfe, is desolate: and one house doth fall vpon another. yf Satan also, he denyded agaynst him selfe, how shall his kyngdome endure? Because ye saye, that I cast out de- uyls thowow Beelzebub. If I, by the helpe of Beelzebub cast out deuyls, by whose hel- pe do poure chylzen cast them out. Therfo- re shall they be your iudges. But yf I, with the synger of God cast out deuyls, no doute the kyngdome of God is come vpon you.

* When a stronge man armed watcheth his house: the thynges that he possideth are in peace. But when a stronger then he cometh vpon him, and ouercometh him, he taketh from him all his harnes (wherin he trusted) ad deuiderth his goodes. he that is not with me, is agaynst me. And he that gathereth not with me, scattereth abrode.

Ad v When

* Mar. i. 10. * When the viciene spyte is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, se- kyng rest. And when he fyndeth none, he sayeth: I will retorne agayne vnto my house, whence I came out. And when he cometh, he fyndeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he and taketh to him seven other spites worse then him selfe: and they enter in, & dwell there. And the ende of that man, is worse then the begynnyng.

And it fortuned that as he spake these thynges, a certayne woman of the company lyfte vphir voyce, and sayd vnto him. Happy is the wombe that bare the, and the pap- pes which gaue the sucke. But he sayde: Yee, happy are they that heare the worde of God and keepe it.

When the people were gathered thicke to- gether, he began to saye. This is an euill na- tion. * they seke a sygne, and ther shall no sygne be geue them, but the sygne of Jonas the prophet. For as Jonas was a sygne to the Ninuytes, so shall also the sonne of man be to this nation. * The queene of the south shall ryle at the iudgement, with the men of this nation, and condemne them: for she came from the vttermoost partes of the erth, to heare the wisdom of Salomon. And beholde a greater then Salomon is here. The me of Ninue shall ryle at the iudgement with this nation: and shall condemne them: for they were brought to repentance by p- raching of Jonas. And beholde, a greater then Jonas is here.

* Mat. v. 14. * A man lyghteth a candell, and put- teth it in a prey place, nether vnder a bus- shell: but on a candle stycke, that they which come in, maye see the light. * The lyght of the body is the eye. Therefore, when thyne eye is synge, all thy body also shall be full of lyght. But if thyne eye be euill, thy body also shall be full of darknes. Take hede therefore, that the lyght which is in the, be not darkened. If all thy body therefore be cleare, haun- ge no parte darke: the shall it all be full of light, euen as when a candell doeth lyght the with brightnes.

And as he spake, a certayne Pharise be- sought him, to dyne with him, and Iesus went in, and sate downe to meate. When the Pharise sawe it, he marueled, that he had not fyrst welshed before dyner. And y^e Lorde sayde vnto him: * Now do ye Pharises, ma- ke cleane the out syde of the cup, and the plat- ter: but youre inwarde parte is full of rauen- nyng and wyckednes. Ye foolles, dyd not he (that made that which is without) make that which is within also? Neuerthelesse, * Ezech. vii. 10. * I geue almost of that ye haue, and be- hold, all thynges are cleane vnto you. * But wo vnto you Pharises, for ye tye the mynt ad rewe, and all manner erbes, and passe ouer iudgement and the lone of God. These ought ye to haue done, and yet not to leaue the other vndone.

* Wo vnto you Pharises: for ye loue the vppermost seates in the synagoges, and gre- tinges in the market. Wo vnto you scribes and Pharises, ye pporites, for ye are as gra- ues which appeare not, and the me that wal- ke ouer them, are not ware of them. Then answered one of the laweers, and sayde vn- to him: Master, thus saying thou puttest vs to rebuke also. And he sayde: * Wo vnto you also ye laweers: for ye lade men with burthenes which they be not able to beare: and ye poure selues touche not the packes with one of youre fyngers. Wo vnto you: * ye buylde the sepulchres of the Prophets, and poure fathers kylled them, truly ye beare witness, that ye allowe the dedes of youre fathers: for they kylled them, and ye buylde their sepul- chres. Therefore sayde the wisdom of God, * I will send them Prophets and Apostles and some of them they shall slaye and perse- cute: that the bloude of all Prophets (which is shed from the begynnyng of the worlde) maye be required of this generacion, from the bloude of * Abel, vnto the bloude of Za- chary, which perished betwene the altar and the temple. Verily I saye vnto you: it shall be required of this nation.

Wo vnto you laweers: for ye haue ta- ken awaye the keye of knowledge, ye entred not in poure selues, ad them that came in, ye forbade. When he thus spake vnto them, the laweers and the Pharises began to wepe bu- sy aboute him, and capciouly to aske him many thynges, layinge wayte for him, and sekynge to catche some thinge of his mouth, wherby they might accuse him.

The. xij. Chapter.

The lene of the Pharises, shalpe conforteth his disciples agaynst persecucion, warneth them to beware of couetousnes, by the synplidude of a cert. yncyche man, he will not haue them to hang vpon earthly thynges, but to watch, and to be ready agaynst his coming.

And ther gathered together an in- numerable multitude of people (in so moche that they trood one another) he began to saye vnto his disciples: fyrst of all * beware of the leue of the Pharises which is ypocrysy. * For ther is nothyng coue- red, that shall not be vncouered: nether hyd, that shall not be knowen. * For what thynges ye haue spoken in darknes, shall be hear- de in the light. And that which ye haue spo- ken into the eare, euen in secrete places, shall be preached on the toppe of the houses. * I saye vnto you my frendes: be not afrayde of them that kyll the body, and after that haue no moare, that they can do. But I will shewe you, whom ye shall feare. Feare him, which after which after he hath kylled, hath power to cast ito hell. Yee, I saye vnto you: feare him. Are not syne sparowes bought for two far- thynges? And not one of them is forgotten of God. Also, euen y^e very heeres of poure herd are all nombred. Feare not therefore: ye are moare of value then many sparowes.

I saye vnto you * euery one: whosoener confesseth me before men, him shall y^e sonne of man knowe also before y^e angels of God. And he that denyeth me before men, shall be denied before y^e angels of God. * And who- soener speaketh a worde agaynst y^e sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him. * But vnto him y^e blasphemeth the holy goost, it shall not be forgiven. When they bringe you vnto the synagoges, and vnto the rulers and of- ficers, take ye no thought, how or what thinge ye shall answer, or what ye shall spea- ke. For the holy goost shall teache you in the same houre, what ye ought to saye.

* One of the company sayde vnto him: Master, speake to my brother, that he deui- de the inheritaunce with me. And he sayde vnto him: Man, who made me a iudge or a deuider, ouer you? And he sayde vnto them: take hede, and beware of couetousnes. For no mannes lyfe standeth in the aboundance of the thynges which he possesseth. And he put forth a synplidude vnto them sayinge: The grounde of a certayne riche man brought forth plentiful frutes, and he thought with in him selfe sayinge: what shall I do? becau- se I haue no roune where to bestowe my frutes? And he sayd: This will I do. I will destroye my barnes, and buylde greater, and therein will I gather all my goodes that are growen vnto me: and I will saye to my sou- le: Soule * thou hast moche goodes layd vp in stooze for many yeares, take thyne ease: eate, drinke, be merry. But God sayd vnto him. * Thou folle, this nyght will they fet- che awaye thy soule agayne from the. * The whose shall those thynges be, which thou hast prouided? So is it with him that ga- thereth riches to him selfe, and is not riche to warde God.

And he spake vnto his disciples: Therefo- re I saye vnto you. * Take no thought for youre lyfe, what ye shall eate: nether for the body, what ye shall put on. The life is moa- re then the meate, and the body is moare then ray- ment. Consider the rauens, for they nether so we nor reape, which nether haue stooze house ner barne, and God fedeth them. * How moche are ye better then feathered foules?

* Which of you (with his takinge thought) can adde to his stature one cubit? If ye then be not able to do that thinge which is least: why take ye thought for the remnant? Con- sider the lylies how they growe: they la- boure not: they spyn not: and yet I saye vnto you, that Salomon in all his royaltie, was not clothed lyke one of these.

If God so clothe the grasse (which is to daye in the felde, and to morow is cast into the fornaice) how moche more will he cloth you, O ye of litle fayth? And aske not ye what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke, nether cline ye vp an hys: for all soche thynges do the hethen people of the worlde seke for. Poure father knoweth, that ye haue nea- de of soche thynges. Wherefore, * seke ye af- ter the kyngdome of God, and all these thynges shall be ministred vnto you. * Feare not lytell flocke, for it is poure fathers plea- sure, to geue you the kyngdome. * Sell that ye haue, and geue almes. And prepare you bagges, which were not olde, eue a trea- sure that faileth not in heauen, where no thefe commeth, nether moth corrupteth. For where poure treasure is, there will poure her- te be also.

* Let poure loynes be gird about, & your lightes brenning: (in your handes) and ye poure selues lyke vnto men that wayte for the y^e Lorde, when he will retorne from the wed- dinge: that whan he cometh and knocketh they maye open vnto him immediatly. Happy are those seruautes, whom the Lorde (when he cometh) shall fynde wakynge. Verily I saye vnto you, that he shall gy- de hym selfe and make them to syt downe to meate, and walke by, and minister vnto them. And yf he come in the seconde watch, yee, yf he come in the thirde watch, and fynde them so, happy are those seruautes. This vnderstonde, that yf the good man of the hou- se knewe, what houre the thefe wolde come, he wolde suerly watch, and not suffer his house to be broken vp. * We ye therefore rea- dy also: for the sonne of man will come at an houre when ye thinke not.

Peter sayde vnto him: * Master, tellest thou this similitude vnto vs, or to all men? And the Lorde sayde: who is a faythfull and wise steward, whom his Lorde shall make ruler ouer his household, to geue them their due of meate in due season: * happy is that seruaunt, whom his Lorde when he cometh, shall fynde so doing. Of a tructh I saye vn- to you, that he will make him ruler ouer all that he hath. But and yf the seruaunt slaye in his herte. * My Lorde will deferre his co- minge (and shall beginne to smite seruaun- tes and maydens, and to eate and drinke, and to be droncken) the Lorde of that seruaunt will come in a dape when he thinketh not, ad at an houre when he is not ware, and will hewe him in peces, ad geue him his rewarde with the vnbelaueers.

* The seruaunt that knewe his masters will and prepared not him selfe, nether dyd accordyng to his will, shall be beaten with many many stryppes. But he that knewe not, and dyd commytte thynges worthy of stryppes, shalbe beaten with fewe stryppes. For vnto whomsoever much is geuen, of him shalbe moche requyred. And to whom men haue committed much: of him wyll they aske y more.

I am come to sende fyer on erth: & what is my desier, but yit were all ready kindled. Not withstandinge I must be baptysed w a baptisme: and how am I payned, tyll it be ended. Suppose ye, that I am come to sende peace on erth: I tell you naye, but rather dyspyson. For from hence forth ther shalbe fyre i one house deuided, thre agaynst two, and two agaynst thre. The father shalbe deuided agaynst the sonne, and the sonne agaynst the father. The mother agaynst the daughter, and the daughter agaynst the mother. The mother i lawe agaynst hyr daughter in lawe, and y daughter in lawe, agaynst hyr mother in lawe.

He sayde also to the people: when ye se a cloude ryse out of the west, straght waye ye saye: ther commeth a shower, and so it is. And when ye se the south wynde blowe, ye saye: it will be hote, ad it commeth to passe. Ye hypocrytes, ye can discerne the outwarde apperance of the skye and of the erthe: but how happeneth it, that yet canot skyll of this tyme? See, and why iudge ye not of youre selues what is ryght.

When thou goest with thyne aduersary to the ruler, as thou arte in the waye, geue diligence that thou mayst be deliuered fro him, lest he byynge the to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer the to the saylar, and the saylar cast the into prison. I tell the, thou shalt not departe thence, tyll thou haue made good the vtmost myte.

The xiiij. Chapter.

Of the Galyleans whom Pylate slewe, and of those that dyed in Stryce. The symilitude of the fygge tree. Whiche healeth the scurue woman. The parable of the mustarde seede and i. iiii. scurue entrie into the kyngdome. Whiche reponeth Herode and Jerusalem.

Her were present at the same season, certayne me that thewed him of the Galyleans, whose bloude Pylate had myngled with theyr awne sacryfye. And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto the: Suppose ye that these. Galyleas were greater synners the all the other Galyleans, because they suffred suche punishment? I tell you naye: but except ye repent: ye shall all lyke wyse peryshe. Or those. xviij. vpon which the toure in Syloe fell, and slewe them, thynke ye, that they were synners aboue all men that dwelt in Jerusalem? I tell you naye: But excepte ye repent, ye all shall lyke wyse peryshe.

He tolde also this similitude: a certayne man had a fygge tree planted in his vineparde & he came and sought frute therof, and founde none. Then sayde he to the dycter of his vineparde: beholde, this thre yere haue I come and sought frute in this fygge tree, and fynde none: cut it doune: why combyeth it the ground? and he answered & sayd vnto him: Lorde, let it alone this yere also, tyll I dygge rounde aboute it, and donge it, to se whether it will beare frute: ad yf it beare not then, after that shalt y cut it doune. And he taught in one of their synagoges on the Saboth dayes. And beholde, ther was a womā, which had a sprete of infirmite. xviij. yeres: and was bowed together, and coulde in no wyse lyste vpon her heade. Whē Iesus sawe her, he called her to him, and sayde vnto her woman, thou art deliuered from thy disease. And he layde his handes on her, and immediatly, she was made straght, ad glorified God. And the ruler of the synagoge answered with indignacion (because that Iesus had healed on the Saboth daye) and sayde vnto the people. Ther are fyre dayes in which men ought to worke, in them come, that ye maye be healed, and not on the Saboth daye.

But the Lorde answered him and sayde: Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the Saboth daye? lowse his oxe or his asse from the stall, and leade him to the water? And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satā hath bounde (lo. xviij. yeres) be lowsed from this boude on the Saboth daye? And when he thus sayde, all hys aduersaries were ashamed, and all the people reioysed on all the excellent dedes, that were done by him.

Then sayde he: what is the kyngdome of God like? or wherto shall I compare it? It is like a grapue of mustarde seede, which a man toke, and sowed in his garden: and it grewe and waxed a greute tree, and the fowles of the ayre made nestes in the bzaunthes of it.

And agayne he sayde: wher vnto shall I lyken the kyngdome of God? it is like leuen, which a woman toke, and hyd in thre peckes of meale, tyll all was leuened. And he went thow all cities and townes, teachinge, and tozepinginge towardes Jerusalem. Then sayde one vnto him: Lorde, are ther few that be sauēd? And he sayde vnto him: stryue to enter in at y strayte gate: for many (I saye vnto you) will seke to enter in, and shall not be able. When the good man of the house is rypen vp, and hath putt to the doze, and ye begynne to stonde without, and to knocke at the doze sayinge: Lorde, Lorde, open vnto vs, and he answer and saye vnto you. (I knowe you not whence ye are) Then shall ye begyn to saye: we haue eaten & dranke in thy presence, & thou hast taught i oure stretes. And he shall saye: I tell you, I knowe you not you not whence ye are: departe from me all ye y worke iniquite. There shalbe wepinge & gnashinge of teth, when ye shall se Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, and all the prophetes in y kyngdome of God, and ye poure selues thrust out. And they shall come fro the east and from the west, and from y north and from the south, and shall syt doune in y kyngdome of God. And beholde, there are last, which shalbe fyrst. And ther are fyrst, which shalbe last.

The same daye came there certayne of the Pharisees, and sayde vnto him. get the out of the waye, and departe hence: for herode will kyl the. And he sayde vnto them: Go ye, and tell that foxe, beholde, I cast out deuyls and heale the people to daye and to morowe, and the thyrde daye I make an ende. Neuertheless, I must walke to daye and to morowe, and the daye folowynge: for it cannot be that a Prophet perishe eny other where, saue at Jerusalem.

Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest prophetes, and stonest the that are sent vnto the: how ofte wolde I haue gathered thy chyldren together, as a byrde doth gather her yonge vnder her wynges, and ye wolde not: poure habitation is left vnto you desolate. I tell you, ye shall not seme, vntyll the tyme come that ye shall saye: blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lorde.

The xiiij. Chapter.

Iesus eateth with the Pharisee, healeth the droppe vpon the Saboth, teacheth to be lowly, telleth of the greute supper, and warneth them that wyll folowe hym, to lave theyr accomptes before, what it wyll cost them. The kyle of the earth.

Adit chaunced, that he went into the house of one of the chefe Pharysees to eate bread on a Saboth daye: and they watched hym. And beholde, ther was a certayne man before him which had the droppe. And Iesus answered and spake vnto the lawers and Pharysees, sayinge: is it lawfull to heale on the Saboth daye? And they helde theyr peace. And he toke him and healed him, and let him go: and answered them, sayinge, which of you shall haue an asse or an oxe falle into a pytt and wyll not straght waye pull him out on the Saboth daye? And they coulde not answer him agayne to these thynges.

He put forth also a symilitude to the geestes, when he marked how they pleased to y hyest rowmes, and sayde vnto them: When y art bydden of anye man to a weddinge, syt not doune in the hyest rowme, lest a more honorable man then thou be bydden of him, and he (that had him and the) come, ad saye to the: geue this man rowme, and thou then begynne w shame to take the lowest rowme. But rather when thou art bydden, go ad syt in the lowest rowme: that whē he that had the, commeth, he maye saye vnto the: be syt by hyper. Then shalt y haue worshipp in the presence of the that syt at meate with the. For whosoeuer exalteth him self, shalbe brought lowe. And he that humbleth hym selfe, shalbe exalted.

Then sayde he also to hym, that had desired him to dyner: When thou makest a dyner or a supper, call not thy frendes, nor thy brethre, nether thy kynsmen ner thy ryche neyghbours: lest they also bydde the agayne, and a recompence be made the. But whē thou makest a feast, call the pooze, the feble, the lame, and the blynde, & thou shalt be happy, for they canot recompence the. But thou shalt be recompensed at the resurreccyon of the iuste men.

When one of them (that sat at meate also) hearde these thynges, he sayd vnto him: happy is he that eateth bread in the kyngdome of God. Then sayde he vnto hi. A certayne man ordered a greute supper, and had many, and sent his seruaunt at supper tyme, to saye to them that were bydden, come: for all thynges are now ready. And they all atōce beganne to make excuse. The fyrst sayde vnto him: I haue bought a farme, and I must nedes go, & se it, I praye the haue me excused. And another sayde: I haue bought fyue yooke of oxen, and I go to plowe them, I praye the, haue me excused. And another sayde: I haue married a wyfe, and therefore I cannot come. And the seruaunt returned and brought his master worde agayne therof.

Then was the good man of the house displeased, and sayde to his seruaunt: Go out quickly into the stretes and quarters of the cytie, and bring in hyther the pooze, and the feble, and the halt and the blynde. And the seruaunt sayd: Lorde, it is done as thou hast commaunded, and yet there is rowme. And y Lorde sayd to the seruaunt: Go out vnto the hye wayes and hedges, and compell them to come i, that my house maye be fylled, for I saye vnto you, y none of those men which were bydden, shall tast of my supper.

Then went a greute company with hym, and he turned, and sayd vnto them: If a man come to me, and hate not hys father and mother, and wyfe and chyldren, ad brethren, and systers, yee, and his awne lyfe also, he cannot be my discipule. And whosoeuer doth not beare his crosse, and come after me, cannot be my discipule.

Which of you disposed to buyde a toure, syteth not doune before, and counteth the cost, whether he haue sufficient to performe it: lest after he hath layde the foundacyon, ad is not able to performe it, all that beholde it, begynne to mocke hym, sayinge: this man beganne to buyde, & was not able to make an ende?

Can ende: Or what kyng goinge to make battle agaynst another kyng, lyteth not downe fyrst, and casteth in his mynde, whether he be able with ten thousande, to mete him, that cometh agaynst him with. xx. thousande: Or els while the other is yet a greete waye of, he sendeth ambassatoures, and desireth peace. So lyke wyse, whosoener he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple.

* Mat. x. d. march 17. 9.

* Salt is good, but yf salt haue losse the saltnes, what shal be seasoned ther with: It is nether good for the lande, nor yet for the donge hill, but men cast it out at the doores. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

The xv. Chapter.

The language merry of God is openly set forth in the parable of the hundred shepe, and of the sonne that was lost.

* Mat. ix. b. march 22. b. Luke. v. f.

When resorted vnto him * all the publicans and synners, for to heare hi. And the Pharises and Scribes murmured, sayinge. He receaueth synners, and eateth with them. But he put forth this parable vnto them, sayeng. * What man of you hauynge an hundred shepe (yf he lose one of them) doth not leaue nynty and nyne in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, vntill he fynde it: And when he hath founde it, he layeth it on his shulders with ioye. And as sone as he cometh home, he calleth together his louers and neyghbours, saying vnto them: Reioyce with me for I haue founde my shepe, which was lost. I say vnto you, that like wyse ioye shalbe in heauen ouer one synner that repenteth, more then ouer nynty and nyne iuste persons, which nede no repentance. Ether what woman (hauynge ten grotes, yf she lose one) doth not light a candle, and swepe the housse, and seke diligently tyll she fynde it: And when she hath founde it, she calleth her louers and her neyghbours together, sayinge: Reioyce with me, for I haue founde the grote which I had lost. Like wyse I saye vnto you, shall ther be ioye in the presence of the angels of God, ouer one synner * that repenteth.

* Luke. v. f.

* And he sayd: A certayne man had two sonnes, and the yonger of them sayde vnto the father: father, geue me the porcion of the goodes, y to me belongeth. And he deuided vnto the his substance. And not longe after, whan the yonger sonne had gathered all that he had together, he toke his iorney into a far countrey, and there * he wasted his goodes with riotous liuing. And when he had spent all, ther arose a greete deth in all that land, and he began to lacke, and went, and came to a cite syn of the same countrey: and he sent him to his farne, to kepe swyne. And he wolde sayne haue fylled his belly with the coddys of the swyne dyd eate: & no man gaue vnto him.

* 22. p. r. a.

Then he came to him selfe, and sayd: how many hyred seruauntes at my fathers haue breed ynough: and I perishe with hunger. I wyll aryse, and go to my father, and will saye vnto hi: father, I haue synned agaynst heauen, and before the, & am no more worthy to be called thy sonne, make me as one of thy hyred seruauntes. And he arose, & came to his father. * But whil he was yet a greete waye of, his father sawe him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kyssed him. And the sonne sayde vnto him: father, I haue synned agaynst heauen, and in thy syght, & am no more worthy to be called thy sonne. But the father sayd to his seruauntes: brynge forth the best garment, and put it on him, and put a ryng on his hande, and shooes on his fete. And brynge hyther that fatt calfe, and kylle it, and let vs eate and be mery: for this my sonne was deed, and is alpye agayne, he was losse, and is founde. And they began to be mery. The elder brother was in the felde: and when he came and dyuene to the housse, he herde mynstrelsy & daunsynge, and called one of his seruauntes, and asked, what thole thynges meate. And he sayd vnto him: thy brother is come, and thy father hath kylled the fatt calfe, because he hath receaued him safe and founde. And he was angry, and wolde not go in. Then came his father out, and entreated him. He answered and sayde to his father: Lo, these many yeres haue I done the seruice, nether brake at any tyme thy commaundement, and yet gauest thou me neuer a kid, to make mery with my frendes: but as sone as this thy sonne was come (which hath deuoured thy goodes with harlotes) thou haste for his pleasure kylled the fatt calfe. And he sayde vnto him: Sonne, thou art euer with me, and all that I haue is thine: it was mete that we shulde make mery and be glad: for this thy brother was deed, and is alpye agayne: and was losse, and is founde.

The xvi. Chapter.

The parable of the wicked steward. Not one tyme of Gods wordes shal perishe. Of the ryche man, and of poore Lazarus.

And he sayde also vnto his disciples. * Ther was a certayne ryche man, which had a steward, and the same was accused vnto hym, that he had wasted his goodes. And he called him, and sayde vnto him: how is it, that I heare thys of the: Geue accomptes of thy stewardshyppe: for thou mayste be no longer steward. The steward sayde within him selfe: what shall I do: for my Master taketh awaye from me the stewardshyppe. I cannot bygge, and to begge I am ashamed. I wote what to do, y when I am put out of the stewardshyp, they maye receaue me into their houses.

So whan

So whā he had called all his masters detters together, he sayde vnto the fyrst: how moch owest thou vnto my master: And he sayd: an hundred tonnes of oyle. And he sayde vnto him: take thy byll, & syt doune quykly and wyte fyfte. Then sayd he to another: how moch owest thou: And he sayde: an hundred quarters of wheate. He sayde vnto him: Take thy byll, and wyte foure scoore. And the Lorde comended the vniust steward, because he had done wyse. For the chyldren of this worlde are in thes nation, wyser then the chyldren of lyght. And he entred in, & went thorow Aa man named zachaeus, whych was a ruler amonge the Publi-cans, and was ryche also. And he sought meanes to se Iesus, what he shuld be: and coude not for the pteace, because he was lytle of stature. And he ran befoze, and clyned vp into a wyldc fygge tree, to se hi: for he was to come that waye. And when Je-hym, and sayd vnto hym: zachae, come downe atonce, for to daye I must abyde at thy house. And he came downe hastelye, and recea-ued hym ioyfully. And when they sawe it, they all grudged, sayinge: he is gone i to ta-

And zachae stode forth, and sayd vnto the Lorde: beholde Lorde, the halfe of my goodman wronge, I restore him foure fold. Jesus sayd vnto him: this daye is health happened vnto thy house, because that he also is become the chyld of Abraham: * for the sonne of man is come to se ke, and to saue that whych was losse.

As they hearde these thynges, he added thereto a parable, because he was nye to Jerusalem, and because they thought, that the kyngdome of God shuld shortly appeare.

He sayde therfore: * a certayne noble ma-went into a farre countre, to receaue hym a led hys ten seruantes, and deliuered them ten pounde, sayinge vnto the: Occuptye, tyll I come. But hys cytelens hated hym, & sent a messager after him, sayinge: we will not ha-

And it came to passe, that when he had re-ceaued his kyngdome, he returned, & comaun-ded these seruantes to be called vnto hym (to whom he had geuen the money) to wete how moch euery man had done. Then came me, sayinge: Lorde, thy poude hath made fy-also ruler ouer fyue cyties.

And another came, sayinge: Lorde, beholde

The xviij. Chapter.

We teacheth to be feruent in prayer continually. Of the wharfe & the publican. The kyngdome of God belongeth vnto chyldren. Chyldren auereth the rule and promyseth reward vnto all such as asire losse for hys sake, and folowe hym. The blynde man is restored to hys syght.

And he put forth a parable vnto them, signifying that men ought * all wayes to praye ad not to be wery, sayinge: Ther was i a certayne cytie a iudge, which feared not God, nether regarded ma.
And ther was a certayne wedowe in the same cytye, and she came vnto hym, sayinge: auenge me of myne aduersary. And he wol-de not for a whyle. But after warde he sayd within him selfe: though I feare not God, noz care for man, yet because this wydowe is importune vpon me, I wyll auenge her, lest she come at the last and rayle on me. And the Lorde sayde, heare what the vnyghtewes Judge sayeth. And shal not God auenge his electe, which crye daye and nyght vnto him, yee, though he deferre them? I tell you that he will auenge them, & that quickly. I further the, wher the sonne of ma cometh, shal he fynde sayth on the erth.

And he tolde this parable, vnto certapne which trusted in them selues that they were perfecte, and despyed othe. Two men went vp into the temple to praye: the one a Wharfe, and the other a publican. The Wharfe stode and prayed thus with hym selfe: God, I thanke the, that I am not as other men are, extorsioners, vniuste, aduouters, oz as this publican. I fast twyse in the weke.
* I geue tythe of all that I possesse. And the publican stondyng a farre of, wolde not lyfte vp his eyes to heauen, but smote vpon hys brest, sayinge: God be mercyfull to me a synner. I tell you: thy man departed home to hys house iustified, moze then the other.
* For enery one that exalterth him self, shal-be brought lowe: And he that humbleth him selfe, shalbe exalted.

They brought vnto him also yong children, that he shulde touche them. When hys disciples sawe it, they rebuked them. But Iesus (whan he had called them vnto hym) sayde: Suffre chyldren to come vnto me, ad forbyd them not. For of such is the kyngdome of God. Merely I saye vnto you: whosoeuer receaueth not the kyngdome of God * as a chyld, shal not enter therin. * And a certayne ruler asked him, sayinge: good master, what ought I to do, to obtaine eternall lyfe? Iesus sayd vnto him: why callest thou me good?

me good? None is good, saue God onely.
Thou knowest the comaundementes: * Thou shalt not commit aduoutry: * shalt not kyll: thou shalt not steale, thou shalt not beare false wytnes: honoure thy father & thy mother.
And he sayde: all these haue I kept from my youth vp. Wher Iesus hearde that, he sayd vnto hym: Yet lackest thou one thyng. *
Sell all y thou hast, and distrybute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heaue, and come, folowe me. When he hearde this, he was soze: for he was very ryche.

When Iesus sawe y he was soze, he sayde
* wryth what difficulte shall they that haue mony, enter into the kyngdome of God? It is easier for a camell to go thorow a nedles eye, then for a ryche man to enter into the kyngdome of God. And they that hearde it: sayd. And who ca then be saued? And he sayde: * The thynges which are vnpossyble to men, are possyble wryth God.

Then Peter sayde: * Lo, we haue forsaken all, and folowed the. He sayde vnto them: Merely I saye vnto you: ther is no man that hath forsaaken house, ether father oz mother, ether brythren, oz wyfe, oz chyldren (for the kyngdome of Goddes sake) whych shal not receaue moch moze in this worlde, and in the worlde to come, lyfe euerlastyng.

Iesus toke vnto him the twelue, & sayd vnto them: * Beholde, we go vp to Jerusalem, and all shalbe fulfilled, that are wrytten by the prophetes, of the sonne of man.
For he shalbe deliuered vnto the gentylis, & shalbe mocked, and despytfully entreated, & spyttyd on: & when they haue scourged him, they wyll put hym to deeth, * and the thyrde daye he shal aryse agayne. * And they vnder-stode none of these thynges. And this sayyng was byd from them, so that they perceaued not the thynges which were spoken.

And it came to passe, that as he was come nye vnto hierico, a certayne blynde man sate by the waye syde, beggyng. And when he hearde the people passe by, he asked what it meant. And they sayde vnto hym, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by. And he cryed, sayinge: Iesu thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me. And they whych went befoze, rebuked hym, that he shulde holde his peace. But he cryed so moch the moze: * thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me. And Iesus stode styll, and comaunded hym to be brought vnto hym. And when he was come neare, he asked hym, sayinge: what wilt thou that I do vnto the? And he sayde: Lorde, that I maye receaue my syght. And Iesus sayd vnto hym: receaue thy syght: thy sayth hath saued the. And immediatly he receaued his syght, and folowed hym, prayssyng God.
And all the people, when they sawe it, gaue praise vnto God.

cast their raymet on the colte, and lett Iesus

And when he was now come nye to hye whole multitude of the discyples began to for all the myracles that they had sene, say whan they hearde hym.

The xx. Chapter.

They aske Chyrlst one question, and he answereth them another. The parable of the vyneparde. Of the tyme to be geuen vnto Cesar, & how Chyrlst shal pper the mou thes of the pharises.

And it fortuneth in one of those dapes (as he taught the people in the temple and preached the gospell) the hye pre stes and the scribes came together wyth the elders, & spake vnto him sayynge: * Tell vs:
by what auctorite doest thou these thynges?
ether who is he, p gaue the this auctorite?
Iesus answered & sayd vnto the: I also will

And they thought wyth in them selues say ynge: yf we saye fro heauen, he will saye: why they answered, that they coulde not tell whence it was. And Iesus sayd vnto them: neither tell I you, by what auctorite I do these thynges.

Then began he to put forth to the people this parable: * A certayne man planted a vyneparde, and let it forth to husband men, and went hym selfe into a straunge cowntre for a greate season. And when the tyme was come, he sent a seruaunt to the husband men, that they shulde geue hym of the frute of the vineparde. And they bet hym, and sent hym awaye emptye. And agayne, he sent yet ano ther seruaunt. And hym they dyd beat, and entreated hym shamefully, and sent hym a waye emptye. Agayne, he sent the thyrde al so, and hym they wouided, and cast hym out.
Then sayd the Lord of the vineparde: what shall I do? * I wyl sende my deare sonne: peraduenture they will stande in awe of hym, whan they se hym.

But when p husbandmen sawe hym, they thought within them selues, sayynge: this is the heyre, * come, let vs kyll hym, that the enheritaunce maye be oures. And they cast hi out of p vineparde, & kyllid hi. What shall the Lord of p vineparde therfore do vnto the?
he shall come, & destroye these husbandmen, & shall let out hys vineparde to other. Whan they hearde this, they sayde: God forbyd.

And he behelde them, and sayde: what is this then

thys then that is wyrtten: * the stone that the buylders refused, the same is become the heed of the corner. Whosoever doth stamble vpon p stone, shal be broken: but on whoso

And the hye prestes and the scribes the sa

* and they feared the people. For they percea ynst them.

And they watched hym, & sent forth spies, which shuld sayne the selues ryghteous me,
* to take him in hys wordes, and to deluyce him vnto p power & auctorite of the debyte.
And they asked hym, sayng: Master, we kno we that thou sayest and teachest ryght, ne ther consyderest p the outward appeara nce of eny man, but teachest the waye of God truly. Is it lawfull for vs to geue trybute vnto Cesar, or no? he perceaued they pcrafti me? Shewe me a peny. Whose ymage & su perscripcion hath it? They answered and say de: Cesar. And he sayde vnto the: geue then vnto Cesar, the thynges whych belonge vn to Cesar. & to God the thynges that pertay ne vnto God. And they coulde not reprove his sayynge befoze the people: & they marua led at his answer, and helde their peace.

Then came to hym certayne of the Sa duces, * which denye that ther is eny resur rection. And they asked him sayng: * Ma ster, Moyses wrote vnto vs, yf eny mannes brother dye hanig a wyfe, & he dye without chylidren, that then hys brother shulde take hys wyfe, and rayse vp seede vnto hys bro ther. Ther were therfore seuen brethren, and the fyrste toke a wyfe, & dyed without chyl lykewise the residue of the seuen, and left no chylidren behynde them, and dyed. Last of all the womā dyed also. Now in the resurrecci Iesus answered and sayd vnto them. The chylidren of this worlde mary wyues, ad arc maryed: but they whych shal be counted wor the deed, do not mary wyues, neither are ma they not aske him eny question at all.

And he sayde vnto them: * how saye they ryght hande, tyll I make thyne enemyes thy

Then in the audyence of all the people, he

* Then entered Satan into Judas, whose fyr name was Icarioth (which was of the nombre of the twelue) and he went his waye and comuned with the hye prestes and officers, how he myght betraye him to the. And they were glad & promysed to geue hym money. And he consented, and sought oportunte to betraye hym vnto them, when the people were awaye.

* Then came the dape of swete breed, whē of necessity Passouer must be offered. And he sent Peter & John, sayinge: go & prepare vs the Passouer, that we maye eate. They sayde vnto him: Where wilt thou, & we prepare? And he sayd vnto the: Beholde, when ye entre into the cytie, ther shall a man mete you, bearynge a pytcher of water, hi folowe into the same house that he entreteth in, and ye shall saye vnto the good man of the house: The master sayeth vnto the: where is y geft chamber, where I shall eate Passouer w my disciples? And he shall shewe you a greute parloure paved. Ther make ready. And they went and founde as he had sayd vnto them, and they made ready the Passouer.

* And when the houre was come, he late downe, & the xij. Apostles wyth hym. And he sayde vnto them: I haue inwardly desired to eate thys Passouer wyth you, before that I suffre. For I saye vnto you: hence forth I wyll not eate of it any more, vntyll it be fulfilled in the kyngdome of God. And he toke the cup, and gaue thanks, and sayd: Take thys, and deuynge it amonge you. For I saye vnto you: I wyll not dryncke of the frute of the vyne, vntyll the kyngdome of God come.

* And he toke breed, and whan he had geuen thanks, he brake it, and gaue vnto the, sayinge: Thys is my body, whych is geuen for you. Thys do, in the remembraunce of me. Lykwys also, when he had supped, he toke the cup, sayinge: Thys cup is the new testament in my bloude, whych is shedd for you.

¶ Pet beholde, & hādē of hym that betrayeth me, is wyth me on the table. And truly the sonne of man goeth, as it is apoynted: But wo vnto that mā, by whom he is betrayed. And they began to enquer amonge them selues, whych of them it was, & shulde do it.

* And ther was a stryfe amonge them, whych of them shuld seme to be the greatest. And he sayde vnto them: the kynges of nacjons raygne ouer them: and they that haue auctoryte vpon them, are called gracious lordes. But ye shall not be so. * But he that is greatest amonge you, shalbe as the yonger: and he that is chiefe, shalbe as he that doth mynister. For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meate, or he that serueth? As not he y sitteth at meate? But I am amonge you, as he y mynistreth. Ye are they, whych haue bydden wyth me in my temptacions. And I apoynt vnto you a kyngdome, as my father hath apoynted to me: that ye maye eate and dryncke at my table in my kyngdome, & syt on seates, iudgyng the twelue trybes of Israel.

¶ And the Lord sayde: Symon, Simon, beholde, Satan hath desired to syfte you, as it were wheate: but I haue prayed for the, that thy fayth faile not. And when thou arte conuerted, strength thy brethren. And he sayde vnto hym: * Lord, I am ready to go wyth the into prison, and to deeth. And he sayd: I tell the Peter, the cocke shall not crowe thys dape, tyll thou haue thys denyed that thou knowest me.

¶ And he sayde vnto them: * when I sent you wythout wallet and scrippe and shoes lacked ye any thyng? And they sayde, no. Then he sayde vnto them: but now he that hath a wallet, let hym take it vp, and lyke wyse hys scrippe. And he y hath no swerde, let hym sell hys coate, and bye one. For I saye vnto you, that yet the same whych is wyrtten, must be performed in me: * euen among the wycked was he reputed. For those thynges whych are wyrtten of me, haue an ende. And they sayde: Lord, beholde, here are two swerdes. And he sayde vnto them: it is ynough.

* And he came out, and went (as he was wonte) to mount Oluete. And the disciples folowed hym. And when he came to the place, he sayd vnto them: * praye, lest ye fall into temptacion.

¶ And he gate hym selfe from them, about a stonys cast, and kneled downe, ad prayed, sayinge: Father, yf thou wylt, remoue thys cup from me. Hecrthelisse, * not my wyll, but thys be fulfilled. And ther appeared an angell vnto hym from heauen, confortyng hym. And he was in an agonye, and prayed the longer. And hys swete was lyke droppe of bloud, trycklyng downe to y grounde. And whan he rose vp from prayer and was come to hys disciples, he founde them slepyng for heynesse, and sayde vnto them: why slepe ye? Ryse, and praye, lest ye fall into temptacion.

* Whyll he yet spake: beholde, ther came a company, and he that was called Judas one of the twelue, went before them, and presented nye vnto Iesus, to kysse hym. But Iesus sayde vnto hym: Judas, betrayest thou the sonne of man wyth a kysse? Whē they which were about hym, sawe what wolde folow, they sayde vnto him: Lord, shall we smyte with swerde. * And one of the smote a seruant of the hye preste, & stroke of his ryght eare. Iesus answered & sayde: suffre ye thus farre forth. And whan he touched hys eare he healed hym.

¶ Then Iesus sayde vnto the hye prestes and rulers of the temple and the elders, whych were come to hym. Ye be come out, as vnto a thefe, wyth swerdes and stauces. When I was dayly wyth you in the temple, ye stretched forth no handes agaynst me. But thys is euen poure very houre, and the power of darcknes. Then toke they hym, and ledde hym, and brought hym to the hye prestes house. But Peter folowed a farre of.

¶ And when they had kyndled a fyre in the myddes of the palace, and were set downe together. * Peter also late downe amonge them. But whan one of the wenches behelde hym, as he late by the fyre (and looked vpon hym) she sayde: thys same felow was also wyth hym. * And he denyed hym, sayinge: woman, I knowe hym not. And after a lytell whyle, another sawe hym, ad sayd, thou art also of them. And Peter sayd: man I am not. And about the space of an houre after, another affyrmed, sayinge: verely thys felowe was wyth hym also, for he is of Galile. And Peter sayde: mā I wote not what thou sayest. And immediatly whyll he yet spake, y cocke crew. And the Lord turned backe, and looked vpon Peter. * And Peter remembred the worde of the Lord, how he had sayd vnto hym: before the cocke crowe, thou shalt deuyne me thysse. And Peter went out, and wepte bytrelly.

¶ And the mā that toke Iesus, mocked him, and smote him: and whā they had byndfolded him, they stroke hym on the face, & asked hym, sayinge: arte thou who is it that smote the? And many other thynges despytfullpe sayd they agaynst hym.

¶ And as sone as it was dape, the elders of the people and the hye prestes and scriybes, came together, and ledde hym into the ir counsell, sayinge: art thou very Christ? tell vs. And he sayde vnto them: yf I tell you, ye wyll not belue. And yf I aske you, ye wyll not answer me, nor let me go: * her after shall the sonne of man syt on the ryght hand of the power of God. Then sayde they all: art thou then the sonne of God? he sayd: ye saye that I am. And they sayde: * what

¶ He is nede

* Shall not be able to speake nor resist. Moreouer ye shalbe betrayed of your fathers and mothers & brethren, & kynnsfolke & frendes, and some of you shall they put to deeth. And hated shall ye be of all me for my names sake, & ther shall not one herre of youe head perishe. ¶ Doffesse ye youre soule by pncience.

* And whē ye se Jerusalem beleged wyth an hoste, then be sure that the desolacion of the same is nye. Then let them which are in Jewrye, fye to the mountaynes. And let the whych are in the myddes of it, departe out. And let not them that are in other countreys, enter therein. For these be the dayes of vengeance, that all thynges which are wyrtte, maye be fulfilled. But wo vnto them that be with chylde, & to them that geue sucke in those dayes: for there shalbe greute trouble in the lande, and * warth ouer all this people. And they shall fall thorow the edge of the swerde, and shalbe led a waye captiue into all nacions. And Jerusalem shalbe troden downe of the gentyls, vntyll the tyme of the gentyls be fulfilled.

* And ther shalbe sygnes in the Sonne, and in the Moone, and in the starres: and in the erth & the people shalbe at their wyrttes ende, thorow dyspayre. The see and the water shall roare, and mennes hertes shall fayle them for feare, and for lokyng after those thynges which shall come on the erth. For the powers of heauen shall moue. And then shall they se the sonne of man come in a cloude with power and greute glozy. When these thynges begynne to come to passe: then loke vp, and lyfte vp youre heades, for youre redemption draweth nye.

* And he shewed them a symilitude: beholde the fygge tree, and all the trees, when they shoot forth their budde, ye se and knowe of youre a wne selues, & somer is then nye at hand. So lykwys ye also (when ye se these thynges come to passe) be sure, that the kyngdome of God is nye. Verely I saye vnto you: this generacion shall not passe, tyll all be fulfilled. Heauen and erth shall passe: but my wordes shall not passe.

* Take hede to your selues, lest at any tyme youe hertes be overcome with surfeit, and to the dape come vpon you vnwares. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole erth. * Watch ye threfoze continually, and praye, that ye maye escape all these thynges that shall come, and that ye maye stande before the sonne of man.

¶ In the dape tyme, he taught in the temple: and at nyght, he went out, and abode in the mount that is called Oluete. * And all the people came in the moynyng to hym in the temple, for to heare hym.

The. xxiij. Chapter. ✠

Jesus is brought before Pilate and Herode. The women make lamentacion for hym. He prayeth for hys enemyes, forgiveth the thefe upon hys right hand, and dyeth on the crosse, and is buryed.

*Mat. xxvii.
*Mar. xvi.
*John. xviij.

And y^e whole multitude of the arole, adled hym vnto Pilate. And they began to accuse him, sayinge: we founde thys felowe peruerteringe the people, and forbyddynge to paye tribute to Cesar: sayinge, that he is Chyyst a kynge. And Pilate apposed him, sayinge: art thou the kynge of the Jewes? he answered hym, and sayde: thou sayest it. Then sayde Pilate to the hie Priestes, and to the people: I fynde no faulte in this mā. And they were the moze farrer, sayinge: he moueth the people, teachyng thow out all Jewry, and beganne at Galile, euen to thys place.

When Pilate hearde mencyon of Galile, he asked, whether the man were of Galile. And asone as he knewe that he beloged vnto Herodes iurisdiccyon, he sent him to Herode, whych was also at Jerusalem at that tyme. And whē Herode sawe Iesus, he was exteading glad, for he was desyrous to se hym of a longe season, because he had hearde many thynges of hym, and he trusted to haue sene some myracle done by hym. Then he questyoned with him many wordes. But he answered hym nothyng. The hie Priestes & Scribes, stode forth, accused hym straitly. And Herod wyth hys men of warre, despyfed hym: and whan he had mocked hym, he arayed hym in whyte clothynge, ad sent hym agayne to Pilate. * And the same daye Pilate and Herod were made frendes together. For before, they were a variaunce.

*Act. xliij.

And Pilate called together y^e hie Priestes and the rulers, and the people, and sayde vnto them: ye haue brought thys mā vnto me, as one that peruertereth the people. And beholde, I examyn hym before you, and fynde no faulte in thys man, of those thynges where of ye accuse hym: No noz yet Herode. For I sent you to hym: and lo, nothyng worthy of deeth is done to hym. I wyll therfore chaste hym, and let hym losse. * For of necessitye, he must haue let one losse vnto them at the feast.

*Mat. xxvii.
*Mar. xvi.
*John. xviij.

And all the people cryed at once, sayinge: awaye wyth hym, and deliuer to vs Barabaz: (whych for a certayne insurreccyon made in y^e cite and for mozt her, was cast in prison) Pilate spake agayne to them wyllynge to let Iesus losse, But they cryed, sayinge: Crucifye hym, Crucifye hym. he sayde vnto the y^e hynde tyme: What cupll hath he done? I fynde no cause of deeth in him. I wyll therfore chaste hym, & let him go. * And they cryed wyth loude voyces, requyring that he myght be crucifyed. And the voyces: of the and of the hie Priestes preuailed.

And Pilate gaue sentence, that it shuld be as they requyred * and he let losse vnto the, hym that (for insurreccyon & mozt her) was cast into prison, whom they had desyred, and he deliuered vnto them Iesus, to do wth hym what they wolde. * And as they ledde hym awaye, they caught one Symon of Cyren, comynge out of the felde: and on hym layde they the crosse, that he myght beare it after Iesus.

And there folowed hym a greate company of people, and of women * whych bewayled and lamented hym. But Iesus turned backe vnto them, and sayd: Ye daughters of Jerusalem, wepe not for me: but wepe for your selues, and for your chyldren. For beholde, the dayes wyl come, in the which they shall saye: * happy are the baren and the wombes that neuer bare, and the pappes which neuer gaue sucke. Then shall they begynne to saye to the moztaynes: fall on vs: and to the hylles, couer vs. For yf they do thys in a grene tree, what shalbe done in the drye?

And ther were two cupll doers ledde wth hym to be slayne. * And after that they were come to the place (which is called Caluary) ther they crucifyed him, & the cupll doers, one on the ryght hande, and the other on the lefte. Then sayd Iesus: father forgeue them, for they wote not what they do. * And they parted his raymet, and cast lottes. And the people stode, and behelde.

And the rulers mocked him wyth them, sayinge: he saued other men, let him saue him selfe, yf he be very Chyrist, the chosen of God. The soudyers also mocked hym, and came, and offred hym veneger, and sayd: yf thou be the kynge of y^e Jewes, saue thy selfe. * And a superscripcyon was wyrtten ouer hym, wth lettres of Greke, & Latin, ad hebreu: This is the kynge of the Jewes.

And one of the cupll doers whych were hāged, rayled on him, sayinge: If y^e be Chyrist, saue thy selfe and vs. But the other answered * & rebuked him, sayinge: Fearest thou not God, saynge thou art in the same damnacion? We are ryghtcoulsly punyshed, for we receaue accordynge to oure dedes: But thys man hath done nothyng amysse. And he sayde vnto Iesus. Lorde, remember me, when thou comest into thy kyngdome. And Iesus sayde vnto hym: Verely I saye vnto the: to daye shalt thou be wyth me in Paradyse.

* And it was about the syrte houre. And ther was darknes ouer all the earth, vntyll the nynt houre, and the sonne was darkened.

And when he thus had sayd, he gaue up the goost. * When the Centurion sawe what had happened, he glorifyed God sayinge: Verely, this was a righteous mā. And all the people y^e came together to that syght, & sawe the thynges whych had happened, smote they^e brestes, and returned. And all hys acqumtance * and the women that folowed hym from Galile, stode a farr of, beholdynge these thynges.

And beholde * ther was a mā (named Joseph) a counsellour, and he was a good man and a iuste: the same had not consented to the counsell & dede of them, whych was of Aramathia, a cytie of the Jewes, whych same also wayted for the kyngdome of God: he went vnto Pilate, and begged the body of Iesus, and toke it downe and wrapped it in a linnen clooth, and layed it in a sepulchre that was hewen in stone, wherein neuer man before was layed. * And that daye was the preparynge of the Sabboth, and the Sabboth dwe on. The women that folowed after, whych had come wyth hym from Galile, behelde the sepulchre, and how his body was layed. And they returned and prepared swete odoures and oymntes: but rested the Sabboth daye, accordynge to the commaundement.

The women come to the graue, whych appereth vnto the two dyspyles that go towards Emmaus, & openeth thei^r vnderstandynge in the scripures, & geuech them a charge, and ascendeth vp to heuyn.

At vpon the fyrst daye of the Sabbothes, very early in the mornynge, they came vnto the sepulchre, and brought the swete odoures whych they had prepared, and other women wyth them. And they founde the stone rowled awaye from the sepulchre, and they went in: but founde not the body of the Lorde Iesu. And it happened, as they were amased therat, Beholde, two men stode by them in synynge garmentes. * And as they were afrayde, and bowed downe they^e faces to the earth, they sayde vnto them: why seke ye the lyuynge amonge the dede? he is not here: but is rylen. Remember, how he spake vnto you, whē he was yet in Galile, sayinge: that the sonne of man must be deliuered into the handes of synfull men, and be crucifyed, and the thyrde daye ryse agayne.

And they remēbred hys wordes, & returned from the sepulchre, & tolde all these thynges vnto those cleuen, & to all the remnant. * It was Mary Magdalen, & Joanna, and Mary Jacobi, and other that were wyth them, whych tolde these thynges vnto the Apostles. And they^e wordes seemed vnto the sayned thynges, nether beleued they them. Then arose Peter and ran vnto the sepulchre, and looked in, and sawe the linnen clothes layde by them selfe, and departed, wonderynge in hym selfe at that whych had happened. ✠

* And beholde, two of them went that same daye to a towne (called Emmaus) which was from Jerusalem about thre score forlonges, and they talked together of all these thynges that had happened. And it chaunced, that whyle they communed together and reasoned, Iesus hym selfe dwe neare, * and went wyth them. But they^e eyes were holden, y^e they shulde not knowe hym. And he sayde vnto them: What maner of communycacions are these that ye haue one to another, as ye walke, and are sabb? And the one of them (whose named was Cleophas) answered, and sayde to hym: art thou onely a strainger in Jerusalem, and hast not knowen the thynges whych haue chaunced there, in these dayes? he sayde vnto them: what thynges?

And they sayd vnto hym: of Iesus of Nazareth, whych was a Prophet, myghtye in dede and worde before God and all the people: and how the hie Priestes, ad oure rulers deliuered hym to be condemned to deeth: & haue crucifyed hym. But we trusted that it had bene he whych shuld haue redeemed Israel. And as touchynge all these thynges, to daye is eue the thyrde daye, that they were done.

* Yee, and certayne women also of oure company made vs astonnyed, which came early vnto the sepulchre, and founde not hys body: and came, sayinge, that they had sene a visyon of angels, whych sayd that he was alvyue. And certayne of the whych were wyth vs, went to the sepulchre, and founde it eue so as the women had sayde: but hym they sawe not.

And he sayde vnto them: O fooles & slowe of herte, to beleue all that the Prophetes haue spokē. * Dught not Chyrist to haue suffered these thynges, and to enter into hys glory? And he began at Moses, and all the Prophetes, & interpreted vnto them in all scriptures whych were wyrtten of hym. And they dwe nye vnto the towne, whych they wēt vnto. And he made, as though he wold haue gone further. And they * constrained hym sayinge: abyde wyth vs, for it draweth towards nyght, and the daye is farr passed. And he went into tary wyth them.

The Gospell of Sayncte John.

The fyrst Chapter.

The euerglasyng byth of Chyrd, and how he became man. The testymony of John. The cal-lyng of Andrey, Peter, &c.

In the begynnyng was the worde, and the worde was wyth God: and God was the worde. The same was in the begynnyng wyth God.

All thynges were made by it, & wythout it, was made nothyng that was made. * In it was lyfe, and the lyfe was the lyght of men, and the lyght shyneth in darcknes, and the darcknes comprehended it not.

There was sent from God a man, whose name was John. The same came as a wytnes to beare wytnes of the lyght, that all men through hym myght beleue. * He was not the lyght: but was sent to beare wytnes of the lyght. That lyght was the true lyght, whych lyghteth euery man that cometh into the worlde. He was in the worlde, and the worlde was made by hym: and the worlde knewe hym not.

He came amonge hyss awne, and hyss awne receaued hym not. But as many as receaued hym * to them gaue he power to be the son-nes of God: euery them that beleued on hyss name: whych were borne, not of bloude nor of the wyll of the fleshe, nor yet of the wyll of man: but of God.

And the same worde became fleshe, and dwelt amonge vs: * and we sawe the glory of it, as the glory of the onely begotten sonne of the father, full of grace and trueth.

* John beareth wytnes of hym, and cryeth sayyng: Chys was he of whos I spake: which though he came after me, went before me, for he was before me. * And of hyss fulnes haue allwe receaued, euery grace for grace. For the lawe was geuen by Moses, but grace & trueth came by Iesus Chyrt.

* No man hath sene God at any tyme.
The onely begotten sonne, whych is in the bosome of the father, he hath declared hym.

* And chys is the recoorde of John: when the Jewes sent prestes and Leuites fro Jerusalem, to aske hym, what art thou? And he confessed & denyed not, & sayde playnly. I am not Chyrt. And they asked him: what then?
* art thou helyas? And he sayeth: I am not. * art thou that prophete? And he answered no. Then sayde they vnto hym: what art thou, that we maye geue an answer to them that them that sent vs. What sayest thou of thy selfe? he sayde: I am the voyce of a crier in the wilderness, make strayght the waye of the Lorde, * as sayde the prophete Esaias.

And they whych were sent, were of the Pharisees: And they asked him, & sayde vnto him: why baptisest thou then, if thou be not Chyrt, nor helyas, nether that prophete?
John answered the sayyng: I baptise with water: but there stondeth one amonge you, whom ye knowe not, he it is which though he came after me, was before me, whose sholatchet I am not worthy to vnloose. These thynges were done in Bethabara beyonde Jordan: where John dyd baptise.

* The nexte daye, John seeth Iesus co-minge vnto hym, and sayeth: beholde the lambe of God, whych taketh awaye the syn-ne of the worlde. Chys is he of whos I sayd: After me cometh a man, whych went before me, for he was before me, and I knewe him not: but that he shuld be declared to Israell, therfore am I come baptysyng with water.

* And John bare recorde, sayyng: I sawe the sperte descende from heauen, lyke vnto a dove, & abode vpon him, and I knewe hym not. But he that sent me to baptise in water, the same sayde vnto me: vpon whom thou halt se the sperte descende, and tary styll on hym, the same is he whych baptiseth wyth the holy goost. And I sawe, and bare recorde, that he is the sonne of God.

The nexte daye after, John stode agayne, & two of his disciples, ad he behelde Jesus as he walked by, & sayeth: beholde the lambe of God. And the two disciples hearde hym speake, and they folowed Iesus. And Iesus turned about, and sawe them folowe hym, & sayeth vnto them: what see ye? They sayd vnto hym: Rabbi (whych is to saye of one interprete it after) where dwellest thou? he sayeth vnto them: come & se. They came, & sawe where he dwelt: & abode with hym the daye. For it was about the tenth houre.

One of the two whych hearde John speake, and folowed him, was Andrey Simon Peters brother. The same founde hyss brother Simon fyrst, and sayeth vnto him: we haue founde Messias (whych is by interpretaciō, annoynted) and brought him to Iesus. And Iesus behelde hym, ad sayde: thou art * Simon the sonne of Ionas, thou shalt be called Cephas: which is by interpretaciō a stone.

The daye folowynge, Iesus wolde go into Galile, and foude Philip, and sayeth vnto him: folowe me * Philip was of Bethsai-da the cite of Andrey and Peter. Philip founde Nathanael, and sayeth vnto him: We haue founde hym, of whome Moses in the lawe ad the prophetes dyd wyte, Iesus the sonne of Ioseph of Nazareth. And Nathanael sayd vnto hi: can there any good thyng ge come out of Nazareth? Philip sayeth vnto him: come and se.

Iesus sawe Nathanael comynge to him, & sayeth of him: Beholde a ryght Israelyte, in whom is no gyle. Nathanael sayeth vnto him: where knowest thou me? Iesus answered, and sayde vnto him. Before that Philip called the, when thou wast vnder the fygge tree, I sawe the. Nathanael answered and sayd vnto him: Rabbi, thou art euery the very sonne of God, thou art the kynge of Israel. Jesus answered, and sayde vnto him: Because I sayde vnto the, I sawe the vnder the fygge tree, & beleuest. Thou shalt se greater thynges then these. And he sayeth vnto him: Nerely, verely, I saye vnto you: hereafter shall ye se heauen open, & the angels of God ascendyng & descendyng ouer the sonne of man.

The ij. Chapter.

Chyrt turneth the water into wyne, and dyscusseth the byres & sellers out of the temple.

And the thyrde daye, was ther a marriage in Cana a cytie of Ga-lile, & the mother of Iesus was there. And Iesus was called: & his disciples vnto the marriage.
And when the wyne fayled, the mother of Iesus sayeth vnto him: they haue no wyne.
Iesus sayeth vnto her: woman * what haue I to do wyth the, myne houre is not yet come. His mother sayeth vnto the ministres: what soeuer he sayeth vnto you, do it. And ther were standynge there, fyre waterpot-tes of stone after the maner of the purifyege of the Jewes, contaynyng two or thre fyth-ers a peece.

Iesus sayeth vnto the: fylle the water pottes with water. And they fylled the vp to the brim. And he sayeth vnto them: drawe out now, & beare vnto the gouernour of the feaste.
And they bare it. When the ruler of the feaste had tasted the water that was turned vnto wyne, and knewe not whence it was (but the ministres whych drew the water knewe) he callech the byrgogome, ad sayeth vnto hym: Euery man at the begynnyng doth set forth good wyne, and when men be droncke, then that whych is worse. But thou hast kept the good wyne, vntill now.

Thys begynnyng of myracles dyd Iesus in Cana of Galile, and shewed hyss glory, & his disciples beleued on him. * After this he went downe to Capernaum, he & his mother, and his bretheren, and his disciples, and there continued not manye dayes.

* And the Jewes after was euery at hade, and Iesus went vp to Jerusalem, & foude spytyng in the temple, those that solde oxen and shepe and doves, & chaungers of money. And when he had made (as it were) a scourge of smal cordes, he droue them all out.

were opened, and they knewe hym: and he dyspersed out of their syght. And they sayd betwene them selues: dyd not oure hertes burne wyth in vs, whyll he talked wyth vs by the waye, and opened to vs the scriptures? And they rose vp the same houre, and returned agayne to Jerusalem, and founde the elenen gathered together, and them that were wyth them, sayyng: the Lorde is rylen in dede, & hath apared to Symon. And they tolde, what thynges were done the waye, and how they knewe hym, in breakynge of bread.

* John xxi. c. And they thus spake: Iesus hym selfe stode in the myddes of them, and sayeth vnto them: peace be vnto you. * (Ite. 3, seate not.) But they were abashed and afrayde, & supposyt that they had sene a sperte. And he sayde vnto them: why are ye troubled, and why do thes ghtes aysle in poure hertes? Beholde my handes and my fete, that it is euery I my selfe. Handle me and se: for a sperte hath not fleshe and bones, as ye se me haue. And whehe hat thus spoken, he shewed them hyss han-des and hyss fete. And whyll they yet beleued not for loye, and wondred, he sayd vnto the:
* haue ye here any meate? And they offered hym a peece of a broyled fysh, and of an ho-ny combe. And he toke it, and dyd eate before them.

* Mat. xxi. c. And he sayde vnto them. * These are the wordes whych I spake vnto you, whyll I was wyth you: that all must nedes be ful-fild, whych were wyrtten of me in the la-we of Moyses and in the Prophetes, and in the Psalmes. * Then opened he theyr wyrt-tes, that they myght vnderstand the scriptures, and sayde vnto them: Chys is it wyrt-ten, and thus it behoued Chyrt to suffre, and to ryse agayne from deeth the thyrde daye, & that repentaunce and remysyon of synnes shulde be preached in hyss name amonge all nacyons, & and must begynne at Jerusalem.
And ye are wytnesses of these thynges. *

* Actes xvi. c. And beholde, I will sende the promes of my father vpon you. * But tary ye in the cytie of Jerusalem, vntill ye be endewed wyth power from an hye.

* Actes xv. c. And he led them out into Bethany, and lyfte vp hyss handes, and blessed them. * And it cam to passe, as he blessed them, he departed from them, and was carryed vp into heauen. And they worshipped hym, and returned to Jerusalem wyth greate loye, and were contynually in the temple prayyng & laudyng God, *

out of the temple, with the shepe & oxen, and powred out the chaungers money, and ouerthrew the tables, & sayde vnto the that solde dours: haue these thinges hence, & make not my fathers house an house of marchaundise.

And his disciples remembred it & is wrytten: * the zeile of thyne house hath euen eaten me.

Then answered & Jewes and sayde vnto him: what token shewest thou vnto vs, seinge that thou dost these thynges? Iesus answered & sayde vnto them: * destroye this temple, and in thre dayes I wyl reare it vp. Then sayde & Jewes. xlvj. yeres was this temple a byldynge: & wylt thou reare it vp in thre dayes? But he spake of the temple of his body. A fone, therfore as he was rylen from deeth agayne, his disciples remembred that he thus had sayde. And they beleued the scripture, & & wordes which Iesus had sayde.

When he was in Ierusalem at Easter in & feast daye, many beleued on his name, wher they sawe his myracles whych he dyd. But Iesus dyd not comit him selfe vnto them, because he knewe all men, and neded not, that eny man shuld testifie of him. * For he knewe what was in man.

The. iij. Chapter.

The communycation of Christ with Nicodemus
The doctrine and baptisme of John, and what wyl nedes be receyved of Christ.

NHer was a mā of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. * The same came to Iesus by nyght, and sayde vnto him: Rabbi, we knowe that thou arte a teacher come from God: for no man coulde do suche myracles as thou doest, except God were w him. Iesus answered & sayd vnto him: Verely, verely, I saye vnto the, except a mā be borne from above, he cannot se the kyngdom of God. Nicodemus sayeth vnto hym: how can a man be borne whē he is olde? can he enter into hys mothers wombe and be borne agayne? Iesus answered * verely, verely, I saye vnto the: except a man be borne of water & of the sprete, he cannot enter into the kyngdom of God. * That whych is borne of the fleshe, is fleshe, and that which is borne of the sprete, is sprete. Maruaile not thou that I sayd to the, ye must be borne from above. The wynde bloweth where it lysteth, & thou hearest the soude therof * but canst not tell whence it cometh & whether it goeth. So is every one that is borne of the sprete.

Nicodemus answered ad sayde vnto hym how can these thynges be? Iesus answered & sayde vnto hym: art thou a master in Israel, & knowest not these thinges? Verely, verely I saye vnto the: we speake & we do knowe, & testify & we haue sene: ad ye receaue not oure wytnes. If I haue tolde you earthly thynges, and ye beleue not: how shall ye beleue, yf I tell you of heuently thynges.

* And no man ascenderth vp to heauē, but he that came doune fro heauen, euen the sonne of man whych is in heauen:

* And as Moyses lyfte vp the serpent in the wyldernes, euen so must the sonne of man be lyfte vp, that whosoever beleueth in him, perishe not, but haue eternall lyfe.

* For God so loued & worlde, that he gaue is only begottē sonne, that whosoever beleueth in him, shulde not perishe, but haue euerylastyng lyfe. * For God set not his sonne into the worlde, to cōdemne the worlde but that & the worlde through him myght be saued. He that beleueth on him, is not condemned. But he y beleueth not, is cōdemned all ready, because he hath not beleued in the name of the onely begotten sonne of God, And this is the cōdemnation: * that lyght is come into the worlde, and mē loued darknes more the light, because their dedes were euill. For * every one that euill doeth, hateth the lyght: nether cometh to the lyght, lest his dedes shuld be reproued. But he that doth trueth, cometh to the lyght, that hys dedes maye be knownen, how that they are wrought in God.

After these thinges cam Iesus & his disciples into the land of Jewry & ther he taried with the. * and baptysed, And John also baptysed in Enon besydes Salim, because ther was moch water there, & they came & were baptysed. * For John was not yet cast into prison.

* And ther arose a question betwene Johns disciples and the Jewes, aboute purifyinge. And they came vnto John, & sayde vnto him: Rabbi, he y was with the beynde Jordan (to whom thou barest wytnes) be- holde the same baptiseth * & all men come to hym. John answered, & sayde: a man can receaue nothyng, except it be geuen him from heauen. Ye poure selues are witnesse: * how that I sayd: I am not Christ, but am sent before him. He that hath the byrde, is the byrdegrome. But the frende of the byrdegrome, whych standeth and heareth hym, reioyseth greatly because of the byrdegromes voyce. This my ioye therfore is fulfilled. He must increace: but I must decreace.

He that cometh from an hye, is above all: he that is of the erth, is earthly, and speaketh of the erth. He that cometh from heauen, is above all, & what he hath sene and hearde: & he testifieth: and no man receaueh hys testimonye. He that hath receaueh hys testimonye * & hath set to hys seale, that God is true. For he who God hath sent, speaketh & wordes of God: * For God geueth not the sprete by measure vnto him. The father loueth the sonne: & hath geuen all thynges into into hys hande * he y beleueth on the sonne hath euerylastyng lyfe: he that beleueth not the sonne, shall not se lyfe, but the wrath of God abyrdeth on him.

The. iij. Chapter.

The louynge communycation of Christ with the woman of Samaria by the welles syde. How he beleth the rulers sonne.

Some as & Lord knewe, how the Pharisees had hearde, & Iesus made and baptysed moo disciples then John (though that Iesus hi selfe baptysed not: but his disciples) * he lefte Jewry, and departed agayne into Galile. For it was so that he must nedes goo thowowe Samaria. * The came he to a cytie of Samaria (which is called Sichar) Besydes the possellion * that Jacob gaue to his sonne Joseph, And there was Jacobs well. Iesus then beinge werpe of hys iorney, late thus on the well. And it was about the sytte houre: and there came a woman of Samaria to drawe water. Iesus sayeth vnto her: geue me drinke. For his disciples were gone awayne vnto the towne, to bye meate. Then sayeth the woman of Samaria vnto hi: howe is it, that thou beinge a Jewe, askest drinke of me, which am a Samaritaner? For the Jewes medle not with the Samaritans. Iesus answered and sayde vnto hyr: yf thou knewest the gyfte of God, and who it is that sayeth to the geue me drinke, thou wouldest haue asked of him, & he wolde haue geuen * the water of lyfe. The womā sayeth vnto him: Syr, thou hast nothyng to drawe wyth, & the well is depe: from whence then hast thou that water of lyfe? Art thou greater the oure father Jacob which gaue vs y well, ad he him selfe dracke therof, and his children, and his cattell?

Iesus answered, ad sayde vnto hyr: whosoever drincketh of this water, shall thyrst agayne. But whosoever drincketh of y water that I shall geue him, shall neuer be more a thyrst: but the water that I shall geue him, shall be in him a well of water, spryngynge vp into euerylastyng lyfe. The womā sayeth vnto him: Syr, geue me of that water, that I thyrst not, nether come hyther to drawe. Iesus sayeth vnto her: Go, call thy husbād, and come hyther. The woman answered and sayde vnto him: I haue no husband. Iesus sayde vnto her: Thou hast well sayd, I haue no husband. For thou hast had fyue husbandes, & he whom thou now hast, is not thy husbād. In y saydest thou truely.

The woman sayeth vnto hym: * Syr, I perceaue that thou art a prophet. Dure fathers worshypped in thys mountayne: & ye saye that in Ierusalem is the place, where men ought to worshyppe. Iesus sayeth vnto her: woman beleue me, the houre cometh, when ye shall (nether in this mountayne, nor yet at Ierusalem) worshyppe the fathers. Ye worshyppe ye wote not what: we knowe what we worshyppe.

* For saluacion cometh of the Jewes. But the houre cometh & now is, when the true worshyppers shall worshyppe the father * in sprete, & in the treuth. For such the father also requyzeth to worshyppe hym. * God is a sprete: and they that worshyppe hym, must worshyppe hym in sprete and in the treuth.

The woman sayeth vnto him: I wote, & Messias shall come, whych is called Christ. When he is come, he wyl tell vs all thynges. Iesus sayeth vnto hyr: * I that speake vnto the am he. And immediatly came hys disciples, & marueled that he talked with y woman. Yet no man sayd: what meanest thou or why talkest thou with her? The woman then lefte her waterpot, and went her waye into the cytie, & sayeth to the men: Come, se a man whych tolde me all thynges that euer I dyd. Is not he Christ? Then they went out of the cytie, and came vnto him.

In the meane whyle his disciples prayed him, sayig: After, cate. He sayde vnto the: I haue meate to cate, that ye knowe not of. Therefore sayde the disciples amonge the selues: hath eny nian brought hi ought to cate? Iesus sayeth vnto them: my meate is to do the will of him that sent me, & to fynishe his worke. Saye not ye: there are yet foure monethes, & then cometh haruest? Seholde I saye vnto you: lyfte vp youre eyes, and loke on the regions: for they are whyte all ready vnto haruest. * And he that reapeth, receaueth rewarde, and gathereth frute vnto lyfe eternall: that both he that soweth, & he that reapeth, myght reioyse together. And herein is the sayinge true, that one soweth & another reapeth. I sent you to reape that wherō ye bestowed no labour. Other men laboured, & ye are entred into their labours.

Many of the Samaritans of that cytie beleued on him, for the sayinge of the womā, which testified that he tolde her all that euer she dyd. So, whē the Samaritans were come vnto him, they besought him, & he wolde tary with them. And he abode there two dayes. And many moo beleued because of his awne wordes, and sayde vnto the woman. Now we beleue, not because of thy sayinge: for * we haue herde him oure selues, and knowe that this is euen Christ, the saluoure of the worlde.

After two dayes he departed there, and went awayne into Galile. * For Iesus hym selfe testified, that a prophete hath none honoure in his awne cōtre. Then, as some as he was come into Galile, the Galileans receaued him: whan they had sene all the thynges that ges that he dyd at Jerusalem at y^e daye of the feast. For they went also vnto the feast daye So Iesus cam agayne into Cana of Galile

* When he turned the water into wyne.
* And ther was a certayne ruler, whose sonne was sycke at Capernaum. As sone as the same herbe that Iesus was come out of Jewry into Galile, he went vnto him, & besought him, that he wolde come downe, and heale his sonne. For he was curen at y^e poynt of death. The sayde Iesus vnto him: excepte ye se signes & woundes, ye wyll not beleue.
The ruler sayeth vnto him: Syr, come do-wne, or ever that my sonne dye. Iesus sayeth vnto hym: So thy waye, thy sonne lyueth.
The man beleued the worde that Iesus had spoken vnto him. And he wet his waye. And as he was now going downe, y^e seruantes mett him, & tolde him, sayinge: thy sonne lyueth. Then enquired he of them the houre, when he beganne to amende. And they sayd vnto him: Yester daye at the seuenth houre, y^e feuer lesse him. So the father knewe, that it was y^e same houre, in the which Iesus sayde vnto him: Thy sonne lyueth. * And he beleued, and all his household. * This is agayne the seconde myracle, that Iesus dyd, whā he was come out of Jewry into Galile.

The. v. Chapter.

The health the man that was sycke erght yeres.
The Jewes accuse hym, he answereth to hym selfe, and reproveth them.

At this tyme was there a feast daye of the Jewes, and Iesus went vp to Jerusalem. And ther is at Jerusalem, by y^e slaughterhouse, a pole (which is called in y^e hebreu toge, Bethsaida) hauing fyue porches, in whych laye a greate multitude of sycke folcke, of blinde, halt, and wythered, waytinge for the mouinge of the water. For an angell wēt doune at a certayne season into the pole, and creed the water. Whosoever then fozt (after the steringe of the water) stepped in, was made whoale of whatsoener disease he had.
And a certayne man was there, whych had bene dysleasid. xxxviij. yeres. When Iesus sawe him lye, and knewe that he now longe tyme had bene dysleasid, he sayeth vnto him: Wylt thou be made whole? The sycke man answered hym: Syr, I haue no man when the water is troublid, to put me into y^e pole.
But in the meane tyme, whyle I am aboute to come, another stepeth downe before me.

* Mat. ix. 13.
* Luke. ix. 14.
* Actes. iij. 1.
and. ix. 1.

Iesus sayeth vnto hym: ryse, take vp thy bed, & walke. And immediatly the man was made whole, and toke vp his bed, and walked. And the same daye was the Sabboth. The Jewes therfore sayde vnto hym that was made whole: It is the Sabboth daye, it is not lawfull for the to cary thy bed.
He answered them: he that made me whole, sayde vnto me: take vp thy bed, and walke.

Then asked they hym: what man is that, whych sayd vnto y^e, take vp thy bed & wal-ke? And he that was healed, wist not who it was. For Iesus had gottē him selfe awaye, because that ther was pceace of people in that place.

* Afterwarde, Iesus founde him in the temple, and sayde vnto him: beholde, thou art made whole, synne nomore, lest a worse thinge happen vnto the. The man departed & tolde the Jewes, that it was Iesus, whych had made hym whole. * And therfore the Jewes dyd persecute Iesus, and sought the meanes to see him, because he had done these thynges on the Sabboth daye. And Iesus answered them.

* My father worketh hitherto, and I worke. Therfore, the Jewes sought the more to kyl him, not onely because he had broken the Sabboth: but sayde also that * God was his father and made hym selfe equall with God.

Then answered Iesus, & sayde vnto the:
verely, verely, I saye vnto you: the sonne can do nothig of him selfe, but that he seeth the father do. For whatsoeuer he doeth, that doeth the sonne also. For the father loueth y^e sonne, and sheweth hym all thynges that he hym selfe doeth. And he will shewe hi greater workes the, because ye shuld mar-uaile. For lykwys as the father rapeth vp the deede, and quykkeneth the, euen so the sonne quykkeneth whom he wyll. * Nether iudgeth the father eny man: but hath com-mytted all iudgement vnto y^e sonne, because that all men shuld honoure the sonne euen as they honoure the father. He that honoureth not the sonne, the same honoureth not the father whych hath sent hym. Verely, verely I saye vnto you. * He that heareth my worde, & beleueth on him that sent me, hath euera-sting lyfe, and shall not * come into damnacion: but is scaped from deeth vnto lyfe.

Verely, verely, I saye vnto you: y^e houre shall come, & nowe it is, whē y^e deede shall heare y^e voyce of the sonne of God. And they that heare, shall lyue. * For as the father hath lyfe in hym selfe, so lykwys hath he geuen to the sonne to haue lyfe in hym selfe: because he is the sonne of man. * Maruaile not at this: for the houre that come, in y^e which, all that are in the graues, shall heare his voyce, and shall come forth: they that haue done good, vnto the resurrection of lyfe: and they that haue done euill, vnto the resurreccion of damnacion.

* I can of myne awne selfe do nothing. As I heare, I iudge, and my iudgmēt is iust, because I seeke not myne awne wyll, but y^e wyll of the father whych hath sent me.
* If I shulde beare wytnes of my selfe, my wytnes

my wytnes were not true. Ther is another y^e beareth wytnes of me: & I am sure, that the wytnes whych he beareth of me, is true.

* He sent vnto John, & he bare wytnes vnto y^e truerth. But I receaue not the recorde of man. Nether the, these thynges I saye that ye myght be safe. He was a burnynge, & a thynninge lyght, & ye wolde for a season haue reioyced in his lyght. * But I haue greater wytnes, then the wytnes of John: for the workes whych the father hath geue me to fynysh, y^e same workes that I do, beare wytnes of me, y^e the father hath sent me. And y^e father hym selfe whych hath sent me * hath borne wytnes of me. Ye haue not hearde his voyce at eny tyme nor sene his shape, his word haue ye not abydinge in you. For who he hath sent, him ye beleue not.

* Search the scriptures, for in them ye shinke ye haue eternall lyfe: & they are they whych testify of me. And yet wyll ye not come to me, that ye myght haue lyfe. I receaue not prayse of men. But I knowe you, that ye haue not y^e lone of God in you. I am come in my fathers name and ye receaue me not.
* If another come in his awne name, hym wyll ye receaue: how ca ye beleue, whych re-ceae honoure one of another, & seke not the honoure that cometh of God onely?

Do not thynke that I wyll accuse you to my father. Ther is one y^e accuseth you: euen Moses in who y^e trust. For had ye beleued Moses, ye wolde haue beleued me: for he wrote of me. But ye ye beleue not his wy-tinges: how shall ye beleue my wordes?

The. vi. Chapter.

Iesus feedeth foue thousand men depyeth awaye that they shuld not make him king, and reproveth the fleschly heartes of his worde. The carill are offended at hym.

After these thynges * Iesus went hys waye ouer the see of Galile whych is the see of Tiberias: & a greate multitude folowed him, because they sawe his myracles whych he dyd on them that were diseased. And Iesus went vp into a mountayne, & there he sate with hys disciples. And easter, a feast of y^e Jewes was nyc. * * When Iesus then lyfte vp his eyes, and sawe a greate cōpany come vnto him, he sayeth vnto Philip: whence shall we bye bread, that these maye eate? This he sayd to proue hym: for he hym selfe knewe, what he wolde do.

Philip answered him: two hundred penyworth of bread are not sufficient for them, y^e euery man maye take a lytell. One of his disciples (Andrew, Simon Peters brother) sayeth vnto him: There is a lad here, whych hath fyue barley lones and two fyshes: but what are they amonge so many? And Iesus sayde: Make y^e people syt downe. Ther was much grasse in y^e place. So the men sate do-wne in nōbre, about fyue thousand. And Jesus toke the bread: And whan he had geuen thankes, he gaue to the disciples, and y^e disciples to the that were set downe: And lyke wyse of the fyshes as much as they wolde:

When they had eaten ynough, he sayeth vnto his disciples: gather vp y^e broken meate whych remaineth: y^e nothyng be lost. And they gathered it together, and fylled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the fyue barly lones: whych broken meate remayned vnto them that had eaten. Then those men (when they had sene the myracle that Iesus dyd) sayd: this is of a truerth: y^e same prophete, y^e shulde come into the worlde. *
Whē Iesus therfore perceaued, y^e they wol-de come, & take hym vp to make hym kyng, * he departed agayne into a mountayne hym selfe alone.

* And when euen was now come, hys disciples wēt downe vnto the see, & gat vp into a shippe, and came ouer the see vnto Capernaum. And it was now darcke, and Iesus was not come to them. And y^e see arose with a greate wynde that blew. So when they had rowen about a. xxv. or. xxx. furlonges, they sawe Iesus walkyng in the see, & drawing nyc vnto the shippe, & they were afrayed. But he sayeth vnto them: It is I, be not afrayde. Then wold they haue receaued hym into the shyp, & immediatly the shyp was at the lande whither they went.

The daye folowynge whan the people (whych stode on the other syde of the see) sa-we, y^e ther was none other shyp there, saue that one wher ito his disciples were entred, & that Iesus went not in with his disciples into y^e shyp: but that his disciples were gone awaye alone: howbeit, ther cā other shyppes fro Tiberias nyc vnto the place, where they dyd cate bred, after that the Lord had geuen thankes) when the people therfore sa-we that Iesus was not there, nether hys disciples, they also toke shyping, & came to Capernaum, sekyng for Iesus.

And when they had founde hym on the other syde of the see, they sayde vnto hym: Rabbi, whē camest thou hither? Iesus answered them, and sayde: verely, verely I saye vnto you: ye seke me, not because ye sawe y^e myracles but because ye dyd cate of the loaues, and were fylled.

* Laboure not for the meate whych perisheth, but for that whych endureth vnto euerastringe lyfe, whych meate the sonne of man shall geue vnto you. For y^e hym hath God the father sealed.

Then sayde they vnto him: what shal we do, that we myght worke the workes of God? Iesus answered sayde vnto the: This is the worke of God, that ye beleue on him, whome

whom he hath sent, They sayde therfore vnto him: what sygne shewest thou then, that we maye see, and beleue the? What doest thou worke? Dure fathers dyd eate Manna in the desert as it is wyrtte: he gaue the breed from heauen to eate. Then Iesus sayde vnto the: verely, verely I saye vnto you: Whosoeuer gaue you not that breed from heauen: * but my father geueth you the true breed from heauen. For the breed of God is he, whych cometh downe from heauen, and geueth lyfe vnto the worlde.

Then sayd they vnto him: Lord, enermore geue vs this breed. And Iesus sayd vnto them: I am the breed of lyfe. He that cometh to me shall not hunger: and he that beleueth on me shall neuer thirst. * But I saye vnto you: that ye also haue sene me, and yet ye beleue not. All that the father geueth me shall come to me: and he that cometh to me, I cast not awaye. For I came downe from heauen: * not to do that I will, but that he will, whych hath sent me. And this is the fathers will whych hath sent me, that of all whych he hath geuen me, I shall loose nothinge: but rayse them vp agayne at the last daye. And this is the will of him that sent me: that euery one whych seeth the sonne * and beleueth on him, haue euerlasting lyfe. And I wyll rayse him vp at the last daye. The Jewes the murmured at him, because he sayd: I am the breed (sayde) whych came downe from heauen. And they sayde: * Is not this Iesus the sonne of Ioseph, whose father & mother we knowe? How is it the he sayeth, I came downe from heauen? Iesus answered & sayd vnto them. Murmur not amonge youre selues. * For no man can come to me, except the father which hath sent me, drawe hym: And I wyll rayse hym vp at the last daye. It is wyrtten in the Prophetes: * and they shalbe all taught of God. Euery man therfore that hath heard, and hath learned of the father, cometh vnto me. * Not that eny man hath sene the father, saue he which is of God: the same hath sene the father.

Verely, verely, I saye vnto you: he that putteth his trust in me, hath euerlasting lyfe. I am that breed of lyfe. Your fathers dyd eate Manna in the wyldernes, & are deed: This is that breed, whych cometh downe from heauen, that a man maye eate therof, & not dye. I am that lyuinge bread, whych came downe from heauen. If eny man eate of this bread, he shall liue for ever. * And the breed that I will geue, is my fleshe, whych I will geue for the lyfe of the worlde.

The Jewes therfore stroue amonge them selues, sayig: how ca this fellowe geue vs the fleshe of his, to eate? Then Iesus sayde vnto them: * Verely, verely, I saye vnto you, except ye eate the fleshe of the sonne of man, and drinke his bloude: ye haue no lyfe in you. Whoso eateth my fleshe & dryncketh my bloude, hath eternall lyfe, & I wyll rayse him vp at the last daye. * For my fleshe is meate in dede: and my bloude is drinke in dede. He that eateth my fleshe & dryncketh my bloude, dwelleth in me and I in him. As the lyuinge father hath sent me, and I liue for the father: Euen so he that eateth me, shall lyue by the means of me. This is the breed, whych cam downe from heauen: not as youre fathers dyd eate Manna, & are deed: he that eateth of this breed, shall lyue euer.

These thinges sayd he in the synagoge, as he taught in Capernaum. Many therfore of his disciples (whiche they had herde this) sayde: this is an harde sayinge: who can abyde the hearinge of it? Iesus knewe in him selfe, that his disciples murmured at it, & he sayd vnto them: Woth this offende you? What and ye shall see the sonne of man ascende vp thither where he was before? It is the sprete that quykkeneth, the fleshe profiteth nothinge. The wordes that I speake vnto you, are sprete and lyfe. But there are some of you that beleue not. For Iesus knewe from the begynninge, which they were, that beleued not, & who shulde betraye him: And he sayd: therfore sayde I vnto you: that no man can come vnto me, except it were geuen vnto hym of my father.

From thyme many of his disciples went backe, and forsoke him, and walked nomore with hym. Then sayde Iesus to the twelue: wyll ye also goo awaye? Then Simon Peter answered him: Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou haste the wordes of eternall lyfe: * and we beleue and are sure that thou art Christ the sonne of the lyuinge God. Iesus answered the: haue not I chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuyll? He spake of Judas Iscariot the sonne of Simon. For he it was, that shuld betraye hym, beyng one of the twelue.

The vii. Chapter.

Iesus cometh to Ierusalem at the feast, teacheth the Jewes & reproveth them: There are diuers opinions of hym amonge the people. The Pharisees rebuke the officers, because they haue not brought hym, & cryed wyth Nicodemus for takinge hym parre.

After these thinges, Iesus wēt about in Galile: for he wolde not go aboute in Jewry because that the Jewes sought to kyll hym. The Jewes feast of tabernacles was at hande. Hys brethren therfore sayde vnto him: get the hence, and go into Jewry, that thy disciples also maye see thy workes that thou doest. For ther is no man that doeth eny thyng in secret, and he hym selfe seeketh to be knowne openly. If thou do such thinges, shewe thy selfe to the world. For

For his brethren beleued not in him.

Then Iesus sayde vnto them: My tyme is not yet come: but youre tyme is all waye ready. The worlde cannot hate you. * But me it hateth: because I testify of it, that the workes therof are euill. So ye vp vnto this feast, I will not go vp yet vnto this feast, for my tyme is not yet full come. whā he had sayde these wordes vnto them he abode styll in Galile. But as sone as his brethren were come, they wēt he also vp vnto the feast, not openly: but as it were pruely. Then sought him the Jewes at the feast, & sayde: * where is he? And moche murmuringe was ther of hym amonge the people. For some sayde: * he is good, other sayde naye, but he deceaueth the people. How be it? no man spake openly of him, for feare of the Jewes.

Now when halfe of the feast was done, Iesus went vp into the temple, and taught. And the Jewes marueyled, sayig: how knoweth he the scriptures, seynge he neuer learned? Iesus answered them, & sayde: My doctryne hys not myne: but his that sent me. If eny man wyll be obedient vnto his wyll, he shall knowe of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe. He that speaketh of him selfe, seeketh his awne prayse. But he that seeketh hys prayse that sent him, the same is true, & no vnghtewesnes is in him.

Dyd not Moses geue you a lawe, & yet none of you kepeth the lawe? Why go ye about to kyll me? The people answered and sayde: thou haste the deuyll: who goth aboute to kyll the? Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them: * I haue done one worke, and ye all marueyle. Moses therfore gaue vnto you the circumcision: not because it is of Moses, but of the fathers: And yet ye on the Saboth daye, circuncyse a man. If a man on the Saboth daye receaue circuncysion without breakeynge of the lawe of Moses: dysdayne ye at me, because I haue made a man euery whit whoale on the Saboth daye? * Iudge not after the vster apperance, but iudge with a ryghtewes iudgement.

Then sayde some of them of Ierusalem: is not this he, whom they go about to kyll? But lo, he speaketh boldly, and they saye no thing to him. Do the rulers knowe in dede, that this is very Christ? Howbeit * we knowe this man whence he is: but when Christ cometh, no man knoweth whence he is.

Then cryed Iesus in the temple (as he taught) sayig: ye both knowe me, and whence I am ye knowe. And I am not come of my selfe: but he that sent me is true, whom ye knowe not. But I knowe him. * (And yet I saye that I knowe hym not, I shalbe a lyer lyke vnto you, but I knowe hym) for I am of hi, & he hath sent me. * The they sought to take him: but no man layde handes on him, because his houre was not yet come. * Many of the people beleued on hym. * I sayde: when Christ cometh, will he do moore myracles the these, that this man hath done?

The Pharisees hearde that the people murmured suche thinges concerning him. * And the pharisees and hye prestes sent ministres to take him. The sayde Iesus vnto the: Pet am I a lytell whyle with you, and then go I vnto him that sent me. Ye shall seeke me, and shall not fynde me: * & where I am, thither can ye not come. Then sayde the Jewes among them selues: whither wyll he go, that we shall not fynde him? Wyll he go amonge the gentyls (whych are scattered abroade) and teach the gentyls? What maner of saying is this that he sayd: ye shall seeke me, & shall not fynde me: and where I am, thither can ye not come?

In the last daye, that great daye of the feast Iesus stode, and cryed, sayig: * If eny man thyrst, lett him come vnto me, & dryncke. He that beleueth on me (as sayeth the scripture) out of his belly shall flowe ryuers of water of lyfe. But this spake he of the sprete, whych they that beleue on him, shulde receaue. * For the holy goost was not yet there, because Iesus was not yet glorified.

Many of the people therfore (whiche they hearde this saying) sayd: * of a trouth this is a prophet: but other sayde: * this is Christ. But some sayde: shal Christ come out of Galile? * Sayeth not the scripture, the Christ shall come of the seed of Dauid: and out of the towne of Bethleem where Dauid was? So was ther dissencion amonge the people because of him. And some of the wolde haue taken him but no man layde handes of him. The came the mynistres to the hye prestes and Pharisees. And they sayed vnto them: why haue ye not brought hi? The mynistres answered: nence man spake as this mā doeth. The answered the Pharisees: are ye also dyscaybed? Woth eny of the rulers or of the Pharisees beleue on him? But this comen people whych knowe not the lawe, are cursed. Nicodemus sayeth vnto them (* he that came to Iesus by nyght, & was one of the) Woth our lawe iudge eny mā, before it heare hi, and knowe what he hath done? They answered, and sayd vnto hi: art thou also of Galile? Search & loke, For out of Galile aryleth no prophete. And euery man went vnto his awne house.

The viii. Chapter.

elles brought vnto hym a woman taken in aduouty: & whā they had set hir in the myd-des, they saye vnto hym: Master, thys woman was taken in aduouty, euen as the dede was doing. * Whoses in the lawe com-maūded vs, that suche shulde be stoned. But what sayest thou? This they sayde to tempt him that they myght accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, and with his synger wrote on the grounde. So, whan they contynued askynge him, he lyfte him selfe vp, and sayde vnto them: let him that is amonge you without synne, cast the fyrst stone at her. And agayne he stouped downe, & wrote on the groude. And as sone as they hearde this, they wēt out one by one, begynning at the eldest.
And Iesus was lefte alone, & the woman standynge in the myddes. When Iesus had lyfte vp him selfe, and sawe no man, but the woman, he layde vnto hir: woman, where are those thyne accusars? hath no man condemnyed? She sayde: No man, Lorde. And Iesus sayde. Neither do I condemne the.
Go and * synne no more. *

¶ Then spake Iesus agayne vnto them, saying: * I am the light of the worlde. he ꝑ foloweth me, doth not walke i darchnes but shall haue ꝑ light of lyfe. The Pharises therfore sayde vnto him: thou bearest recorde of thy selfe, thy recorde is not true. Iesus answered, & sayde vnto them: though I beare recorde of my selfe, yet my recorde is true: for I knowe whence I came, and whither I go. But ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go. Ye iudge after ꝑ fleshe. I iudge no man. And ye I iudge, my iudgement is true. For I am not alone: but I & the father that sent me. * It is alio wyttten in youre lawe, that the testimony of two men is true. I am one that beareth wytnes of my selfe, & the father that sent me, beareth wytnes of me. Then sayde they vnto him: where is thy father? Iesus answered: ye nether knowe me, nor yet my father: If ye had knowe me, ye shulde haue knowe my father also. These wordes spake Iesus in the tresury as he taught in the temple, and no man layde handes on hym * for his houre was not yet come. ¶

¶ Then sayde Iesus agayne vnto them: X I go my waye, & * ye shall seeke me, & shall dye in youre synnes. Whyther I go, thither can ye not come. The sayde the Jewes: will he kyl him selfe, because he sayeth: whyther I go, thither can ye not come? And he sayde vnto them: ye are from beneth, I am from aboue. Ye are of this world, I am not of this world, I sayd therefore vnto you, that ye shall dye in youre synnes. For * yf ye beleue not that I am he, ye shall dye in youre synnes.

Then sayd they vnto him. who arte thou?
And Iesus sayeth vnto them: Euē the very same thing that I speake vnto you. I haue many thinges to saye, and to iudge of you: Pee, & he that sent me, is true. * And I speake in the world, those thinges, which I haue hearde of hym. Howebeit they vnderstode not that he spake of his father. Then sayd Iesus vnto them: when ye haue lyft vp an hye the sonne of man, then shall ye knowe, & I am he, and that I do nothinge of my selfe: but * as my father hath taught me, euen so I speake these thinges: and he that sent me, is wth me. The father hath not left me alone, for I do all wayes those thinges that please him. & As he spake these wordes, * many beleued on him.

✠ Then sayde Iesus to those Iewes, which beleued on him: If ye continue in my worde, then are ye my very disciples, and ye shall knowe the trueth: and the trueth shall make you free. They answered him: We be Abrahams seed, and were neuer bōde to eny man: how sayest thou then: ye shall be made *fre?

Jesus answered the: verely, verely I saye vnto you, that whosoener comitteth sinne, is the seruante of sinne. And the seruante abydeth not in the house for euer: But the sonne abydeth euer. If the sone therfore shal make you fre, then are ye fre in dede. I knowe that ye are Abrahams seed: but ye seeke meanes to kill me, because my worde hath no place in you. I speake that which I haue seene with my father: and ye do that, which ye haue seene with youre father. They answered and sayde vnto him: Abraham is oure father. Jesus sayeth vnto them: If ye were Abrahams children, ye wolde do the dedes of Abraham. But now ye go aboute to kyl me, a man that hath tolde you the truth whych I haue heard of God: this dyd not Abraham. Ye do the dedes of youre father. Then sayde they to him: we were not borne of fornicacion. We haue one father, eue God. Jesus sayd vnto the: yf God were youre father, truly ye wolde loue me. For I proceded forth, and came fro God. Nether came I of my selfe, but he sent me: Why do ye not knowe my speaker? Euen because ye can not abyde the hearing of my worde.

Ye are of youre father & deuyll, and the lustes of youre father will ye serue. * He was a murderere from the beginninge and abode not in the trueth, because there is no trueth in him. When he speaketh a lye, he speaketh of his owne. For he is a lyar, and & father of the same thing: And because I tell you the trueth, therfore ye beleue me not.

✠ Which of you rebuketh me of synne?
If I saye the trueth, why do not ye beleue me? * he that is of God, heareth Goddes wordes. Ye therfore heare them not, because ye are not of God. Then answered the Jewes

the Jewes, ad sayd vnto him: Saye we not well, that thou art a Samaritan, and* hast the deuyll: Ies^{us} answered: I haue not the deuyll: but I honour my father, and ye haue dishonored me. I seke not myne awne prayse: ther is one that seeketh, and iudgeth.

¶ Verely verely, I saye vnto you: yf a man kepe my saying, he shall neuer se deeth. Then sayd the Jewes vnto him: Now knowe we that thou hast the deuyll. Abraham is deed, and the prophetes, and thou sayest: yf a man kepe my saying, he shall neuer taste of death.
Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is deed: and the prophetes are deed.
Whom makest thou thy selfe Iesus answered: If I honour my selfe, myne honour is nothing: It is my father & honoureth me, which ye saye, is your God, & yet ye haue not known hym: but I knowe him. And yf I saye, I knowe him not, I shal be a lyar lyke vnto you. But I knowe him, and kepe his sayinge.

Your father Abraham was glad to seemy daye: * and he sawe it, & reioysed. Then sayd the Jewes vnto him: thou art not yet .l. yere olde, and hast thou sene Abraham? Iesus sayd vnto the: Merely verely, I saye vnto you: yee Abraham was bozne, * I am. * Then toke they vp stones, to cast at hym: But Iesus hyd hym selfe, and * went out of the temple. R

The. ix. Chapter. ✠

Christ maketh the man to be that was borne blinde.

As Iesus passed by, he sawe a man, which was blynde from hys byrth. And his discyples asked him sayinge: Master, who dyd synne, this man, or hys father and mother, that he was bozne blynde. Iesus answered: Neither hath this man sinned, nor yet his father and mother: but that the worlkes of God shulde be shewed in hym. I must worlke the worlkes of hym that sent me, whyle it is daye. The nyght cometh, when no man can worlke. As longe as I am in the worlde. * I am the lyght of the worlde.

¶ Affore as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made claye of the spittle, and rubbed the claye on the eyes of the blynde, & sayd vnto him: Go, wash the in the pole of Siloe, which (by interpretaciō) is a shioche to saie as, sent. he went his waye therfore, and washed, & came agayne, seinge: So the neyghbours and they þ had sene him before (how þ he was a begger) said: is not this he that sat and begged? Some sayd: this is he.
Agayne, other sayd: * (No, but) he is lyk hym

¶ He hym selfe sayde: I am euen he. Ther-foze sayde they vnto hym: howe are thyne eyes opened? he answered and sayde: The man that is called Iesus, made claye, and anoynted myne eyes, and sayd vnto me: Se to the pole Shiloe, and washe. And whan I went & weshe, I receaued my syght. Then sayd they vnto him: where is he? he sayde: I cannot tell.

They brought to the pharises, hym that a lytel befoze was blynde: and it was the * Sabboth dape, when Iesus made y claye, and opened hys eyes. Then agayne the phariles also asked hym, howe he had reccaued his syght. He sayd vnto them: he put claye vpon myne eyes, and I washed, and do se.
Therefore sayd some of the pharises: thys mā is not of God, because he kepeth not the Sa-both dape. Other sayde: * howe can a man y is a synner, do such myzacles? And ther was a stryfe amonge them. They spake vnto the blynde mā agayne: What sayst thou of him, because he hath opened thyne eyes? he sayd:
* he is a prophete.

But the Jewes byd not beleue of the mā (how that he had bene blynde, and receaued hys syght) vntyll they called the father and mother of him that had receaued hys syght.
And they asked them, saying: Is thys poure sonne, whō ye saye was bozne blynde? How doth he now se them? His father and mother answered them, and sayde: we knowe, that thys is oure sonne, and that he was bozne blynde: but by what meanes he now seeth, we cānot tell. Or who hath opened his eyes, cannot we tell he is olde ynough, aske him, let hym answer for hym selfe. Suche woꝝ= des spake hys father and mother, because they feared the Jewes. For the Jewes had con= spyrred all ready, that yf eny man byd con= fesse that he was Christ, * he shulde be cōdō= municat out of the synagoge. Therfore sayd hys father and mother: he is olde ynough, aske him.

Then agayne called they the man y^e was blynde, and sayd vnto hym: Seue God the praysse: we knowe that thys man is a synner. He answered therfore, and sayde: Why-ther he be a synner or no, I cannot tell. One thyng I am sure of: that where as I was blynde, nowe I se. Then sayde they to hym agayne: What dyd he to the? How opened he thyne eyes? He answered them: I tolde you yer whylle, and ye dyd not heare. Wherefore wold ye heare it agayne? Wylle ye also be his disciples? Then rated they hym, & sayd: We y^e hys disciple. We are Moses disciples. We are sure, y^e God spake vnto Moses. As for this felowe, we knowe not fro whence he is.

The man answered, and sayde vnto the this is a marvelous thing, that ye wote now from whence he is, and yet he hath opened myne eyes: For we be sure, þat God heareth not synners. But yf eny man be a wor-shipper of God, and obedient vnto his wyl, him heareth he. Hence the world begā wā-it not hearde, that eny man opened the eyes Jff of on of one that was borne blinde: If this man were not of God, he could haue done nothing. They answered, and sayd vnto hym: thou art al together borne in synne, and dost thou teach vs? And they cast him out.

G Jesus heard that they had excommunicate hym: and when he had founde hym, he sayde vnto hym: dost thou beleue on the sonne of God? he answered and sayd: Who is it Lord that I myght beleue on him? And Jesus said vnto him: Thou hast sene him, * and he it is that talketh with the. And he sayd: Lord, I beleue, and he worshipped hym. * And Jesus sayd vnto him: * I am come vnto iudgement into this worlde: that they which se not, myght se: and that they which se, might be made blinde. And some of the pharises which were with him, heard these wordes, and sayd vnto him: are we blinde also? Ies^s sayd vnto them: * If ye were blinde, ye shulde haue no synne. But now ye saye: we se, therfore your synne remaineth.

Chapter. x.

Christ ys the true shepheard, and the doze of the shepe he telleth the treuth, and therfore the Jewes take vp stones to cast at hym and call his preaching blasphemy, and go about to take hym.

Verely, I saye vnto you: he that entred not in by the doze into the shepefolde, but clymeth vp some other waye, the same is a thefe and a murtherer. But he that entred in by the doze, is the shepheard of the shepe: to hym the porter openeth, & the shepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his awne shepe by name, and leadech the out. And when he hath sent forth his awne shepe, he goeth befoze them, and the shepe folow him: for they knowe his voyce. A straunger will they not folowe, but will flye from him: for they knowe not the voyce of straungers. * This prouerbe spake Jesus vnto them. But they vnderstode not what thinges they were, which he spake vnto the.

23 Then sayd Jesus vnto them agayne: Verely, I saye vnto you: * I am the doze of the shepe. All (euē as many as came before me) are theues & murtherers: but the shepe dyd not heare them. I am the doze: by me yf any mā entre in, he shal be safe, and shal go in and out, ad fynde pasture. * These cometh not but for to steale, kylle, and to destroye. I am come, that they might haue life, and that they myght haue it moze abundantly.

24 I am * a good shepheard. * A good shepheard geneth his lyfe for the shepe. An hyred seruaut, and he which is not the shepheard (nether the shepe are his awne) seeth the wolfe comminge, and leaueth the shepe, and flieth, and the wolfe catcheth, and scattereth the shepe. The hyred seruaut flyeth, because he is an hyred seruaut, and careth not for the shepe. I am the good shepheard, * ad knowe my shepe, and am knowen of myne. * As my father knoweth me, euē so knowe I also my father. And * I geue my lyfe for the shepe: & other shepe I haue, which are not of this fold. * Them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce, and they shal be one fold and one shepheard. * Therfore doth my father loue me, because I put my lyfe from me, that I myght take it agayne. No mā taketh it fro me: but I put it awaye of my self. I haue power to put it from me, and I haue power to take it agayne. * This commaundement haue I receaued of my father. There was a dissencion therfore agayne amonge the Jewes for these sayinges, and many of them sayd: * He hath the deuyl, and is madd: why heare ye him? Other sayde: * these are not the wordes of him that hath the deuyl. Can the deuyl open the eyes of the blinde?

25 And it was at Ierusalem the feaste of the dedicacyon, and it was winter: and Jesus walked in the temple, euē in * Solomons porche. Then came the Jewes roude about him, and sayd vnto him: Howe longe dost thou make vs doute? If thou be Christ, tell vs playnely. Jesus answered the: I tolde you, and ye beleue not. The workes that I do in my fathers name, they beare witness of me. But ye beleue not, because ye are not of my shepe. As I sayd vnto you: * my shepe heare my voyce: and I knowe the, & they folowe me, and I geue vnto them eternall lyfe, and they shal neuer perishe, nether shall any man plucke them oute of my hande. My father which gaue them me, is greater then all, and no man is able to take them oute of my fathers hand. * I and my father are one.

26 Then the Jewes agayne toke vp stones, to stone hym with all. Jesus answered them: many good workes haue I shewed you from my father: for which of them do ye stone me? The Jewes answered him, sayng: For thy good workes sake we stone the, not * but for thy blasphemy, and because that thou beynge a man, makest thy selfe God: Jesus answered them: Is it not wrytten in youre lawe * I sayde, ye are goddes? If he called them goddes, vnto whom the word of God was spoken (and the scripture can not be broken concernynge hym whom the father hath sanctified, and sent into the worlde) do ye saye the I blaspheme? because I sayde, I am the sonne of God? * If I do not the workes of my father, beleue me not. But yf I do, ad yf ye beleue not me, beleue the workes: that ye maye knowe and beleue, that the father is in me, and I in him.

27 Agayne they went about to take hym: & he escaped out of their hande, & wet awaye agayne beyonde Iordan, into a place where John before had baptised, and there he abode. And many resorted vnto him, and sayd: John 28 John dyd no myracle, but * all thynges that John spake of this man were true. And many beleued on him there.

Chapter. xi.

Christ carlieth Lazarus from death. The hye priestes and pharises gather a counsell agaynst hym. He getteth hym out of the waye.

1 Certen man was sick, named Lazarus of Bethania the towne of Mary, and her syster Martha. It was the tyme that Mary * which anoynted Jesus with oyntment, and wyped his fete with her hear, whose brother Lazarus was sick. Therfore, his syster sent vnto him, sayng: Lord, behold, he whom thou louest, is sicke. Whā Jesus herd this, he sayde: this infirmite is not vnto death: but for the prayse of God, that the sonne of God * myght be praysed by the reason of it. Jesus loued Martha and her syster and Lazarus. Whā he had heard therfore, that he was sicke, he abode two dayes still in the same place where he was.

2 Then after that, sayd he to his disciples: Let vs go into Ierowagayne. His disciples sayde vnto hym: Master, the Jewes lately sought to stone the, and wilt thou go thither agayne? Jesus answered: are there not xij. houres of the daye? If a mā walke in the daye, he stonbleth not, because he seeth the light of this worlde. But yf a man walke in the nyght, he stonbleth, because there is no lyght in him. This sayd he, and after that he sayd vnto them: our frede Lazarus * slepeth: but I go to wake him out of slep. Then said his disciples: Lord, yf he slepe, he shal do wel ynough. howbeit, Jesus spake of his death: but they thought, that he had spoken of the naturall slepe. Then sayde Jesus vnto them playnely. Lazarus is deed, ad I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, because ye maye beleue. Neuertheles, let vs go vnto hi.

3 Then sayd * Thomas (which is called Dydymus) vnto the disciples: lett vs also go, yf we maye dye with hym. Then went Jesus, and foude that he had lye in bys graue foure dayes allready. Bethanie was nye vnto Ierusalem, about fyftene furlonges of, and many of the Jewes came to Martha & Mary to cōfōrte them ouer their brother. Martha as sone as she heard that Jesus was comynge, went and met hym: but Mary sat still in the house.

4 Then sayd Martha vnto Ies^s: Lord, yf thou haddest bene here, my brother had not dyed: neuertheles, nowe I knowe that whatsoener thou askest of God, God wyll geue it the. Jesus sayth vnto her: Thy brother shal lyfe agayne. Martha sayeth vnto hym: I knowe that he shal lyfe agayne in the resurreccyon at the last daye. Jesus sayth vnto her: I am the resurreccyon and the lyfe: he that beleueth on me, ye though he were deed, yet shall he lyue. And * whosoener lyueth and beleueth on me, shal neuer dye: Beleuest thou this? She sayd vnto him: yee Lord, I beleue that thou art Christ the sonne of God, which shuld come into the worlde. And as sone as he had so sayde, she wente her waye, & called Mary her syster secretly, sayng: The master is come, and calleth for the. As sone as she heard that, she arose quickly, and came vnto him. Jesus was not yet come into the towne: but was in that place where Martha met hym. The Jewes then which were with her in the house and cōfōrte her, (when they sawe Mary that she rose vphastely, and wet out) folowd her, sayng: She goeth vnto the graue, to wepe there.

5 Then when Mary was come wher Jesus was, and saue hym, she cometh nye vnto his fete, and sayth vnto him: Lord, yf thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene deed. When Jesus therfore saue her wepe (and the Jewes also weeping which came with her) he groined in the sprete, ad was troubled in him selfe, and sayde: Where haue ye layed him? They saye vnto him: Lord, come, and se. And * Jesus wept. Then sayd the Jewes Behold, howe he loued hym. And som of the sayde: coulde not he which * opened the eyes of the blinde, haue made also, that this man shulde not haue dyed? Jesus therfore agayne groined in him selfe, and came to the graue. It was a cane, and a stone layde on it.

6 Jesus sayd: take ye awaye the stone. Martha the syster of him that was deed, sayd vnto hym: Lord, by this tyme he styncketh. For he hath bene deed foure dayes. Jesus sayeth vnto her: Sayd I not vnto the, that yf thou dydest beleue, thou shuldest se the glōrye of God? Then they toke awaye the stone from the place where he that had bene deed, was layde. And Jesus lyft vp his eyes, and sayd: Father, I thanke the, that thou hast hearde me. howbeit, I knewe, that thou hearest me allwayes: but * because of the people which stande by. I sayde it, that they maye beleue, that thou hast sent me.

7 And when he thus had spoken, he cryed with a loud voyce: Lazarus, come forth. * And he that was deed, came forth, bounde hande & fote with graue clothes, & his face was bound with a napkin. Jesus sayd vnto them: loose him, & let him go. Then many of the Jewes which came to Mary (and had sene the thynges which Jesus dyd) * beleued on hym. But some of them went the other waye to the pharises, & tolde the what Jesus had done.

8 Then gathered the hye priestes & the pharises a counsell, & sayd: what do we? For this mā doth many miracles. If we lett hym scape thus, al mā will beleue on him, and the Romayns shal come, and take awaye both our rowme and the people. And one of them

ffst is named named Caiphas (being the hye p[re]ste & same p[re]re) sayd vnto them: Ye perceaue nothyng at all, nor consyder, that *it is expedient for vs, that one man dye for the people, and not for all the people p[er]yshe. Thys spake he not of him selfe, but beyng hye p[re]ste that same yere, he prophesied that Iesus shulde dye for the people, and not for the people onely, but for the world that he shuld gather together i one, the childe of God, & were scattered abrode. *Then from that day forth they toke counsell together, for to put him to death.

Iesus therfore walked nomore openly among the Jewes: but went his waye thence vnto a countre nye to a wilderness, into a cytye which is called Ephraim, and there cōtynued w[ith] his disciples. *And the Jewes Easter was nye at hand, & many went out of the countre vnto Jerusalem before the Easter, to purify the selues. The sought they for Iesus, & spake among the selues, as they stode in the temple: *What thinke ye, seying he cometh not to the feaste daye? The hye p[re]stes and pharises *had geuen a cōmaundement, yf eny man knewe wher he were, he shuld shewe it, that they myght take him. *

The xij. Chapter.

*Mary anoynteth Iesus fete. Judas murmureth Iesus crucified her, and reporteth into Jerusalem.

When Iesus (syre dayes before Easter) came to Bethany, wher Lazarus had ben deed, whome he rayled from death. Ther they made hym a supper, and Martha serued, but Lazarus was one of them that late at the table w[ith] him. *Then toke Mary a pōid of oynment (called Nardus, perfecte & precious) and anoynted Iesus fete, and wyped his fete with her hair, & the house was fylled with the odoure of the oynment. *Then sayd one of his disciples: (euen Judas Iscarioth Simons sonne, which after ward betrayed him) why was not this oynment solde for thre hundred pence, and geuen to the pooze? This he sayd, not that he cared for the pooze but because he was a thefe, & had the bagge, & bare that which was geue. Then sayd Iesus: Let her alone, against the daye of my buryinge hath she kept this. For the pooze allwayes shall ye haue with you, but me haue ye not allwaye.

Moche people of the Jewes therfore had knowledge that he was ther. And they came not for Iesus sake onely, but y they myght see Lazarus also *whom he rayled fro death. But the hye p[re]stes helde a counsell, y they myght put Lazarus to death also, because y for his sake many of the Jewes went awaye and beleued on Iesus. *

On the next daye moche people that were come to the feaste, when they hearde that Iesus shulde come to Jerusalem, toke braunches of palme trees, and went forth to mete hym, and cryed: Hosanna, *blessed is he that in the name of the Lorde, cometh kyng of Israell. And Iesus got a yonge asse, and sate thereon, as it is wyrtten: *fearre not daughter of Syon, beholde, thy kyng cometh, sitting on an asses colte. These thinges vnderstode not his disciples at the fyrst: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembred they that soch thinges were wyrtten of him, and y soche thynges they had done vnto hym. The people y was with hym (when he called Lazarus out of his graue, & rayled hym from death) bare recorde. Therfore mete hym the people also, because they hearde that he had done soche a miracle. The pharises therfore sayd among them selues: perceaue ye, howe we p[re]uayle nothing? beholde, * (all the while) * wo[uld]de goeth after him.

Ther were certen sickes amonge the, that came to worshipp at the feaste: the same cam therfore to Philip (which was of Bethsaida a cytie in Galile) and despyed hym, saying: Syr, we wolde sayne Iesus. Philip came and tolde Andrew: And agayne Andrew and Philip told Iesus. And Iesus answered them, sayinge: *the houre is come, y the sonne of man must be glorified.

Merely verely, I saye vnto you: except the wheat corne fall into the ground, & dye, it bydeth alone. If it dye, it byngeth forth moche frute. *He y loueth his lyfe, shall destroye it: and he y hateth his lyfe in thys world, shall kepe it vnto lyfe eternall. If eny man mynister vnto me, lett him folowe me: and *where I am, there shall also my mynister be. Yf any man mynister vnto me, hym will my father honoure. *

Nowe is my soule troubled, & what shall I saye? Father, deliuer me from this houre: but therfore came I vnto thys houre. Father, glorify thy name. Then ca there a voyce from heauē, saying: I haue both glorified it, & will glorify it agayne. The people therfore that stode by and heard it, sayde, that it thoundred. Other sayde: an angell spake to hym. Iesus answered and sayde: this voyce came not because of me *but for your sakes.

Now is the iudgment of this worlde: *now shall the prince of thys worlde be cast out. And I (yf I were lyft vp from the erth) will drawe all men vnto me. Thys he sayde signifyinge, what death he shulde dye. The people answered hym: We haue heard out of the lawe, *that Christ bydeth euer, & how sayst thou: the sonne of man must be lyft vp? who is that sonne of man? Then Iesus sayd vnto the: yet a lytell while is the lyght with you. *Walke while ye haue lyght, lest the darcknes come on you. He that walketh also in the darck, wotech not whyther he goeth while ye haue lyght, beleue on the lyght, y ye maye be the children of the lyght. *

These

These thynges spake Iesus, and departed, and hid him selfe from them. But though he had done so many miracles before the, yet beleued not they on hym, that the sayinge of Esaias the pphet myght be fulfilled, which he spake: *Lord, who shal beleue our sayng? And to whō is the arme of the Lorde declared? Therfore could they not beleue, because that Esaias saith agayne: *he hath blynded their eyes, and hardened their hert, that they shuld not se with their eyes, & lest they shuld vnderstand with their hert, and shuld be conuerted, and I shulde heale them. Soch thynges sayd Esaias, when he sawe his gloze, & spake of him. Neuertheles, amonge the chefe rulers also, many beleued on hym. But (because of y pharises) they wold not be a knowen of it, *lest they shulde be excommunicat. *For they loued y prayse of men, more then the prayse of God.

Iesus cryed, and sayd: he that beleueth on me, beleueth not on me, but on hym that sent me. And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me. *I am come *a lyght into the worlde: that whosoever beleueth on me, shulde not byde in darcknes. And yf any man heare my wordes, & beleue not, I iudge him not. For *I came not to iudge the worlde: but to saue the worlde. He that refuseth me, & receaueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth hym. The worde that I haue spokē, the same shal iudge hym in the last daye. For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the father which sent me: he gaue me a cōmaundmēt, what I shuld saye, & what I shulde speake. And I knowe that *his cōmaundement is lyfe euerlasting. Whatsoeuer I speake therfore, such as the father bade me, so I speake. *

The xiiij. Chapter.

*Chyrt washeth the disciples fete, & telleth them of Judas the traytour, and cōmaundeth them earnestly to loue one another.

Before the feaste of Easter, whē Iesus knewe that his houre was come, that he shuld depart out of this worlde vnto y father. Whē he loued his which were in the worlde, vnto the ende he loued them. And whē supper was ended, after that the deuyll had *put in the herte of Judas Iscarioth Simons sonne, to be trape hym. Iesus knowyng that *the father had geuen all thinges into his handes, and that he was come from God, and went to God: he rose from supper, and layde asyde his vpper garmentes: and whan he had taken a towell, he gyrded him selfe. After that, he powred water into a bason, and begane to wash the disciples fete, and to wpye them with the towell: wherwith he was gyrded.

Then came he to Symon Peter. And Peter sayde vnto hym: Lord, dost thou washe my fete? Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him: what I do, y wote it not now, but y shal know hereafter. Peter sayeth vnto him: thou shalt neuer washe my fete. Iesus answered hym: yf I washe the not, thou hast no parte with me. Symon Peter sayeth vnto hym: Lorde, not my fete onely, but also the handes and the head. Iesus sayth to hym: he that is washed, nedeth not, saue to washe his fete, but is cleane euery whyt. And ye are cleane, *but not all. For he knewe who it was that shuld be trape hym. Therfore sayd he: ye are not all cleane: So after he had washed their fete, and receaued his clothes, and was sett downe, he sayde vnto them agayne: wote ye what I haue done to you? Ye call me master and Lorde, and ye saye well, for so am I. If I then poure lorde and master haue washed your fete, ye also ought to washe one anothers fete. For *I haue geue you an ensample that ye shulde do, as I haue done to you. *Merely verely, I saye vnto you: y seruante is not greater then his master, nether y messenger greater then he that sent hym.

If ye vnderstande these thinges *happy are ye, yf ye do them. I speake not of you all, I knowe whō I haue chosen. But that the scripture maye be fulfilled: *he that cateth bread with me, hath lyfte vp his hele agaynst me. Now *tell I you before it come y whē it is come to passe, ye might beleue that I am he. Merely verely, I saye vnto you: *he y receaueth whosoever I sende, receaueth me. And he that receaueth me, receaueth him that sent me.

Whē Iesus had thus sayd, he was troubled in the sprete, and testifed and sayd: verely verely, I saye vnto you: that *one of you shall be trape me. Then the disciples looked one on another, dowtyng of whom he spake. There was one of Iesus disciples, (which leaned on hym) *euen he whom Iesus loued. To hym beckened Symon Peter therfore, that he shulde aske, who it was of whom he spake. He then when he leaned on Iesus brest, sayd vnto him: Lorde, who is it? Iesus answered: he it is to whom I geue a soppe. And he wet the brede & gaue it to Judas Iscarioth Simons sonne. And after the soppe, *Satan entred into him. Then sayd Iesus vnto him: that thou dost, do quickly. That wilt no man at the table, for what intent he spake vnto him. Som of the thought because. *Judas had the bagge, y Iesus had sayd vnto him: bye those thynges that we haue nede of agaynst the feaste: or y he shuld geue some thyng to the pooze. Allone the as he had receaued the soppe, he went immediately out and it was night. Therfore when he was gone oute, Iesus sayd: *Now is the sonne of man glorified. And God is glorified by him. If God be glorified by hi, God shall also glorify hym by hym selfe: and shall straght waye glorify hym.

* I pte chyliden, pet a lytel whyte am I with you. * Ye shall seeke me, & as I sayd vnto the Jewes, whyther I goo, thyrther ca ye not come. Also to you saye I now. * A newe commaundement geue I vnto you, that ye loue together, as I haue loued you, that euery one ye loue one another. * By this shall all men knowe that ye are my discyples, yf ye haue loue one to another. Symon Peter sayd vnto hym: Lorde, whyrther goest thou? Iesus answered hym: whyther I go, thou canst not folowe me now, but * thou shalt folowe me afterwarde. * Peter sayd vnto hym: Lorde, why cannot I folowe the now? * I wyl ioparde my lyfe for thy sake. Iesus answered hym: wylt thou ioparde thy lyfe for my sake? Ierely verely, I saye vnto the: * the cokke shall not crowe, tyll thou haue denyed me thysse.

The. xliij. Chapter.

The armeth hys discyples with consolacyon agaynst trouble, and promysed to sende the holy ghoost.

And he sayde vnto his discyples: Lett not your herte be troubled. Ye beleue in God, beleue also in me. In my fathers house are many mansions: If it were not so, I wolde haue tolde you. I go to prepare a place for you. And yf I go to prepare a place for you, I will come agayne, and receaue you euen vnto my selfe: that wher I am, ther maye ye be also. And whyther I go, ye knowe, and the waye ye knowe.

Thomas sayth vnto hym: Lorde, we knowe not whither thou goest. And how is it possible for vs to knowe the waye? Iesus sayeth vnto hym: I am the waye and the treuth, and the lyfe. * No man cometh vnto the father, but by me. If ye had knowen me, ye had knowen my father also. And now ye knowe him, and haue seene hym.

Philip sayth vnto hym: Lorde, shewe vs the father, & it sufficeth vs. Iesus sayth vnto hym: haue I bene so longe tyme with you, & yett hast thou not knowen me? Philip, he that hath seene me, hath seene my father. And howe sayest thou then: shewe vs the father? Beleue I sayd not, * I am in the father, & the father in me. The wordes that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe: but the father that dwelleth in me is he that doth the workes. Beleue me that I am in the father, & the father in me. Or els beleue me for the workes sake.

Ierely verely, I saye vnto you: he that beleeueth on me, the workes that I do, the same shall he do also, & greater workes then these shall he do, because I go vnto my father. * And whatsoeuer ye aske in my name, that will I do, yf the father maye be glorified by the sonne. If ye shall aske any thyng in my name, I will do it. * If ye loue me, kepe my commaundementes, & I will praye yf father, and he shall geue you another comforter, that he maye bide w you for euer: euery spere of treuth, whom the world cannot receaue, because the worlde seeth hym not, neither knoweth hym. But ye knowe him, for he dwelleth w you, & shall be in you. * I wyl not leaue you comfortles: but will come to you.

Pet a lytell while and the worlde seeth me nomore: but ye see me. For I lyue, & ye shall lyue. That daye shall ye knowe that I am in my father, and you in me, and I in you.

* He that hath my commaundementes, and kepeth them: the same is he that loueth me. And he that loueth me, shall be loued of my father: and I wyl loue hym, and wyl shewe myne awne selfe to him. * Judas sayth vnto hym: (not Judas Iscariot) Lorde, what is done that thou wylt shewe thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the worlde? Iesus answered & sayd: vnto the: yf a man loue me, he will kepe my sayings, and my father wyl loue hym, and we wyl come vnto hym, and dwell w hym. He that loueth me not, kepeth not my sayings. And the worde which ye heare, is not myne, but the fathers which sent me.

These thynges haue I spoken vnto you, being yett present with you. But the comforter which is the holy ghoost, whom my father will sende in my name, he shall teach you all thynges, & bypnyng all thynges to your remembrance whatsoeuer I haue sayd vnto you.

Peace I leaue with you, my peace I geue vnto you. Not as the worlde geueth, geue I vnto you. Lett not your hertes be greued, neither feare. Ye haue hearde howe I sayde vnto you: I go, and come agayne vnto you. If ye loued me, ye wolde verely reioyse, because I sayd: I go vnto the father, for the father is greater then I. * And now haue I shewed you befoze it come, that when it is come to passe, ye myght beleue. Here after wyl I not talke many wordes vnto you. For the prince of this worlde cometh, and hath naught in me. But yf yf worlde maye knowe that I loue the father. And as the father gaue me commaundment, euen so do I. * I saye, let vs go hence.

The. xlv. Chapter.

The true vyne, the husbandman and the husbandman. A doctrine of loue and a sweete comfort agaynst persecucion.

I am the true vyne, and my father is the husbandman. Every braunche that beareth not frute in me, he will take awaye. And euery braunche that beareth frute, will he purge, that it maye bring forth moze frute. * Nowe are ye cleane thorow the wordes which I haue spoken vnto you. Wyde in me, and I in you. As the braunche cannot beare frute of it selfe, except it hyde in the vyne: nomore can ye, except ye abyde in me. I am yf vyne, ye are the braunches.

And ye shall beare witnesse also, because ye haue bene with me from the begynning.

The. xvi. Chapter.

Consolacyon agaynst trouble. Dispersed are hearde thowen thys.

These thynges haue I sayde vnto you because ye shuld not be offended. * They shall excommunicate you: ye the tyme shall come, that whosoener kylleth you, will thinke that he doth God seruyce. * And such thynges will they do vnto you, because they haue not knowen the father, neither yet me. But these thynges haue I tolde you, that when yf tyme is come, ye maye remember then that I tolde you. * These thynges sayde I not vnto you at the begynninge, because I was present with you.

* But now I go my waye to hym that sent me, & none of you asketh me whyther I go. But because I haue sayd suche thynges vnto you, your hertes are full of sorowe. Nevertheless, I tel you the treuth, it is expedient for you, yf I goo awaye. For yf I goo not awaye, that comforter wyl not come vnto you. But yf I departe, * I wyl sende hym vnto you. And when he is come, he wyl rebuke the worlde of synne, and of righte wenes, & of iudgement. Of synne, because they beleue not on me. Of righte wenes, because I go to my father, and ye shall see me nomore: Of iudgement, because the prince of this worlde is iudged all ready.

I haue yett many thynges to saye vnto you but ye cannot beare them awaye now. Howbeit when he is come (which is the spere of treuth) he will leade you into all treuth. He shall not speake of hym selfe: but whatsoeuer he shall heare, that shall he speake, and he will shewe you thynges to come. He shall glorify me, for he shall receaue of myne, & shall shewe vnto you. * All thynges that the father hath, are myne. Therefore sayde I vnto you, that he shall take of myne and shewe vnto you.

* After a while ye shall not see me, and agayne after a while ye shall see me: for I go to the father. When sayde some of hys discyples betwene them selues: what is thys that he saith vnto vs, after a while, ye shall not see me, and agayne after a while ye shall see me: and that I go to the father? They sayd therefore: what is this that he sayth: after a while we cannot tell what he sayth. Iesus perceaued, that they wolde aske him, and sayde vnto them. Ye enquire of this betwene your selues, because I sayde after a while ye shall not see me, & agayne after a while ye shall see me. Ierely verely, I saye vnto you: ye shall wepe and lamente, but contrary wyse, the worlde shall reioyse. Ye shall sorowe, but yf sorowe shall be turned to ioye.

braunches. He that abyde in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth moche frute. For without me can ye do nothing. If a man abyde not in me, he is cast forth as a braunche, & is withered: and men gather them: and cast the into the fyre, and they burne. * If ye abyde in me, and my wordes abyde in you: aske what ye wyl, and it shall be done for you. * Herin is my father glorified: that ye beare moche frute, and become my disciples.

As the father hath loued me, enen so haue I also loued you. Continue ye in my loue. If ye kepe my commaundementes, ye shall hyde in my loue, euen as I haue kepte my fathers commaundementes, & hyde in hys loue. These thynges haue I spoken vnto you, yf my lope myght remayne vnto you, and that your lope myght be full.

* Thys is my commaundement, that ye loue together, as I haue loued you. Greater loue hath no man, then thys: that a man bestowe hys lyfe for his frendes. Ye are my frendes, yf ye do whatsoeuer I commaunde you. Hence forth call I you not seruautes: for the seruaunt knoweth not what hys lord doeth. But you haue I called frendes: for all thynges that I haue heard of my father, haue I opened to you.

Ye haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeyned you, to goo, and bypnyng forth frute, and yf your frute shuld remayne, that whatsoeuer ye aske of the father in my name, he maye geue it you.

* This commaunde I you, that ye loue together. If the worlde hate you, ye knowe that it hated me befoze it hated you. If ye were of the worlde, the worlde wolde loue his awne: howbeit, because ye are not of yf worlde. But I haue chose you out of yf worlde. Therefore the worlde hateth you. Remember the worde that I sayd vnto you: the seruaunt is not greater then the lord. * If they haue persecuted me, they wyl also persecute you. If they haue kept my saying, they will kepe your also.

* But all these thynges wyl they do vnto you for my names sake, because they haue not knowen hym that sent me. If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they shuld haue had no synne: but now haue they nothyng to cloke their synne withall. He that hateth me, hateth my father also: If I had not done amonge them the workes which none other man dyd, they shuld haue had no synne. But now haue they both sene, & hated: not onely me but also my father. But thys happeneth that the sayinge myght be fulfilled, that is written in their lawe: * they hated me without a cause. * But when the comforter is come, whom I will sende vnto you from yf father (enen the spere of treuth, which proceedeth of the father) he shall testifie of me.

A woman when she travaileth, hath sorow, because her houre is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the childe, she remembereth nomore the anguish, for ioye that a man is borne into the worlde. And ye now therefore haue sorow: but I will se you agayne, and your hertes shall reioyse, and your ioye shall noman take fro you. And in f dave shall ye aske me no question. And verily, I saye vnto you: whatsoeuer ye shall aske f father in my name, he wyll geue it you. hyther to haue ye asked nothyng in my name. Aske, and ye shall receaue: that poure ioye maye be full.

These thinges haue I spoke vnto you by prouerbes. The tyme will come, when I shall nomore speake vnto you: by prouerbes: but I shall shewe you playnly from my father. At f dave shall ye aske in my name. And I saye not vnto you that I will speake vnto my father for you. For the father him selfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, and haue beleued, that I came out fro God. I wet out fro the father, and came into the worlde. Agayne, I leaue the worlde, and go to the father.

His disciples sayd vnto him: lo, now talkest thou playnly, and speakest no prouerbe. Now are we sure, that thou knowest all thinges, and needest not, that any man shulde aske the any question. Therefore beleue we, f thou camest from God. Iesus answered them: Now ye do beleue. Behold, the honore draweth nye, and is all ready come, f ye shall be scattered euery ma to his owne, & shal leaue me alone. And yet am I not alone. For the father is with me.

These wordes haue I spoken vnto you, that in me ye myghte haue peace. For in the worlde shall ye haue tribulacion: but he of good chere, I haue overcome the worlde.

¶ The. xviij. Chapter.

¶ The most hartly and louing prayer of Christ vnto his father, for all such as receaue the treuth.

These wordes spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and sayde: father, the houre is come: glorify thy sonne that thy sonne also maye glorify the: as thou hast geuen him power ouer all flesh, that he shuld geue eternall lyfe to as many as thou hast geuen him. This is lyfe eternal, f they might knowe the, the onely true God, & Iesus Christ whom thou hast sent.

I haue glorified the on the erth. I haue finished the worke, which thou gauest me to do. And now glorifye thou me (father) with thyne owne self, with the glory, which I had with the, per the worlde was. I haue declared thy name vnto the me, which thou gauest me out of the worlde. Thyne they were, and thou gauest them me, and they haue kept thy worde. Now they haue knowen, f all thinges whatsoeuer thou hast geuen me, are of the. For I haue geuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest me, and they haue receaued them, and haue knowen surely, that I came out from the: and they haue beleued, that thou diddest send me.

I praye for the, & I praye not for the worlde: but for them which thou hast geuen me, for they are thyne. And all myne are thyne, & thyne are myne, & I am glorified in the. And now I am not in the worlde, and they are in the worlde, and I come to the. Holy father, kepe thozow thine owne name, them which thou hast geuen me, f they also maye be one, as we are. Whyle I was with the in the worlde, I kepte the in thy name. Those that thou gauest me, haue I kepte, and none of them is lost, but that lost childe, & that the scripture might be fulfilled.

Now come I to the, & these wordes spake I in the worlde, that they might haue my ioye full in them. I haue geuen the thy worde, and the worlde hath hated them, because they are not of the worlde, euen as I also am not of the worlde. I desyre not that thou shouldest take them out of the worlde: but that thou kepe them from euill. They are not of the worlde, as I also am not of the worlde. Sanctify them thozow thy treuth. Thy word is the treuth. As thou dydest send me into the worlde, euen so haue I also sent them into f worlde, & for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also myght be sanctified thozow the treuth.

Reuertheles, I praye not for the alone, but for them also which shall beleue on me thozow thy preaching: that they al maye be one, as thou father art in me, and I in the, and that they also maye be one i vs: that the worlde maye beleue, that thou hast sent me: And the glory which thou gauest me, I haue geuen them, that they maye be one, as we also are one. I in the, and thou in me, f they maye be made perfecte in one, & f the worlde maye knowe, that thou hast sent me, ad hast loued them as thou hast loued me.

Father, I will that they which thou hast geuen me be with me where I am, f they maye se my glory, which thou hast geue me. For thou louedest me before the making of the worlde. O righteous father, f worlde also hath not knowe the: but I haue knowe the: and these haue knowen, that thou hast sent me. And I haue declared vnto them thy name, and will declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me, maye be in them, & I in them.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

¶ Christ is betrayed. The wordes of his mouth synne the officers to the grounde. Peter smiteth of Malchus eare. Iesus ys brought before Anna, Cayphas, and Pylate.

When

When Iesus had spoke these wordes, he wet forth with his disciples ouer the broke Cedron, wher was a garde, into f which he entred and his disciples. Judas also which betrayed him, knewe the place: for Iesus ofte tymes resorted thither with his disciples. Judas then after he had receaued a bonde of men, (and mynysters of the hye prestes & pharises) came thither with lanternes, and fyerbrandes, and wepens.

And Iesus knowyng all thynges that shulde come on hym, went forth, and sayde vnto them: whom seke ye? They answered hi: Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus sayeth vnto them: I am he. Judas also which betrayed hym, stode with them. As soon then as he had sayde vnto the, I am he, they went backwarde and fell to the grounde. Then asked he the agayne: whom seke ye? They sayde: Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus answered: I haue tolde you, that I am he. If ye seke me therefore, lett these goe their waye. That the saying might be fulfilled which he spake: of them which thou gauest me, haue I not lost one.

Then Simon Peter hauyng a swearde, drew it, and smote the hye prestes seruaunt, and cut of his ryght eare. The seruautes name was Malchus. Therefore sayeth Iesus vnto Peter: put vp thy swearde into the sheath: shall I not dryncke of the cup, which my father hath geuen me? Then the company and the Captayne, and mynysters of the Jewes toke Iesus, and bounde hym, and led him awaye to Anna fyrst: for he was father in lawe vnto Cayphas, which was the hye preste that same yere. Cayphas was he, which gaue counsell to the Jewes that it was expedient, that one man shulde dye for the people.

And Symon Peter folowed Iesus, and so dyd another discypyle: that discypyle was knowe vnto the hye preste, & went in with Iesus into the palace of the hye preste. But Peter stode at the doore without. Then wet out that other discypyle (which was knowen vnto the hye preste) and spake to the damsell that kept the doore, and brought in Peter. Then sayde the damsell that kept the doore, vnto Peter. Art not thou also one of this mannes disciples? he sayde: I am not. The seruautes and the ministers stode there, which had made a fyer of coles: for it was colde, ad they warmed them selues. Peter also stode amonge them, and warmed hym.

The hye preste then asked Iesus of his disciples and of his doctryne. Iesus answered hym: I spake openly in the worlde. I ener taught in the synagoge, and in the temple, whither all the Jewes resort, and in secret haue I sayde nothyng. Why askest thou me? Aske them which hearde me, what I haue sayd vnto them. Beholde, they can tell what I sayde. When he had thus spoken, one of the ministers which stode by, smote Iesus on the face, sayinge: answerest thou the hye preste so? Iesus answered hym: If I haue euill spoken, beare witnes of the euill: But yf I haue well spoken, why synnest thou me? And Annas sent hym bounde vnto Cayphas the hye preste.

Symon Peter stode, ad warmed him selfe. The sayde they vnto hym: art not thou also one of his disciples? he denyed it, & sayde: I am not. One of the seruautes of the hye prestes (his cosyn whose eare Peter smote of) sayde vnto hym: dyd not I se the in f garde with him? Peter therefore denyed agayne: and immediatly the cocke crewe. Then led they Iesus from Cayphas to the hall of iudgement. It was in the moonyng, & they them selues went not into f iudgement hall lest they shulde be defyled, but that they myght cate Pasceuer. Pylate then wet out vnto the and sayde: what accusacion byng ye agaynst this man? They answered and sayde vnto him: If he were not an euill doer we wolde not haue deliuered him vnto the. Then sayde Pylate vnto the: take ye hym, & iudge him after youre owne lawe. The Jewes therefore sayd vnto hi: It is not lawfull for vs to put any ma to deeth. That the wordes of Iesus myght be fulfilled: which he spake, signyfeng, what deeth he shuld dye.

Then Pylate entred into the iudgement hall agayne, and called Iesus, and sayde vnto hym: art thou the kyng of the Jewes? Iesus answered: sayst thou that of thy selfe, or dyd other tell it the of me? Pylate answered: Am I a Jewe? Thyne owne nacion and hye prestes haue deliuered the vnto me. What hast thou done? Iesus answered: my kyngdome is not of this worlde. If my kyngdome were of this worlde, the wolde my mynysters surely fygth, that I shulde not be deliuered to the Jewes, but now is my kyngdome not fro hence. Pylate therefore sayde vnto hi: Art thou a kyng then? Iesus answered: thou sayst that I am a kyng. For this cause was I borne, & for this cause came I to the worlde, that I shulde beare witnes vnto f treuth. And all that are of the treuth, heare my voyce. Pylate sayde vnto him, what thyng is treuth? And when he had sayde this, he went out agayne vnto the Jewes, ad sayeth vnto the. I fynde in him no cause at all. He haue a custome, that I shulde deliuer you one looser at Easter. Wyll ye that I lose vnto you f kyng of the Jewes? Then cryed they all agayne, sayinge. Not hym, but Barrabas: the same Barrabas was a murderer.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

¶ Christ is crucified. The complaynt of his mother vnto John, dyed, and is buried.

If v Then

The Pilate toke Ies^{us} therfore, & scourged hym. * And the souldiers wounde a crowne of thornes, and put it on his heed. And they dyd on him a purple garment, & and came vnto hym, and sayde: halloynge of the Jewes: and they smote hym on the face. Pilate wote forthagayne, and sayde vnto them: beholde, I byynge hym forth to you, that ye maye knowe, that I fynde no faulte in hym. Then came Iesus forth, wearynge a crowne of thorne, and a robe of purple. And he sayeth vnto the: beholde the ma.

* When the hie prestes therfore and ministers sawe hym, they cryed sayinge: crucify hym, crucify hym. Pilate sayeth vnto them: Take ye him, and crucify him: for I fynde no cause in him. The Jewes answered him: We haue * a lawe, and by oure lawe he ought to dye: because he made hym selfe the sonne of God. Whē Pilate hearde þ sayinge, he was the more afrayde, and went agayne into þ iudgemēt hall, and sayeth vnto Iesus: whēce arte thou? But Iesus gaue him none answer. Then sayde Pilate vnto him: Speakest thou not vnto me: knowest þ not, that I haue power to crucify the, and haue power to loose the? Iesus answered: Thou couldest haue no power at all agaynst me, * except it were geuen the fro above. Therfore he that deliuered me vnto the, hath the more synne.

* And from thence forth lought Pilate meannes to loose hym: but the Jewes cryed sayinge: yf thou let him go, thou art not Cēlars frende. For * whosoever maketh hym selfe a kynge, is agaynst Cēlar.

Whē Pilate hearde þ sayinge, he brought Iesus forth, and late downe to geue sentence, in a place þ is called þ pauement: but in þ he byue tonge, Sabbathā. It was þ preparyng daye of the easter, aboute þ fyfte houre. And he sayeth vnto þ Jewes: beholde poure kyng? They cryed, a waye whi, a waye whi, crucifye hym. Pilate saith vnto the: shall I crucifye poure kyng? The hie prestes answered: we haue no kyng but Cēlar. * Then deliuered he hym vnto them, to be crucified.

And they toke Iesus, and led hym away. And he bare his crosse, * and went forth into a place, which is called þ ce of deed, mesculles. But i hebrue, Golgotha: where they crucified hym, and two oth^{er} with hym, on either syde one, ad Iesus in the myddes. And Pilate wote a tytle, & put it on the crosse. The wyrtynge was, Iesus of Nazareth kynge of the Jewes. Chyspele reddy many of the Jewes. For þ place where Ies^{us} was crucified, was nye to the cytpe. And it was wyrtten in hebrue, and Greke and Latyn. Then sayde the hie prestes of the Jewes to Pilate: wyrtte not kyng of the Jewes, but that he sayde, I am kynge of the Jewes. Pilate answered: what I haue wyrtten, that haue I wyrtten. Then the souldiers, * when they had crucified Iesus, they toke his garmētes & made foure partes, to euery souldier a parte, & also his coate. The coate was without seme, wrought vpo thozowe out. They sayd therfore amonge them selues: Let vs not deuyde it, but cast lotes for it, who shall haue it. That the scripture myght be fulfilled, sayinge: * They parted mycymment amonge the, and for my coate dyd they cast lotes. And the souldiers dyd soch thynges in dede.

There stode by the crosse of Iesus his mother, and his mothers syster, Mary the wyfe of Cleophas, & Mary Magdalene. Whē Iesus therfore sawe his mother, & þ disciple stōdige * whō he loued, he sayeth vnto his mother: womā, beholde thy sone. Then sayde he to þ disciple: beholde thy mother. And from þ houre the disciple toke her for his awne.

haue I wyrtten.

After these thinges, Iesus knowinge that all thynges were now performed: þ the scripture myght be fulfilled: he sayeth: I thurst. So ther stode a vessel by, full of veneger. * Therfore they fylled a spōge with veneger and wounde it about with ylope, and put it to his mouth. Allone as Iesus then receaued of the veneger, he sayde. * It is fynished, & bowed his heed, and gaue vp the goost. The Jewes therfore because it was the preparig of the Sabbath, that þ bodyes shuld not remayne vpon the crosse on the sabboth daye (for that sabboth daye was an hie daye) he sought Pilate, þ their legges might be broke and that they might be taken downe. Then came the souldiers, and brake the legges of þ fyrst, and of the other which was crucified with him. But when they came to Iesus: ad sawe þ he was deed already, they brake not his legges: but one of the souldiers w a spear, thrust him into the syde, ad forth with came ther out bloude and water.

And he þ sawe it, bare record, & his record is true. And he knoweth þ he sayth true, that ye might beleue also. For these thinges were done, þ þ scripture shulde be fulfilled. * Ye shall not breake a bone of him. And agayne another scripture sayeth: * they shall loke on him, whō they pearled. * After this, Ioseph of Aramathia (which was a disciple of Iesus: but secretly for feare of the Jewes) he sought Pilate, that he might take downe the body of Iesus. And Pilate gaue him licence.

And ther came therfore, and toke the body of Iesus. And ther cā also Nicodemus (which at þ begynnyng came to Iesus by night) & brought of myrrre and aloes mingled together, aboute an hundred pounde wayght. Then toke they þ body of Iesus, & wounde it in linnen clothes w the odoures, as the maner of the Jewes is to bury. And in the place where he was crucified, there was a garden, and in þ garden a newe sepulchre, wherē was neuer mā layd. There layde they Iesus therfore, because of þ preparyng of the Sabbath of the Jewes for the sepulchre was nye at hande. ¶ The xx. Chapter. ¶ The resurreccion of Chyrd, which appeareth to Mary Magdalene and to all his disciples, to the great consoyre.

the fyrst daye of the Sabbathes cā Mary Magdalene early (when it was yet darcke) vnto þ sepulchre, ad sawe the stone taken awaye fro the graue. Then she rāne, and came to Symon Peter, and to the other discypyle * whō Iesus loued, ad sayeth vnto the. They haue take awaye þ Lorde out of the graue, & we cānot tell where they haue layde him. Peter therfore went forth, & that other discypyle, ad came vnto þ sepulchre. They rāne both together, & the other discypyle dyd out rāne Peter, & came fyrst to the sepulchre. And whā he had stowped downe he sawe the linnen clothes lyenge, yet wēt he not in. * Then came Symon Peter, folowinge him, & went into þ sepulchre, & sawe þ linnen clothes lye, & þ napkin that was aboute his heed, not lyeinge w the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe. Then went in also þ other discypyle, which came fyrst to þ sepulchre, and he sawe & beleued. For as yet they knew not þ scripture, that he shulde ryse agayne fro deeth. * Then the disciples wēt awaye agayne vnto they awne home.

* Mary stode without at þ sepulchre wepyng. So as she wepte, she bowed her selfe into þ sepulchre, & seeth two angels clothed in whyte, sytting, þ one at the heed & þ other at þ fete, where they had layde the body of Ies^{us}. They saye vnto her, womā, why wepest thou? She sayeth vnto the: for they haue take awaye my Lord, & I wote not where they haue layde hi. Whē she had thus sayd, she turned her selfe backe, & sawe Iesus stōdige, and knewe not þ it was Iesus: Iesus sayeth vnto her: woman, why wepest thou? Whō sekest thou? She supposing that he had bene a gardener, sayeth vnto him. Syr: yf I haue bozne hi hence, tell me wher I haue layde him, ad I wyll fet him. Iesus sayeth vnto her: Mary. She turned for selfe, & sayd vnto hym: Rabboni, which is to saye, master. Iesus sayeth vnto her, & touche me not, for I am not yet ascended to my father. But go to * my bethre, & saye vnto the: * I ascende vnto my father & poure father: & to my God, & poure God. * Mary Magdalene came & tolde þ disciples, þ she had sene the Lorde, ad that he had spoke soch thynges vnto her.

* The same daye at night: which was the fyrst daye of þ Sabbathes, when þ dozes were shut (where þ disciples were assembled together for feare of þ Jewes) came Iesus, and stode in the myddes, & saith vnto them:

As my father * sent me, eue so sende I you also. And whē he had sayd those wordes, he brythed on them and sayeth vnto them: Receaue ye þ holy goost. * But * Thomas one of þ twelue, which is called Didymus) was not w the whē Iesus came. The other disciples therfore sayde vnto hi: we haue sene þ Lorde. But he sayde vnto the: except I se in his handes þ prynt of þ napples, & thrust my hande into þ prynt of þ napples, & thrust my hande into his syde, I will not beleue. And after. viij. dayes, agayne his disciples were w in, & Thomas w the. Then came Iesus when þ dozes were shut, & stode in the myddes, and sayde: peace be vnto you.

After þ sayd he to Thomas: bryge thy fyngger hether, & se my handes, & reach hither thy hāde, & thrust it into my syde, & be not sayth lesse, but beleuinge. Thomas answered, and sayde vnto him: my Lorde, & my God: Iesus sayeth vnto hi: Thomas, because þ hast sene me, thou hast beleued, blessed are they that haue not sene, and yet haue beleued.

* And many other synnes truly dyd Ies^{us} in the presence of his disciples, which are not wyrtten in this boke. These are writte, that ye myght beleue, that Iesus is Chyrd þ sone of God, and that (in beleuyng) ye myght haue lye thozow his name.

The Actes of the Apostles.

The fyrst Chapter. ✠

The ascension of Christ, Mathias is chosen in the stead of Judas.

In former treatyse (Dea-re Theophyl) we have spoken of all that Jesus bega-ne to do and teache, vntyll the daye i which he was take vp, after that he, thozow the holy goost, had geue comaundmētes vnto the Apostles, whom he had chosen: to whom also he * shewed hym selfe alpye after hys passion (and that by many tokens) apparenyng vnto them fourtye dayes, and speakyng of the kyngdome of God, and gathered them together, * and comaunded them, that they shulde not departe from Ierusalem: but to waite for the promys of the father * wherof (sayeth he) ye haue hearde of me. For * John truly baptysed with water, but ye shalbe baptyfed with the holy goost after these seauē dayes.
Whē they therfore were come together, they asked of him, sayinge: Lorde, wilt thou at this tyme, restore agayne the kyngdome to Israel? And he sayde vnto them: * It is not for you to knowe the tymes, or the seasons, which the father hath put i his awne power: but * ye shal receaue power after that the holy goost is come vpon you. And * ye shalbe witnesses vnto me not onely in Ierusalem, but also in all Jewry and in Samary, and euen vnto the worldes ende.

And when he had spoken these thynges, * whyle they beheld, * he was take vp an hye,
* a cloude receaued him vp out of their sight.
And while they looked stedfastly vp towarde heaue, as he went, beholde, two men stode by them in whyte apparell, which also sayd: ye men of Galile, why stande ye gasyng vp into heauen? This same Jesus which is taken vp from you into heaue, * shall so come, euen as ye haue sene hi go into heaue. *
Then returned they vnto Ierusalem from p mount (that is called Olpue) which is frō Ierusalem, a Saboth dayes iorney. And whē they were come in, they went vp into a par-ler, where abode both * Peter and James, and John and Andrew, Philip & Thomas, Barthelemew & Mathew, James p soune of Alphens, and Simō zelotes, and Judas the brother of James. These all contynued with one accorde in prayer and supplicacyon with the women & Mary p mother of Iesu, and with hys brethzen.

✠ And in those dayes Peter stode vp in the myddes of the disciples, and sayde (the nombze nombze of names that were together, were aboute an hundred and twentye.) Ye men & brethren, thys scripture must haue nedes be fulfylled, which the holy goost thozowe the mouth of Dauid spake befoze of Judas, * which was gyde to them that toke Iesus.

* For he was nombred with vs, and had ob-tayne felowshyp in thys mynystacyon.
And the same hath now possessed a plat of grounde with the rewarde of iniquite: and when he was * hanged, he burst a sonde in the myddes, and all his bowels gushyd out.
And it is knowen vnto all the inhabitants of Ierusalem: in so much that the same felde is called in their mother tōge, Acheldama, that is to saye, the bloude felde.

For it is wyrtten in p boke of Psalmes:
* hys habitacyon be voyde, and no man be dwellynge therein: * and his Byschopycke let another take. Wherfore of these mē which haue companied with vs (all the tyme that the Lorde Iesus had all hys conuerlacyn amonge vs, begynnynge at the baptye of John, vnto that same daye that he was take vp from vs) must one be ordeyned, to be a witness with vs of hys resurreccyon.

And they apoynted two, Joseph which is called Barsabas (whose surname was Jus-tus) and Mathias, And when they prayed they sayde: thou Lorde, which * knowest the hertes of all mē, shewe whether of these two thou hast chosen: that he maye take the roume of thys mynistracyon and Apostleshipp, from which Judas by transgressyon fell, that he myght go to hys awne place. And they gaue forth their lottes, and the lot fel on Mathias, and he was counted with the eleuen Apostles. ✠

The ij. Chapter. ✠

The coming of the holy goost. The sermon of Peter before the congregacyon at Ierusalem, and the increase of the saythfull.

When * the fyfthe dayes were come to an ende, they were all with one accorde together in one place. And sodenly ther came a soude from heaue, as it had bene the commynge of a myghe wynde, and it fylled all the house where they late. And there appered vnto them clouen tonges, lyke as they had bene of fyre, and it late vpon eache one of them: * and they were all fylled with the holy goost, and beganne to speake with other tonges, euen as the same sprete gaue them utteraunce.

Ther were dwellynge at Ierusalem, Jewes, deuoute men, out of euery nacyon of the that are vnder heauen. When thys was noyed aboute, the multitude came together, & were astōnyed, because that euery man hearde the speake with his awne langage. They wondred all, and marueyled, sayinge among the selues: beholde, are not all these which speake, of Galile? And how heare we euery man his awne tong, wherein we were borne: Parthians, and Medes and Elamites, and the inhabiters of Mesopotamia, and of Turp, and of Capadocia, of Bonthus and Asia, Phry-gia, and Pamphilia, of Egypte, and of the partyes of Lybia which is beyd: Syren, adstraungers of Rome, Jewes & * Pro-selites. Grekes and Arabians: we haue herd them speake in oure awne tonges the greate wordes of God. ✠ They were all amazed, and wondered, sayinge one to another: what meaneeth this? Other mocked, sayinge: these men are full of new wyne.

✠ But Peter stepped forth with p cleue, and lyft vp his voyce, and sayde vnto them: Ye men of Jewrye, and all ye that dwell at Ierusalem: be this knowē vnto you, & with poure eares heare my wordes. For these are not dronken, as ye suppose, seynge it is but p thyrde houre of the daye. But this it that which was spoken by the Prophete Joel: And it shalbe in the last dayes, sayth God: of my sprete I wyll pooze out vpon all fleshe.
* And poure sonnes & poure daughters shal prophesy, and poure pongemen shal se vysions, and poure olde men shal dreame drames. And on my seruantes, & on my hande maydens I wyll pooze out of my sprete in those dayes, and they shal prophesy. And * I wyll shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the erth beneth, bloud and fyre and the vapour of smoke. The sunne shalbe turned into darcknes, & the moone into blou-de, befoze that great and notable daye of the Lorde come. And it shal come to passe, that
* whosoener shal call on the name of the Lorde, shalbe saued. ✠

✠ Ye men of Israel, heare these wordes: Jesus of Nazareth a man aproued of God amonge you with myracles, wordes and sygnes, which God dyd by hym in the myd-des of you (as ye poure selues knowe) hym haue ye taken by the hādes of darpyghtewes persones, after he was deliuered by the determinat counsell & foreknowledge of God, & haue crucified and slayne him: whom God hath rayled vp, & looked p sorowes of deeth, because it was vnpōssible, p he shulde be holde of it. For Dauid speaketh of him. * A fore hande I sawe God alwayes befoze me: for he is on my ryght hande, that I shulde not be moued. Therfore dyd my hert reioyce, & my tonge was glad. Moreover also my fleshe shal rest in hope, because thou wilt not leaue my soule in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine holye to se corrupcion. Thou shalt shewe me the wayes of lyfe, thou shalt make me full of ioye with thy countenaunce. ✠

Ye men and brethren, let me frely speake vnto you of the patriarke Dauid: * For he is both

vnto him (for he was naked) & sprāge into p see. The other disciples came by thyp for they were not farre frō lande, but as yt were two hōdred cubites, & they drew p net w fishes.
None then as they were come to lande, they sawe hōte coles, & fische layd therō, & breed.
Jesus sayeth vnto the. * bynge of p fische which ye haue now caught: Symon Peter went vp, & drew p net to lande full of great fysches, an hōdred & lxxij. And for all ther were so many, yet was not the net broke. Jesus sayeth vnto the: come & dyne. And none of p disciples burst aske hi: what art p? For they knewe p it was the Lorde. Jesus then came, and toke breed, & gaue them, and fische lykewyse. This is nowē the thyrde tyme p Jesus appeared to hys disciples, after that he was rised agayne from deeth. ✠

✠ So when they had dyed, Jesus sayeth to Symō Peter: Symō Ioāna, louest thou me more then these? he sayd vnto hi: ye Lorde, p knowest, p I loue p. he sayeth vnto him: fe-de my lābes. he sayeth to him agayne p secō-de tyme: Symon Ioāna, louest thou me? he saith vnto him. Yee Lorde, p knowest that I loue p. he sayde vnto him: fede my shepe. he sayde vnto him p thyrde tyme: Symō Ioāna, louest thou me? Peter was sorry, because he sayde vnto hym the thyrde tyme: louest thou me, and he sayde vnto hym: Lorde, thou knowest all thinges, thou knowest that I loue p, Jesus saith vnto him: fede my shepe.

✠ Clerely, verely, I saue vnto the: whē thou wast yong, p gerdest thy selfe, & walkedst whither thou woldest: but when thou art olde, * thou shalt stretch forth thy handes, & another shal gyde the, & leade the whither thou woldest not. That spake he, sygnify-nge, by what death he shuld glorifye God.

And when he had spoken thys, he sayeth vnto hi: ✠ folowe me. Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple * whom Jesus loued, folowynge (which also leane on hys brest at supper, and sayde: Lorde, which is he that betrayeth the?) When Peter therfore sawe him, he sayeth to Jesus: Lorde, what shal he here do? Jesus sayeth vnto hym, If I wyll haue him to tary tyll I come, what is that to the? folowe p me. Then went thys sayinge abroade among the brethren, that p discipple shulde not dye. Yet Jesus sayde not to hym, he shal not dye: but p I wyll p he tary tyll I come, what is that to p? The same discipple is he, which testifieth of these thynges, and wrote these thynges. And we knowe, p hys testimony is true. ✠ * There are also many other thynges which Jesus dyd, the which yf they shulde be wyrtten euery one, I suppose the worlde coulde not cōtayne the bookes that shulde be wyrtten.

is both deed and buryed, and hys sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this daye. Therefore, sence he was a Prophet, and knewe þe God had sworne with an othe to him, that Christ (as concerninge the flesch) shulde come of the frute of his loynes, and on hys seat, he knowyng this befoze, spake of the resurrecyon of Christ, that his soule shulde not be left in hell: neither hys flesch shulde be corruptyon.

* Actes. i. a. This Iesus hath God rayled vp, * wherof we all are witnesses.

Sence now that he by the ryght hande of God exalted is, and hath receaued of the father the promyse of the holy goost, he hath shewed forth thys (apostle) which ye now se and heare. For Dauid is not ascendyd into heuē: but he sayeth: * The Lord sayde to my Lord: syt thou on my ryght hand, vntyll I make thy foes thy fote stole. So therefore, let all the house of Israel knowe for a surety, þe God hath made that same Iesus (whom ye haue crucified) Lorde and Christ.

* Luke. ix. b.

When they hearde this, they were pricked in their hertes, and sayd vnto Peter, & vnto the other Apostles: Ve me & brethren * what shall we do? Peter sayde vnto them: repent of youre synnes, and be baptysed euery one of you in the name of Iesus Christ for the remission of synnes, and ye shall receaue the gyfte of þe holy goost. For the promyse was made vnto you and to youre chyldren, and to all that are a farre of, euen as many as the Lorde oure God shall call. And with many other wordes bare he witness, and exhorted them, sayinge: Saue youre selues from this vntowarde generacion. Then they gladly receaued his preachinge, were baptised: and the same daye, ther were added vnto them aboute thre thousande soules.

And they continued in the Apostles doctrine and felowshyp, & in breakyng of bread, and in prayers. And feare came ouer euery soule. And many wondrous & signes were shewed by þe Apostles, as at Jerusalem. And great feare came vpon all men. And all that beloued, kept them selues together, & had all thynges comen, and solde their possessions and goodes, and parted them to all men, as euerie man had nede. And they continued dayly with one accord in þe temple, & brake bread fro house to house, & dyd eate their meate together, wth gladnes & singlenes of hert, prayyinge God, and had fauour with all the people. And the Lorde added to þe congregacion dayly, soch as shulde be saued.

¶ The halt is restored to hys fete. Peter preacheth Christ vnto the people.

Peter and John went vp together into the temple at the nygth houre of prayer. And a certayne man that was halt from hys mothers wombe, was brought, whom they layde dayly at the gate of the temple (which is called beutyfull) to aske almes of them that entred into the temple. When he sawe Peter and John, that they wolde into the temple, he desyred to receaue an almes. And Peter fastened his eyes on him with John, & sayd: loke on vs. And he gaue hede vnto the, trustyng, to receaue some thyng of them. The sayde Peter: Syluer and golde haue I none such as I haue, geue I the. In the name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, * ryse vp and walke. And he toke hym by the ryght hand, and lyfte hym vp. And immediately hys fete and ancle bones receaued strength. And he sprang, stode, and walked, and entred with them into the temple, walkyng, and leapyng, and prayyinge God.

And all the people sawe hym walke and prayse God. And they knewe hym, þe it was he, which late and begged at the beutyfull gate of the temple. And they wondred and were soze astonied at that which had happened vnto hym. And as the halt which was healed, helde Peter and John, all the people ranne amased vnto the in * the porche that is called Salomons.

When Peter sawe that, he answered vnto the people. * Ye men of Isral, why maruaile ye at this, or why loke ye so on vs, as though by oure awne power or strength we had made thys man go? The God of Abraham, and of Isaac and of Jacob, the God of oure fathers hath glorified hys sonne Iesus, whom ye deliuered, * and denyed in þe presence of Pilate, when he had iudged hym to be loosed. But ye denyed the holy and iust, and desyred a mozt heret to be geuen you, and kylled * the Lorde of lyfe, whom God hath rayled from deeth, of the which we are witnesses. And hys name thorowe the fayth of his name, hath made this mā sound, who ye se and knowe. And the fayth which is by hym, hath geuen to hym thys health in the presence of you all.

And now brethren, I wote þe thorow ignorance ye dyd it, as dyd also youre rulers. But God (which befoze had shewed, by the mouth of all hys Prophetes, howe þe Christ shuld suffer) hath thus wylle fulfilled. Let it * repente you therefore, and tuerite, þe youre synnes maye be done awaye. * when þe tyme of restoracyng commeth, which we shall haue of the presence of the Lorde, and when God shal sende him, which befoze was preached vnto you, that is to witte Iesus Christ, which must receaue heauen vntyll the tyme that all thynges, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all hys holy Prophetes sence þe worlde began, be restored agayne.

Moses trulpe sayde vnto the fathers: * a Prophet shall the Lorde poure God rayle vp vnto you, eue of youre brethren lyke vnto me: him me: him shall ye heare, in all thynges whatsoever he shall saye vnto you. For the tyme wyl come, that euery soule which wyl not heare that same Prophet, shalbe destroyed from amonge the people. All the Prophetes also from Samuel and thence forth (as many as haue spoken) haue in lyke wyse tolde of these dayes.

Ye are the chyldren of the Prophetes, and of the couenant, which God made vnto oure fathers, sayinge to Abraham: * Euen in thy seede shal all the kynredes of the earth be blessed. If yllt whan God had rayled vp hys sonne Iesus vnto you, he sent hi to blesse you, that euery one of you shulde turne from his wyckednes.

¶ The Apostles are taken and brought before the counsell. They are forspoden to preache, but they tuerite them vnto prayer, and are more obedient vnto God then vnto men.

As they spake vnto the people, the prestes and the rulers of the temple, and the Saduces, came vpon the, takyng it greuously, that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus the resurrecyon from deeth. And they layde handes on them, and put them in holde vntyll þe nexte daye. for it was now euentide. Howbeit many of them which hearde the wordes beloued, and the nombze of the men was aboute fyue thousande.

And it chaunced on the morow, that their rulers and elders and Scribes, (and Annas the chiefe Priest, and Cayphas, and John, and Alexander, & as many as were of þe kynred of þe Priestes) gathered together at Jerusalem. And whā they had set them befoze them they asked * by what power, or in what name haue ye done this?

Then Peter full of þe holy goost sayde vnto the: ye rulers of the people, and elders of Isral, ye we this daye be examined of the good dede that we haue done to the speke mā by what meanes he is made whoale: be it known vnto you all, and to all the people of Isral, that by the name of * Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God rayled agayne from deeth: euen by him doth this mā stande here present befoze you whoale. * This is the stone which was cast asyde of you buylders, which is become the chiefe of the corner. Nether is there saluacyon in eny other. * For amonge men vnder heauen there is geuen none other name, wherin we must be saued.

When they sawe the boldnes of Peter and John, and understode that they were vnlearned and laye men, they marueled, and they knewe them, that they had bene with Iesu: and beholdyng also the man (which was healed) standyng with the, they coulde not saye agaynst it: but commanded them to go asyde out of þe counsell, and counceled amonge them selues, sayinge: * what shall we do to these men? For a manifest signe is done by them, and is openly known to all them that dwell in Jerusalem, and we cannot denye it. But that it be noyed no farther amonge the people, let vs threaten and charge the, þe they speake hence forth to no man in thys name.

And they called them, * and commanded them, that in nowise they shulde speake nether teach in þe name of Iesu. But Peter & John answered and sayde vnto them: whether it be ryght in þe sight of God, to hearken vnto you more then to God, iudge ye. For we cannot but speake, that which we haue seene & heard. So threatened they them, and let them go, and founde nothyng howe to punyssh the, because of the people. For all men prayled God because of * þe which was done: for the man was aboute fouerty peare olde, on whom thys myracle of healyng was shewed.

Allone as they were let go, they came to thei felowes, and shewed all that the hye Priestes and elders had sayde. And when they hearde þe, they lyfte vp their voyces to God with one accord, and sayde: Lorde, thou art God, which hast made heauen and erth, the see, & all that in the is, which (in the holy goost) by þe mouth of thy seruāt Dauid: (oure father) hast sayd: * Why dyd the hethe rage, and the people ymagen vayne thynges? The kynredes of the erth stode vp, and the rulers came together, agaynst the Lorde and agaynst hys anoynted.

For of a trouth, agaynst thy holy chyld Iesus (whom þe hast anoynted) both Herode and also Poncius Pilate, with the Scribes and the people of Isral, gathered them selues together: (in thys erth) for to do what: soeuer thy hande and thy counsell determyned befoze to be done. And now Lorde, behold their threatenynge, and graunte vnto thy seruantes, that with all confydence they maye speake thy worde. So that thou stretch forth thyn hande, that healyng and signes and wonders be done by the name of thy holy chyld Iesus. And allone as they had prayed: þe place moued where they were assembled together * and they were all fylled with the holy goost, and they spake the worde of God boldly.

¶ And the multitude of them that beleued, * were of one hert, & of one soule. Nether sayde anye of them, that ought of the thynges which he possessed, was hys awne: but they had all thynges comen. And with greute power gaue the Apostles wytnes of the resurrecyon of the Lord Iesu. And great grace was with them all. Nether was there eny amonge them, that lacked. For as many as were possessers of landes or houses, solde them, and brought þe pryce of þe thynges that were solde,

The. v. Chapter.

The dysciple of Ananias and Sapphira is punished. Miracles are done by the Apostles, which are taken, but the angel of God bringeth them out of prison. They are brought before the sentence of Gamaliel. The Apostles are in trouble.

A Certaine man named Ananias, as with Sapphira his wyfe solde a possession, and kepte awaye parte of the pryce (his wyfe also beyng of counsell) and brought a certayne parte, and layde it downe at the Apostles fete. But Peter sayde: Ananias, how is it, that Sathan hath fylled thyne heart, that thou shouldest lye vnto the holy goost, and kepe awaye parte of the pryce of the lande? Pertayned it not vnto the onely: & after it was solde, was it not in thyne awne power? Why hast thou concealed this thynge in thyne herte? Thou hast not lye vnto me, but vnto God. Whē Ananias herde these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the goost. And great feare came on all them that hearde these thynges. And the yonge men rose vp, and put hym a parte, and caried hym out, and buried hym.

And it fortuned, that (as it were aboute the space of thre houres after) his wyfe came in, ignorant of that which was done. And Peter sayde vnto her: Tell me, Solde ye not y^e lāde for so moch? And she sayd: yee, for so moch. Then Peter sayde vnto her: why haue ye agreed together, to tēpt the sprete of the Lorde? Beholde, the fete of them which haue buried thy husband, are at the doore, and shall carry the out. Then fell she downe strayght waye at his fete, and yelded vp y^e goost. And the yonge men came in, and founde her deed, & caried her out, & buried her by her husbande. And great feare came on all the congregacyon, and on as many as heard it.

* Actes. v.

* Actes. v.

By the handes of the Apostles, were many sygnes and wonderes shewed among the people. And they were all together with one accorde in Salomons porche. And of other durst no mā ioyne him self to the: neuertheles the people magnified them. The nombred of them that beleued in the Lorde both of men and women, grewe more & more: in so moch y^e they brought the spcke into the stretes, and layde them on beddes and couches, that at the least waye the shadowe of Peter when he came by, myght shadowe some of them, and that they might all be deliuered fro their infirmities.

There came also a multitude out of the cyties rounde aboute, vnto Ierusalem, byngynge speke folkes, and them which were vexed with vnclene spretes. And they were healed euery one.

* Then the chefe Prestre rose vp, and all they that were with him (which is the secte of the Saducees) and were full of indignaciō, and layde handes on the Apostles, and put them in the commē prison. * But the angell of the Lorde by nyght opened the prison doores, and brought them forth, and sayde: go, and stande, and speake in the temple to the people all y^e wordes of this lyfe. When they hearde that, they entred into the temple early in the mornynge: and taught. But the chefe prestre came and they that were with him, and called a counsell together, and all the elders of the chyl dren of Israel, and sent men to the prison, to fet them. When the mynysters came, and founde them not in the prison, they returned and tolde, sayinge: the prison truly founde we shut with all diligēce, and the keepers standynge without before the doores. But whē we had opened, we founde no mā within. When the chefe Prestre and the ruler of the temple, and the hye Prestres hearde these thynges, they doubted of the, wher vnto thys wolde growe.

Then came out and shewed them: beholde, the men that ye put in prison, stande in the temple, and teach the people: Then went the ruler of the temple, with ministres, and brought them without violence. For they feared the people, lest they shulde haue bene stoned. And when they had brought them, they set the before the counsell. And the chefe Prestre asked them, sayinge: * dyd not we straitely commaunde you: that ye shuld not teach in this name? And behold, ye haue fylled Ierusalem with poure doctryne, and intende to byrge * this mans bloud vpo vs.

Peter and the other Apostles answered, & sayde: * We ought more to obey God then me. The God of oure fathers rayled vp Iesus, whom ye slewe, and hanged on tre. hym hath God lyft vp with his ryght hand, to be a ruler and a saviour, for to geue repentaunce to Israel, and forgyuenes of synnes. And we are recordes of these thynges which we saye, and so is also y^e holy goost, whom God hath geuen to them y^e obey hym. Whē they hearde that, they claue asunder, and lought meanes to slee them. Then stode ther vp one in the counsell, a Pharisey, named * Gamaliel, a doctoure of lawe (had in reputacyon among all the people) and commaunded the Apostles to go asyde a lytell space, and sayd vnto the: ye men of Israel, take hede to poure selues, what ye entende to do, as touchynge these inf. nombze of men, about a foure hundred, which was slayn: and they all which beleued hym, were scatred abrode, and brought to nought. After this mā, was ther one Judas of Galile in the dayes of the tribute, and drewe awaye moche people after hym. he also perished and all, enen (as many as harkened to him) were scatred abrode.

And now I saye vnto you: refraine your selues from these men, and lett them alone. For yf this counsel or this worke be of men, it wyll come to naught. But and yf it be of God, ye cannot destroye it, lest haply ye be founde to stryue agaynst God. And to hym agreed the other: and whan they had called the apostles, they bet them, * and commaunded that they shulde not speake in the name of Iesu, and let them go.

And they departed from the counsell, Treioplunge, that they were counted worthy, to suffre rebuke for his name. And dayly in the temple and in euery house they ceased not, to teach and preach Iesus Christ.

The. vi. Chapter.

The ministers (or deacons) are ordeined in the congregation to do seruyce in necessary thynges of the body, that the apostles maye waite only vpo the worde of God. Steuen is accused.

In those dayes (whā the number of the discyples grewe) there arose a grudge amonge the Iewes agaynst the hebreues, because their weddinges were delysed: in the dayly ministracyon. Then the twelue called the multitude of the discyples together and sayde, it is not mete, that we shuld leane the worde of God: and serue tables. Wherfore brethren, loke ye out amonge you seuen men * of honeste report, and full of the holy ghost and wisdom, to whom we maye committe this busynes. But we wyll geue oure selues continually to prayer, and to the ministracyō of the worde. And the sayinge pleased the whole multitude. And they chole Steuen a mā full of faith and of the holy ghost, and Philip, and Procorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Demetrius, and Nicolas a couert of Antioche. These they set before the apostles: and when they had prayed, they layde theyr handes on them.

And the word of God encreased, and the number of the discyples multiplied in Ierusalem greatly, and a greate companye of the prestres were obedient to the sayth.

* And Steuen, full of fayth and power, dyd great wonderes and miracles amonge the people. And they moued the people and the elders and the scribes: and came vpo him and caught hym, and brought him to the counsell, and brought forth false witness, which sayde: This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes agaynst this holy place and the lawe: for we heard him saye: this Iesus of Nazareth shal destroye this place, and shal chaunge the ordinaunces, which Moses gaue vs. And all that sate in the counsell, looked stedfastly on him, and saue his face as it had bene the face of an angell.

Steuen maketh answer to his accusacyon, re: buking the hardnecked Iewes, and is stoned vnto death.

Then sayd the chefe prestre: is it true for? And he sayd: ye men, brethren and fathers, hearken. The God of glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, whan he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran, and sayd vnto hym: * Get the out of thy countre, and from thy kynred, and come into y^e land, which I shall shewe y^e. Then came he out of the lāde of Chaldee, and dwelt in Charran. And from thence, whan his father was deed, he brought him into this lāde in which ye now dwel, and he gaue hym none inheritaunce in it, no nor the bredeth of a fote: * and promysed that he wold geue it to him to possesse & to his seed after hym, whan as yet he had no chylde.

4 Gen. xxiii. d. oure fathers, and were caried ouer into Si-chem, and layde in the sepulchze, # that Abraham bought for money of the sones of Emor, the sonne of Sichem.

¶ But when the tyme of the promesse drew naye (which God had sworne to Abraham) * ¶ people grewe & multiplied in Egypt, tyll another kynge arose which knewe not of Joseph. The same dealt fultly with oure kin-red, and cruell intreated our fathers, and made them cast out their yonge chyldren, that they shulde not remayne alyue. * The same tyme was Moses borne, and was acceptable vnto God, and nourished vp in hys fathers house thre monethes. Whe he was cast out, Pharaoes daughter toke him vp, & nourished hym vp for her awne sonne. And Moses was learned in all maner wysdome of the Egyptians, and was mighty in dedes and in wordes.

And when he was full forty yere old, it came into his hert, to vyset hys brethzen the chyl dren of Is rael. And whē he sawe one of them suffre wrong, he defended him, & auen ged hys quarell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egypcian. For he suppo sed hys brethzen wolde haue vnderstande, how that God by hys hande woulde deliuer them. But they vnderstode not.

And the next daye he shewed him self vnto them as they stroue, and wolde haue sett them at one agayne, sayinge: Spys, ye are brethre, why hurte ye one another? But he dyd hys neyghboure wronge, thrust hym awaye, sayinge: * who made the a ruler and a iudge ouer vs? wilt thou kyll me, as thou dydest the Egyptia yester daye? Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a straunger in the land of Madian, where he begat two sonnes.

* And whan fourty yeaeres were expired, there appeared to hym in the wilderness of mount Sina an angell of the Lord in a flame of fyre in a bulshe. When Moyses sawe it, he wondred at the sight. And as he drew neare to beholde, the voyce of the Lord came vnto hym. * I am the God of thy fathers, & God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Moyses trembled, and durst not beholde. The Lord sayd vnto him: Put off thy shoes from thy feet, for the place where thou standest, is holy grounde. I haue perfectlye sene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypte, and I haue heard theyr groynng, ad am come downe to deliuer the.
And nowe come, and I wyll sende the into Egypte.

E This Moses who they forsoke (saying:
* Exalt. * who made the a ruler and a iudge?) the same dyd God sende to be a ruler and a deliuerer, by the handes of the aungell which appeared to hym in the bushe. And the same brought them out, shew huge wonders and signes in Egypt, and in the red see, and in the wildernes forty yeres. Thys is that Moses, which sayde vnto the children of Israel:

* A prophete shall the Lord your God raise vp vnto you of your brethren, like vnto me, him shall ye heare.

This is he that was in the congregaciō, in the wilderness with the angel (which spake to hym in the mount Sina) and with our fathers. This man receaued the word of life to geue vnto vs, to whom our fathers wold not obey, but cast it from them, and in theyr hertes turned backe agayne into Egypt, sayinge vnto Aaron: +make vs goddes to go before vs. ffor as for thys Moses þ brought vs out of the lande of Egypte, we wote not what is become of hym. And they made a calfe in those dayes, and offered sacrifice vnto the ymage, and reioysed ouer the workes of theyr awne handes.

Then God turned hym selfe, and * gaue them vp, that they shulde worshyp the boost of the kyng, as it is writtē in the booke of the prophetes. * O ye of the house of Israel, ga-ue ye to me sacrifices and meate offerynge by the space of fourty yeaeres in the wyldernes: And ye toke vnto you the tabernacle of Moloch, and the starre of poure God Rempham, figures which ye made to worshyp them. And I will translate you beyōde Babylon.

Oure fathers had the tabernacle of witness in the wyldeernes, as he had appoynted them speaking vnto Moses: that he shoulde make it, according to the fashion that he had seene. Which tabernacle also oure fathers that came after, * brought in with Iosue into the possession of the Gentyls, whom God draue out before the face of oure fathers, vnto the tyme of Dauid: * which founde fauoure before God, and wold fayne haue founde a tabernacle for the God of Jacob. * But Salomon built him an house.

+ Howbeit he that is byest of al, dwelleth not in temples made with handes, as sayth the prophete: * heauen is my seate, and earth is my fote stoc. What house wyll ye bylde for me, sayth þe Lorde / or which is þe place of my

The. viij. Chapter.

Saul persecuteth the Church. The apostles are scattered abroad. Philip cometh into Samaria. Simon magus is baptised, he dyesturbeth. Philip baptiseth the chamberlaine.

Saul * consented vnto hys death.
And at þe tyme there was a greate persecucion agaynst the congrega-cion which was at Jerusalem, and they were all * scattered abroad thorowout þe regions of Jewry and Samaria, except the apostles. But deuout men dyscelled Steuen, and made great lamentacyon ouer hym. As for Saul he * made hauncke of the cōgrega-cion, and entred into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and thrust them into prison. Therfore, they that were scatered abroad, went euery where preachyng the worde of God.

Then came Philip into a cytie of Samaria, & preached Christ vnto them. And the people gaue hede vnto those thynges which Philip spake w one accord, hearyng & sepyng the myracles whych he dyd. For vncleane spretes cryng with loude voyce, came out of many & were posselled of the. And many taken w palsy, & many & halted, were healed. And ther was great ioye in that cyte. ¶

But ther was a cerfen mā called Symō, which befoze tyme in þe ſame cȝtpe vſed witchecraftē, and bewitched the people of Sa-mary, ſaying that he was a man that coulde do great thynges. Whom they regarded, fro the leſt to þe greateſt, ſayinge: this man is the power of God, which is called greate. And him they ſett moche by, becauſe that of longe tyme he had bewitched them with ſozceries.
But aſſone as they gaue credence to Philippes preaching of the kyngdome of God, & of the name of Jeſu Chriſt, they were baptiſed both men & women. Then Simōn hym ſelfe beleued alſo. And whan he was baptiſed, he cōtinued wth Philip, and wondred, beholding the miracles & ſignes, which were ſhe wed.

✠ When the apostles which were at Jerusale herd saye, that Samary had receaued the word of God, they sent vnto the Peter & John. which whan they were come downe, prayed for the, & they might receaue the holy ghost. For as yet he was come on noone of the: but they were baptysed onely in y name of Christ Iesu. * Then layd they their handes on them, & they receaued the holy ghost. &

Whe Simo sawe that thorow laying on of the apostles handes, the holy ghost was geuen, he offered them money, saying: geue me also this power, that on whomsoever I put the handes, he maye receaue the holy ghost.
But Peter sayd vnto him: thy money peris-she with the, because thou hast thought * y the gift of God maye be obteyned with money. Thou hast nether parte, nor felowshipp in thys busynes. For thy hert is not ryght in the syght of God. Repente therfore of thys thy wyckednes, & praye God, y the thought of thyne herte maye be forgeuen the. For I perceauie that thou art full of bitter gall, and wrapped in iniquite.

Then answered Simon & sayde: *praye ye to the Lorde for me, & none of these thyn-ges which ye haue spoken, fall on me. And they when they had testified and preached & worde of God, returned towarde Ierusalem, and preached the gospel in many cyties of the Samaritans.

✠ The aungell of the Lorde spake vnto Philip, saying: aryse, & go toward the south vnto the waie that goeth downe from Ierusalem vnto the crite of Gaza, which is in the desert. And he arose, & went on. And behold, a man of Ethiopia (a chāberlene, & of great auctorite with Cādice quene of the Ethiopians, & had the rule of al her treasure) came to Ierusalem for to worshyp. And as he returned home agayne syttinge in hys charret, he red Esay the prophete.

Then the spere layd vnto Philip: go ne-are, and ioyne thy self to ponder charēt. And Philip ran to hym, and heard him reade the prophete Esay, and sayd: Vnderstādest thou what thou readeest? And he said: how can I, except I had a gyde? And he desyred Philip, that he wolde come vp, and sytt with hym.
The tenoure of the scripture which he read, was this: * he was led as a shepe to be slay-ne: and lyke a lambe domme before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth. ¶ Because of hys humblenes, he was not esteemed. But who shal declare hys generaciō/ for his lyfe is taken frō the earth. The chamberlayn answered Philip, and sayd: I praye the of whō speaketh the prophete thys: of hym selfe, or of some other man?

Philip opened hys mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached vnto hym Iesus. And as they wēt on theyr waye, they cam vnto a certē water, and the chāberlay-

* Actes. i. g. he said: Se, here is water * what doth let me to be baptysed? Philip sayde vnto him: If thou beleeue with all thyne heart, thou mayest. And he answered, and sayde: I beleeue that Iesus Christ is the sonne of God. And he commaunded the charer to stande still. And they went downe both into the water: both Philip and also the chamberlayn, and he baptysed hym. And as sone as they were come out of the water, the sperte of the Lord caught a waye Philip, and the chamberlayn sawe him nomore. And he went on his waye reioysinge: but Philip was founde at Azotus. And he walked thoro vnto the coastes, preaching in all the cities, till he came to Cesarea.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

The ix. Chapter.

Saul is converted, and conuinceth the Jewes. Peter baptiseth Eubrytha.

AND Saul yet breshyng out threatenynge and slaughter agaynst the disciples of the Lorde, wente vnto the hye preste, and desired of hym letters, to cary to Damasco, to the synagoges: * that yf he founde any of thys waye, (whether they were me or weme) he myght byynge them bounde vnto Ierusalem. And when he ioyned, it fortuned that as he was nye to Damasco, suddenly there shyned round about hym a lyght from heauen, and he fell to the earth and hearde a voyce, sayinge to hi: * Saul Saul, why persecutest thou me? And he sayde: what art thou Lorde? And the Lorde sayd: I am Iesus, whom thou persecutest. It is hard for the to kpeke agaynst the psyches. And he both treiblynge, & astonyed sayde: Lorde, * what wilt thou haue me to do? And the Lorde sayd vnto hym: aryse, and go into the cytie, and it shalbe told the, what thou must do.  Actes. viii. a. * Actes. viii. a. * Actes. viii. a.*

23 The men which ioyned with hym, stood amased, hearynge a voyce, but seynge no man. And Saul arose from the earth, & when he opened his eyes, he sawe no ma. But they led hym by the hande, and brought hym into Damasco. And he was thre dayes without syght, and nether dyd eate nor dryncke. And ther was a certen discipule at Damasco, named Ananias, and to him sayd the Lorde in a visyon: Ananias: And he sayd: behold, I am here Lorde. And the Lorde sayde vnto hym: aryse, and go into the strete (whych is called strayght) and seke in the house of Judas after one called Saul * of Tharsus. For behold, he prayeth, and hath sene in a visyon a man named Ananias compung into him, and puttynge hys handes on hym, that he myght receaue his syght.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

Then Ananias answered: Lorde, I haue heard by many of this ma: how moche euill he hath done to thy sayntes at Ierusalem: & here he hath auctorite of the hye prestes, to bynde all that call on thy name. The Lorde vnto him: go thy waye, for he is a chosen vessel vnto me, to beare my name before the Gentyls, and kynge, and the chyliden of Israel. For I will shewe hym, how greate thinges * he must suffre for my names sake.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

And Ananias wet his waye, and entred into the house, and put hys handes on hym, and sayd: brother Saul, the Lorde that apperped vnto the in thy waye as thou camest, hath sent me, & thou myghtest receaue thy syght, and be fylled with the holy ghost. And immediately ther fell fro hys eyes as it had bene scales, and he receaued syght: and arose, and was baptised, and receaued meate and was comforted. Then was Saul a certen dayes with the disciples which were at Damasco. And straight waye he preached Christ in the Synagoges, howe that he was the sonne of God, but all that heard him, were amased, & sayd: is not this he, that spoyled them which called on this name in Ierusalem, and came hyther for that intent, that he myght bying the bounde vnto the hye prestes? But Saul encreased the more in strength, & confounded the Jewes which dwelt at Damasco, affirminge that this was very Christ.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

And after a good whyle, the Jewes toke counsell together, to kill him. But their layinge a wayte was knowen of Saul. And they watched the gates daye and nyght to kyll hi. * Then the disciples toke him by night and put hym thoro the wall, and let hym downe in a basket.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

And when Saul was come to Ierusalem, he assaide to couple him selfe to the disciples: but they were all afraide of hym, & belueid not yf he was a discipule. But Barnabas toke hym, & brought hym to the apostles, & declared to the, howe he had sene the Lorde in the waye, and that he had spoken to him, & how he had done boldly at Damasco in the name of Iesu. And he had hys conuersacyon with them at Ierusalem, speakynge boldly in the name of the Lorde Iesu. And he spake & disputed agaynst the Grekes: but they wente about to slee hym. Which when the brythren knewe, * they brought hym to Cesarea, and sent him forth to Tharsus. Then had the congregacyons rest thoroout all Jewry, and Galile, and Samary, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and multiplied by the comfort of the holy ghost.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

And it chaunced as Peter walked through out all quartres, he cam also to the sayntes, which dwelt at Lydda. And there he founde a certen man name Eneas, which had kepte his bedd eyght peares, and was synke of the palsy. And Peter sayde vnto hym: Eneas: The Lorde Iesu Christ make the whole: arise, and make thy bed. * And he arose immediately. And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron sawe him, and tourned to the Lorde.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

There was

There was at Joppa a certen woman, a discipule named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) the same was full of good workes and almes dedes, which she dyd. And it chaunced in those dayes that she was synke, & dyed. Who when they had welshed, they layd her in a chamber. But for as moch as Lydda was nye to Joppa, and the disciples had heard yf Peter was there, they sent vnto him, desyringe him, that he wolde not be greued to come vnto them.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

Peter arose, & came with them. And when he was come, they brought him into the chamber. And all the widdowes stood round about him, wepyng, and shewynge the coates and garmentes, which Dorcas made, whyle she was with the. And Peter put the all forth, and knelid downe, and prayde. and turned him to the body, and sayd: Tabitha, * aryse. And she opened her eyes, and when she sawe Peter, she sat vp. And he gaue her the hand. and lyft her vp. And whan he had called the sayntes and widdowes, he shewed her alvne. And it was knowne thoroout al Joppa, & many beleued on the Lorde. And it fortuned, that he tarped many dayes in Joppa, with one Simon a tanner.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

The x. Chapter.

The visyon that Peter had. How he was sent to Cornelius. The heathen also receaue the wyte, and are baptised.

1 Here was a certen man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captayn of the souldyers of Italy, a deuote ma, & one that feared God with all hys household, which gaue moch almes to the people, and prayde God all waye. The same sa we by a visyon euidently (about the ninth houre of the daye) an angel of God comynge into him, and sayinge vnto him: Cornelius: When he looked on hym, he was afraide, & ad sayd: what is it Lorde? he sayde vnto him: Thy prayers & thy almes are come vp into remembrance before God. And now sende men to Joppa, & call for one Symon, whose surname is Peter. He lodgeth w one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the see syde. He shall tell y, what thou oughtest to do. And when the angell which spake vnto hym, was departed, he called two of hys household seruantes, and a deuoute souldier of them that wayted on him, and tolde them all the matter, and sent them to Joppa.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

23 On the morowe as they went on their ioynyng, and dyd we ny vnto the cytie, Peter wet vp * vpon the toppe of the house to praye, about the syxt houre. And when he waxed an hogred, he wolde haue eat. But whyle they made ready, he fell into a trance, and sawe heauen opened, and a certen vessel come downe vnto hym, as it had bene a great cete: knyt at the foure corners, and was let downe ne to the earth, wherein were * all maner of fourfoted beastes of the earth, & vermen and wormes & foules of the ayer. And ther came a voyce to hi, rise Peter, kyl & eate. But Peter sayd: not so Lorde, for I haue neuer eaten eny thinge that is comen or vncleane. And y voyce spake vnto him agayne the second tyme: * what God hath clenied, that call not thou comen. This was done threse, and the vessel was receaued vp agayne into heauen.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

Whyle Peter also mused in him self what thys visyon (which he had sene) meant: behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius had made inquirance for Simons house, and stood before the doze: and called out one, and asked whether Simon which was surnamed Peter were lodged there. Whyle Peter thought on the visyon, the sperte sayd vnto him: behold, men seke the: aryse therfore, and get the downe, & go with them, & dowe not for I haue sent them. Peter went downe to the men which were sent vnto hym fro Cornelius and sayd: Behold, I am he who ye seke, what is the cause wherfore ye are come? They sayd: Cornelius y captayne a iust ma, and one that feareth God, & of good reporte amonge all the people of the Jewes, was warned by an holy angell to sende for the in to his house, & to beare wordes of the. Then called he them in, & lodged them.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

And on the morowe, Peter went a waye with them, and * certayn brythren fro Joppa accompanied hym. And the thyrde daye entred they into Cesarea. And Cornelius wayted for them, and had called togeather hys kynsmen, and speciall frendes. And as it chaunced Peter to come in, Cornelius mete hym, and fell downe at hys fete, & worshipped hym. But Peter toke hym vp, sayinge: stande vp, * I my selfe also am a man. And as he talked with him, he came in, and founde many that were come together. And he sayde vnto them: Ye knowe how that * it is a vnlawful thinge for a ma that is a Jewe, to company or come vnto an alient: but God hath shewed me, that I shulde not call any man comen or vncleane: therfore came I vnto you without delaye, assone as I was sent for. I aske therfore, for what intent haue ye sent for me.  Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a. * Actes. xxi. a.*

And Cornelius sayd: This daye now, liij. dayes about this houre, I sat fasting, and at the nythe houre I prayde in my house: and behold, a man stood before me in byght clothynge, and sayde: Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thyne almes dedes are had in remembrance in the syght of God. Sende men therfore to go to Joppa, and call for Symon, whose surname is Peter. He is lodged in the house of one Simon a tanner by the see syde: which assone as he is come, shall speake vnto the. Then sent I for the immediately, & thou

eg. liij. hast

halt well downe, that thou art come. Nowe therfore are we all here present before God, to heare all thinges that are commaunded vnto the of God.

Then Peter opened his mouth, and sayde: Of a treuth I perceaue that * there is no respect of persones with God, * but in all people, he that feareth hym, and worketh ryghteuousnes, is accepted with him.

If ye knowe the preachynge that God sent vnto the children of Israel, preachynge peace by Iesu Christ, which is Lord ouer all thynges. * Which preachynge was published thorowout all Jewry (and * began in Galilee, after the baptyme which John preached) how * God anoynted Iesus of Nazareth w the holy ghost, and with power. Which Iesus went about doyng good, and healynge all that were oppressed of the deuyl, for God was with him. And we are witness of all thinges which he dyd in the lande of the Jewes and at Ierusalem: whom they slewe, and hanged on tre. him God rayled vp the thyrde daye, & shewed him openly, not to all the people, but vnto vs witnesses (chosen before of God for the same intent) which dyd eate & drynke w him, after he arose * fro deeth. * And he commaunded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testify that it is he, which was ordeined of God to be the iudge of quicke and deed. To hym geue * all the prophetes witness, & thorowe hys name whosoener beleueth in hym, shall receaue remission of synnes. *

Whyle Peter yet spake these wordes, * & the holy ghost fell on all the which heard & preached. And they of the circumcysion which beleued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentils also was shed out the gyfte of the holy ghost. For they hearde them speake with tonges, & magnify God. Then answered Peter: * can any man forbid water, & these shuld not be baptysed, which haue receaued the holy ghost as well as we? And he commaunded the to be baptysed in the name of the Lord. * Then prayd they him, to tary a few dayes.

The xj. Chapter.

¶ Peter sheweth the cause wherfore he went to the heathen. Barnabas and Saul preach vnto the heathen. Agabus prophesieth death for to come.

¶ And the Apostles and brethren that were in Jewry, heard & the heathen had also receaued & word of God. And when Peter was come vp to Ierusalem, they that were of the circumcysion contended against hym, sayng: * Thou wilst into men vncircumcised, and dydest eate with them.

But Peter rehearsed the matter from the begynning, and expounded it by order vnto them, sayng: * I was in & eptie of Toppa, prayng: and in a trance, I sawe a visyon, a certain vessel descende, as it had bene a great sheete, let downe fro heauen by the foure corners, & it came to me. Into the which when I had fastened myne eyes, I considered, & sawe * four footed beastes of the earth, and vermes, and wormes, and foules of the ayer. And I heard a voyce sayng vnto me: aryls Peter, slep, and eate. But I sayde: not so Lord, for nothyng comen of vncleane hath at any tyme entered into my mouth. But & voyce answered me agayne from heauen: count not those thinges comen, which God hath clesed. And this was done thre tymes. And all were taken vp agayne into heauen.

And beholde, immediatly ther were thre men all ready come vnto the house where I was, sent fro Cesarea vnto me. And the fyrste sayd vnto me, that I shuld go with the, without doutynge. Moreover, * these syre brethren accompanied me, and we entered into the mans house. And he shewed vs, howe he had sene an angell in his house, which stode and sayd to him: send men to Toppa, and call for Simo, whose surname is Peter: he shall tell the wordes, wherby both thou and all thyne house shalbe saued. And as I beganne to preach, & holy ghost fell on them, * as he dyd on vs at the begynninge. Then came it to my remembraunce, howe that the Lord sayd: * John baptised w water, but ye shalbe baptised with the holy ghost. For asmuch then as God gaue the lyke gyftes, as he dyd vnto vs, when we beleued on the Lord Iesu Christ: what was I, & I shulde haue withstande God? When they heard this, they belde the peace, and glorified God, sayng: then hath God also to the Gentyls graunted repentance vnto lyfe.

* They also which were scattred abrode thorow the afflictions that arose about Stephen, walked thorowout vnto Phenices and Cyprys, and Antioche, preachynge the worde to no man, but vnto the Jewes onely some of them were men of Cyprys & Sizen: which when they were come to Antioche, spake vnto the Grekes, and preached the Lord Iesu. And the hande of the Lord was with them, & a greates nombze beleued and turned vnto the Lord.

¶ Thynges of these thinges came vnto the eares of the congregacyon, which was in Ierusalem. And they sent forth Barnabas, & he shulde go vnto Antioche. Which when he came, & had sene the grace of God, was glad, & exhorted them all, & with purpose of heart, they wold continually cleaue vnto the Lord: for he was a good man, and full of the holy ghost & of faith: and much people was added vnto & Lord. Then departed Barnabas to Charlus, for to seke Saul. And when he had founde him, he brought him vnto Antioche. And it

And it chaunced that a whole yere they had their conuersacion with the congregacyon there, and taught much people: in so much, & the discipples of Antioche were the fyrst that were called Christen.

* In those dayes came prophetes fro the ctye of Ierusalem vnto Antioche. And there stode vp one of the named Agabus, and syngrified by the sprete, & there shuld be greatederth thowow out all the world, which came to passe in the Emperoure Claudius dayes. Then the discipples euery man accordynge to his abypte, purposed to sende * socour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Jewry. Which thinge they also dyd, and sent it to the elders by the handes of Barnabas and Saul.

The xij. Chapter.

¶ Herode persecuteth the chrysten. Herod the kynge, and putte Peter in prison, whom the Lord deliuereth by an angell. The shamefull death of Herode.

¶ The same tyme Herode the kynge stretched forth hys handes to vexen certain of the congregacyon. And he killed * James & brother of John with the sword. And because he sawe that it pleased the Jewes, he proceeded farther, and toke Peter also. Then were & dayes of sweet bread. And when he had caught hym, he put hi in prison also, & deliuered him to iij. quarters of souldiers to be kepte, entendinge after Ester to bringe him forth to the people. And Peter was kepte in prison. But prayer was made without ceasinge of the congregacyon, vnto God for hym. And when Herode wolde haue brought him oute vnto the people, the same nyght slepte Peter betwene two souldiers, bounde with two chaynes, & the keepers before the doze kepte the prison.

And behold, * the angel of the Lord was ther present, and a lyght shyned in the habytacyon. And he smote Peter on the syde, and stercd him vp, sayng: aryls vp quickly. And his cheynes fel of fro his handes. And the angel sayd vnto hym: gylde thy selfe, & bynde on thy sandals. And so he dyd. And he sayth vnto him: cast thy garment about the, & folowe me. And he came out & folowed hi, and wist not that it was truely which was done by the angell, but thought he had sene a visyon. When they were past & fyrst and the secorde watch, they came vnto the yron gate, that leadeth vnto the ctye, * whych opened to them by the awne accorde. And they went oute, and passed thorow one strete, and forth with the angell departed from him.

¶ And when Peter was come to him selfe, he sayd: nowe I knowe of a surety, that the Lord hath sent his angell, and hath deliuered me out of the hande of Herode, and from all the wayting for, of the people of the Jewes. * And as he considered the thyng, he came to & house of Mary & mother of one

John, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together * in prayer. * As Peter knocked at the entry doze, a damsell came forth to herke, named Rhoda. And when she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entry for gladnes, but ran in, & told how Peter stode before the entry. And they sayde vnto her: thou art mad: But she affirmed & it was euen so. Then sayd they: it is hys angel. But Peter cotynued knocking: & when they had opened the doze, & sawe him, they were astonied. * And when he had beckned vnto them with the hande, that they myght holde the peace, he tolde the by what meanes the Lord had brought hi out of the prison. * And he sayde: go shewe these thinges vnto James and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place.

¶ As one as it was daye, ther was no littel ado among the souldiers, what was become of Peter. When Herode had sought for him, and founde hym not, he examined the keepers, and commaunded them to be carped awaye. And he descended from Jewry to Cesarea, & ther abode. Herode was displeased w them of Cyre and Sids. But they came all with one accorde, & made intercession vnto Blastus the kynges chamberlayne, and desyred peace, because their countre was noysed by the kynges prouysyon. And vpo a daye appointed, Herode arayed him in royall apparell, and sett hym in hys seate, and made an oracion vnto the. And the people gaue a shout, sayng: it is the voyce of a God & not of a man. And immediatly the angell of the Lord smote hym, because he gaue not God the honour, and he was eaten of wormes & gaue vp the ghost. And the worde of God grewe and multiplied. And Barnabas and Saul returned to Ierusalem, when they had fulfilled their offyce, and toke w the * John whose surname was Marke.

The xij. Chapter.

¶ Saul and Barnabas are called to preach among the heathen. Of Sergius Paulus and Elmas the forcerer. Saul preacheth at Antioche.

¶ There were in the congregacyon that was at Antioche, certayn * prophetes, and teachers: as Barnabas and Symon that was called Nigir, and Lucius of Cerene and Manahen, Herode the Tetrarkes noscielow, and Saul. As they ministered to the Lord and fasted, the holy ghost saide: separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke wherunto I haue called them. And when they had fasted and prayed, and layde their handes on them, they let them go. And they after they were sent forth of the holy ghost, departed vnto Seleucia, & fro thence they sayled to Cyprus. And when they were at Salamine, they shewed the word of God in the sinagoges of the Jewes. And they had * John to thei minister.

When they had gone thorow the yle vnto Paphos, they founde a certayne sozcerer, (a false prophet, a Jewe) whose name was Barisla, which was with the ruler of the countre one Sergius Paulus a proude man. The same ruler called vnto hym Barnabas and Saul, and desyred to heare the worde of God. But Elymas the sozcerer (for so is his name by interpretacion) with stode the, and sought to turne awaye the ruler fro the furb. The Saul (which also is called Paul) beyng full of the holy ghost, set his eyes on hym, and sayde. O full of all subtilty and dyssertfulnesse, thou chyilde of the deuyl, thou enemy of all rightconnes: wilt thou cease to peruerse the straght wayes of the Lorde? And now beholde, the hande of the Lorde is vpon the, and thou shalt be blynde, and not se the sunne for a season. And immediatly, there fell on hym a myste and a darcknes, ad he went about, sekynge the that shuld leade hym by the hande. Then the ruler when he sawe what had happened, beleued, & won- dred at the doctryne of the Lorde.

When Paul departed from Paphos, they that were with him, came to Perga in Pam- philia: and John departed from them, and returned to Jerusalem. But they wandred thorow the countres, and came from Perga to Antioche in Pisidia, and wente into the synagoge on the sabbath daye, and sate downe. And after the lecture of the lawe and the prophetes, the rulers of the synagoge sente vnto them, sayinge: Ye men and brethren, yf ye haue any sermon to exhorde the people, saye on.

Then Paul stode vp, and bekened with the hande for syence, and sayde: Men of Is- rael, and ye that feare God, geue audience: The God of this people chose oure fathers, and exalted the people, when they dwelt as straungers in the land of Egypt, and with a hye arme brought he them oute of it, and about the tyme of fourty peares, suffred he theyr maners in the wyldernes. And he de- stroyed seuen nacjons in the lande of Cana- an, and deuoyded theyr land to them by lot. And afterwarde, he gaue vnto them iud- ges about the space of foure hundred and fyf- ty peares, vnto the tyme of Samuell the prophete. And afterwarde, they despyed a kynge, and God haue vnto them Saul the sonne of Cis, a man of the trybe of Benia- min, by the space of forty peares. And wha he was put downe, he sett vp Dauid to be theyr kynge, of whom he repported sayinge: I haue founde Dauid the sonne of Jesse, a man after myne awne hert, which shall ful- fyll all my wyll.

Of this mannes seed hath God (a coo- dyng as he had promysed) brought forth to Is- rael, a sauoure, one Iesus, when John had first preached before his comynge the baptyme of repentaunce to Is- rael. And wha John had fulfilled his course, he sayd: who re thynke I am, the same am I not. But behold, ther cometh one after me, whose shoes of his fete I am not worthy to loofe.

Ye men and brethren, chyldren of the generacyon of Abraham, and whosoever among you feareth God, to you is this worde of saluacyon sent. For the inhabytors of Jeru- salem and theyr rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the voyces of the prophetes which are redde euery sabbath daye, they haue fulfilled them, in condemnynge him: And when they founde no cause of death in hym, yet desyred they to plate to kylle hym. And whan they had fulfilled all that were wyrtten of him, they toke him downe fro the tree, and put hym in a sepulchre. But God raysted him agayne from death, and he was sene many dayes of the which came vp with hym from Galile to Jerusa- lem: which are his wyrtnesses vnto the people.

And we declare vnto you, how the pro- messe (whych was made vnto the fa- thers) God hath fulfilled vnto their chyldren (euen vnto vs) in Iesus: who raysted vp Iesus agayne. As it is wyrtten in the first psalme: Thou art my sonne, this daye haue I begoten the. As concernynge that he raysted him vp from death, now nomore to retorne to corrupcyon he sayd on this wyse: The holy promyses made to Dauid, wyl I geue faythfully to you. Wherfore, he sayeth also in another place. Thou shalt not suffice thynne holy to se cor- rupcyon. For Dauid (after he had in his tyme fulfilled the wyll of God) fell on slepe, and was layde vnto his fathers, and sawe corrupcyon. But he who God raysted agayne sawe no corrupcyon.

We it knowne vnto you therfore (ye men and brethren) that this thowre this man is ff preached vnto you the forgyuenes of synnes, and that by hym, all that beleue, are iusty- fied from all thynges, from which ye coude not be iustified by the lawe of Moyses. Be- ware therfore, lest that fall on you, which is spoken of in the prophetes: Behold, ye des- pylers, and wonder, and perpyss ye: for I do a worke in youre dayes, which ye shall not beleue, though a man declare it you.

Wha the Jewes were gone out of the congre- gacyon, the Gentyls besought that they wolde preache the word to them the next sabbath. When the congregacyon was broken vp, ma- ny of the Jewes and vertuous proselytes fol- lowed Paul and Barnabas, which spake to the: and exhorted them to continue in the gra- ce of God. And the next sabbath daye cam almost the whole cytie together, to heare the worde of God. But wha the Jewes sawe the people people, they were full of indignacion & spake agaynst those thynges, which were spoke of Paul, spekyng agaynst it, & raylinge on it: Then Paul and Barnabas wored bolde, & sayde: it was mete that the worde of God shulde first haue bene preached to you. But scynge ye put it from you, and thynke youre selues unworthy of euerslastynge lyfe: lo, we turne to the Gentyls: for so hath the Lorde commaunded vs. I haue made the a lyght of the Gentyls, that thou be the saluacyon vnto the ende of the worlde.

Whan the gentyls hearde this, they were glad and glorified the worde of the Lorde, & beleued: eue as many as were ordeyned vnto eternal lyfe. And the worde of the Lorde was published thorow out all the regyon. But the Jewes moued the deuoute and ho- nest women, and the chiefe men of the cytie, & reysed persecucion agaynst Paul and Bar- nabas, and expelled the out of theyr coastes. But they thynke of the duste of theyr fete agaynst them, ad came vnto Iconium. And the discyples were fylled with ioye and with the holy ghost.

The xliij Chapter.

Paul and Barnabas preached at Iconium, some be- lieue, some were vnto corrupcyon. At Lystra they wolde do sacrifice to Barnabas and Paul, which refuse it and exhorte the people to worshippe the true God: Paul is stoned: after th is cometh he to Derba & Lystra, Iconium and to Antioche.

And it fortuned in Iconium, that they went both together into the synagoge of the Jewes, and so spake, that a greute multytude both of the Jewes and also of the Grekes beleued. But vnbeluyng Jewes, sterd vp, and vniquieted the myndes of the gentyls agaynst the brethren. Longe tyme abode they there, and quyt the selues boldly with the helpe of the Lord, which gaue testi- mony vnto the worde of his grace, & gra- tified sygnes and wondres to be done by their handes. But the multitude of the cytie was deuoyded: and parte helde with the Jewes, & parte with the Apostles. When ther was an assaute made both of the Gentyls & also of the Jewes with their ru- lers, to do them violence, and to stone them they were ware of it, ad fled vnto Lystra and Derba, cyties of Lycaonia, ad vnto the regyon that lyeth rounde aboute, and there preached the Gospell. And all the multitude was moued at theyr doctryne, but Paul and Barnabas tarped a while at Lystra. And ther sate a certayne man at Lystra weake in his fete, beyng creple from his mothers wombe, ad neuer had walked. The same hearde Paul preache. Which be- holdynge hym, and perceauynge that he had fayth to be whole, sayd with a loude voyce: stode vpryght on thy fete: And he stert vp, and walked. And wha the people sawe what Paul had done, they lyfte vp their voyces, sayinge in the speache of Lycaonia: God des are come downe to vs in the lykenes of men. And they called Barnabas Jupiter, ad Paul Mercurius, because he was the prea- cher. Then Jupiters prestre, which dwelt be- fore their cytie, brought oxen and garlandes vnto the porche, and wolde haue done sacry- fice with the people.

Which when the Apostles, Barnabas ad Paul herde of, they rent their clothes, and ra- in amonge the people, cryng and sayinge: swys why do ye this? We are mortall men like vnto you, and preache vnto you, that ye shulde turne from these vanyties vnto the lyuinge God, which made heauen and erth and the see and all thynges that are ther in: the which in tymes past suffred all nacjons to walcke in theyr awne wayes. Neuer thelesse, he left not hym selfe withoute wyt- nes, in that he shewed his benefytes fro hea- uen, in geuyng vs rayne and fructfull sea- sons, fylling oure hertes with fode ad glad- nes. And with these saynges, scale refray- ned they the people, that they had not done sacryfice vnto them.

Ther came certayne Jewes from An- tioche and Iconium: which (whan they had obtayned the peoples consent & had sto- ned Paul) drewe him out of the cytie, suppo- singe he had bene deed. Howbeit as the discyples stode rounde about him, he arose vp, and ca- me into the cytie. And the next daye he de- parted with Barnabas to Derba. And wha they had preached to that cytie, & had taught many, they returned agayne to Lystra, and to Iconium and Antioche, and strenghted the discyples soules agayne, and exhorted the to continue in the fayth affirmynge that we must thowre moche tribulacyon en- re in- to the kyngdome of God. And wha they had ordeyned them elders by elecyon in euery co- gregacyon, and had prayde and fasted, they commended them to the Lorde on who they beleued. And whan they had gone thorow out Pisidia, they came to Pamphilia, & wha they had preached the worde in Perga, they desceded into the cytie Attalia, and thence de- parted by shyppe to Antioche from whence they were comitted vnto the grace of God to the worke which they fulfilled. When they were come, and had gathered the congrega- tion together, they reherled all that God had doue by them ad how he had opened the doze of fayth vnto the Gentyls. And there they abode longe tyme with the discyples.

Marthaunte aboute streumcyon. The Apostles pacifie the matre at Jerusalem. Paul and Barna- bas preache at Antioche.

Ad certayne men which came downe taught the brethren * excepte ye be circumcysed after the maner of Moyses, ye cannot be saved. So when ther was ryen diffencio & disputynge not a lyttel vnto Paul and Barnabas agaynst them, they determined that Paule and * Barnabas, and certayne other of them, shoulde go vnto Jerusalem vnto the Apostles & elders about this questyon. And after they were brought on their waye by the congregacion, they passed ouer Phenices and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentyls, and they brought greate love vnto all the brethren. And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were receaued of the congregacion & of the Apostles and elders. And they declared all thynges y^e God had done by the. The rose vnto certayne of the secte of the Pharyses, which dyd beleue, saying, that it was nedfull to circumcysle them, and to commaunde them to kepe the lawe of Moyses. And the Apostles & elders came together, to reason of this matter.

The Apostles, and elders and brethren send gretynges vnto the brethren which are of the Gentyls in Antioche, Syria and Cilicia. For as moche as we haue hearde, that certayne which departed fro vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and combyzed poure myndes saying: Ye must be circumcysed, and kepe the lawe, to whom we gaue no such commaundement. It semed therfore to vs a good thyng, when we were come together with one accord, to sende cholen men vnto you, with oure beloued Barnabas and Paul, me that haue leoparded they^r lyues for the name of oure Lorde Iesus Christ. We haue sent therfore Judas and Syllas, which shall also tell you the same thynges by mouth. For it semed good to the holy ghost and to vs, to charge you with no more the these necessary thynges: that is to saye, that ye abstayne fro thynges offered to ymagis, and from bloud, and from straungled and from fornicacyon. From which yf ye kepe poure selues, ye shall do well. So fare ye well.

Whē they therfore were departed, they came to Antioche and gathered the multitude together, & deliuered y^e pistle. Which whē they had red, they reioysed of y^e consolacyon. And Judas & Syllas being prophetes, exhorted the brethren with moche preachynge, & strenghted the. And after they had sayed there a space, they were let go in peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles. Not withstanding it pleased Syllas, to abyde there still. (But Judas departed alone to Jerusalem) Paul and Barnabas continued in Antioche, teachynge & preachynge the worde of the Lorde with other many.

But after a certayne space, Paul sayd vnto Barnabas: Let vs go agayne, and visite oure brethren in euery cytie where we haue shewed y^e word of y^e Lorde, & se how they do. And Barnabas gaue counsell to take with them John, whose surname was Marke. But Paul wold not take hi vnto their company * which departed from them at Pamphylia, & went not with the to the worke. When came he to Derba and to Lystra, And beholde, a certayne dyscypple was there named Timothee a womanes sonne, which was a Jewelle and beloued: but his father was a Greke. Of whom reported well the brethren that were at Lystra and Iconi hym wold Paul that he shoulde go forth with him, & toke and circumcysed hym, because of the Jewes which were in those quarters: for they knewe all, that his father was a Greke. unto the officers, they feared when they heard, that they were Romaynes * they came and besought them: and brought them out, and desired them, to departe out of the cytie. And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lydia, and when they had sent the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

The. xvij. Chapter.

Paul cometh to Thessalonica, where the Jewes set the cytie on a roare. Paul stayeth, & cometh to Ates where he preacheth the true and unknowne God.

And they made their journey thorough Amphipolis: and Appolonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagoge of the Jewes. And Paul (as hys manner was) went in vnto them, and thre Sabbathes declared out of the scripture vnto them, openynge & allegynge, that * Christ must nedes haue suffred, and rylc agayne from deeth, and that thys Iesus was Christ, whom (sayde he) I preach to you. And * some of them beleued, ad cam and companied with Paul & Syllas, and of the deuote Grekes a greate multitude, and of the chefe women, not a fewe.

But the Jewes which beleued not, had indignacion and toke vnto them euill men, which were vagabundes, and gathered a company, and set all the cytie on a roare, & made assaute vnto the house of Jason, & sought to bringe them out to people. And when they founde the not, they vllc Jason, & certayne brethren vnto the heades of the cytie, crynge: these that trouble the worlde, are come hyther also, whom Jason hath receaued preuely. * And these all do contrary to the decrees of Cesar, affirmynge another kynge, one Iesus. And they troubled the people, & the officers of the cytie, whē they hearde these thynges. And when they were sufficiently answered of Jason, ad of the other, they let the go.

And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Syllas by nyghte vnto Berea. Which when they were come thither, they entred into y Synagoge of the Jewes. These were the noblest of byzth amonge them of Thessalonica, which receaued the word with all diligence of mynde, and searched * the scriptures dayly, whether those thynges were euen so. And many of them beleued: also of worshipfull women which were Grekes, and of men not a fewe. When the Jewes of Thessalonica had knowledge, that y word of God was preached of Paul at Berea: they came, and moued the people there. And then immediatly the brethren sent away Paul, to go as it were to the see: but Syllas and Timotheus abode there still. And they that gyded Paul, brought hi vnto Athens, & receaued a comendement vnto Syllas & Timotheus, for to come to hym w speede, & came their waye. Whil Paul wayted for them at Athens, his sprete was moued in him, when he sawe the cytie geuen to worshippynge of ymages. Then disputed he in the synagoge with the Jewes, and with the deuoute personnes: and in y market dayly with them that came vnto him by chaunce. Certayne Philosophers of the Epicures and of the Stoyckes, disputed with hym. And some ther were which sayde: what will thys babler saye: Other sayde: he seemeth to be a tydynges bringer of newe deuyls, because he preacheth vnto the Iesus & the resurrection. And they toke him, & brought him into the Marce strete, saying: maye we not knowe what thys newe doctrine wherof thou speakest, is? For thou bringest straunge tydynges to oure eares. We wold knowe therefore, what these thynges meane. For all the Athenians and straungers which were there, gaue them selues to nothing els, but ether to tell, or to heare some newe thyng.

Paul stood in the myddes of Marce strete, & sayde: ye men of Athens, I perceaue that in all thinges ye are to superstitious. For as I passed by, and behelde the manner how ye worshyp your goddes, I founde an auter wher was writte: vnto the unknowen God. Whom ye then ignorantly worshyppe, hym shew I vnto you. * God that made y worlde and all that are in it (seing that he is Lord of heauen and earth) dwelleth not in temples made with handes, nether is worshipped with mennes handes, as though he needed of eny thyng, seinge he hym selfe * geueth lyfe and breath to all men euery where, & hath made of one bloude all nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned before, how longe tyme, & also the endes of their inhabitacion, y they shuld seke God, yf they myght fele and fynde him, though he be not farre from euery one of vs. For in hym we lyue, moue, and haue oure beinge, as certayne of your awne Poetes sayde: For we are also his generacio. For as moch then as we are the generacion of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is lyke vnto golde, syluer or stone, grauen by craft and ymaginacion of man.

* And the tyme of this ignorance God regarded not. * But now biddeth all men euery where repēt because he hath appoynted a daye, in the which he will iudge the worlde w ryghte welnes, by that man by whō he hath appoynted, & hath offered sayth to all men, after that he had raysed him from deeth.

When they hearde of the resurrection from deeth, some mocked, and other sayd: we wylle heare the agayne of thys matter. So Paul departed from amonge them. Howbeit certayne men claue vnto hym and beleued: amonge monge the which was Dionysius a sennetour, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

The. xvij. Chapter.

Paul preacheth at Corinthe, continuing there a yere and a halfe, goeth agayne into Syria, cometh to Ephesus, Cesarea and Antioche. Of Apollos Aquila and Priscilla.

After thys, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthe, and founde a certayne Jewe named * Aquila, borne in Italye thus, lately come from Italye with his wyfe Priscilla (because that y Emperour Claudius had commaunded all Jewes to departe from Rome) ad he drew vnto them, because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, & wrought: they craft was to make tentes. And he preached in the synagoge euery Sabbath daye. * (setting forth in the meane whyle the name of the Lorde Iesus) and exhorted the Jewes and the gentyls.

When * Silas, and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was constrained by the sprete, to testyfy to the Jewes y Iesus was very Christ. And when they sayde contrary & blasphemed * he shoke hys raiment and sayde vnto them: your bloude be vpon your awne heedes: from hence forth wyl I go blamelesse vnto the gentyls. And he departed thence, and entred into a certayne manes house, named Justus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the synagoge. Howbeit, one Crispus the chefe ruler of the synagoge * beleued on the Lorde with all his household, and many of the Corinthians when they gaue audice, beleued, and were baptised.

Then spake the Lorde to Paul in y nyght by a visyon: be not afrayde, but speake, ad holde not thy peace: for I am with the, & no man shall inuade the that shall hurte the. For I haue moch people in this cytie. And he continued there a yere and syxe monethes, and taught them the worde of God.

When Gallio was ruler of the countre of Acaia, the Jewes made insurreccyon with one accord agaynst Paul, and brought hym to the iudgement seate, sayinge: this felowe counceleth men to worship God contrary to y lawe. And whā Paul now was about to open his mouth, Gallio sayd vnto y Jewes: yf it were a matter of wronge, or an euyl dede (wye Jewes) reason wolde y I shulde heare you: but yf it be a question of wordes or of names, or of your lawe, loke ye to it your selues, for I will be no iudge of soche matters, and he drave them from the seate. The all the Grekes toke softenes the chefe ruler of the Synagoge, and smote hym before the iudges seate, And Gallio cared for none of those thynges.

Paul after thys, tarped there yet a good whyle, and then toke his leaue of the brethren and sayled thence into Cicia, Priscilla and Aquila accompanyinge hym. And * he shoke his heed in Cechrea, for he had a vowe: And he cam to Ephesus ad lette them there: but he hym selfe entred into the Synagoge, and reasoned with the Jewes. Whē they desired him to tary longer tyme with them, he consented not, but bad them fare well sayinge. I must nedes (at thys feast that cometh) be in Jerusalem: but I wyl returne agayne vnto you * yf God will. And he departed from Ephesus: and whan he was come vnto Cesarea: and ascended vp and saluted the congregacion, he departed vnto Antioche: and when he had tarped there a whyle, he departed: and went ouer all the countre of Galacia and Phrygia by order, strengthynge all the discyples.

And a certayne Jew named * Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and myghty in the scriptures. The same was informed in the waye of the Lorde, and spake feruently in the sprete, and taught diligently the thynges of the Lorde, & knewe but the baptyme of John onely. And the same began to speake boldly in the Synagoge. Whō when Priscilla & Aquila had hearde they toke him vnto the, & expounded vnto hym the waye of God more perfectly.

And when he was disposed to go into Acaia, the brethren wrote, exhortynge the discyples to receaue him. Which when he was come he helped them moche which had beleued thowow grace. For he ouercame the Jewes myghtely, and that openly, shewynge by the scriptures, that Iesus was Christ.

The. xix. Chapter.

Of the twelue that were baptised at Ephesus and what miracles were done by Paul. Demetrius moued sedicion in the cytie.

Fortuned y whyll Apello was at Corinthe, Paul passed thorough the vpper coastes, and came to Ephesus, and founde certayne discyples, and sayde vnto them haue ye receaued the holy ghost, sence ye beleued? And they sayde vnto hym: no, we haue not heard whether ther be eny holy ghost or no. And he sayde vnto them. wherwith were ye then baptised? And they sayde, with y Johns baptyme. Then sayde Paul: * John verely baptised with the baptim of repentance, sayinge vnto the people that they shulde beleue on hym, which shuld come after hi: that is on Christ Iesus. When they hearde thys, they were baptised in the name of the Lorde Iesu. And whan Paul layde hys handes vpon them. * the holy ghost came on the, ad they spake with tonges, and prophesied, and all the men were aboute twelue.

And

And he went into the synagoge, and behaned hym selfe boldly for y^e space of thre monethes, disputinge and geuing them exhor-tacions of the kyngdome of God. ¶ When dyuers wered hard berted and beleued not, but spake euill of the waye (and that befoze the multitude) he departed fro thence, and se-perated the disciples. And he disputed dailie in the scole of one called Tyrranus. And this cōtynued by the space of two yeres: so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the woze of the Lorde Iesu, both Jewes and Grekes. And God wrought speciall myracles by the hādes of Paul: so that from his body, were brought vnto the sicke, nūpkins & partlettes, & the diseases departed from them, and the euill sprytes went out of them.

Then certayne of the vagabonde Jewes crozistes, toke vpon them to call ouer them (which had euill sprytes) y^e name of y^e Lorde Iesus, sayinge: We aduise you by y^e Iesu, whom Paul preacheth. And ther were seuen sonnes of one Sceua a Jew and chiefe of the prestes which dyd so. And the euill spryte answered and sayd: Iesus I knowe, & Paul I knowe: but who are ye? And the man in whom the euill spryte was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and preuapled agaynst the so that they fledd out of that house naked and wounded. And this was knowen to all the Jewes and Grekes also, which dwelt at Ephesus, & feare came on the all, & the name of the Lorde Iesus was magnified.

And many that beleued, cam, and confessed and shewed their workes. Many of them which vied curious craftes, brought their booke, and burned them befoze all men, and they counted the pryce of them, and foun-de it fyfty thousand syluer pynce. Somigh-tely grewe the word of God, and preuapled.
After these thynges were ended, Paul pur-posed in the spryte (whan he had passed ouer Macedonia ad Achaia) to go to Jerusalem, saying: After I haue bene there, I must also se Rome. So sent he into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto hym, euen Ti-motheus & Erastus: but he hym selfe remayned in Asia for a season.

The same tyme ther arose no lytell a do-aboute that waye. For a certayne man named Demetrius, a syluer smyth (which made syluer thynge for Diana) was not a ly-tell beneficiall vnto y^e craftes men. Whom he called together with the workemen of lyke occupacion, and sayd: Syrs, ye knowe that by this craft we haue aduantage. No-reouer, ye se & heare that not alone at Ephesus, but almost thorow out all Asia, thys Paul hath perswaded & turned a waye moche people sayinge, that they be not goddes which are made with handes. So that not only this our craft cometh into perill to be set at nought: but also that the temple of the greate Goddesse Diana shulde be despyed, & her magnificence shulde be destroyed. whome all Asia and the world worshyppe.

Whē they hearde these sayinges, they were full of wrath, & cryed out, sayinge. Greate is Diana of the Ephesians. And al the cytic was on a roze, and they rushed into the comen hall with one assent, & caught Gaius and Aristarcus, men of Macedonia, Pauls companys. When Paul wolde haue entred in vnto the people, the dysciples suffred hym not. But certayne of y^e chiefe of Asia (which were his frendes) sent vnto him, despyng him, that he wolde not p^race into the comē hall. Some therfore cryed one thyng and some another, & the congregacion was all out of quiete, & the moare parte knewe not wherfore they were come together.

Some of the company dze forth Alexāder, the Jewes thrustynge hym forwarde.
Alexander: bekened with the hande, and wolde haue geuen y^e people an answer. Whē they knewe that he was a Jewe, ther arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men, crying: greate is Diana of the Ephesians.

When the towne clarkke had ceased y^e people, he sayde: ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the cytie of the Ephesians is a worshyppe of the greate goddesse Diana, & of the ymage which cam from heauen. Seinge then that noman sayth here agaynst, ye ought to be content, and to do nothyng rashly: for ye haue brought hy-ther these men: which are nether robbers of churches, nor yet despylers of youre goddesse Wherfore, yf Demetrius and the craftes mē which are with hym, haue a matter agaynst eny man, the lawe is open, and ther are rulers, let them accuse one another. But yf ye goo aboute eny other thyng, it shall be determined in a lawfull congregacion. For we are in leopardy to be accused of thys dayes byronre, for as moche as ther is no cause, wherby we maye geue a rekenynge of thys concourse of people. And when he had thus spoken, he let the congregacion departe.

The xx. Chapter.

Paul goeth into Macedonia and into Grece. At Troas he capeth vp a bed body. At Ephesus he cal-lyth the elders of the congregacion together, com-muniteth the happyng of Gods flocke vnto them, warneth them of false teachers, maketh dysprayer with them, and departeth to hypppe.

After that the rage was ceased, Alexander called the dysciples vnto hym, and toke hys leaue of the, and departed for to go into Macedonia. And when he had gone ouer those partys, and had geuen them alonge exhortacion, he cam into Grece

Grece & there abode. iij. monethes. And whē y^e Jewes layde wayt for hi as he was about to sayle into Syria, he purposed to returne thorow Macedonia. Ther accompanied hi into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of Thessalonia, Aristarcus and Secudus, and Gaius of derba, & Timotheus, & out of Asia Tychicus and Trophimus. These goynge be-foze, tarped vs at Troas. And we sayled awaye fro Philippos after the dayes of swete bread, and cam vnto them to Troas in fyue dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.

And vpon one of the Saboth dayes, whā y^e disciples came together for to breake bread Paul preached vnto them (ready to departe on y^e morowe) & cōtinued the preaching vnto myddnyght. And there were many lyghtes in the chamber, where we were gathered together, & ther late in a wyndowe a certayne younge man (named Euticus) beinge fallē in to a depe slepe. And as Paul was preachynge, he was the moze overcome with slepe, ad fell downe from the thyrde loft, & was take vp deed. But whan Paul went doune, he fell on hym & embraced him and sayde: make nothyng a do, for his lyfe is in hym. So when he was come vp agayne, & had broke the bread & eaten, and talcked a longe whyle (euen tyll the moynynge) at the last he departed. And they brought y^e younge man alpye, & were not a lytell comforted.

And we went afoze to hypppe, & lowsed vnto Asson there to receaue Paul. For so had he appoynted, and wolde hym selfe goo a fote.
When we were come together at Asson, we toke him in, & came to Hyrtleness. And we sayled thence, and cam the nexte daye ouer agaynst Chios. And the nexte daye we ari-ued at Samos, & taried at Trogyllon. The nexte daye we came to Myleton: for Paul had determined to sayle ouer by Ephesus, because he wolde not spende y^e tyme in Asia.
For he hastid: yf it were possible for him to kepe at Jerusalem y^e daye of Pentecoste. And fro Myletō he sent messangers to Ephesus, & called y^e elders of y^e cōgregaciō. Which whē they were come to him, he layd vnto the: Ye knowe from the fyrst daye that I cam into Asia, after what maner I haue bene w^yon at all seasons, seruyng the Lorde with all hūblenes of mynde, and with many teares & temptacions which happened vnto me by the layinges a wayte of the Jewes, because I wolde kepe backe nothyng y^e was profitable vnto you: but to shewe you and teache you openly, & thorow out euery house, witnessynge both to y^e Jewes, & also to the Grekes, y^e repentance, that is toward God, & y^e sayth which is toward our Lorde Iesus.

And now beholde I go bounde in the spryte vnto Jerusalem, not knowing the thynges y^e shal come on me there, but y^e holy goost witneseth in euery cytie, saying. that bādes and trouble abyde me. But none of these thynges moue me: nether is my lyfe deare vnto my selfe, that I might fulfyll my course with ioye, ad the ministraciō of the word which I haue receaued of the Lorde Iesu, to testifye the Gospell of the grace of God.

And now beholde, I am sure, y^e henceforth ye all (thorow whō I haue gone preachynge the kyngdō of God) shal se my face no more. Wherfore, I take you to recorde this daye that I am pure from the bloude of all men. For I haue spared no labour, but haue the-word you all the counsell of God. Take hede therfore vnto youre selues & to all the flocke amonge whō the holy ghost hath made you ouersears, to rule the congregacion of God which he hath purchased with his bloude.
For I am sure of thys, y^e after my departynge shal greuous wolues entre in amoge you, not sparyng the flocke. For ouer, of yourselues shall men arise, speaking peruerse thynges to drawe disciples after the.
Therfore awake, & remēber, that by the space of iij. yeres: I ceased not to warne euery one of you nyght and daye with teares.

And now brythre, I commend you to God and to the worde of his grace, which is able to build farther, & to geue you an inheritaū-ce amonge all them which are sanctified.
I haue despyed no mans syluer, golde, or ve-sture. Pre, ye your selues knowe that these hādes haue ministred vnto my necessytes, & to them that were with me. I haue shewed you all thynges, how y^e so laboring ye ought to receaue the weake, & to remēber the woze des of y^e Lorde Iesu, how y^e he sayd: it is more blessed to geue then to receaue.

And when he had thus spoken, he kneled downe & and prayed with the all. And they all wepte sore and fell on Pauls necke, and kysed hym, sorowynge, most of all for the wordes which he spake, that they shulde se hys face nomore. And they conuayed hym vnto the hypppe.

The xxj. Chapter.

Pauls Tymes by hypppe. Of Philp the eunglist, & Tyabus the Diopet, which warned Paul not to go to Jerusalem. He remyned at Troas in dys purpose, and is taken in the temple.

And whan it chaunced that we had launched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a strayght course vnto Choon and the daye folowynge vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara. And whan we had gotten a hypppe that wolde sayle vnto Hierycres, we went aborde ino it, and set forth. But whan Ciprus beganne to appea-re vnto vs, we leftest on the lefte hande, and sayled vnto Siria, and ca vnto Tyre. For there the hypppe vnladed the burthen. And when we had founde brethren, we tarped there. viij. dayes. And they tolde Paul thow we the spere * that he shuld not go vp to Jerusalem. And when the dayes were ended we departed and went oure waye, and they all brought vs on oure waye, with wyues and chyldren, tyll we were come out of the cytie. And we kneled downe in the thore * ad prayde. And when we had taken oure leaue one of another, we toke shippe, & they returned home agayne.

When we had full ended the course from Cysre, we went downe to Ptolomaida, & saluted the brethren, & abode with the one daye. The nexte daye, we that were of Pauls company departed, and came vnto Cesarea. And we entred into the house of * Philip the euangelist, which was one of the seue, & abode with hym. The same man had fower daughters virgins, which dyd * prophesy. And as we tarped there a good many of dayes, there came a certaine prophet fro Iurie, named Agabus. When he was come vnto vs, he toke Pauls gerdell, & bounde his fete & handes, & sayd: Thus sayth the holy ghost * so shal the Jewes at Ierusalem bynde yman that oweth this gerdell, and shal deliuer hym into the handes of the Gentylis.

When we hearde this, both we and other which were of the same place, besought him that he wolde not go vp to Jerusalem. The Paul answered, & sayde: what do ye wepyng & verpynge myne herte? I am ready, not to be bounde onely, but also to dye at Ierusalem for the name of the Lorde Jesu. Whē we coulde not turne hys mynde, we ceased, sayinge * the wyll of the Lorde be fulfilled. After those dayes we toke vp oure burthens, & went vp to Jerusalem. * Ther went with vs also certayne of the discyples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus an olde discyppe, with whō we shulde lodge. And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren receaued vs gladly. And on the morow, Paul went in with vs vnto James. And all the elders came together. And whē he had saluted the, he tolde by order all thynges, that God had wrought amonge the gentylis by his ministracyon. And when they hearde it, they glorified the Lorde, and sayde vnto him: Thou seest brother, how many thousande Jewes ther are which beleue, and they are all earnest folowers ouer the lawe. And they are informed of the, that thou teachest all the Jewes which are amonge the gentylis, to forsake Moles and sayst, that they ought not to circuncise the chyliden, nether to lye after the customes. What is it therfore? The multitude must nedes come together: For they shal heare that thou arte come. Do therfore this, that we saye to the.

* We haue. iij. men, which haue a vowe on them. Them take, & purifie thy selfe with the, and do cost on the, that they maye haue their heades: and all shall knowe, that those thynges which they haue hearde concerning the, are nothyng: but that thou thy selfe also walkest and kepest the lawe. But as touching the gentylis which beleue * we haue written and concluded, that they obserue no soche thyng: saue onely that they kepe them selues from thynges offred to ydoles, and from bloude, and from strangled; and from fornicacyon. Then the nexte daye Paul toke the me, and * purgged hym selfe with them and entred into the temple, declaring that he obserued the dayes of the purificacyon, vntill that an offering shuld be offered for euery one of them.

And whan the seuen dayes were nowe almost ended, the Jewes which were of Asia (whē they sawe hym in the temple) moued all the people, and layde handes on him, cryng: me of Israell helpe. This is the mā, y teacheth all me euery where agaynst the people and y lawe, and thys place. He hath also brought Grekes into y temple, ad hath polluted thys holy place. For they had sene with hym one in the cytie. * Trophimus an Ephesiā, whō they supposed that Paul had brought into y temple. And all the cytie was moued, and the people swarmed together. And they toke Paul and drue him out of the temple, and forth with, the doores were shut.

As they went about to kyl him, tidinges came vnto the hye captayne of the soudyers, that all Jerusalem was moued. Which immediately toke soudiers ad vndercaptaynes, and ranne downe vnto them. When they sawe ypper captayne and the soudiers: they leste smytynge of Paul. Then the captayne came neare and toke hym, and commaunded hym to be bounde with two chaynes, and demanded what he was, ad what he had done. And some cryed one thinge, some another amonge the people. And when he coulde not knowe the certayntie for the rage, he commaunded him to be caried into the castle. And whē he came vnto a stappe, it fortuneth that he was bozne of the soudiers for the violence of the people. For the multitude of the people followed after, cryng: awake with hym.

And whan Paul beganne to be caried into the castle, he sayde vnto y hye Captayne: maye I speake vnto the? Which sayde: Cast thou speake Greke? Art not thou that Egyptian, which before these dayes madest an yproure, and leddest out into the wilderness: iij. thousande men that were motherers? But Paul sayde: I am a mā which am a Jewe of * Charlus a cytie in Cysle, a Cytelin of no vyle citie, I beleche y soffre me to speake vnto the people. And when he had geuen him lycence, Paul stode on the steppes, * and beckened beckened with the hande vnto the people: and whan there was made a greatesplenece he spake vnto them in the hebreue tonge, sayinge.

The xxij. Chapter.

Paul answereth the Actes. He is scourged, and layde in prison agayne.

MEn, brethren, and fathers, heare ye myne answer which I make nowe vnto you. When they hearde, that he spake in the hebreue tonge to them, they kept the more splenece. And he sayeth: I am verely a mā which am a Jewe bozne i * Carlus a cytie i Cysle: neuertheles, yet brought vp in thys cytie, at the fete of * Gamaliell, and informed diligently in the lawe of the fathers, and was feruent mynded to Godwarde, as ye all are thys same daye, and * I persecuted thys waye vnto the death byndynge and deliuerynge into prison both men and wemen, as the chiefe prestre doth beare me wytnesse, and all the estate of the elders: of whom also I receaued lettres vnto the brethren, and went to Damasco to bring them, (which were there bounde) vnto Jerusalem for to be punished.

And it fortuneth (that as I made my journey and was come nye vnto Damasco aboute none) suddenly there shone from heauen a greatesplenece aboute me, and I fell vnto the earthe, and hearde a voyce sayinge vnto me: Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And I answered: what arte thou Lorde? And he sayde vnto me: I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest. And they that were with me, sawe verely a lyghte, and were afrayde: but they hearde not the voyce of hym that spake with me. And I sayde: what shall I do Lorde? And the Lorde sayde vnto me: Arise, and go into Damasco, and there it shall be tolde the of all thynges, whych are appoynted for the to do. And whan I sawe nothyng for the brightnes of that lyght, I was leade by the hande of them that were with me, and came in to Damasco.

* And one Ananias a perfecte man, (and as pertaynyng to the lawe hauinge good reporte of all the Jewes, whych there dwelt) came vnto me, and stode, and sayde vnto me: Brother Saul, receaue thy lyght. And the same houre I receaued my lyghte, and sawe hym. And he sayde: the God of our fathers hath ordeyned the before, that thou shuldest knowe hys wyll, and shuldest heare the voyce of hys mouth: for thou shalt be hys wytnes vnto all men of those thynges, which thou hast sene and heard. And nowe, why tarpest thou? Arise, and be baptised, and washe awaye thy synnes * in calling on the name name of the Lorde: And it fortuneth, that whan I was come agayne to Jerusalem, and prayde in the temple, I was in a trance, and sawe hym, sayinge vnto me: Wake haste, and get the quickly oute of Jerusalem: for they wyll not receaue thy wytnesse, that thou bearest of me.

And I sayde: Lorde, they knowe that I prisoned, and bett in euery Synagoge them that beleued on the. * And whā the bloude of thy wytnes Steuen was shed, I also stode by, and consented vnto hys death, and kept the rayment of them that slewe hym. And he sayd vnto me departe, for * I wyll sende the a farre hence vnto the Gentylis.

They gaue hym audience vnto thys worde, and then lyft vp theyr voyces and sayde: awake with soche a felowe from the earth: for it is not reason that he shuld lyue. And as they cryed, and cast of thir clothes, and thine dust into the ayer, the captayne commaunded hym to be brought into the castle, and bad that he shulde be scourged, and to be examined, that he might knowe, wherfore they cryed so on hym. And whan they bounde hym with thonges, Paul sayde vnto the Centurion, that stode by him: Is it laful for you to scourge a man that is a Romaine and vncōdemned? When the Centurion hearde that, he went and tolde the ypper captayne, sayinge: What intendest thou to do? For thys man is * (a cytie) of Rome.

Then the ypper captayne came, and sayd vnto him: tell me, art thou a Romaine? he sayd: Yee. And the captayne answered, with a great some obtayned I thys freedom. And Paul sayd: I was fre bozne. Then straight waye departed from hym they which shulde haue examyned hym. And the hye captayne also was afrayde, after he knewe that he was a Romaine, and because he had bounde hym.

On the morowe (because he wolde haue knowen the certentye wherfore he was accused of the Jewes) he losed hym from hys bondes, and commaunded the hye prestres and all the counsell to come together and * brought Paul forth, & set hym before the.

Paul cometh before the councell. We: date aryleth amonge the people, the captayne deliuereth hym, God combyth hym.

Paul behelde the councel, and sayde: men, and brythren * I haue lyued in all good con- science before God vntyll this daye. And the hye preste Ananias commaunded them that stode by, to smyte hym on the month.

Then sayde Paul vnto hym: God shall smyte the thou paynted wall. * Syttest thou and iudgest me after the lawe: and commaundest me to be smytten contrary to the lawe? And they that stode by, sayde: reuylest thou Goddes hye preste? Then sayd Paul: I wist not brythren, that he was the hye preste. For it is wyrtten: * thou shalt not curse the ruler of thy people.

When Paul perceaued that the one parte were Saducees, and the other Pharises, he cryed out in the councell: Men and brythren, * I am a Pharisey, the sonne of a Pharisey. * Of the hope and resurreccyon from death, I am iudged.

And whan he had so sayde, there arose a debate betwene the Phariseyes and the Saducees ad the multitude was deuyded. * For the Saducees saye, that there is no resurreccyon, neither angel, nor spete: But the Phariseyes graunt both.

And there arose a greate crye: and whan the Scrybes which were of the Phariseyes parte arose, they stroue saying: we fynde none euill in thys man. * Though a spete or an angell hath appeared to hym, let vs not stryue agaynst God.

And when there arose greate debate, the captayne (fearynge, lest Paul shulde haue bene plucked a sondie of them) commaunded the souldyers to go downe, and to take hym from amonge them, and to brynge hym into the castell.

The nyght folowynge, God stode by hym, and sayde: be of good chere Paul: for as thou hast testyfyed of me in Jerusalem: so must thou beare wytnesse also at Rome. And whan it was daye, certayne of the Jewes gathered them selues togeather, and made a bowe, sayinge: that they wolde ne- ther eate nor dryncke, tyll they had kylled Paul. They were moo then fourtye men, which had made thys conspiracyon: And they came to the chefe prestes and elders, ad sayde: we haue bounde oure selues with a vowe, that we wyll eate nothyng, vntyll we haue slayne Paul.

Nowe therfore geue ye knowledge to the vpper captayne and to the councell, that he brynge hym forth vnto vs to morowe, as though we wold knowe some thyng moze perfectly of him. But we (oz euer he come neare) are redy to kyll hym.

Whan Pauls slyters some hearde of theyr layinge awayte, he went, and entred into the castell, and tolde Paul. And Paul called one of the vnder captaynes vnto him and sayde: brynge thys younge man vnto the hye captayne: for he hath a certayne thyng to shewe hym. And he toke hym and brought hym to the hye captayne, and sayd: Paul the presoner called me vnto hym, and prayed me to brynge thys younge man vnto the, whych hath a certayne matter to shewe the.

The hye captayne toke hym by the hand, and went with him out of the waye, and asked hi: what is yt that thou hast to tell me? And he sayde: the Jewes are determyned to delyue the, that thou woldest brynge forth Paul to morow into the councell, as though they wolde enquyre somwhat of hym moze perfectly. But folowe not thou theyr myn- des: for there lye in wayte for hym of them, moo then fourtye men, which haue bounde them selues with a vowe, that they will ne- ther eate nor dryncke, tyll they haue kylled hym. And now are they redy, and loke that thou shuldest promys.

The vpper captayne then let the younge man departe, and charged hym, sayinge: se thou, tell it oute to no man, that thou hast shewed these thynges to me: And he called vnto hym two vnder captaynes sayinge: make ready two hundred souldiers to go to Cesarea, and horssmen thre score, and ten: and speare men two hundred, at the thyrde houre of the nyghte. And de- lyuer them beastes, that they maye lett Paul on, and brynge hym safe vnto Ite- lye the hye debyte. * (for he dyd feare lest haplye the Jewes wolde take hym awaye and kyll hym, and he hym selfe shulde be afterwarde blamed, as though he wolde take money,) and he wrote a letter after thys maner.

Claudius Lysias vnto the most myghty ruler Felix, sendeth gretynges. * Thys man was taken of the Jewes, and shuld haue bene kylled of them. Then came I with souldyers, and reskued hym, and perceaued that he was a Romayn. And when I wold haue knowen the cause, wherfore they accus- sed hym, * I broughte hym forth into theyr councell. There perceaued I that he was ac- cused of questions of their lawe. * But was not gyltye of eny thyng worthy of death oz of bondes. And when it was shewed me, how that Jewes layde wayte ther for him, I sent hym strayght waye to the, and gaue commaundement to hys accusars, that the the thynges, which they haue agaynst hym, they shulde tell before the: fare well. Then the souldyers (as it was commaunded them) toke Paul, ad brought hym by night to An- tipatras. On the morow they left the horss- men to go with hym, and returned vnto the castell. Whych when they came to Cesarea, (and deliuered the epistle to the debyte) pre- sented Paul also before him. When the debyte had redde the lettre, he asked of what coun- tre he was. And when he vnderstode that he was of Cilicia * I wyll heare the (sayde he) when thyne accusars are come also: and he commaunded hym to be kepte in Herodes iudgement hall.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Paul ys accused before Felix, he answered for hym selfe.

After fyue dayes, Ananias * the hye preste descended with the el- ders, and with a certayne oratour named Tertullus, which enfor- med the debyte agaynst Paul. And when Paul was called forth, Tertullus be- ganne to accuse hym, saying: Seyinge that we lyue in greate quietnes by the meanes of the, and that many good thynges are done vnto thys nation thozowe thy prouidence. that alowe we euer and in all places moost noble Felix with all thakes. Not withstan- dyng, * I be not tedious vnto the, I praye the, that thou woldest heare vs of thy curte- sy a fewe wordes:

For we haue founde this man a pestilent felowe, and a mouer of debate vnto all the Jewes in the whole world, and a mayntey- ner (of sedycyon) of the secte of the Nazarites which hath also enforced to pollute the tem- ple. * Whom we toke, and wolde haue iud- ged accordyng to our lawe: but the hye cap- tayne Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence toke hym awaye oute of oure han- des, commaundyng hys accusars to come vnto the. Of whom thou mayest (yf thou wilt enquyre) knowe the certenty of all the- se thynges, wherof we accuse hi: The Jewes lyke wyse affermed, sayinge, that these thin- ges were euen so.

Then Paul (after that the debyte hym selfe had beckened vnto hym that he shulde speake) answered: With a moare quiet min- de do I answer for my selfe, for as moche as I vnderstode, that thou hast bene of ma- ny yeares a iudge vnto thys people, because that thou mayest knowe, * ther are yet, but twelue dayes sence I went vp to Jerusalem for to worshyppe, and * they nether founde me in the temple dysputynge with eny man, ether sayynge vnto the people, neher in the Synagoges, nor in the cytie. Nether can they proue the thynges wherof they accuse me.

But thys I confesse vnto the, that after the waye (which they call herespe) so wor- ship I the God of my fathers, beleuyng all thynges which are wyrtten in the lawe & the prophetes, and haue hope towardes God, that * the same resurreccio of the deed) which they them selues loke for also) shalbe, both of iust and vniust. And therfore * study I to ha- ue allwaye a cleare conscience toward God, and toward men.

But after many yeares, I came * and brought almes to my people and offerynges (and bowes) in the which they founde me pu- rised in the temple, nether with multitude, nor yet with vnquyetnesse. * (and they toke me, * and cryed, sayinge, awaye with oure enemye.) Howbeit there were certen Jewes out of Asia, which ought to be here present before the, and accu- se me, yf they had ought agaynst me: oz elles lett these same here saye, yf they haue founde any euill doyng in me, whyle I stande here in the councell: except it be for this one voy- ce, that I cryed standynge among them. * of the resurreccyon from death am I iudged of you thys daye.

Whē Felix heard these thynges, he defer- de the, for he knew very well of that waye, and sayde: when Lysias the captayne is co- me downe. I will knowe the vtmost of your matter. And * he commaunded an vnder- captayne to kepe Paul, and to let hym haue rest, and that he shuld forbyd none of hys ac- quayntaunce to minister vnto him, oz to co- me vnto hym.

And after a certayne dayes, whan Felix came with his wyfe Drusilla (which was a Jewesse) he called forth Paul, and hearde hym of the fayth, which is toward Christ. And as he preached of ryghtewelsnes tem- perance, and iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered: So thy waye for thys tyme: whan I haue a conuenient sea- son, I wyll sende for the. He hoped also, that money shulde haue bene geuen hym of Paul, that he myght loose him: wherfore, he called hym the oftener and coniened with hym. But after two yeare, Festus Porcius came into Felix rowme. And Felix * wyl- lynge to shewe the Jewes a pleasure, lette Paul in pesson bounde.

The xxv. Chapter.

The Jewes accuse Paul before Festus, he ap- pealed vnto the Emperour, and is sent vnto Rome.

Whan Festus had receaued the of- fyce, after thre dayes, he ascended from Cesarea vnto Jerusalem. Then enforced hi the hye pre- stes and the chefe of the Jewes, of Paul. And they besought hym, and desy- red fauour agaynst hym, that he wolde sen- de for hym to Jerusalem: and they layde awayte for hym in the waye, to kyll hym. Festus answered, that Paul shulde be kept. at Cesar. but that he hym selfe wolde shortly departe thither. Let them therfore (sayde he) which among you are able, come downe with vs, and accuse hym, yf there be any faulte in the man.

When he had tarped there amonge them more then ten dayes, he wente downe vnto Cesar. and the nexte daye sat downe in the iudgement seate, and commaunded Paul to be brought. Which when he was come, the Jewes which were come from Jerusalem, stode aboute hym, and layde many and greuous complayntes agaynst Paul, whych they coude not proue, as longe as he answered for hym selfe, that he had nether agaynst the lawe of the Jewes, nether agaynst the temple, nor yet agaynst Cesar offended any thyng at all.

Festus * wyllynge to do the Jewes a pleasure, answered Paul, and sayde: wylt thou go vnto Jerusalem, and there be iudged of these thynges before me? Then sayde Paul: I stande at Cesars iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged. To the Jewes haue I no harme done, as thou very well knowest. If I haue hurte them, or commytred any thyng worthy of death, I refuse not to dye. If noone of these thynges are, where of they accuse me, no man maye deliuer me to them, I appeale vnto Cesar. Then spake Festus with deliberacyon, and answered: Thou hast appealed vnto Cesar: vnto Cesar shalt thou go.

And after a certayne dayes, kinge Agrippa and Bernice came vnto Cesar. to salute Festus. And when they had bene there a good season, Festus rehearsed Pauls cause vnto the kynge, sayinge: * there is a certayne man left in prison of Felix, aboute whom when I came to Jerusalem, the hye prestes and elders of the Jewes enuoyed me, and desired to haue iudgement agaynst hym. To whom I answered: It is not the maner of the Romaynes, for fauoure to deliuer any man, that he shulde peryshe, before that he which is accused, haue the accusars before hym, and haue licence to answer for hym selfe, concernynge the crime layde agaynst hym. Therfore, when they were come hyther, withoute any delaye, on the morowe I late to geue iudgment, and commaunded the man to be brought forth.

Agaynst whom, when the accusars stode vp, * they brought noone accusation of such thynges as I supposed: but had certen questions agaynst hym of theyr awne supersticion, and of one Jesus which was deed, who Paul affirmed to be aljue. And because I doubted of soche maner of questions, I asked hym, whether he wolde go to Jerusalem, and there be iudged of these matters. But when Paul had appealed to be kepte vnto the knowledge of Cesar, I commaunded hym to be kepte, tyll I myght sende hym to Cesar. Agrippa sayde vnto Festus: I wolde also heare the man my selfe. To morowe, (sayde he) thou shalt heare hym. And on the morowe when Agrippa was come and Bernice, with greute pompe, and were entred in to the counsell house, with the captaynes and chiefe men of the cytie, at Festus commaundement was Paul brought forth. And Festus sayde: kynge Agrippa, & all ye men which are heare present with vs, ye se this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jewes haue intreated me, both at Jerusalem and also here cryinge, that he ought not to lyue any lenger. Yet founde I nothing worthy of death, that he had committed. Neuertheles, seying that he hath appealed to Cesar, I haue determined to sende hym. Of whom I haue no certayne thyng to write vnto my lord. Wherfore, I haue brought hym vnto you, and specially vnto the: O kynge Agrippa, that after examinacyon had, I myght haue sumwhat to wryte. For me thinketh it unreasonable, for to sende a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are layde agaynst hym.

The xxvj. Chapter.

Kynge Agrippa heareth Paul, whych telleth hym his callynge from the begynnyng.

Agrippa sayde vnto Paul: * art permitted to speake for thy selfe. Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for hym selfe. I thinke my selfe happy kig Agrippa, because I shall answer this daye before the, of all the thynges wherof, I am accused of the Jewes: namely, because thou arte experte in all customes and questions, which are among the Jewes. Wherfore I beseeche the, to heare me patiently.

My lpyng that I haue lead of a chylde (which was at the fyrst among myne awne nation at Jerusalem) knowe all the Jewes, which kne we me from the begynnyng, yf they wolde testyfy. For * after the moost stryptest secte of our religion, I lpyed a pharisey. And now I stande and am iudged for the hope of the promes made of God vnto oure father: vnto which promes our twelue tribes (instantly seruyng God daye & night) hope to come. For which hopes sake, kynge Agrippa, I am accused of the Jewes. Why shulde it be thought a thyng incredible vnto you, yf God shulde rayse agayne the deed? I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to do many contrary thynges, cleane agaynst the name of Jesus of Nazareth: * which thyng I also dyd in Jerusalem. And many many of the sayntes dyd I shut vp in prison, and had receaued auctorite of the hye prestes. And when they were put to deeth. I gaue the sentence. And I punished them ofte in euery synagoge, and compelled them to blasphemie: and was yet more mad vpon them, and persecuted them, euen vnto strange cyties. About which thynges as I wet to Damasco wyth auctorite and licence of the hye prestes, eue at myddaye. (Okyng) I sawe in the waye a lyght from heauen about the byghenes of the sonne shynynge vnder about me, and them whych ioyned wyth me.

When we were all fallen to the erthe, I heard a voyce speakynge vnto me, & sayinge in the hebraue tonge: * Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is harde for the to kicke agaynst the prickes. And I sayd: Who art thou Lord? And he sayde: I am Jesus whom thou persecutest, but ryse and stand vp on thy fete. For I haue appeared vnto y for thys purpose, to make y a minister and a witnes both of those thynges whych y haue sene, & of those thynges in the which I will appere vnto the, deliueringe the from the people, and from the gentyls, vnto whom now I sende the, to open their eyes, that they maye be turned from darcknes to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they maye receaue forgiveness of synnes, and inheritaunce amonge them whych are sanctified by fapth that is toward me.

Wherfore (Okyng Agrippa) I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly visyon: but shewed fyrst vnto them of Damasco, and at Jerusalem, and thowow out all the coastes of Jewry, and then to the gentyls, that they shuld repent, and turne to God, and do such workes as become them that repent. For thys cause the Jewes caught me in the temple, and went about to kyll me. Seyng therfore that I haue obtained helpe of God: I contynue vnto thys daye, wytnellinge bothe to small & to great, sayinge none other thynges, then those whych the prophetes ad Moses dyd saye shuld come: that Christ shuld deliuer, and that he shulde be the fyrst that shuld ryse from deth, and shuld shew lyght vnto the people, and to the gentyls. As he thus spake for hym selfe: Festus sayde with a loude voyce: Paul, part besyde thy selfe. Hochlearnynge doth make the madd. And Paul sayde: I am not mad (most deare Festus) but speake forth the wordes of tructh and sobernes. For y kynge knoweth of these thynges, before who also I speake frely: nether thynke I that any of these thynges are hydden from him. For thys thyng was not done in a corner. Kynge Agrippa beleuest thou the Prophetes? I wote well that thou beleuest: Agrippa sayde vnto Paul: Sum-what thou byngest me in mynde for to be come Chyrtien. And Paul sayde: I wolde to God that not onely thou: but also all that heare me to daye were, not somewhat onely, but all together, soch as I am, except these bondes. And when he had thus spoken, the kynge rose vp, and the debite, and Bernice, and they that late with the, And when they were gone aparte, they talked betwene the selues, sayinge. This man doeth nothing worthy of deeth, or of bondes. Then sayde Agrippa vnto Festus. This man myght haue bene let loose, yf he had not appealed vnto Cesar.

The xxvij. Chapter.

Paul shippeth toward Rome, Julius the Captayne intreateth hym curteously, so as the lawe requireth shypwrake.

When it was concluded, y we shuld sayle into Italy they deliuered both Paul & certayne other prisoners, vnto one named Julius, an vnder captayne of Cesars soudiers. And we entred into a shipp of Adamicum, and loosed from land, apoynted to sayle by the coastes of Asia, one Aristarcus out of Macedonia, of the cons-tre of Thessalonica tarynge still with vs. And y nexte daye we came to Sidon. And Julius * courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him lyberte, to go vnto his frendes, & to refreshe hym selfe. And when we had launched from thence, we sayled harde by Cyprus, because the wyndes were contrarye. And when we had sayled ouer y see of Cylicia, & Pamphilia, we cam to Myra whych is in Lycia.

And there the vndercaptayne founde a shyppe of Alexandria ready, that sayled into Italy, and he put vs therein. And when we had sayled slowly many dayes, and seace we re come ouer agaynst Sydon (because the wynde wyth stode vs) we sayled harde by the coaste of Candy, ouer agaynst Salmo, and wyth moche worke sayled beyonde it, & came vnto a place which is called the sayre haufes. yf we wher vnto was the cytie of La-seea when moche tyme was spent, and when sayling was now reuerdous, because also that they had ouerlonge fasted, Paul put the in remembrance, and layd vnto the: Syrs I perceaue, that thys viage wilbe wyth hurt and moche damage, not of the ladyng ad shyp onely, but also of your lyues: Neuerthelesse y vnder captayne beleued y gouerner & y master of y shyp more then thole thynges whych were spok of Paul. And because the haue was not comodious to wynter in, many toke counsell to departe thence, yf by any meanes they myght attayne to Phenicis & there to wynter, whych is an haue of Candy, and lyeth toward the south west and north west wynde. When the south wynde blew, they suppolynge to obtayne their purpose, loosed vnto Ailon, and sayled past all Candy.

But not long after, ther arose agaynst theyr purpose, a flawe of wynde out of the northeast. And when the shyp was caught & could not resyst þ wynde, we let her go, and draue with þ wyther. But we were carped i to an ple whych is named Clarda, and had moche worke to come by a bore, whych they toke vp, and vled helpe, & made fast þ shyppe, fearunge, lest they shuld fall into the Syrtes. And so they let downe a vessell, ad were carped. The nexte daye) whē we were tolled wyth an exceedinge fēpest) they lyghtened the shyp, and the thyrde daye we cast out wyth oure a wone handes the takynge of the shyppe. Whē at the last, nether the sunne noz starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest laye vpo vs, all hope that we shuld escape, was then take awaye. But after longe abstynence, Paul stode forth in the myddes of them, & sayde: Syrs, ye shulde haue barked to me, and not haue loosed from Candy, nether to haue bzought vnto vs thys harme & losse. And now I exhorte you to be of good chere. For ther shalbe no losse of eny mā's lyfe amonge you, saue of the ship onely. For ther stode by me thys nyght þ angel of God, whose I am, and who I serue, saying: feare not Paul * I must be bzought before Cesar, And lo, God hath geuen the all them that sayle with the. Wherefore syrs be of good chere: for I beleue God, that it shalbe euen as it was tolde me, how be it we must be cast into a certayne plonde.

* Act. x. xrb. c.

* Act. xv. iij. a

But when the fourtenth nyght was come) as we were sayling i Adria about mydnyght (the shypmen demed, that ther appeared some countre vnto them: and sounded, & foude it. xx. feddoms. And whē they had gone a lytell further, they sounded agayne, and foude. xv. feddoms. Then fearynge lest they shuld haue fallē on some rocke, they cast. iij. ankers out of the sterne, and wpyhed for the daye. As the shypmen were about to flee out of the shyp (whan they had let downe þ bote i to the see, vnder a couloure, as though they wolde haue cast ankers out of the forshyppe) Paul sayde vnto the vndercaptayne and to the soudyers: excepte these abyde in the shyppe ye cannot be safe. Then the soudyers cut of þ rope of the bote, and let it fall a wape.

And whan the daye beganne to appeare, Paul besought them all to take meate, sayynge: thys is the fourtenth daye, that ye haue sayed and conuyned fastynge, receaynynge nothig at all. Wherefore, I praye you to take meate: for this no dout is for yowre helth: for

*ther shall not an heer fall from the heed of eny of you. And when he had thus spoken, he toke bredd and * gaue thanks to God in presence of them all: and whan he had broke it, he beganne to eate. Then were they all of good cheare, and they also toke meate. We were all together in the shyp, two hundred threscore and syxtene soules. And whē they had eaten ynough, they lyghtened the shyp, and cast out the wheate in to the see.

When it was daye, they knew not the lande, but they spyed a certayne haueu with a bancke, into the whych they were mynded (if it were possyble) to thrust in þ shyp. And when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed them selues vnto the see, and lowed the rudder bondes and hoysed vp the mayne sayle to the wynde, and drue to lande. And whan they chaunced on a place, whych had the see on both the sydes, they thrust in the shyp. And the foreparte stucke fast and moued not, but the hynder parte brake wyth þ violence of the waues.

The Soudyers counsell was to kyll the prisoners, lest eny of them, when he had swome out, shulde come awaye. But the vndercaptayne wyllinge to saue Paul, kept them from theyr purpose, and commaunded that they whych coulde swimme, shulde cast the selues fyrst into the see, and scape to lande. And the other he commaunded to go, some on bordes, and some on broken peces of the shyp. And so it came to passe, that they escaped all safe to lande.

The. xxviij. Chapter.

The vpper hurteth not Pauls hande, he beasleth Dublin father, and preacheth Chyph at Rome.

And when they were escaped, then they knewe, that: * the ple was called Milet. And the straungers shewed vs no lytell kynnes: for they kyndled a fyre, and receaued vs euery one, because of the present rayne, & because of þ colde. And whē Paul had gathered a bondell of styches, and layde the on the fyre, ther came a vpper out of the heat, & caught hym by the hāde. When the straungers sawe the beast hange on hys hande, they sayde amonge them selues: no doute thys mā is a moztcherer: whō (though he haue escaped the see) yet vengeance suffereth not to lyue. And he shooke of the vpper into the fyre, and * felt no harme. Howbeit they wayted whē he shulde haue swolne, or fallen downe deed sodenly. But after they had loked a greate whyle, and sawe no harme come to hym, they chaunged theyr myn-des, and sayde * that he was a God.

In the same quarters were londes of the chefe man of the ple (whose name was Dublin) whych receaued vs, & lodged vs thre dayes courteously. And it fortunied that the father of Dublin laye sycke of a feuer, and of a bloudy fluxe. To whom paul entred in and prayde, and layde hys handes on hym & healeth him. So, when this was done, other also whych had dysleases in the ple, cam and were healed: whych also dyd vs great honoure. And when we departed, they laded vs w loch thynges as were necessary.

After thre monethes we departed in a ship of Alexandry, whych had wyntred in the ple, whose badge was: Castor & Pollux. And whē we came to Tyracusa, we tarped there thre dayes. And frō thence we set a cōpasse, and came to Reglum. And after one daye þ south wynde blew, and we came the nexte daye to Putiolus: where we founde brythē, and were despyed to tarp wyth them seven dayes, and so came we to Rome. And from thence, when the brythē hearde of vs, they came to mete vs at Apphorum, and at the thre tauerne. When Paul sawe them, he thanked God, and wored bolde. And when we came to Rome, the vndercaptayne helyured the prisoners to the chefe captayne of the host: but Paul was suffred to dwell by hym selfe wyth a soudyer that kept hym.

And after thre dayes, Paul called the chefe of the Jewes together. And when they were come, he sayde vnto them: Men and brythē, though, * I haue committed nothing agaynst the people or lawes of þ Elders: y. t was I deliuered prisoner from Ierusalem into the handes of the Romayns. Whych when they had examined me, wolde haue let me go, because ther was no cause of death in me. But when the Jewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto cesar: not þ I had ought to accuse my people of. For thys cause when haue I called for you, eue to se you, and to speake wyth you: * because that for the hope of Israel I am bounde w this cheyne.

And they sayde vnto hym: me nether re-ceaued lettres out of Jewry pertainynge vnto the nether eny of the brythē þ came shewed or spake eny harme of þ. But we wyll heare of the what thou thynkest. For as concerning thys secte, we knowe that * euer y where it is spoken agaynst. And when they had appoynted him a daye, ther came many to hym into hys lodgynge. To whom he expounded and testifed the kyngdom of God & preached vnto them of Iesus: both out of the lawe of Moyses and out of the Prophe-tes, euen from morninge to nyght. And * some beleued the thynges whych were spoke, and some beleued not.

As it knowen therfore vnto you, that thys saluacyon of God is sent to the ge tylls, and they shall heare it. And whē he had sayde these wordes, the Jewes departed frō him and had greate despycions amōge them selues.

And Paul dwelt two yeres full in hys lodgynge, and receaued all that cam in vnto hym, preachinge the kyngdome of God, and teachynge those thynges whych concernē the Lorde Iesus wyth all confydence, no man forbydyng hym.

The Epistle of
the Apostle Saynt Paul to the Romaynes.

The fyrst Chapter.

Paul declareth howe he cometh to the Romaynes, & howe he cometh to the Gospell, & howe he cometh to the Gentyls.

Paul the seruant of Jesus Chryst called to the office of an Apostle * put a parte for y^e Gospell of God

* whych he had promysed afore by hys Prophetes in the holy scriptures of hys sonne, whych was borne * of the seed of Dauid after the fleshe: and hath bene declared to be the sonne of God wth power, after y^e spyte that sanctifyeth, sence the tyme that Jesus Chryst oure Lorde rose agayne from deeth * by whom we haue receaued grace & Apostleship, that obedience myght be geuen vnto the sayth in hys name amonge all heathen, of whole nombre you be, the electe of Jesus Chryst. R.

To all you that be at Rome, beloued of God and sayntes by electyon. * Grace be wth you and peace from God oure father, & from the Lorde Jesus Chryst.

It is my prayse that I thanke my God thorow Jesus Chryst for you all, that poure sayth is spoken of in all the worlde. For God is my wytnes whom I serue. * Wth my spyte in the Gospell of hys sonne (that wythout ceasinge I make mencyon of you prayinge allwayes * in my prayers, that by some mea-ne, at the last (one tyme or other) a prosperour to me (by the wyll of God) myght fortune me, to come vnto you. For I longe to se you, that I myght bestowe amonge you some spirytual gyfte, to strength you wthall: that is, that I myght haue consolacyd to gether wth you, thzough the comen sayth whych both ye and I haue.

I wolde that ye shuld knowe (bryther) how that I haue often tymes purposed to come vnto you * but haue bene let hitherto to haue some frute also amonge you, as among other of the Gentyls. I am better both to the Sickes and to the vnghealed, to the learned and to the vnlarned. So that (as moch as in me is) I am redy to preach the Gospell to you that are at Rome also. * For I am not ashamed of the Gospell of Chryst, because it is the power of God vnto saluacyon to eue-ry one that belueth, to the Jewe fyrst, & also to the Gentyle.

For by it is the ryghtewesnes of God opened * from sayth to sayth. As it is wrytten
* the iust shall lyue by sayth.

For the wrath of God apareth from heauen agaynst all vngodlynes and vnyghtewesnes of men, whych withholde the tructh in vnyghtewesnes: saynge * that it whych maye be knowne of God, is manifest amonge them because God hath shewed it vnto thē. * For hys inuisible thinges (y^e is to saye hys eternall power and godhed) are sene, for as moch as they are vnderstande * by the workes from the creatyng of the worlde: So that they are wythout excuse because that when they knewe God, they glorified hym not as God, neither were thankfull but wa-red full of vanities in theyr imaginacions, * and theyr folysh hert was blynded. When they counted them selues wylse, they became fooles * and turned the glory of the immor-tall God, vnto an ymage, made not onely after the spymilitude of a mortall man but also of byrdes, & foure footed beastes & of crepping beastes. Wherefore, God gaue thē vp, to vnclenes, thozow the lustes of theyr awne heartes to despyle theyr awne bodyes amonge thē selues: whych chaunged hys tructhe for a lye, and worshipped and serued the thinges that be made, more than hym that made them, which is to be prayled for euer. Amen. Wherefore, God gaue them vp vnto shamefull lustes: * For euen their women dyd chaunge the naturall vse in to that whych is agaynst nature. And lyke wyse also the men, lefte y^e natural vse of the woman, and byt in their lustes one wth another, * men wth men wrought fylthynes, and receaued to thē sel-ues the rewarde of theyr erreure, as it was accordynge.

And as they regarded not to knowe God * curio to God deliuered them vp vnto a lewde mynde, that they shulde do those thyn-ges whych were not comly, beyng full of all vnyghteousnesse, fornicacyon, wychednes, couetousnes, malycyousnes, full of enuye moether, debate, disceyte, euill condicyoned, whysperers, backbyters, haters of God, dyf-daynfull, proude, boasters, bungers of euill thynghes, disobeyent to father and mother, wythout vnderstandynge, couenaunte breakers, vnloyunge, treucebreakers, vnmer-cyfull. Which men, though they knewe the ryghtewesnes of God, (as shewed) how that they whych comyt soche thynghes, are wth-thy of deeth, not only * (they that) do the same * but also * (they whych) haue pleasure in them that do them.

The ii. Chapter.

The rebuketh the Jewes, whych as touchynge synne are lyke the Gentyls.

Wherefore art thou inexcusable. O mā, whosoever thou be that * iudgeth for i that same wherin thou iudgeth another * thou condennest thy selfe. For thou that iudgeth, doest euen the same selfe thyn-ges. But we are sure, that the iudgement of God is accordynge to tructh, agaynst them whych comyt soch thynghes. Thykest thou thys, O thou man that iudgeth them whych do soche thynghes, and doest euen the very same thy selfe, that thou shalt escape the iud-gement of God? Ether despylest thou the ryches of hys goodnes, and pacience and lon-ge sufferance, not knowyng * that y^e kynd-nes of God leadech thee to repentance.

But thou after thy stubburnesse, and her-te that cannot repent, heapest vnto thy selfe wrath agaynst y^e daye of vengeance, when shalbe opened the ryghtewes iudgement of God, * whych wyll reward euery mā accordynge to hys dedes: that is to saye, pray-se, honoure and immortalite, to them whych contynue in good doyng, and seke immortalite. But vnto them that are rebelles, and that do not obey the tructh, but folowe vnryghteousnes, shal come indignacyon and wrath, tribulacyon and anguryshe vpon the soule of euery mā that doth euill: of y^e Jewe fyrst, and also of the Gentyle. To euery man that doth good, shal come prayse, and honour, and peace, to the Jewe fyrst, and also to the Gentyll. For * ther is no respecte of personnes, with God. For whosoever hath synned wythout lawe, shal also perlyde wythout lawe. And as many as haue synned in the lawe, shalbe iudged by the lawe.

For in the syght of God, they are not ryghteous whych beare the lawe: but the doers of the lawe shalbe iustified. For when the Getyls whych haue not the lawe, do of nature the thynghes containyd in the lawe: then they haunge not the lawe, are a lawe vnto them selues, whych shew the dede of the lawe wrytten in theyr hertes: whyll theyr conscience beareth wytnes vnto them, and also theyr thoughtes, accusynge one another or excusynge, at the daye * when the Lorde shal iudge the secretes of mē by Jesus Chryst, accordynge to my Gospell.

Beholde, * thou art called a Jewe, and trustest in the lawe, and makest thy boast of God, and knowest his wyll, and alowest the thynghes that be excellent, and art infourmed by the lawe: and belueth that thou thy selfe art a gyde of the blynde, a lyght of the which are in darkenes, an infourmer of them whych lacke discrecyon, a teacher of the vnlarned, whych hast y^e ensample of knowledge, & of y^e truthe by y^e lawe. Thou therfore whych tea-chest another, teachest not thy selfe * Thou preachest, a man shulde not steale: yet thou stealest. Thou that sayst, a man shuld not co-myt aduoutre, breakest wedlocke. Thou abhorrest ymages, and yet robbest God of his honoure. Thou that makest thy boast of the lawe, thozow breakynge the lawe disho-nourst God. For the name of God is curll spoken of amonge the Gentyls, thozow you * as it is wrytten.

For circumcysion verely auayleth, yf thou kepe the lawe. But yf thou be a breaker of the lawe, thy circumcysion is turned to vn-circumcysion. Therefore, yf the vncircumcised kepe y^e ryght thynghes containyd in the lawe, shal not his vncircumcysion be counted for circumcysion: And shal not vncircumcysion whych is by nature (yf it kepe the lawe) iudge the, whych beyng vnder the letter and circumcysion, doest trasgresse the lawe: y^e is not a Jewe, whych is a Jewe outwarde. Nether is it circumcysion, whych is outwarde in the fleshe. But * he is a Jewe whych his hye wythin, and * the circumcysion of the herte is the true circumcysion, whych consisteth in the spyte and not in the letter: whose prayse is not of men, but of God.

The iii. Chapter.

The rebuketh the Jewes, whych as touchynge synne, and are iustified only by the grace of God in Chryst.

What prefermet then hath y^e Jewe? R or what aduantagech circumcision? Surely verely moch. fyrst
* because y^e vnto them were commytred y^e wordes of God. What then though some of them dyd not belue? * Shall they vnbelue make the promes of God without effecte? God forbid. Let God be true, and
* euery man a lyar, at it is wrytten: * y^e thou myghtest be iustified in thy saynges, and ouercome, when thou art iudged.

But yf oure vnyghtewesnes make y^e ryghtewesnes of God more excellent: what shal we saye? Is God vnyghteous, whych taketh vengeance? I speake after the maner of mē: God forbid. For how then shal God iudge the worlde? For yf the tructh of God appeare more excellent thozow my lye, vnto his prayse, why am I hence forth iudged as lyar? as I saymer

a synner: and not rather (as me speake euill of vs, and as some aspyne that we saye) let vs do euill, that good maye come therof. Whose damnacion is iuste.

What then? Are we better then they? No, in no wyse. For we haue all ready proued, how that both Jewes and Gentyls are all vnder synne, as it is wyrtten. * There is none ryghteous, no not one: there is none that vnderstandeth, there is none that seeketh after God: they are all gone out of the waye, they are all vnproufable, there is none that doeth good, no not one. * They: thore is an open scowle, with they: tonges they haue discaued: the popson of aspes is vnder they: lypes. * Whose mouth is full of cursynge and bytternes. * Their fete are swyfte to shed bloud. * Destruction and wretchednes are in they: wayes, and the waye of peace haue they not knowe. * There is no feare of God before they: eyes.

* We knowe that what thynges soeuer f lawe sayth, it sayth it to the which are vnder f lawe. That all mouthes maye be stoped, & that all the worlde maye be subdued to God, because f by the dedes of the lawe ther shall no fleshe be iustified in hys syght. For by f lawe cometh f knowledge of sinne.

But now is f ryghtewesnes of God declared without the lawe, for asmoche as it is alowed by the testimonye of f lawe and of f prophetes. The ryghtewesnes of God, cometh by the fith of Iesus Christ, vnto all and vpon all them that beleue. * (on hym.)

Ther is no difference: for all haue synned, and are bestitute of the gloire of God: but f are iustified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesu, whom God hath set forth * to be the obtayner of mercy thozow fath, by the meanes of hys bloude, to declare hys ryghteousnes, in that he forgiveth the synnes f are passed, whych God byd suffre, to shewe at thys tyme hys ryghtewesnes, that he might be counted iust, and the iustifyer of hym whych beleueth on Iesus. f

Where is then thy reioysynge? It is excluded. By what lawe of workes? Naye: but by the lawe of fath.

Therefore we holde, that * a man is iustified by fath without the dedes of the lawe: Is he the God of the Jewes onely? Is he not also the God of the Gentyls? Yes, euen of the Gentyls also. For it is God only which iustifyeth the circumcision that is of fath, and uncircumcision thozow fath. Do we then destroye the lawe thozow fath? God forbid. But we rather maintayne the lawe.

The. liij. Chapter.

The declareth by the example of Abraham, to a fath iustified, and not the lawe, nor the workes: Jerol.

What shall we saye then, that * Abraham oure father (as pertaynyng to the fleshe) byd synde? If Abraham were iustified by dedes, then hath he wherin to reioyce: but not w God. For what sayth the scripture? * Abraham beleued God, and it was counted vnto him for ryghtewesnes. To hym that worketh, is the rewarde not reckned of fauoure, but of dutye. To hym that worketh not, but beleueth on him that iustifyeth the vngodly, is his fath counted for ryghtewesnes. * (According to the purpose of the grace of God) Euen as Dauid describeth the blessednes of that man, vnto whom God imputeth ryghtewesnes without dedes. * Blessed are they, whose vnrigh-ewesnes are forgiven, and whose synnes are couered. Blessed is that man, to whom the Lorde wyll not impute synne.

Came this blessednes then vpo the vncircumcision, or vpon the circumcision also? For we saye, that fath was reckened to Abraham for ryghtewesnes. How was it then reckened: whan he was in the circumcision? or whan he was in the vncircumcision? Not in f tyme of circumcision: but when he was yet vncircumcised. And he receaued the f sygne of circumcision, as a scale of the ryghtewesnes of fath, whych he had yet be-ynge vncircumcised, that he shulde be the father of all them that beleue, though they be not circumcised, that ryghtewesnes myght be imputed to them also: and that he myght be father of circumcision, not vnto the onely whych came of the circumcised, but vnto the also that walke in the steppes of the fath f was in oure father Abraham, before the tyme of circumcision.

For the promes (that he shulde be the heyre of f worlde) happened not to Abraham or to his seed thozow f lawe: but thozow f ryghtewesnes of fath. * For yf they whych are of f lawe, be heyres, then is fath but vayne and the promes of none effecte. Because the lawe causeth wrath. For where no lawe is, there is no transgression. Therefore by fath is the inheritance geuen, that it myght come of fauoure: that the promes myght be sure to all the seed. Not to them onely whych are of the lawe: but to them also which are of the fath of Abraham, * which is the father of vs all. (As it is wyrtten: * I haue made f a father of many nacyns) euen before God, whom he beleued, whych restozeth the deed vnto lye: and calleth those thynges whych be not, as though they were.

Whych Abraham, contrary to hope, beleued in hope, that he shulde be the * father of many nacyns, accordynge to that whych was spoken: euen so shall thy seed be. * (as the seed of res of beauen, and the sonde of the see.) And he faynted not in the fath, nor yet considered his awne body whych was now deed, euen when he was almost an hōdred yere olde: nether yet that Sara was past chyldbearinge. He stachered not at the promes of God thozow vnbefese: but became stronge in fath, and gaue God the prayse, beynge full certified, that he whych had promysed the same was able also to make it good. And therfore was it reckened to hym for ryghtewesnes.

* Nevertheless it is not wyrtten for hym onely, that it was reckened to hym (for ryghtewesnes): but also for vs, to whom it shalbe counted (for ryghtewesnes,) so f we beleue on hym, f rayled by Iesus oure Lorde from the deed: whych was deliuered for oure synnes, and was rayled agayne for oure iustificacyon.

The. v. Chapter.

The power of fath, hope and loue and how death rayned from Adam vnto Christ, by whome onely we haue forgiveness of synnes.

Because therfore that we are iustified by fath, we are at * peace with God, thozow oure Lorde Iesus Christ: by whom also it chauned vnto vs to be brought in thozow fath, vnto thys grace, wherein we stande, and * reioyce in hope of f gloire. * (of the chryste) of God. Not that onely: but also we reioyce in tribulacions: knowyng that * tribulacion byyngeth patience, patience byyngeth experience, experience byyngeth hope. And hope maketh not ashamed: because the loue of God is shed abroad in oure hertes, by the holy ghost whych is geuen vnto vs.

For * when we were yet weake, accordynge to the tyme, Christ dyed for vs whych were vngodly: Yet scace wyll eny man dye for a ryghtewes mā. Paranture for a good man durst a man dye. * But * God setteth out his loue toward vs, seynge f whyll we were yet synners. * (accordynge to the tyme) Christ dyed for vs. Much more then now (we that are iustified by hys bloud) shall be saued fro wrath thozow hym.

For yf when we were enemyes, we were reconcyled to God by the deeth of hys sonne: much more, seynge we are reconcyled, we shalbe preserved by hys lyfe. Not onely this, but we also ioye in God by the meanes of oure Lorde Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now obtayned the attonement.

Wherefore, as by one man, synne entered in, to the worlde, and * deeth by the meanes of synne. Euen so deeth also went ouer all men, in so moche as all we haue synned. For euen vnto f lawe was synne in f worlde, but synne is not imputed, whan ther is no lawe: ne-uerthelesse deeth rayned fro Adam to Moyses, euen ouer the also f had not synned wyth lyke transgression as ope Adam: whych reth the similitude of him that was to come.

But the gyfte is not lyke as f synne. For yf thozow the synne of one, many be deed: moche more plenteous vpon many was the grace of God & gyfte by grace: * whych was of one man Iesus Christ.

And f gyfte is not ouer one synne: as deeth cam thozow one synne of one f synned. For damnacion came of one synne vnto condemnacion: but f gyfte came to iustify fro many synnes. For yf by the synne of one, deeth rayned by the meanes of one: much more they (whych receaue abundance of grace and of the gyfte of ryghtewesnes) shal raygne in lyfe by the meanes of one (that is to saye) Iesus Christ.

* Lyke wyse then as by the synne of one there sprang vp euell on all men to condemnacion: euen so by the ryghteousnes of one, spryngeth good vpon all men to the ryghteousnes of lyfe. For as by one mannes disobedience many became synners: so by the obedience of one, shall many be made ryghteous. But * the lawe in f meane tyme entred in, f synne shuld encrease. Neuerthelesse where abundance of synne was, there was more plenteousnes of grace. That as synne had rayned vnto deeth, euen so myght grace raygne thozow ryghtewesnes, vnto eternall lyfe, by the helpe of Iesu Christ. f

The. vi. Chapter.

For so much as we be deliuered thozow Christ from synne, we muste fallow oure selues to true as the seruantes of God, and not after our owne lustes. The vniuersal reward of ryghteousnes and synne.

What shall we saye then? Shall we contynue in synne, that there maye be abundance of grace? God forbid. How shall we that are deed as touchyng synne, lyue eny lenger therein? * Knowe ye not that * all we whych are baptised into Iesu Christe are baptised to dye wyth him: We are buryed then with him by baptyme, for to dye: that lyke wyse as Christ was rayled vp fro deeth by the gloire of f father, euen so * we also shulde walke in a newe lyfe. For yf we be graft in deeth lyke vnto hym: euen so shall we be partakers of the resurrection: knowyng thys, that oure olde man is crucified with hym also, that the body of sinne myght vterly be destroyed, f hence forth we shuld not be seruantes vnto synne. For he that is deed, is iustified from synne.

Wherefore * yf we be deed w Christ, we beleue, f we shall also lyue with hym: knowyng, that Christ beynge rayled from deeth, dyeth nomore. Deeth hath nomore power ouer hym. For as touchyng that he dyed, he dyed concernyng synne once. And as touchyng that he lyueth, he lyueth vnto God. Lyke wyse

Lyke wyse consydre ye also, that ye are deed as touchyng synne, but are alpye vnto God thozow Iesus Christ oure Lorde. Let not synne raygne therfore in youre mortall bodye, that ye shulde ther vnto obey by the lustes of it. Letther geue ye youre members as instrumentes of vnyghtewelnes vnto synne: but geue ouer your selues vnto God as they that of deed, are alpye. And geue ouer youre members as instrumentes of ryghtewelnes vnto God. For synne shall not haue power ouer you. Because ye are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace.

What then shall we synne, because we are not vnder the lawe: but vnder grace? God forbid. Knowe ye not, how that to whom soeuer ye commit youre selues as seruantes to obey, hys seruantes ye are to who ye obey: whether it be of synne vnto death, or of obediēce vnto ryghtewelnes? God be thanked, that though ye were the seruantes of synne, ye haue yet obeyed with herte vnto the rule of the doctrine, that ye be brought vnto. Ye are then made free frō synne, and are become the seruantes of ryghtewelnes. I speake grossly, because of the infirmities of youre fleshe. As ye haue geuen youre members seruantes to vnelmes and to iniquitye, (from one iniquitye to another) euen so now geue ouer youre members seruantes vnto ryghtewelnes, that ye maye be sanctified. For whē ye were the seruantes of synne, ye were voyde of ryghtewelnes. What fruite had ye then in those thynges, wherof ye are now ashamed. For the ende of those thynges, is death. But now are ye deliuered frō synne, & made the seruantes of God, and haue youre fruite to be sanctified, and yende euertlastyng lyfe. For the rewarde of synne is death, but eternall lyfe is the gyfte of God, thozow Iesus Christ oure Lorde.

Christ hath deliuered vs from the lawe and death. Is now with what the fleshe and our warde man is, and calleth it the lawe of the members.

Knowe ye not brethren (I speake to them that knowe the lawe) how that the lawe hath power ouer a man, as long as it endureth. For the woman whych is in subiection to a man, is bounde by the lawe to the man, as long as he lyueth. But yf the man be deed, he is loosed frō the lawe of the man. So then yf whyle the man lyueth the couple her selfe with another man, she shalbe counted a wedlocke breaker. But yf the man be deed, she is free from the lawe of the husband, so that she is no wedlocke breaker, though she couple her selfe with another man.

Euen so ye also (my brethren) are deed concerning the lawe by the body of Christ, that ye shulde be coupled to another (I meane to him that is rylen agayne frō death) that we shuld bypunge forth fruite vnto God. For whē we were in the fleshe, the lustes of synne whych were stered by the lawe, raygned in oure members, to bypunge forth fruite vnto death. But now are we deliuered from the lawe, and deed vnto it wher vnto we were in bondage, that we shuld serue in a new conuersion of the sperte, and not in the olde conuersion of the letter.

What shall we saye then: is the lawe synne? God forbid: neuertheless I knowe not synne, but by the lawe. For I had not knowne what lust had meant, excepte the lawe had sayd, I shal not lust. But synne toke an occasyon by the meanes of the commandment and wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For verely without the lawe, synne was deed. I once lyued wythout lawe: But when the commandment came, synne reuiued, and I was deed. And the very same commandment, whych was ordeyned vnto lyfe, was founde to be vnto me an occasyon of death. For synne toke occasyon by the meanes of the commandment, and so discaued me, & by the same slewe me. Wherfore the lawe is holy, and the commandment holy, and iust and good.

Was y then which was good, made death vnto me? God forbid. Naye it was synne: the sinne might appeare (by it which was good) to worke death in me: that synne by the commandment myght be out of measure synfull. For we knowe, the lawe is spirituall: but I am carnall. I solde vnder synne, because I allowe not the whych I do. For what I wolde, I do I not: but what I hate, that do I. If I do now that whych I wolde not, I consente vnto the lawe that it is good. So then now, it is not I that do it, but synne that dwelleth in me. For I knowe, that in me (that is to saye in my fleshe) dwelleth no good thinge. For, to wyll is present with me: but I fynde no meanes to performe that whych is good. For the good that I wolde, do I not: but the euill whych I wolde not, that do I. Yf I do that I wolde not, then is it not I that do it, but synne that dwelleth in me. I fynde then by the lawe, that when I wolde do good, euill is present wyth me. For I delpte in the lawe of God, after the inward man. But I fe another lawe in my members, rebelling agaynst the lawe of my mynde, and subduyng me vnto the lawe of synne, whych is in my members. O wretched man that I am: who shall deliuer me from this body subdued vnto death? I thanke God thozow Iesus Christ oure Lorde. So then, wyth the mynde I serue the lawe of God, but wyth the fleshe the lawe of synne.

The viij. Chapter.

(The lawe)

The lawe of the sperte geueth lyfe. The sperte of God maketh vs Gods chyldren and hepyes with Christ. The aboundant loue of God cannot be separated.

Her is then no damnacion to the whych are in Christ Iesu, whych walke not after the fleshe, but after the sperte. For the lawe of the sperte of lyfe thozow Iesus Christ, hath made me free from the lawe of synne, and death. For what the lawe could not do (in as moch as it was weakie because of the fleshe) that performed God, and sent hys sonne in the similitude of synfull fleshe, and by synne dampned synne in the fleshe: the ryghtewelnes of the lawe, myght be fulfilled in vs, which walke not after the fleshe, but after the sperte.

For they that are carnall, are carnally mynded. But they that are spirituall, are gostly mynded. To be carnally mynded, is death. But to be spirituall mynded, is lyfe and peace. Because that the fleschly mynde is enemye agaynst God: for it is not obedyent to the lawe of God, nether can be. So then they that are in the fleshe, cannot please God.

But ye are not in the fleshe, but in the sperte: yf so be that the sperte of God dwell in you. If enymā haue not the sperte of Christ, the same is none of hys. If Christ be in you, the body is deed because of synne: but the sperte is lyfe for ryghtewelnes sake. Wherfore, yf the sperte of hym that rased vp Iesus from death, dwell in you: euen he that rased vp Christ from death, shall quyen youre mortall bodies, because of hys sperte that dwelleth in you.

Therefore brethren, we are debtors, not to the fleshe, to lyue after the fleshe. For yf ye lyue after the fleshe, ye shal dye. But yf ye (thozow the sperte) domortyfy the dedes of the body, ye shal lyue. For as many as are led by the sperte of God, they are the sonnes of God. For ye haue not receaued the sperte of bondage to feare enymore, but ye haue receaued the sperte of adopyon, wherby we crye: Abba father. The same sperte certyfeth oure sperte that we are the sonnes of God. If we be sonnes, then are we also hepyes, yf hepyes I meane of God, & hepyes ancked with Christ: yf so be that we suffer with hym, that we maye be also glorified together with hym.

For I suppose that the affliccyons of this lyfe, are not worthy of the glory, which shalbe shewed vpon vs. For the feruent desyre of the creature abydeyth, lopyng, whē the sonnes of God shal appere, because the creature is subdued to vaupte, agaynst the wyll therof, but for his will which hath subdued the same in hope. For the same creature shalbe deliuered from the bondage of corruption, into the glorions libertye of the sonnes of God. For we knowe, that euer y creature geoneth with vs also, and traunyleth in payne, euen vnto this tyme.

Not onely it, but we also which haue the first frutes of the sperte, moze in oure selues also, and wayte for the adopyon of the sperte. For we are sayd by hope. But hope that is sene, is no hope. For how can a man hope for that, which he seyth? But and yf we hope for that we le not, then do we w patience abyde for it.

Lyke wyse, the sperte also helpeth oure infirmities. For we knowe not what to desyre as we ought: but the sperte maketh intercession for vs, with groynynges which cannot be expressed. And he that searcheth the hertes knoweth, what is the meanynge of the sperte: for he maketh intercession for vs sayntes according to the pleasure of God.

We knowe that all thynges worke for the best vnto them that loue God, which also are called of purpose. For those which he knewe before, he also ordeyned before, that they shulde be lyke fastyned vnto the shap of hys sonne, that he myght be the first begotten sonne amonge many brethren. Moreover, whom he appointed before, them also he called. And whom he hath called, them also he iustified: and whom he iustified, them he also glorified.

What shall we then saye to these thinges? yf God be on oure syde, who can be agaynst vs? which spared not hys awne sonne, but gaue him for vs all: how can it be, that with hym he shulde not geue vs all thynges also? Who shall laye any thyng to the charge of Goddes chosen: it is God that iustifyeth: who is he that can condemne? it is Christ which dyed, yee, rather which is rylen agayne, which is also on the ryght hande of God, and maketh intercession for vs.

Who shall separe vs from the loue of God: shall tribulacion: or angusthe: or persecucion: or other hunger: or other nakednes: or ether pcell: ether swearde: As it is written: for thy sake are we kylled all daye longe, and are counted as shepe apoynted to be slayne. Neuerthelesse, in all these thynges we overcome thozow hym that loued vs. For I am sure, that nether death, nether lyfe, nether Angels, nor rule, nether power, nether thynges present, nether thynges to come, nether hepyth, nether loweth, nether any other creature shalbe able to departe vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesu oure Lorde.

The ix. Chapter.

Paul complaineth vpon the hard hertes of the Jewes that wolde not receaue Christ, and low the brethren are chosen in thys seade.

I saye

I Saye the trueth in Chyft, and lye not, (my conscience also bea-rig me wytnes by þ holy ghost) that I haue greet heuyenes, & contynuall sorowe in my hert. For

* Ex. xxiij. g. * I haue wysshed my selfe to be cursed from Chyft, for my brythre (my kynsmen as per-tayne to the fleshe) which are the Israelites. To whom pertayneth the adopcyon, of the chylde, and the glorie, and the couenant. * Roma. ii. i. * the lawe that was geuen, ad the seruyce of God, and the promyses: whose also are the fathers, and they of whom (as concernynge the fleshe) Chyft came, which is God in all thynges to be prayled for euer Amen.

23 I speake not these thynges, as though the wordes of God had take none effecte. For * Roma. ii. d. * they are not all Israelites, which are of Israel: neither are they all chyldezen strayght waye, that are the seed of Abraham. But in Isaac shall thy seed be called: that is to saye:
* they which are the chyldezen of the fleshe, are not the chyldezen of God. But they which be the chyldezen of promys, are counted the seed. For this is a worde of promys, about thys tyme wyll I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne.

Not onely thys, but also Rebecca was w chylde by one, eue by oure father Isaac. For per the chyldezen were bozne, when they had net her done good neither bad (that the purpose of God by electyon, myght stande) it was sayde vnto her, not by the reason of wor-kes, but by the caller: the elder shall serue þ younger. As it is wyrtten: Jacob haue I loued, but Esau haue I hated. What shall we saye then: is there eny vnrighthewesnes with God? God forbyd. For he sayth to Moyses:

* Gen. xlv. c. * I wyll shewe mercy to whomsoeuer I shewe mercy: and wyll haue compassyon, on whomsoeuer I haue compassyon. Solveth it not then in a mans wyll or runnyng, but in the mercy of God. For the scripture sayth vnto Pharaos: euen for thys same purpose haue I stered the vp, to shewe my power on the, ad that my name myght be declared tho-row out all the worlde. So hath he mercy on whom he wyll, and whom he wyll, he ma-keth harde herted.

Thou wyllt saye then vnto me: why then blameth he vs? For who hath bene able to resist his wyll? But O mā, what art þ, which disputest with God? Shall the worke saye to the worke man: why hast þ made me on this fassyon? hath not þ potter power ouer þ claye, euen of the same lombe to make one vessel vnto honoure, and another vnto dishonoure? Eue so, God wyllng to shewe hys wyth, and to make his power knowne suffered wyth longe pacyence the vessels of wyth, ordeyned to damnacion, and to declare the ryches of hys gloze on the vessels of mercy, which he had prepared vnto gloze: who also he called, not of the Jewes onely, but also of the gentyls. As he sayth also to Moyses: * I wyll call them my people which were not my people: and her beloued which was not beloued, (and her to haue optayned mercy, that had not optayned mercy) And it shall come to passe, that in the place where it was sayde vnto them: ye are not my people: there shall they be called the chyldezen of the luyng God.

But Esay cryeth concerning Israel: though the nombre of the chyldezen of Israel be as þ sonde of þ see, yet the remnaüt shall be saued For he synneth the word verely, and ma-keth it short in ryghtewesnes. For a short worde wil God make on erth. And as Esay sayd before: except þ Lorde of Saboth had left vs seide, we had bene made as Sodoma, and had bene lykened to Gomorra.

What shall we saye then? We saye, that the gentyls which folowed not ryghtewesnes, haue ouertaken ryghtewesnes: euen þ rygh-tewesnes which cometh of fawth. Contrary wyse, Israel which folowed þ lawe of rightwesnes could not attaine to þ lawe of rygh-tewesnes. Wherefore? eue because they sought it not by fawth: but as it were by the workes of the lawe. For they haue stomblid at the stobylng stone. As it is wyrtten: Behold, I put in Syon a stomblng stone, & a rocke that me shall be offende. And whosoever belueth on hym, shall not be confounded.

The x. Chapter.

The vnrighthewesnes of the Jewes. A monance of righthewesnes.

Brethre, my hertes desyres prayer. A to God for Israel, þ they myght be saued. For I beare them recoz-de, that they haue a feruent myn-de to God warde, but not accordyng to knowledge. For they beynge ignorant of God-des ryghtewesnes, and goynge aboute to stablyshe theyr awne ryghtewesnes, haue not bene obedient vnto the ryghtewesnes of God.

For * Christ is the fulfyllng of þ lawe, to iustfy all that beleue.

For * Moyses wyrtteth of the ryghtewes-nes which cometh of the lawe, how þ man whych doth the thynges of the lawe, shall lyue therby. But the ryghtewesnes which cometh of fawth, speaketh on thys wyse: Saye not thou i thyn hert, who shall ascende into heauen (that is euen to fetch Chyft downe from aboue.) Orther who shall descende into the depe? (that is euen to fetch vp Chyft agayne fro deeth) But what sayth he? * The worde is nye the, euen i thy mouth and in thyn herte.

Thys same is the worde of fawth, which we preache:

we preache. For yf thou knowledg with thy mouth that Iesus is the Lorde, & beleue in thyn hert, that God raysed hym vp from deeth, thou shalt be safe. For to beleue in the hert iustfyeth: and to knowledg with the mouth, maketh a man safe. For the scripture sayth: * whosoever belueth on hym, shall not be confounded.

There is no difference betwene the Jewe and the Gentill. For one is Lorde of all, which is ryche vnto all þ call vpo him. For * whosoeuer doth call on the name of þ Lorde, shall be safe. How then shall they call on hym, on whom they haue not beleued: how shall they beleue on hym, of whom they haue not he-arde: how shall they heare, without a preacher? And how shall they preache except they be sent? As it is wyrtten: how beautifull are the fete of them which byynge tydynge of peace, and byynge tydynge of good thyngges. But they haue not all obeyed to þ Gos-pell. For Esay sayth: * Lorde, who hath be-leued oure saynges? So then sayth cometh by hearyng, and hearyng cometh by the worde of God. But I aske: haue they not herde? No dout, * their sounde went out in to all landes: and their wordes into the endes of the worlde.

But I demaunde, whether Israel dyd knowe or not? I saye Moyses sayth: * I will pronoke you to enuy, by them that are no people: by a folysh nation I wyll anger you.
Esay after that, is bold and sayth: * I am founde of the, that sought me not: I am manyfest vnto them, that asked not after me.

But agaynst Israel he sayth: * all daye longe haue I strecthed forth my handes vnto a people þ belueth not, but speaketh agaynst me.

The xi. Chapter.

All the Jewes are not cast awaye, therefore Paul warneth the Gentyls that be called, not to be hye mynded as to be lyke the Jewes, for the iudgemetes of God are depe and secrete.

I Saye then: hath God cast awaye hys people? God forbyd. For euen I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the trybe of Beniamin, God hath not cast awaye his people, which he knewe before. Wote ye not, what þ scripture sayth of helias, how he maketh intercession to God agaynst Israel, sayng:
* Lorde, they haue kylled thy prophetes, and dygged downe thyn alters: and I am lefte alone, and they seke my lyfe. But what sayth the answer of God vnto hym? * I haue reserved vnto my selfe seven thousande men, which haue not bowed the knee to the ymage of Ball. Euen so also at thys tyme is ther a remnaüt lefte accordyng to the electyon of grace. If it be of grace, then is it not now of workes. For then grace is no more grace. But If it be of workes, then is it now no grace. For then were deservynge nomore deservynge. What then? Israel hath not obtayned that which he seeketh: but the electyon hath obtayned it. The remnaüt are blynded accordyng as it is wyrtten. * God hath geuen them the spere of unquyetnes: eyes that they shuld not se, & eares that they shuld not heare, euen vnto this daye. * And David sayth: Let their table be made a snare to take them with all, and an occasyon to fall, and a reward vnto them. Let they eyes be blynded that they se not: and bowe thou do-wne their backe all waye.

I saye then: haue they therfore stombled, that they shuld vterly fall awaye together.
God forbyd: but thow we they fall is salua-cyon happened vnto the Gentyls, for to provoke them withall. Wherefore? the fall of them be the ryches of the worlde, and þ my-nistryng of them the ryches of the gentyls: how moch more their perfectnesse? I speake to you gentyls, in as moch as * I am þ postle of the gentyls, I wyll magnify myne office, yf by any meane I maye prouoke them which are my fleshe, and myght saue some of them. For yf the castynge awaye of the, be the reconcylynge of the worlde: what shall the reconcylynge of them be, but lyfe agayne from deeth? For yf one pece be holy, þ whole hepe is holy. And yf the rote be holy, þ braunches shall be holy also.

Though some of the braunches be broke of, and thou beynge a wyld olyue tree, wast graft in among them, and made partaker of the rote and fatnes of the * olyue tree, boast not thy selfe agaynst the braunches. For yf thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not þ rote, but the rote the. Thou wilt saye then: þ braunches are broken of that I myght be graft in. Thou sayest well: because of vnbelleue they were broke of, and thou stondest stedfast in fawth. Be not hye mynded, but feare: for seynge that God spared not þ naturall braiches, take hede, lest it come to passe that he spare not the also.

Beholde therfore the kyndnes and rygo-rounes of God: on them which fell, rygo-rounes. but towarde the, kyndnes: yf thou continue in hys kyndnes. Or els thou shalt be hewen of, and they agayne * yf they byde not styll in vnbelleue, shall be graffed i agayne.
For God is of power to graffe the in agayne. For yf thou wast cut out of a naturall wyld olyue tree, and wast graffed contrary to nature in a true olyue tree: how moch more shall the naturall braunches be graffed in their awne olyue tree agayne.

I wolde not that this secrete shulde be hyd from you my brythre (lest ye shuld be wyse in poure awne consaytes) þ partly blyndnes is happened in Israel, vntyll the fulnes of the getyls be come in: and so all Israel shall be saued.

E laued. As it is wyrtten. * There shall come out of Syon he that doth deliuer, and shall turne a waye vngodlynes from Jacob. And this is my couenaunt vnto the, wher I shall take a waye their synnes. As concerninge the gospell they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the electyon they are loued for the fathers sakes.

For verely, y gyftes and callinge of God are such, that it cannot repent hym of them: for loke, as ye in tyme passed haue not beleued God, yet haue now obtained mercy thorow their vnbellef: euen so now haue they not beleued y mercy which is happened vnto you: that they also maye obtayne mercy.

For God had wrapped all nacyns in vnbellef, that he myght haue mercy on all.

The depnes of the ryches both of y wyfdom and knowledge of God: how vnsearchable are his iudgements, & his wayes past fyndynge out: For * who hath knowen the mynde of the Lorde? Or who hath bene his counsellor? other who hath geuen vnto hym fyrt, and he shalbe recompened agayne? For of hym, and thorow hym, and for hym are all thynges: To hym be glorie for euer. Amen.

The. xij. Chapter.

The swete conuersion, loue, and workes of such as beleue in Chyrt.

Beseche you therfore brethren, by the mercifulnes of God, that ye make y bodies a quicke sacryfice, holy & acceptable vnto God: which is your resonable seruyng of God: & fastyd not your selues lyke vnto this worlde: but be ye chaunged in your thape, by the renuyng of your mynde, that ye maye proue what thyng that good, and acceptable, and perfayete wyl of God is. For I saie (thorow the grace that vnto me geue is) to euery man amonge you, that * noman stonde hye in his owne conceite, more then it be cometh hym to esteeme of hym selfe: but so iudge of hym selfe, that he be gentle and sober, accordynge, as God hath deale to euery man the measure of fayth.

For as we haue many membris in one body, and all members haue not one office: so we beyng many, are one body in Chyrt, & euery man among oure selues, one anothers members. * * Seyngethat we haue diuers gyftes accordynge to the grace that is geuen vnto vs: yf eny man haue the gyft of pphesye, let him haue it that it be agreyng vnto the fayth. * Let hym that hath an office wayte on his office. Let him that teacheth take hede to hys doctryne. Let hym that exhorteth, geue attendaunce to his exhortacio. If eny man geue, let hym do it with synghleness. Let hym that rulcth, do it wth diligence. If eny man shewe mercy, let hym do it with cherfulness. Let loue be without dissimulation: hate that which is euill, & cleane vnto that which is good. Be kynd one to another with brotherly loue. * In geuyng honoure, go one before another. * Be not slouthfull the lufynes which ye haue in hande. Be feruent in the sperte. * Applie your selues to the tyme. Receyue in hope. Be patient in tribulacion. Continue in prayer. Distribute vnto the necessite of y sayntes: * be readie to harbour. * Blesse them which persecute you: blesse (I saie) and curse not. Be merry with the that are merry. Wepe also with them that wepe. Be of lyke affectio one towards another. Be not hye mynded: but make your selues equall to them of the lower sorte. * Be not wyle in your awne oppnyngs. Recompence to no man euill for euill. Pryde afoze hande thynges honeste (not onely before God, but also in the syght of all men. If it be possyble, (as moch as is in you) lyue peaceably with all men. Dearly beloued, auenge not your selues, but rather geue place vnto wrath. For it is wyrtten: * vengeance is myne. I wyll rewarde, sayth the Lorde.

Therefore, yf thye enemy biter, fede him: yf he thyrt, geue hym dryncke. For in so doyng thou shalt heape coles of fyre on hys heade. Be not overcome of euill, but overcome euill, with goodnes: *

Therefore, yf thye enemy biter, fede him: yf he thyrt, geue hym dryncke. For in so doyng thou shalt heape coles of fyre on hys heade. Be not overcome of euill, but overcome euill, with goodnes: *

The. xij. Chapter.

The obedience of men vnto their rulers. * Loue fulfilleth the lawe. It is now no tyme to folowe the workes of darkenes.

Et enery soule submyt hym selfe vnto the auctorite of the hyer powers. For * there is no power but of God. The powers that be, are ordeyned of God. Whosoever therfore resysteth power, resysteth the ordinaunce of God. But they that resyst, shall receaue to them selfe damnacion. For rulers are not fearfull to them that do good, but to them that do euill. Wylt thou be without feare of the power? Wo well then: and so shalt thou be prayfed of the same. For he is the mynyster of God, for thy welth. But ad yf thou do that which is euill, then feare: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is y mynyster of God, to take vengeance on hym that doth euill. Wherefore, ye must nedes obeie, not onely for feare of vengeance: but also because of conscience. And euen for this cause paye ye tribute. For they are Goddes mynysters, seruinge for the same purpose. *

Geue to euery man therfore hys due: * tribute to whom tribute belongeth: custome, to whom custome is due: feare, to whom feare belongeth: honoure, to whom honoure pertaineth. * Owe nothyng to eny man: but this, that ye loue one another. For he that loueth that loueth another hath fulfilled the lawe. For these commaundementes. * Thou shalt not committe aduouty: thou shalt not kyl: thou shalt not steale: thou shalt not beare false wytnes: thou shalt not lust, and so forth (yf there be eny other commaundement) it is all comprehended in this sayinge, Namely: * Loue thye neyghbour as thy selfe. Loue hurteth not his neyghbour. Therefore is loue the full: yllinge of the lawe. *

For this also, we knowe the season howe that it is tyme that we shulde now awake out of slepe. For now is oure saluacion nere, then wher we beleued. The nyght is past, y dawe is come nye. Let vs therfore cast awaye the dedes of darknes, and let vs put on the Armour of lyght. Let vs walke honestly as it were in y dawe lyght: * not in eatynge & drynckynge, nether in chamburyng and wantonnes, nether in stryfe & enuyng: but put ye on the Lorde Iesus Chyrt. * And make not prouysio for the fleshe, to fulfill the lustes of it.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

The weake ought not to be despised. * Noman shulde offende anothers conscience. Agayne, for outwarde thynges shulde noman cōdempne another.

Im that is weake in the fayth, receaue, not in disputynge and troublynge hys conscience. One beleueth that he maye eate all thyng. Another whych is weake, eateth earbes. Let not hym that eateth, despise hym that eateth not. And let not he whych eateth not, iudge him that eateth. For God hath receaued him. * What art y y iudgest another mannes seruait whether he sta de or fall y pertayneth vnto hys awne master: ye, he shall be holde vp, that he maye sta de. For God is able to make hym stande.

This man putteth differēce bitwene dawe & dawe. Another mā couiteth all dayes alyke. * Let euery mā mynde satisfie hym selfe. * He that obserueth the dawe, doeth it vnto the Lorde. And he that doth not obserue the dawe, doeth it for the Lorde also. He that eateth, doeth it to please the Lorde, for he geueth God thanks. And he that eateth not, eateth not, to please the Lorde withall, and geueth God thanks. For none of vs lyueth for hym selfe, and no man dyeth for hym selfe. For yf we lyue, we lyue vnto the Lorde. And yf we dye, we dye vnto the Lorde. Whether we lyue therfore, or dye, we are the Lordes. For Chyrt therfore dyed, and rose agayne, and reuyued, that he myght be * Lorde of deed and quicke.

But why doest thou then iudge thy brother? Or why doest thou despise thy brother? We shalbe all brought before the iudgement seate of Chyrt. For it is wyrtten: as truly as I lyue sayth the Lorde: * all knees shall bowe to me, and all tonges shall gene prayse to God. So shall euery one of vs geue accōptes of hym selfe to God. Let vs not therfore iudge one another eny more.

But iudge this rather, that no mā put a strombyng blocke, or an occasyon to fall in hys brothers waye. For * I knowe, and am full certified by the Lorde Iesus, that * ther is nothyng comen of it selfe: but vnto hym that iudge thit to be comen: to hym is it comen. If thy brother be greued wth thy meate, nowe walkest thou not charitably. Destroie not hym wth thy meate, for wher Chyrt dyed. Cause not your treasure to be euill spokē of. For the kyngdome of God is not meate and drynke: but ryghtwelsnes, ad peace and loye in the holy ghost. For he that in these thynges serueth Chyrt, pleaseh God, and is commended of men.

Let vs therfore folowe those thynges which make for peace, and thynges wherewith one maye edifye another. Destroie not the worke of God for a lytell meates sake. * All thynges are pure: but it is euill for y man, which eateth wth hurte of conscience. It is good nether to eate fleshe, nether to drinke wyne nether eny thyng, wherby thy brother stōbleth, ether falleth, or is made weake. Hatt y fayth: haue it wth thy selfe before God. happy is he, that cōdempneth not hym selfe, in the thyng wherby he aloweth. For he that maketh conscience, is dampned yf he eate: because he eateth not of fayth. For whatsoeuer is not of fayth, that same is synne. *

The. xv. Chapter.

The infirmite and frailties of the weake ought to be borne wth all loue and kinde, after the ensample of Chyrt.

Whyche are stroge * ought to beare the frailties of the, which are weake, and not to stonde in oure awne conlaytes. Let euery man please hys neyghbour vnto hys welth and edifyng. For

Chyrt pleaseh not hym selfe: but as it is wyrtten. * The rebukes of the which rebuked y, fell on me. * * Whatsoeuer thynges are wyrtten afore tyme, they are wyrtte for our learninge, that we thorow patience and comforte of the scriptures, myght haue hope.

The God of pacyence and consolacion, graunt you, to be lyke mynded one towards another, after the ensample of Chyrt Iesu: * that ye all agreynge together maye wth one mouth prayse God the father of oure Lorde Iesus Chyrt. Wherefore, receaue ye one another, as Chyrt receaued vs, to the prayse of God. And this I saie, that Iesus Chyrt was a mynyster of the circumcysion for the trouth of God, to conferme the promyses made vnto y fathers: * that the gettys myght prayse God for hys mercy, as if it is wyrtten. For this cause I will praye the amonge the gentyls, and syng vnto thy name. And agayne he sayth: reioyse ye gentyls wth hys people. And agayne, praye the Lorde all ye gentyls, and laude hym all ye nacions together. And agayne he sayth: ther shalbe the rote of Iesie, and he that shal ryle to raygne ouer the gentyls: in hym shal the gentyls trust. The God of hope fyll you wth all ioye and peace in beleuyng: that ye maye be ryche in hope, thozow the power of the holy ghozt.

I my selfe am full certified of you (my brethren) that ye also are full of goodnes, & fylled with all knowledge, willinge to exhorthe one another. Neuerthelesse (brethren) I haue some what more boldly wyrtten vnto you, partly to put you in remembrance, thozow the grace that is geuen me of God, that I shuld be y minister of Iesu Christ amonge the Gentyls, & shuld minister the Gospell of God, that the offering of the gentyls myght be acceptable, & sanctified by the holy ghozt. I haue therfore wherof I maye reioyse thozow Christ Iesu, in those thynges which pertaine to God. For I dare not speake of any of those thynges, whych Christ hath not wrought by me, to make y Gentyls obediēt, with worde and dede, in myghty sygnes & wonders, by the power of the sperte of God: so that from Ierusalem & the coastes rounde aboute vnto Illypē, I haue fylled all countres with the Gospell of Christ.

So haue I enforced my selfe to preache y Gospell, not where Christ was named, lest I shulde haue bylt on another mannes foundacyon: but as it is wyrtten. To whom he was not spoken of, they shall se: & they that hearde not, shall vnderstande. For this cause I haue bene ofte let. I could not come vnto you: but now, seynge I haue nomore to do in these countrees, and also haue bene desyrons many yeaeres to come vnto you, whensoever I take my iorney into Spayne, I wyll come to you. For I trust to se you in my iorney, and to be brought on my waye thitherwarde by you, after that I haue somwhat enioyed your acquaintance.

Now go I vnto Ierusalem, and minister vnto the saynctes. For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia to make a certayne distribucyon vpon the poore saynctes, whych are at Ierusalem. It hath pleased them verely, and their detters are they. For yf the Gentyls be made partetakers of theyr spirituall thynges, their dutie is to minister vnto them in bodily thynges. When I haue performed this, and haue brought them this frute sealed, I wyll come backe agayne by you into Spayne. I am sure that whē I come vnto you I shall come with aboundaunce of the blessing of the Gospell of Christ.

I beseeche you brethren for oure Lord Iesus Christes sake, ad for the loue of y sperte, that ye helpe me in my busynes with youre prayers to God for me, that I maye be deliuered from the which beleue not in Jewry: & that this my seruice, which I haue to do at Ierusalem, maye be accepted of the saynctes, that I maye come vnto you with ioye, by the will of God, and maye with you be refreshed. The God of peace be wth you all. Amen.

The xvi. Chapter.

A chapter of salutations. He warneth them to beware of mys doctrine, and commendeth vnto them certayne goodly men, that were louers ad vnto them in the trouth.

I Commende vnto you Phebe, oure syster (which is a minystrer of the congregaciō of Cenchrea) that ye receaue her in Christ, as it becommeth saynctes, and that ye assyst her in what soeuer busynes she needeth of youre ayde. For she hath suckered many, and myne awne selfe also. Grete Prisca and Aquila my helpers in Christ Iesu, whych haue for my lyfe layde downe their awne neckes. I beseeche you brethren, marke them which cause diuisiōs & geue occasiōs of euyl, contrary to y doctrine, which ye haue learned: & auoyde the. For they yare luche, serue not y Lorde Iesus Christ, but their awne belies, & with swete and flatterynge wordes, decaue the hertes of the innocentes. For your obediēce is gone abroade vnto all men. I am glad therfore no dout, of you. But yet I wolde

This Epistle was sent to the Romayns from Corynthum by Phebe, the that was the minystrer vnto the congregacyon at Cenchrea.

The fyrst Epistle of Saynct Paul the Apostle to the Corinthyans.

The fyrst Chapter.

He commendeth the Corinthyans, exhorteth the to be of one mynde, and rebuketh the dryftron that w as amonge them. Worshy wysdome is folyshnes before God, yet there is no wysd but in the deuyled crosse of God.

Iul called an Apostle of Iesus Christ, thozow the will of God, and brother Solitaires. Vnto the congregacyon of God whych is at Corynthum. To them that are sanctified by Christ Iesu, called saynctes, with all that call on the name of oure Lorde Iesus Christ in euery place, ether of theirs or of oures.

Grace be vnto you and peace frō God oure father, & from the Lorde Iesus Christ.

I thanke my God allwayes on youre behalfe, for the grace of God, whych is geue you by Iesus Christ, that in all thynges ye are made ryche by hym, in all vterraunce & in all knowlegde, by the which thynges the testimony of Iesus Christ was conformed in you, so ye are behynde in no gyfte, waytinge for the appearyng of oure Lorde Iesus

Christ, which shall also strength you vnto the ende, that ye maye be blamelesse in the daye of the comynge, of oure Lorde Iesus Christ. God is saythfull, by whom ye are called vnto the felicity of hys sonne Iesus Christ oure Lorde. I beseeche you brethren by the name of oure Lorde Iesus Christ, that ye all speake one thinge, and that there be no dissencion amonge you: but that ye maye be a whole body: of one mynde and of one meaynynge. For it is shewed vnto me (my brethren) of you, by them which are of the house of Cloe, that ther is stryfes amonge you. I speake of the same that euery one of you sayeth: I holde of Paul: I holde of Apollos: I holde of Cephas: I holde of Christ. Christ denyed: Was Paul crucified for you: ether were ye baptysed in the name of Paul: I thanke God, that I baptysed none of you, but Crispus and Gaius: lest eny shuld saye, that I had baptysed in myne awne name. I baptysed also the house of Stephana. Furthermore knowe I not, whether I baptysed eny man: or no.

For Christ sent me not to baptysse, but to preache y Gospell, not w wysdome of wordes, lest the crosse of Christ shulde haue bene made of none effecte. For the preaching of y crosse, is to the that perish, folyshnes: but vnto vs which are laued, it is the power of God. For it is wyrtte: I will destroye y wysdome of the wyse, and wyll cast awaye the vnderstandynge of the pruden. Where is the wyse? Where is the scribe? Where is y disputer of this worlde: hath not God made the wysdome of this worlde folyshnes?

For after that the worlde thozowe wysdome me knewe not God, in y wysdome of God, it pleased God thozowe folyshnes of preachinge, to saue them that beleue. For the Jewes require a sygne, and the Grekes seke after wysdome. But we preache Christ crucified, vnto the Jewes an occasiō of fallinge, and vnto the Grekes folyshnes: but vnto them whych are called both of the Jewes & Grekes, we preache Christ the power of God and the wysdome of God. For the folyshnes of God, is wyse then men: and the weakenes of God is stronger then men: Brethren, ye se pour callinge, how that not many wyle men after the fleshe, nor many myghty, not many of hys degre, are called: But God hath chosen the folysh thynges of the worlde, to confounde the wyse. And God hath chosen the weake thynges, of the worlde, to confounde thynges whych are myghty. And vyle thynges of the worlde, & thynges which are despised, hath God chosen, yee and thynges of no reputacyon, for to byynge to nought thynges of reputacyon, that no fleshe shulde reioyce in hys presence. And of hym are ye, in Christ Iesu, whych of God is made vnto vs, wysdome, & right-welles, and sanctifyinge, and redempcyon.

That accordynge as it is wrytten: he which reioyseth, shalbe reioyce in the Lorde.

The.ij. Chapter.

It is not eloquence and glorious paynted wordes that shalbe wysdome, that can edifye, and conuer-te soules vnto Christ, but the playne wordes of the crosse, by the which we are made partakers of his deth.

And I brethren (when I came to you) came not in gloriousnes of wordes, or of wysdome, shewynge vnto you the testimony of God. Neither shewed I my selfe that I knewe any thyng amonge you, saue Jesus Christ, euen the same that was crucified. And I was among you in weaknes, and in feare, and in muche tremblynge. And my wordes and my preachynge was not w entpynge wordes of mānes wysdome: but in the wyng of the sprete and of power, that your fayth shuld not stande in the wysdome of men, but in the power of God.

We speake of wysdome amonge the that are perfecte: not the wysdome of this worlde, neither of the rulers of this worlde (which go to nought) but we speake of wysdome of God, which is in secretes & lyeth hyd, which God ordeyned before the worlde, vnto oure glory: which wysdome none of the rulers of this worlde knewe. For had they had knowlege, they wold not haue crucified the Lorde of glory. But as it is wrytten. * The eye hath not sene, and the eare hath not heard, neither haue entred into the heart of man, the thynges which God hath prepared for them that loue hym.

But God hath opened the vnto vs by his spret. For the sprete searcheth all thynges, ye the botome of Goddes secretes. For what man knoweth the thynges of a mā: saue the sprete of man which is in him? Ene so the thynges of God knoweth no mā, but the sprete of God.
And we haue not receaued the sprete of the worlde: but the sprete which cometh of God, for to knowe the thynges which are geuen to vs of God: which thynges also we speake (not w wordes of mānes wysdome teacheth, but w wordes wherby the holy ghost doth teache) makyng spiritual coparisons of spiritual thin-ges. The naturall man perceaueth not the thynges that beloge to the sprete of God. For they are but folpynes vnto hym. Neither can he perceaueth the, because they are spiritually examined. But he is spretual, discusseth all thynges: yet he him selfe is iudged of no mā.
* For who hath knowe the mynde of the Lord, other who shall informe hym? But we vnderstande the mynde of Christ.

The.ij. Chapter.

Paul teacheth the ffectes and authorites thereof, Christ is the foundacyon of the church, no man ought to reioyce in men, but in God.

And I coude not speake vnto you brethren as vnto spretuall: but as vnto carnall, euen as vnto to babes in Christ. * I gaue you mylke to drynke, and not meate. For ye then were not stronge, neither are ye as yet. For ye are yet carnall. As longe verely as ther is amonge you enuyng, & stry-fe & sectes: are ye not carnall, & walke after the manner of men? For whyle one sayth: I holde of Paul, & another: I am of Apollo, are ye not carnall? What is Paul: what thyng is Apollo? Onely ministers are they by whom ye beleued, euen as the Lorde gaue euery mā grace. I haue planted, Apollo watred: but God gaue the encrease. So then, neither is he that planteth any thyng, neither he that watrett, but God that geueth the encrease. he that planteth and he that watrett, are one.
Euery man yet shal receaue his rewarde, accordynge to his laboure. For we are God-des labourers, ye are Goddes buyndens, * ye are Goddes buyldynge: Accordynge to the grace of God geue vnto me, as a wyse buylder haue I layde the foundacyon. And another bylt thereon. But let euery man take he-de, how he buyldeth vpon. For another foundacyn can no mā laye, then it that is layde, * which is Jesus Christ. If any man buylde on this foundacyon, golde, syluer, precyous stones, tymbre, haye or stoble: euery mannes worke shal appere. For the daye shal declare, which shal be shewed in fyre. And the fyre shal trye euery mannes worke, what it is. If any mannes worke that he hath bylt vpon, byde, he shal receaue a rewarde: If any mannes worke burne, he shal suffre losse, but he shal be safe hym selfe: neuertheles, yet as it were thorowe fyre.

I* knowe ye not, that ye are the temple of God, & how that the sprete of God dwelleth in you? If any man desple the temple of God, hym shall God destroye. For the temple of God, is holy, whych temple ye are. Let no man deceaue hym selfe. If any mā seme wyse to hym selfe amonge you, let hym become a foole in this worlde, so he maye be wyse. For the wysdome of this worlde is folpynnes with God. For it is wrytten: he coparleth the wyse in theyr craftynes. And agayn-ne: * God knoweth the thoughtes of the wyse, that they be vayne. Therefore, let no man reioyce in men. For all thynges are poures, whether it be Paul, ether Apollo, ether Cephas: whether it be the worlde, ether lyfe, ether deth, whether they be present thynges, or thynges to come: all are poures: and ye are Christes, and Christ is Goddes.

The. v. Chapter.

After what manner shal I curse the man, that hath contemned my apostolic authorite in lawe.

Here goeth a cominen sayinge that ther is fornicacion amonge you, and such fornicacyon, as is not named amonge the gentylis:
* y one shuld haue his fathers wyfe. And ye swell, and haue not rather sorowed, that he which hath done this dede, myght be put from amonge you.
For I verely as absent in body, but present in sprete, haue determined already (as though I were present) concernynge hym that hath done this dede, in the name of oure Lord Jesus Christ, when ye are gathered together, and my sprete w you, with the power of the Lorde Jesus Christ: to deliuer hym vnto Satan, for the destruccyn of the fleshe, that the sprete maye be saued in the daye of the Lorde Jesus.

Youre reioysynge is not good: knowe ye not, that a lytle leuen soweth the whole lope of dowe? Pourge therefore the olde leuen out of you: as ye are swete breed. For Christ is oure pasche: is offer-red vnto vs. Therefore, let vs kepe holy dape, not with olde leuen, neither with the le-uen of malicousnes & wicke dyes: but with the swete breed of purenes and trouth.

I wrote vnto you in a pistle, that ye shuld not copany with fornicatours. And I meāt not at all of the fornicatours of this worlde, ether of the couctous, or extorsioners, ether the ydolaters: for then must ye nedes haue gone out of the worlde. But now I byd write vnto you, * that ye company not together, ye any that is called a brother, be a fornicator, or couctous, or a worchypper of ymages, ether a raylar, ether a dronchard, or an extorcionar: with hym that is soche, se that ye cate not. For what haue I to do, to iudge the which are without. Do ye not iudge the that are within? Them I are without, God iudgeth. Put awaye the euell from amonge you.

to the lyfe: If ye haue iudgements of worldely matters, take then whiche are despyed in the congregacyō, and make them iudges: ¶ This I saye to youre name. Is ther utterly no wyse man amonge you: What not one at all, that can iudge betwene brother and brother, but one brother goeth to lawe wth another: and that vnder the vnbeleuers?

¶ Nowe therfore, there is utterly a faute amōge you, because ye go to lawe one wyth another. Why rather suffer ye not wronge? why rather suffer ye not your selues to haue harmer, maye, ye poure selues do wronge, and robbe: & that the brythē. Do ye not knowe, how p^r the vnygheuous shall not inheret p^r kyngdome of God? Be not deceaued. For neither fornicatours, neither worshyppers of ymages, neither adoulters, neither weaklynges, neither abusers of the selues wyth mākynde, neither theues, neither couetouse, nether dronkarde, neither cursed speakers, nether pylers, shall inheret the kyngdome of God. And such were some of you, but ye are washed: but ye are sanctified: but ye are in-stified by the name of the Lorde Iesus, & by the sprete of oure God.

I maye do all thynges, but * all thynges are not profitable. I maye do all thynges: but I will be brought vnder no mā's power, ¶ Meates are ordeyned for the belly, & p^r belly for meates: but God shall destroye both it and the. Let not the body be applyed vnto fornicacyon, but vnto the Lorde, and the Lorde vnto the body. God hath rayled vp p^r Lorde, and shall rayle vs vp by hys power.

¶ * Ether knowe ye not, p^r youre bodies are p^r mēbers of Christ: shall I nowe take p^r members of Christ, and make them the mēbers of an harlot? God forbid. Do ye not knowe, that he whych completh hym selfe wth an harlot, is become one body. * For two (sayth he) shall be one fleshe. But he that is ioyned vnto the Lorde is one sprete.

¶ He fornicacion. Euery synne p^r a mā doth, is without the body. But he that is a forni-cator, synneth against his awne body. Ether knowe ye not, how p^r youre bodies are p^r tēple of p^r holy ghost, which dwelleth in you, whom ye haue of God, and how that ye are not poure awne: For ye are dearly bought.
Therefore glorifye God in youre bodies, ad in youre spretes, which are Goddes.

¶ The viij. Chapter.

¶ Concernynge p^r thynges whe-rof ye wrote vnto me: ¶ It is good for a man, not to touche a womā. Neuerthelesse, to a boy-de whoridome let euery mā haue hys wyfe: and let euery womā haue her husbande. Let the husbande geue vnto the wyfe due benenolēce. Lyke wyse also p^r wyfe vnto the husbande. The wyfe hath not power of her awne body: but the husbande. And lykewyse p^r husbande hath not power of his awne body: but p^r wyfe. * Wythdrawe not poure selues one frō another, except it be with consent for a tyme, for to geue poure selues to sa-tisfye and praye. And afterwarde come together agayne, lest Satan tempte you for poure incontinenēce.

¶ This I saye of fauoure, and not of commaundement. For I wolde p^r all men were as I my selfe am: but euery mā hath his proper gyfte of God, one after this māner, another after that. I saye vnto them that be vnmaried and wyddowes: it is good for the, yf they abyde euē as I do. But and * yf they cannot abstayne, let the marry. For it is better to marry, then to burne.

¶ Vnto the maried comaunde, not I, but the Lorde: * Let not the wyfe be separated from the husband. If she separate her selfe, let her remayne vnmariēd, or be recōlled vnto her husbande agayne. And let not the husbande put awaye his wyfe from hym.

¶ To the remnant speake I, not the Lorde If eny brother haue a wyfe p^r beleueth not, yf the be content to dwell with him, let hym not put her awaye. And the woman whych hath to her husbande an infidell, & consent to dwell wyth her, let her not put hym awaye.
For p^r vnbeleuynge husbande is sanctified by p^r wyfe, & p^r vnbeleuynge wyfe is sanctified by the husbande. ¶ Els were your chyldren vnclean: but nowe are they holpe. But ¶ yf p^r vnbeleuynge departe, let him departe.
A brother or a systre is not in subieccion to soche. But God hath called vs in peace. For how knowest thou (o womā) whether thou halt saue thy husbande or no? Oether howe knowest thou (o man) whether thou halt saue thy wyfe or no: but euē as God hath distributed to euery man.

¶ As the Lorde hath called euery man, so let hym walke: and so ordeyn I in all cōgregacions. If eny man be called beyngē circū-cised, let him not adde vncircūcisyon. If eny be called vncircūcised, let hym not be circū-cised. Circūcisyon is nothyngē, and vncir-cumcisyon is nothyngē: but the keepynge of p^r commaundementes of God.

¶ Let euery man abyde in the same callinge, wherein he was called. ¶ Art thou called a seruant? care not for it. Neuerthelesse, yf thou mayst be free, vse it rather. For he that is called in the Lorde, beyngē a seruant, is the Lordes freman. Lyke wyse he that is called beyngē free, is Christes seruant. Ye are dearly bought, & be not ye the seruau-tes of men. Breythen, let euery man wherein he is called, therein abyde wyth God. ¶ As concernynge virgins, I haue no commaun-dement dement of the Lorde: yet geue I counsell, as one that hath obtayned mercy of p^r Lorde, to be saythfull. I suppose therfore p^r it is good for the present necessite. For it is good for a man so to be. Art thou bounde vnto a wyfe? seke not to be loosed. Art thou loosed from a wyfe? seke not a wyfe. But ad yf p^r marie a wyfe, thou hast not synned. Lyke wyse, yf a virgyn marie, she hath not synned. Neuerthelesse soche shall haue trouble in their fleshe: but I fauoure you.

¶ This I saye I brythē, * the tyme is shorte.
It remaineth, p^r they whych haue wyues, be as though they had none: ad they p^r wepe, be as though they wept not: and they that re-ioyce, be as though they reioyced not: & they that bye, be as though they possessed not: ad they that vse this worlde, be as though they vsted it not. For * the fastyn of thys worlde goeth awaye. ¶ I wolde haue you without care. he p^r is vnmariēd, careth for the thynges p^r belong to p^r Lorde, howe he maye please p^r Lorde. But he p^r hath mariēd a wyfe careth for p^r thynges p^r are of p^r worlde, howe he maye please his wyfe. There is differēce betwene a virgyn & a wife. The syngle womā careth for p^r thynges p^r are of p^r Lorde, p^r she maye be holp both in bodye & also in sprete. Agayne: ¶ he p^r is mariēd, careth for p^r thynges p^r pertayne to p^r worlde, howe he maye please her husbande. ¶ This I saye I for poure profet, not to tangle you in a snare: but p^r ye maye fo-lowe it which is honest & comly, & p^r ye maye cleaue vnto the Lorde without separacion.

¶ If eny man thynke that it is vncōmly for his virgyn, yf the passe the tyme of maryage, and yf lo nede require, let him do what he lysteth, he synneth not: let them be coupled in marriage. Neuerthelesse, he that purpoiseth surely in his herte, dauynge no nede: but hath power ouer his awne will: & hath so decreed in his hert, that he will kepe his virgyn, doth well. So then, he p^r ioyne his virgyn in ma-riage doth well. But he that ioyne his virgyn in marriage, doth better. ¶ The wyfe is boide to p^r marriage, as lōge as her husband lyueth. If her husband dye, she is at libertie to marry with whom she will, onely in p^r Lorde.
But she is happier, yf she so abyde, after my iudgement. And I thinke verely, that I haue the sprete of God.

¶ The viij. Chapter.

¶ We rebuketh them that vse lyberte to the flaun-der of other, and sheweth howe men ought to be haue them towardes soche as be weaker.

¶ Touchynge thynges * offered vnto ymages, we are sure p^r we all haue knowledge. Knowledge maketh a mā swell: but loue edififyeth. If eny man thynke that he knoweth eny thyng, he knoweth nothyng yet as he ought to knowe. But p^r eny mā loue God, the same is knowen of him.

As concernynge p^r eatynge of those thynges p^r are offered vnto ydols, we are sure, p^r * p^r ymage is nothing in the worlde ad p^r ther is none other God, but one. And though ther be that are called Goddes, whether in heauē other in erth (as ther be Goddes many, and Lordes many) yet vnto vs is there but one God, which is the father, of who are all thin-ges, & we for hym, & one Lord Iesus Christ, by who are all thynges, and we by hym. But euery mā hath not knowledge. * Some hauinge cōscience because of p^r ymage, vntill thys houre, eate as a thige offered vnto ymages: & so their cōscience bringe weakē is despyed.
But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God. Nether yf we eate, are we the better.
Nether yf we eate not, are we the worse.

¶ But take hede, lest by any meanes this libertie of yours be an occasiō of falling to the p^r are weakē. For yf some mā se p^r which hath knowledge, yf & eate of meate offered vnto ymages, shall not p^r cōscience of him which is weakē, be boldened to eate those thynges, which are offered to ymages. And so thow thy knowledge shall p^r weakē brother p^rry-the, for whom Christ dyed. W^h ye synne so agaynst p^r brythē, & wolde their weakē cō-science, ye synne agaynst Christ. Wherefore * yf meate hurt my brother, I will neuer eate lesse lest I shulde offende my brother.

¶ The ix. Chapter.

¶ Our forbearth the things that them maye do by the lawe. We rebuketh them to tūme on forth in the courts that they haue become.

¶ I not an Apostle am I not fre: * haue I not sene Iesus Christ oure Lorde: Are ye not my worke in p^r Lorde: If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet am I vnto you. For the scale of myne Apostle thynne are ye in the Lorde. Wyne answer to them that aske me, is this. Haue we not power to eate and to dryncke: Haue we not power to leade about a woman a systre, as well as other Apostles, and as the brythēn of the Lorde, ad Cephas: Ether onely I and Barnabas haue not power thys to do: Who goeth a warfare eny tyme at hys awne cost: who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the frute therof: Who fedeth a flocke and eateth not of the mylke of the flocke:

¶ Saye I these thynges after the māner of me: Sayth not p^r lawe p^r same also: For it is wrytten in p^r lawe of Moyses. * Thou shalt not molle the mouth of p^r ore that treadeth oute the corne. Both God take thought for ouren: Sayth he it not alltogether for oure sakes: For oure sake no doute this is wrytten: that he whych careth shulde care in hope & that he whych thorseth in hope, shulde be partaker of hys hope. * If we loue vnto you spirituall thynges, is it a great thyng-ge yf we reape poure bodely thynges: If other be partakers of this power once you, wherfore are not we rather?

* Act. x. 2. g. Neuerthelesse we haue not vsed this power: but suffer all thinges, lest we shulde hinder the Gospel of Christ. Do ye not knowe, howe they which minister aboute holy thinges lyue of the sacrifice? They which waite of the temple, are partakers of the temple. Euen so also byd the Lord our dayne: that they which preach the Gospel, shulde lyue of the Gospel. * But I haue vsed none of these thinges.

* Mat. x. 6. Neuerthelesse I wrote not these thinges, yf it shuld be so done vnto me. For it were better for me to dye, then yeny man shuld take this reioysinge from me. For yf I preach the Gospel, I haue nothinge to reioyce of. For necessity is put vnto me. But woe is it vnto me, yf I preach not the Gospel. If I do it w a good will, I haue a reward. But yf I do it against my will, an office is committed vnto me. What is my reward then? Eicely y when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ free, that I misuse not myne auctorite in the Gospel.

* Act. xiii. 12. For though I be free fro all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I myght wyne the moo. * Vnto the Jewes, I became as a Jewe, to wyne y Jewes. To them that were vnder the lawe, was I made as though I had bene vnder the lawe, as whan I was not vnder the lawe: to wyne the that were vnder the lawe. To the that were wythout lawe, became I as though I had bene wythout lawe (wher I was not wythout lawe as perpeynng to God, but vnder y lawe of Christ) to wyne them that were wythout lawe. To the weake became I as weake, to wyne y weake. In all thinges, I fashioned my selfe to all me, to saue at y least waye some. And this I do for y gospels sake, that I myght haue my parte therof.

* 1. Cor. x. 3. Perceanue ye not, howe that they which runne in a course, rúne all, but one receaueth y rewarde: So rúne, that ye maye obtaigne. Eucry mā y proueth masteries, abstayneth fro all thynges. And they do it to obtaigne a crowne y shall perpshe: but we to obtaigne an euertlasting crowne. I therfore so rúne, not as at an uncertayne thyng. So fyght I, not as one that beatech the ayer: but I tame my body, & bynne it into subieccion, lest by anye meanes it come to passe, that whan I haue preached to other, I my selfe shulde be a cast awaye. I

The x. Chapter.

The search them with the examples of the olde Testament, and exhorteth them to a godly conuersation.

* 1. Cor. x. 1. Brethren, I wolde not that ye shulde be ignoraunt, howe that our fathers were all vnder the cloude, and all passed thowowe the see, and were all baptised vnder Moyses in the cloude and in the

see: and byd all eate of one spirituall meate and byd all dryncke of one maner of spirituall dryncke. And they dranke of that spirituall rocke that folowed them, wherof the rocke was Christ. But in many of them had God no deyle: for they were overthowen in the wyldernes.

These were ensamples to vs, that we shuld not lust after euill thynges, as they lust. And y ye shuld not be worshyppers of ymages, as were some of the, accordeinge as it is wyrtte: The people late downe to eate & dryncke, & rose vp to playe. Nether let vs be deyled w fornicacy, as some of the were deyled w fornicacy, & fell in one daye xxij. thousand. Nether let vs tepte Christ, as some of the tepted, & were destroyed of serpentes. Nether murmure ye, as some of the murmured, & were destroyed of y destroyer.

All these thynges happened vnto them for ensamples, but are wyrtte to put vs in remembrance, wher yendes of y worlde are come vpon. Wherfore, let him y thynkech he standeth, take hede, lest he fall. Ther hath none other teptacyon taken you, but soche as solo wch y nature of man. But God is saythfull: wherch shall not suffer you to be tepted aboue youre strength: but shall in y myddes of the teptacyon make a waye, y ye maye be able to beare it. Wherfore my deare beloved, fly from worshyppinge of ymages.

I speake as vnto them wherch haue discrecyon, iudge ye what I saye. Is not y cup of blessing which we blesse, partakynge of y bloude of Christ? Is not y bread wherch we breake, partakynge of y body of Christ? because y we (though we be many) yet are one bread & one bodye, as moche as we all are partakers of one bread. (and of one cuppe) We hold ysaac after y flesh. Are not they which eate of the sacrifice, partakers of the temple?

What saye I then? that the ymage is eny thyng: or that it wherch is offered to ymages, is eny thyng? Nay, but thus I saye: y the thynges wherch the gentyls offer, they offer to deuyls, and not to God.

I wolde not that ye shulde haue fellowshipe wch y deuyls. Ye cannot dryncke of the cup of y Lord, and of the cup of deuyls. Ye cannot be the partakers of the Lordes table, and of the table of deuyls. Echer do we prouoke the Lord? Are we stronger then he? I maye do all thynges, but all thynges edifye not. Let no mā seke that wherch is his awne: but let eucry man seke that wherch belongeth to another.

Whatsoeuer is solde in the flesche market, that eate, and aske no questyon for conscience sake. For the erth is the Lordes, and all that therein is. If eny of them wherch belene not, byd you to a feast, and ye be disposed ye be disposed to go, whatsoeuer is sett before you, eate, askeinge no questyon for conscience sake. But and yeny man saye vnto you: this is offered vnto ymages, eate not of it for hys sake that sheweth it, and for conscience sake. The erth is the Lordes and all that therein is. Conscience I saye, not thynge, but of the other. For why is my liberte, iudged of another mannes conscience? For yf I take my parte with thankes, why am I euill spoken of, for that thyng wherfore I geue thankes?

Whether therfore ye eate of dryncke, or whatsoeuer ye do, do all to the prayse of God. Se that ye geue none occasyon of euill, nether to the Jewes, nor yet to y gentyls, nether to the congregacyon of God: eue as I please all men in all thynges, not sekynge myne awne profet, but the profet of many, that they myght be saued.

The rebuketh them for the abuse and misusage that they had aboute the sacrament of the body and bloud of Christ, and byngeth them agayne to the hys instruction.

Be ye the folowers of me, as I am the folower of Christ. I commend you brethren, that ye remember me in all thynges, and kepe the ordinaunces, euen as I deliuered them to you. But I wolde haue you to knowe, that Christ is the heed of eucry man. And the man is the womans heed. And God is Christs heed. Eucry man prayinge or prophesyng hauing eny thyng on his heed, nameth his heed. Eucry woman that prayeth or prophesyeth bare headed, dishonesteth hys heed. For that is euen all one, as yf she were shauen. If the woman be not couered, let her also be shoren. If it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her couer her heed.

A man ought not to couer his heed, for as moche as he is the ymage and glory of God. But the woman is the glory of the mā. For the man is not of the woman: but the woman of the man. Nether was the man created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mannes sake. For this cause ought the woman to haue power on her heed, for the angels sakes: Neuerthelesse, nether is y man without the woman, nether the woman without the man in the Lord. For as the woman is of the man, euen so is the man: by the woman: but all of God.

Judge in youre selues, whether it be comly that a woman praye vnto God bare headed. Moth not nature it selfe teach you, that it is a shame for a mā, yf he haue longe heer: and a prayse to a woman: yf she haue longe heer. For hys heer is geuen her to couer her withall. If any man luste to stryue, we haue no loch custome, nether the congregacyons

of God.

This I warne you of, and commend not, that ye come not together after a better maner, but after a worse. For fyrst of all when ye come together in the congregacion, I heare that there is dyscencyon amonge you: and I partely beleue it. For ther must be sectes amonge you, that they which are perfect amonge you, myght be knowen. Wher ye come to gether therfore into one place, the Lordes supper can not be eaten. For eucry man begynneth afoze to eate his awne supper. And one is hongry, and another is dronke. haue ye not houses to eate and to dryncke in? Despyse ye the congregacion of God, and shame the that haue not? What shall I saye vnto you? What I prayse you? In this prayse I you not.

That which I deliuered vnto you, I receaued of the Lord. For the Lord Jesus the same nyght, in which he was betrayed, toke bread: and whan he had geuen thankes, he brake it and sayde: Take ye, and eate: this is my body, wherch is broken for you.

This do ye in the remembrance of me. After the same maner also he toke the cup, wher supper was done, sayinge: This cuppe is the new testament in my bloude. Chys do as oft as ye dryncke it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye shall eate this bread, and dryncke this cup: ye shall shewe the Lordes deeth: tyll he come. Wherfore, whosoever, shall eate of this bread, or dryncke of the cup of the Lord vnworthely, shalbe guilty of the body and bloud of the Lord. But let a man examen him selfe, and so let him eate of the bread, and dryncke of the cup. For he that eateth or dryncketh vnworthely, eateth and dryncketh his awne damnacyon, because he maketh no difference of y Lordes body. For this cause many are weake and sycke amonge you, and many slepe. For if we had iudged oure selues, we shuld not haue bene iudged. But when we are iudged of the Lord, we are chastened, that we shulde not be damned with the worlde. Wherfore my brethren when ye come together to eate, tary one for another. If any man hunger, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condempnacyon. Other thynges will I set in order, when I come.

The xij. Chapter.

The directeth of the offices of the holy good, geuen to the coloure and edifyng of one another, as the members of a mans body are one and the.

Ancernynge spirituall thinges (brethren) I wolde not haue you ignoraunt. Ye knowe y ye were gentyls, & went youre wayes vnto domme ymages. It is euen even as ye were led. Wherefore I declare vnto you, that * no man speaking by the spere of God, despyeth Jesus. Also no man can saye that Jesus is the Lorde, but by the holy ghoist. * There are diuersities of gyftes, yet but one spere. And there are differēces of administracions, and yet but one Lorde. And there are diuers maners of operacions, and yet but one God. * whych worketh all in all. * The gyfte of the spere is geuen to euery man, to edifye withall. For to one is geuen thow the spere the utteraunce of wisdom. To another is geuen the utteraunce of knowledge by the same spere. To another is geuen sayth, by the same spere. To another the gyftes of healinge by the same spere. To another power to do miracles. To another prophesye. To another iudgement to discern spertes. To another diuers tonges. To another the interpretacion of tonges: But these all worketh euen the selfe same spere, diuidyng to euery man a severall gyfte, euen as he wyll. ¶

* For as the body is one, and hath many membris, and all the membris of one body though they be many, yet are but one bodye, euen so is Christ. For by one spere are we all baptysed to make one body, whether we be Jewes or Gentyls, whether we be bonde or fre, and have * all droncke of one spere. For the body is not one member, but many. If the fote saye: I am not the hande, I am not of the body: is he therfore not of the body? And yf the eare saye, I am not the eye, I am not of the body: is he therfore not of the body? If all the body were an eye, where were then the eares? If all were heareng: where were then the smellnges? But now we hath God see the membris euery one severally in the body as it hath pleased him. If they were all one member: where were the bodye? Nowe are there many members, yet but one body. And the eye can not saye vnto the hande: I have no neede of the. Agayne, the heed can not saye to the fete: I have no neede of you. Yet rather agre at deale those membris of the body which seeme to be more feble, are necessary. And vpon those membris of the body which we thinke leest honest, put we more honestye on. And oure vngoodlye partes haue more beautye on. For oure honest membris neede it not. But God hath so disposed the body, & hath geuen the more honoure to that parte whych lacked, lest there shoulde be eny steppe in the body: but that the membris shuld indifferently care one for another. And yf one member suffer, all suffer with him. yf one member be had in honour, all membris be glad also.

¶ Ye are the body of Christ, and membris one of another. And God hath also ordeyned in the congregacion, fyrst * Apostles, secondarely prophetes, thyrddly teachers, then them that do myracles: after that, the gyftes of healing, helpers, gouerners, diuersitye of tonges.

¶ Are all Apostles? Are all Prophetes? Are all teachers? Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gyftes of healing? do all speake with tonges? do all interpret? Couet after the best gyftes. And yet shewe I vnto you a more excellent waye.

The xiiij. Chapter.

I though I spake with the tonges of men and of angels, and haue no loue, I am euen as sounding bras, or as a tynklinge cymball. And though I could prophesy, and vnderstande all secretes, and all knowledge: yet if I haue all sayth, & so that I can moue mountayns oute of their places, and yet haue no loue, I am nothyng. And though I bestowe all my goodes to fede the poore, and though I geue my body euen that I burned, and yet haue no loue, it profytech me no thyng.

Loue suffreth longe, and is curteous. Loue enuyeth not. Loue doth not frowardly, swell leth not, dealeth not dishonestly. * seeketh not her awne, is not prouoked to anger, thynketh no euill, reioyseth not in iniquyte: but reioyseth in the trouth, suffreth all thynges, beleueth all thynges, hopeth all thynges, endureth all thynges. Though that prophesynges faile, other tonges cease, or knowledge vanysh awaye, yet loue falleth neuer awaye.

¶ For oure knowledge is vnperfect, and oure prophesyinge is vnperfect. But when the whych is perfect, is come, then that whych is vnperfect, shall be done awaye. When I was a chyld, I spake as a chyld, I vnderstode as a chyld, I ymagined as a chyld. But as sone as I was a man, I put awaye chyldishnes. Nowe we se in a glasse, eue in a darcke speaking: but then shall we se face to face. Nowe I knowe vnperfectly: but then shall I knowe euen as I am knowen. Nowe abydeyth sayth, hope, and loue, eue these thre: but these of these is loue. ¶

The xliij. Chapter.

¶ Paul sheweth that the gyfte of prophesye, interpreting or preachyng, excellith the gyfte of tonges and how they both ought to be vsed.

I about for loue, and couet I spirituall gyftes: but most chiefly that ye maye prophesy. For he that speaketh with the tonge, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God. For no man heareth hym: thou best in the spere he speaketh mysteries. But he that prophesieyth, speaketh vnto men for their edifyinge, for their exhortacion and for their comforte. He that speaketh with the tonge, profiteth him selfe: * he that prophesieyth, edifyeth the congregacion: I wolde that ye all spake with tonges: but rather that ye prophesied. For greater is he that prophesieyth, then he that speaketh with tonges, except he expounde it: that the congregacion maye haue edifyinge. Now brethren, yf I come vnto you speakyng with tonges: what shall I profet you, excepte I speake to you, other by reuelacion or by knowledge, or by prophesyinge, or by doctrine?

¶ Moreover, when thinges without lyfe geue sounde (whether it be a pype or an harpe) except they make a difference in the soundes, how shall it be knowne in what is pyped or harped? For yf the troupe geue vncertaine voyce, who shall put it selfe to the warre? Euen so lyke wyse whi ye speake with tonges, excepte ye speake wordes that haue significacion, howe shall it be vnderstande what is spokē? For ye shall but speake in the ayer.

¶ Many kyndes of voyces are in the world, and none of them are without significacion. If I knowe not what the voyce meaneth, I shall be vnto him that speaketh, an alient: and he that speaketh, shall be an alient vnto me. Eue so ye (for as moche as ye couet spirituall gyftes) like, that ye maye excell, vnto the edifyinge of the congregacion.

¶ Wherefore, let him that speaketh with tongue, praye, that he maye interpret also. For if I praye with tōge, my spere prayeth, but my vnderstanding doth no good. What is it then? I will praye with the spere, and will praye with the vnderstanding. I will syng with the spere, and will syng with the vnderstanding. For els, when thou blest with the spere, how shall he that occupieth the rowme of the vnclearned, saye Amen, at thy geuyng of thanks, seynge he vnderstandeth not what thou sayest? Thou verely geuest thanks well, but the other is not edified. I thanke my God & I speake with tonges more then ye all. Yet had I leue in the congregacion, to speake spue wordes with my vnderstanding to the informacion of other rather then ten thousand wordes with the tonge.

¶ Brethren, be not ye chyldren in wytt. Forobeit, as concernyng malicousnes, be chyldren: but in wytt be perfect. In the lawe it is writen * with sondrie tōges, and with sondrye lppes will I speake vnto this people, and yet for all that, will they not heare me, sayth the Lorde. Wherefore, tonges are for a signe, not to them that beleue: but to them that beleue not. Contrary wyse, prophesyinge serueth not for them that beleue not: but for them which beleue.

¶ If therfore, when all the congregacion is come together, and all speake with tonges, ther come in they that are vnclearned, or they which beleue not: will they not saye, that ye are out of youre wittes? But and yf all prophesye, and ther come in one that beleueth not, or one vnclearned, he is rebuked of all men, & is indged of euery man, & so are the secretes of his hert opened, and so falleth he downe on his face, and worshippeth God, & sayth, that God is in you of a trouth.

¶ How is it then brethren? As oft as ye come together, euery one of you hath a longe, hath a doctrine, hath a tonge, hath a reuelacion, hath an interpretacion. Let all thinges be done vnto edifyinge: If eny man speake with tonge, let it be by two or at the most by thre, and that by course, and let another interpret it. But yf ther be no interpreter, let him kepe silence in the congregacion, and let him breake to him selfe and to God.

¶ Let the prophetes speake two, or thre, & let the other iudge. If eny reuelacion be made to another that sytteth by, let the fyrst holde his peace. For ye maye al prophesy one by one, that all maye learne, and that all maye haue comforte. And the spertes of the prophetes are in the power of the Prophetes. For God is not canser of steppe: * but of peace, as * (I teach) in all congregacions of the sayntes.

¶ Let poure women kepe silence in the congregacions. For it is not permitted vnto the to speake: but to be vnder obediēce, as sayth the lawe. If they wyll learne eny thyng, let them aske their husbandes at home. For it is a shame for women, to speake in the congregacion. Spronge the worde of God frō you? Either came it vnto you onely? If eny man thynke him selfe to be a prophet, ether spirituall: let him knowe, what thynges I wyrt vnto you. For they are the commaundementes of the Lorde. But and yf eny man be ignorant, let him be ignorant. Wherefore brethren, couet to prophesye, and forbyd not to speake with tonges. let all thynges be done honestly and in order. ¶ (amonge you)

The xv. Chapter.

¶ The reuelacion of the heed.

Brethren, as pertaynyng to the Gospell whych I preached vnto you, whych ye haue also accepted, and in the whych ye contynue, by the which also ye are saued: I do you to wit, after what maner I preached vnto you, yf ye kepe it, except ye haue beleued in bayne.

¶ For fyrst of all I deliuered vnto you, which I receaued: how that * Christ dyed for our synnes, agreynge to the scriptures: * And that he was buried, and that he arose agayne the thirde daye accordyng to the scriptures: & that he was sene * of Cephas, then of the twelue. After that was he sene of moche hundred brethren at once: of whych many many remayne vnto this daye, & many are fallen a slepe. After that appeared he to James, then to all the Apostles.

And last of all he was sene of me, as of one that was boine oute of due tyme. For I am the least of the apostles, which am not worthy to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the congregacyon of God. But by the grace of God, I am what I am. And his grace which is in me, was not in vayne: For I labored moare aboundantly then they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me therfore whether it were I or they, so we preach, & so haue we beleued.

If Christ be preached how that he rose from the dead: how saye some amonge you, that there is no resurreccyon of the dead: If there be no resurreccyon agayne of the dead then is Christ not risen agayne. If Christ be not risen agayne, then is oure preachyng in vayne, and your fayth is also in vayne. Ye and we are founde false wytnesses of God. For we haue testyfied of God, how that he rased vp Christ: whom he rased not vp, yf it be so that the dead rylse not agayne. For yf the dead rylse not agayne, then is Christ not risen agayne. If it be so that Christ rose not agayne, then is your fayth in vayne, and ye are yet in your synnes. Therfore they whych are fallen a slepe in Christ, are perished. If in this lyfe onely we beleue on Christ, then are we of all men most miserable.

But now is Christ risen from the dead, & become the fyrst frutes of them that slepe. For by a man came deeth, and by a man came the resurreccyon of the dead. For as by Adam all dye: euen so by Christ, shall all be made alyue, but euerp man in his awne order. The fyrst is Christ, then they that are Christes at his comynge. Then cometh the ende, when he hath deliuered vp the kyngdome to God the father, when he hath put downe all rule and all auctorite & power. For he must raygne tyll he haue put all his enemyes vnder his fete. The last enemye that shall be destroyed, is deeth: For he hath put all thynges vnder his fete. But wher he sayth all thynges are put vnder him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which byd put all thynges vnder him, then shall sonne also him selfe be subiect vnto him, & put all thynges vnder him, that God maye be all in all.

Is what do they, whych are baptised ouer the dead yf the dead rylse not at all: Why are they then baptised ouer them? Yee and why stode we all waye then in inoperacyon? By oure reioysyng which I haue in Christ Iesu oure Lord, I dye dayly. That I haue fought with bestes at Ephesus after the maner of men, what auantaget it me, yf the dead rylse not agayne: Let vs eate and dryncke, for to morowe we shall dye. Be not ye deceaued: euell wordes corrupte good maners. Awake truly out of slepe, and synne not. For some haue not knowledge of God: I speake this to your shame.

But some man will saye: howe arylse the dead: what bodye shall they come? Thou fool, & yf which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it dye. And what sowest thou? Thou sowest not that body that shall be: but bare corne as of wheet, or of some other) but God geueth it a body at his pleasure, to euerp seed his awne body.

All fleshe is not one maner of fleshe: but ther is one maner of fleshe of men, another maner of fleshe of bestes, another of fowles, & another of byrdes. Ther are also celestiaall bodyes, & ther are bodyes terrestriall. But the glory of the celestiaall is one, & the glory of the terrestriall is another. Ther is one maner glory of the sonne, and another glory of the moone, & another glory of the steres. For one starre differeth from another in glory. So is the resurreccyon of the dead. It is sowne in corrupcion, it rylseth agayne in incorrupcion. It is sowne in dishonour, it rylseth agayne in honour. It is sowne in weaknes, it rylseth agayne in power. It is sowne a naturall body, it rylseth agayne a spirituall body. Ther is a naturall body, & ther is a spirituall body: as it is also wrytten: the fyrste man Adam was made a lyuinge soule, and the last Adam was made a quickening sprete. Howbeit, yf is not fyrst which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and then yf which is spirituall. The fyrst man is of the erth, erthy: the seconde man is the Lord fro heauen. As is the erthy, soche are they that are erthy. And as is the heuenly, soche are they that are heuenly. And as we haue boine ymage of the erthy, so shall we beare the ymage of the heuenly.

This saye I brethren: yf fleshe & bloud cannot inheret the kyngdome of God. Nether doth corrupcion inheret incorrupcion. Beholde, I shewe you a mystery. We shall not all slepe: but we shall all be chaunged, and that in a moment, in the twinklyng of an eye by the last trompe. For the trompe shall blowe, and the dead shall rylse incorruptible, & we shall be chaunged. For this corruptible must put on incorrupcion: and this mortall must put on immortallite.

When this corruptible hath put on incorruptid, and this mortall hath put on immortallite: then shall be brought to passe the sayng that is wrytten: Deeth is swallowed vp in victory: Deeth where is thy spynge? Hell where is thy victory? The spynge of deeth is synne: and the strength of synne is the lawe. But thanks be vnto God which hath geuen vs a victory, thowwe oure Lord Iesus Christ

Christ. Therfore my deare brethren, be ye stedfast and vnmouable, alwayes ryche in the worke of the Lord, for as moch as ye knowe, how yf poure labour, is not in vayne in the Lord.

The xviij Chapter.

Deputethem in remembrance of the gatheringe for the poore Christen at Jerusalem, & concludeth this Epistle with the salutation of the apostles louyng brethren.

Concernyng the gatheringe for the salutes, as I haue ordeyned in the congregacions of Galacia, euen so do ye. Upon some Saboth daye let euery one of you put a syde at home, and laye vp what socurr is mete, that there be no gatheringes when I come. When I am come, whomsoener ye shall allowe by your letters, them wyll I sende, to bringe your liberalyte vnto Jerusalem. And yf it be mete that I go also, they shall go with me. I wyll come vnto you when I go ouer to Macedonia. For I wyll go thowwe out Macedonia. With you parauenture I wyll abyde a whyle: or els tary all wynter, that ye maye bringe me on my waye, whither socurr I go.

I wyll not se you now in my passage: but I trust to abyde a whyle with you, yf God shall suffre me. I wyll tary at Ephesus, vntill the fyftieth daye. For a greete doze and a frutefull is opened vnto me, & ther are many aduersaries. If Timothy come, se that he be with out feare with you. For he worketh the worke of the Lord, as I do: let no man therfore despyse him, but conuaye hym forth in pence, that he maye come vnto me. For I loke for him with the brethren.

Aspake of brother Apollo (a certeyne you, that) I greatly despyred him, to come vnto you with the brethren, but his mynde was not at all to come at this tyme. Howbeit, he wyll come, when he shall haue conuenient tyme. Watche ye, stonde fast in the faith, quyte you lyke men, be stronge. Let all your busynes be done with loue.

Brethren, ye knowe the house of Stephanus (of fortunatus & Achaicus) how that they are the fyrst frutes of Achaia, and that they haue apoynted them selues to minister vnto the salutes: I beseeche you that ye be obedynt vnto soche, and to all that helpe and laboure. I am glad of the comynge of Stephanus & Fortunatus and Achaicus: for that whych was lackinge vnto me on your parte they haue supplied. For they haue comforted my sprete & yours. Loke therfore yf ye knowe them that are soche.

The congregacions of Asia salute you Aquila and Priscilla salute you moch in the Lord, and so doeth the congregacyon that is in their house. (with whom also I am labored.) All the brethren grete you. Grette ye one another with an holy kysse. The saluacyon of me Paul with myne awne hade. Ifeny man loue not the Lord Iesus Christ, the same be Anathema maranatha. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you: & yf loue be with you all in Christ Iesu. Amen.

The fyrst epistle to the Corinthyans, was sent from philippos, by Stephanus and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timothy.

The seconde epistle

of Saynet Paul the Apostle to the Corinthyans.

The fyrste Chapter.

The consolacion of God in trouble. The loue of Paul towards the Corinthyans, & his exhortacion that he came not vnto them.

Paul an apostle of Iesu Christ by the wyll of God, and brother Timothy.

Vnto the congregacyon of God, which is at Corinthum, with all the saynetes whych are in all Achaia Grace be wyth you & pence from God oure father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

Blessed be God (the father of oure Lord Iesus Christ) which is the father of mercy, & the God of all comforte, whych comforteth vs in all oure tribulacyon, in so moche that we are hable to comforte them whych are in any maner of trouble, with the same comforte, wherewith we oure selues are comforted of God. For as the afflictions of Christ are plenteous in vs, euen so is oure consolacyon plenteous by Christ.

Whether we be troubled for your consolacyon and health, (whether we be comforted, it is for your comforte & saluacyon) which saluacyon is wrought by her power in that ye suffer the same afflictions, which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted for your consolacyon and saluacyon: our hope also is stedfast for you: in as moche as we know, how that as ye are partakers of the afflictions, so shall ye be partakers also of the consolacyon.

Brethren, I wolde not haue you ignorant of oure trouble, which happened vnto vs: I haue been greued out of measure passing strength, so greatly that we despayred euen of lyfe. Also we receaued an answer of deeth in oure selues, that we shuld not put oure trust in oure selues: but in God, whych rased the dead to lyfe, and whych deliuered vs from so great a deeth: and doth deliuer after he wyll delpner, by the helpe of poure prayer for vs, that by the meanes of many persones, thanks maye be geuen of many on oure behalfe, for y gyfte geue vnto vs.

¶ For oure reioysing is this, euen the testimony of oure conscience, that in synclenes had oure conuersacion in the world, and most thynges vnto you, then that ye reade & also knowe. Yee, and I trust ye shall fynde vs vnto the ende, euen as ye haue founde vs partly: for we are poure reioysing, euen as ye are oures in the daye of the Lord Iesus.

¶ And in this confidence was I mynded first to haue come vnto you, that I myght haue had one pleasure more with you, and to passe by yow into Macedonia, & to haue come agayne out of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth of you towarde Ierusalem. When I thus wyte was mynded: dyd I vse lycht-Siluanus and Timotheus) was not yee & mises of God, by him are yee: and are in him Amen, vnto the lawde of God thorow vs.

¶ For it is God, which stablysheth vs with you in Christ and stondeth by vs, and hath anointed vs, whych hath also sealed vs, and hath geuen the earnest of the sperte in oure hertes.

¶ I call God for a recorde vnto my soule that for to fauer you with all I came not eny more vnto Corinthum. ¶ Not that we be Lordez ouer your fayth: but are helpers of poure ioye. For by fayth ye stande.

The iiij. Chapter.

¶ We the which the cause of hys absence & rehoze teth them to forgiue the man that was fallen, & to receaue hym agayne with ioye.

¶ At I determined this in my selfe, that I wold not come agayne to you in heynnes. For yf I make you sope, who is it y shuld make me glad, but the same which is made sope by me? And I wote thys same vnto you, lest yf I came vnto you, I shuld take heynnes of them, of whom I ought to reioyce. Thys confidence haue I toward you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all.
For out of greit affliction and anguysh of hert. I wrote vnto you with many tea-res: not that ye shuld be made sope, but that ye myght perceaue the loue, whych I haue, most specially vnto you.

¶ If eny man hath caused sorow, the same hath not made me sope, but partly: lest I shulde greue you all. ¶ It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many. So that now contrary wyse, ye ought rather to forgiue him, and comforte him: lest that same persone shuld be swallowed up in oure moch heynnes. Wherefore, I exhorte you, that lone maye haue strength ouer him.
For this cause verely dyd I wyte, that I myght knowe the pofe of you, whether ye shulde be obedient in all thynges. To whom ye forgiue eny thyng, I forgiue also. For yf I forgaue eny thyng, to whom I forgaue it, for poure sakes forgaue I it, in the lyght of Christ, lest Satan shuld puenent vs. For his thoughtes are not unknowen vnto vs.

¶ When I was come to Troada for Christes Gospelles sake (and a doze was opened vnto me of the Lord) I had no rest in my sperte, because I founde not Titus my brother: but toke my leaue of them, and went awaye into Macedonia. Thanks be vnto God, which alwayes geneth vs the victorie in Christ, and openeth the sauer of his knowledge by vs in euery place. It is we are vnto God the swete sauoure of Christ, amonge them that are saued, and amonge them which peryshe. ¶ To the one parte are we the sauour of deeth vnto deeth. And vnto y other part are we y sauour of lyfe vnto lyfe. And who is mete vnto these thynges? For we are not as the most part are, which choppe and chaunge with the worde of God: but eue out of purenes, and by the power of God, in the lyght of God, so speake we in Christ.

The iiij. Chapter.

¶ We myghte the preachinge of the Gospel as boue the preachinge of the lawe.

¶ We begyn to prayse oure sel-ues agayne, I dede we as so me other, of Epistles of recommendacion vnto you or letters of recommenda-cion from you: Ye are oure epistle written in our her-tes, which is vnderstande and red of all men, for as moch as ye declare that ye are the epistle of Christ, mynistred by vs and written, not with ynke: but with the sperte of the lyuynge God: not in tables of ston, but in fleshy tables of the hert.

¶ Suche trust haue we thorow Christ to God ward, not that we are sufficient of oure selues to thynke eny thyng, as of our selues: but yf we be able vnto any thyng: yf same cometh of God, which hath made vs able to mynistre the newe testament, not of the letter, but of the sperte. For the letter kylleth, but the sperte geueth lyfe.

¶ If the

To the Corinthyans,

No. lxxij.

¶ If the ministracion of deeth thorow the letters figured in stones, was glorious, so y the chyldre of Israel coulde not beholde the face of Moyses, for the glory of his countenance (whych glory is done awaye) why shall not the ministracion of the sperte be moch more glorious? For yf the ministringe of condemnacyn be glorious: moch more doth the ministracion of ryghtewelles excede in glory. ¶ For no dout that whych was there glorified, is not once glorified in respecte of this excedynge glory. For yf that which is destroyed was glorious, moch more that which remaineth, is glorious.

¶ Heryng then that we haue soch trust, we vse great boldnes, & do not as Moyses, which put a vayle ouer his face, that the chyldren of Israel shuld not se for what purpose that serued which is put awaye. ¶ But their myndes were blinded. For vntyll this daye remaineth the same coueringe vntaken awaye in the lecture of the olde testament, whych vayle shalbe put awaye in Christ.
But euen vnto this daye when Moyses is redde: the vayle hangeth before their her-tes. Neuerthelesse: when they toune to the Lord, the vayle shalbe taken awaye. ¶ The Lorde no dout is a sperte. And where y sperte of the Lord is, there is libertie. But we all beholde in a myrroure the glorye of y Lorde with his face open, and are chaunged vnto y same similitude, from glory to glory, euen as of the sperte of the Lorde.

The iiij. Chapter.

¶ A true preacher is hyllyd, he corrupteth not the wordes of God, but seeketh the honoure of Christ, ye thought he wote the par. II of hys lyfe.

¶ Wherefore, sayng that we haue soch an offyce, euen as God hath had mercy on vs, we go not out of kyn-de: but haue cast from vs the clothes of vnhonestye, and walke not in craftynes, nether handle we the worde of God disceatfully, but open the trueth, & reporte oure selues to euery mannes conscience in y lyght of God. ¶ If oure Gospel be yet hyd, it is hyd amonge them that are lost, in whom the God of this world hath blynded the myndes of the which beleue not, lest the lyght of the gospel of the glory of Christ whych is y ymage of God) shulde shyne vnto them.

¶ For we preache not our selues, but Christ Iesus to be the Lorde, and oure selues poure seruautes, for Iesus sake. For it is God, that commaunded the lyght to shyne out of darknes, which hath shyned in oure hertes, for to geue the lyght of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Iesus Christ.

¶ But we haue this treasure in crthen vessels, that the excellency of y power myght be Gods, and not oures. We are troubled on euery syde, yet are we not without synst.

We are in pouerte: but not utterly without somwhat. We suffere persecution: but are not foraken therin. We are cast downe: neuer-thelesse we peryshe not. We all wayes beare aboute in the bodye, the dynging of the Lorde Iesus, that the lyfe of Iesu myght also appere in oure bodye.

¶ For we which lyue, are alwayes deli-uered vnto deeth for Iesus sake, that the lyfe also of Iesu myght appere in oure mortall fleshe. So then, deeth worketh in vs, but lyfe in you. ¶ But saynge that we haue the same sperte of fayth: accordynge as it is wrytten: I beleue, and therefore haue I spoken. We also beleue, and therefore speake for we knowe, that he which rayled by the Lorde Iesus, shall rayle by vs also by the meanes of Iesus, & shall sette vs with you.
For all thynges do I for poure sakes: that the plenteous grace by thanks geuen of many, maye rebounde to the prayse of God.

¶ Wherefore, we are not weryed, But though oure vtwarde man peryshe, yet the inwarde man is renewed daye by daye. For oure tribulacion whych is momentary and lyght, prepareth an excedyng & an eternall waight of gloze vnto vs, while we loke not on the thynges which are sene, but on the thynges whych are not sene. For the thynges whych are sene, are temporall: but thynges whych are not sene, are eternall.

The v. Chapter.

¶ The rewardes for sufferynge trouble.

¶ We knowe that yf oure erthy macion of this dwel-lyng were destroyed, we haue a byldinge of God, an habitacyon not made with hades, but eternall in heauen.
For therefore syghe we, de-spring to be clothed with oure macion which is from heauen: so yet, yf that we be founde clothed, & not naked. For we that are in this tabernacle, syghe & are greued because we wold not be vnclothed, but wold be clothed vpon, that mortallite myght be swalo-wed vp of lyfe. Ie y hath ordeyned vs for this thyng, is God: which verysame hath geuen vnto vs the earnest of the sperte.

¶ Therefore, we are alwaye of good cheare, and knowe, that as longe as we are at home in the body, we are absent fro God. For we walke in fayth, not after out ward appeara-unce. Neuerthelesse, we are of good comfort, and had leuer to be absent from the body, and to be present with God. Wherefore, whether we be at home or from home, we ende-noure oure selues, to please him. For we must all appere before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man maye receaue the workes of hys body accordynge to that he hath hath done, whether it be good or bad.

¶ Serpunge then that we knowe, how p Lorde is to be feared, we fare saye wyth men. For we are known well ynough vnto God. I trust also p we are known in poure consciences.

For we praye not oure selues agayne vn to you, but geue you an occasyon to reioyce of vs, that ye maye haue some what against them, whych reioyce in the face, and not in the herte. For yf we be to feruent, to God are we to feruent. ¶ If we kepe measure, for poure cause kepe we measure. For the loue of Christ constraineth vs, because we thus iudge, that yf one dyed for all, then were all deed, and * he dyed for all: that they whych lyue, shuld not hence forth lyue vnto them selues, but vnto him whych dyed for them, & rose agayne. ¶

¶ Therfore, hence forth knowe we no man after the fleshe. In so moch though we haue known Christ after the fleshe, now yet hce forth knowe we hi so no more. Therfore yf eny man be in Christ, he is a newe creature Olde thynges are passed awaye, beholde, all thynges are become * new. Neuerthelesse, all thynges are of God, whych hath receyved vs vnto him selfe by Jesus Christ, and hath geuen to vs the offyce to preache the attonement. For * God was in Christ, and made agreement betwene the worlde and him selfe, & imputed not the synnes vnto them, and hath comytted to vs the preachynge of the attonement. Now then are we messengers in the rowme of Christ euen as though God dyd beseeche you thoro vs. So praye we you in Christes stede, that ye be reconcyled vnto God: for * he made him to be synne for vs, which knewe no synne, that we by his meanes shulde be p ryghtewelsnes, which before God is alowed.

sters of God.

awne bowelles: I promyse vnto you lyke reward, as vnto chylde. Set your selues at large, and * beare not ye the yoke w p vnbeleuers. For what fellyship hath ryghtewelsnes with vnyghtewelsnes? ¶ What company hath lyght w darknes? ¶ What concorde hath Christ with Belial? ¶ Euer what parte hath he that beleueth, with an infidell? ¶ How agreeth the temple of God with Images for * ye are the temple of the lyuinge God, as sayde God: * I wyll dwell amonge them, & walcke amonge them, and wylbe their God: & they shalbe my people.
¶ Therfore * come out from amonge them, and separate poure selues from them (sayth p Lorde) and touche none vncleane thyng: so wyll I receaue you, and wylbe a father vnto you, and ye shalbe my sonnes & daughters, sayth the Lorde almyghty.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

¶ The exhortacion to receaue the promyses of God with thankfulness. The Corynthyans are commended for thei obedience & loue towardes Paul.

¶ Serpunge that we haue soche promyses (dearly beloued) lett vs cleane oure selues fro all filthynes of p fleshe and spete, and growe vp to full holynes wyth the feare of God. Understad vs we haue hurte no man: we haue corrupte no man: we haue defrauded no mā. I speake not this to condemne you: for I haue shewed you before, that ye are in oure hertes to dye & lyue with you: I am very bolde ouer you, I re-ioyce greatly in you. I am fylled with com-forte, and am excedyng to youse in all oure tribulacyon. For when we were come into Macedonia * oure fleshe had no rest, but we were troubled on euery syde. Outwarde was fyghtyng, inward was feare. Neuer-thelesse * God that conforteth the abiecte, conforted vs by the commynge of Titus.

And not by his commynge onely: but also by the consolacyon which we receaued of you: when he tolde vs poure desyre, poure feruent mynde for me: so that I reioiced the more. For though I made you sorow with a letter, I repent not: though I dyd repent.
For I perceaue, that the same epistle made you

you sorow, though it were but for a season.
But I nowe reioyce, not that ye were sorow, but that ye so sorowed that ye repented. For ye sorowed godly: so p in nothyng ye were hurte by vs. For godly sorowe causeth repentance vnto saluacyon, not to be repented of, contrary wyle, * woefully sorowe causeth deeth.

¶ For beholde, what diligence this godly so-rowe that ye toke, hath wrought in you: yee it caused you to cleare your selues. It caused indignacyon, it caused feare, it caused desyre.
It caused punishment. For in all thynges ye haue shewed your selues, that ye were cleare in that matter. ¶ Therfore, though I wrote vnto you, I dyd it not for his cause that had done the hurt, nether for his cause that was hurte: but p poure good mynde for vs might appeare amonge you in the syght of God.

¶ Therfore, we are comforted, because ye are comforted: yee, and excedyngly the more ioyed we, for the ioye that Titus had: because his spete was refreshed of you all. I am therfore not nowe ashamed, though I boasted my selfe to hym of you. For as all thynges which we spake vnto you are true, euen so, oure boastynge that I made vnto Titus is founde true. And his inward affection is founde abundant towardes you, whā he re-memberech the obedience of you all, howe w feare & trembling ye receaued hym. I reioyce p I maye be bolde ouer you in all thynges.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

¶ He putteth them in remembrance to helpe the pooze sapientes at Jerusalem, accordeynge as the Macedonians dyd.

¶ Certifye you brethren, of the grace of God which was geuen in p congregacyons of Macedonia, howe that the abundance of thei reioysynge is, that they are tryed with moche tribulacyon. And though they were exceadyng pooze, yet haue they geuen excedyng rychely, and that in singlenesse. For to thei powers, I beare them recorde, yee, & beyōde thei power, they were wyllynge of thei awne accorde, and prayed vs with great instance, p we wolde receaue their benefyte, and suffre the to be partetakers with other * in mynstryng to the sapientes. And thys they dyd, not as we looked for: but gaue their awne selues fyrst to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the wyll of God: so that we coude not but desyre Titus, to accomplyshe the same beniuolence amonge you also, euen as he had begonne.

¶ Nowe therfore, as ye are riche in all parties, in sayth, in worde, in knowledge, in all feruency, and in loue, which ye haue to vs: euen so, let that ye be plenteous in thys beniuolence also. ¶ This saye I, not commaundyng: but because offeruentnes, I do alowe the vntaynednesse of poure loue towardes other men. For ye knowe the liberalyte of oure Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was

* ryche, yet for poure sakes he became pooze that ye, thoro we hys pouerthe, myght be made ryche.

¶ And I geue counsell hereto. For thys is expedient for you, which beganne, not to do onely, but also to wyll a peare ago. Nowe therfore, performe the thyng which ye be-ganne to do: that as there was in you a re-dynes to will, euen so, ye maye performe the debe of that which ye haue. For * yf there be fyrst a wyllynge mynde, it is accepted accordeynge to that a man hath, and not accor-dyng to that he hath not.

¶ It is not my mynde that other be sett at ease, and ye brought into combraunce: but that ther be egaines nowe at this tyme: and that your aboundance maye sucker their lacke: and that thei aboundance maye supply poure lacke: that there maye be equalitye, & grypnge to that which is wyppen: * he that had moche, had not the more aboundance: & he that had a litle, had neuer the lesse. ¶ Changes be vnto God, which put the same good mynde for you in the herte of Titus, which accepted the requeste: yee, rather he was so well wyllinge, that of his awne accorde, he came vnto you.

¶ We haue sente with hym the brother, whose laude is in the gospell thoroout all the congregacyons: and not that onelye, but is also chosen of the congregacions to be a felowe with vs in oure ioynep, concerning this beniuolence that is ministred by vs vnto the praye of the same Lorde, and to stire vp poure prompte mynde.

¶ For thys we excheue, that eny mā shuld rebuke vs in this plenteous distrebycyon, * that is ministred by vs (to p glory of the Lorde) * & and make promysyn for honest thynges: not onely in the syght of p Lorde: but also in the syght of men.

¶ We haue sent w them a brother of oures, whom we haue ofte tymes proued dysygent in many thynges: but nowe moch more diligent. ¶ He greute confidence which I haue in you, hath caused me thys to do: partelye for Titus sake which is my felowe and helpe as concernyng you: partelye because of other which are our brethren, and the messengers of the congregacyons, & the glory of Christ.
¶ Therfore, shewe ye vnto them the proffe of poure loue, and of oure * boastynge of you in the syght of the congregacyons.

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

¶ In thys chapter doth be the same that he dyd in the chapter goynge before, that is, he moueth them to helpe the pooze brethren at Jerusalem.

11. Cor. xii. e.

If the ministry to the saints, it is but superfluous for me to write unto you: for I knowe the redynes of your mynde, wherof I boast my selfe unto them of Macedonia, that I chail was prepared a yere ago: and your example hath prouoked many. Neuerthelesse, yet haue I sent these brethren, lest our boasting which I make of you shoulde be in vayne, in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue sayde) maye prepare your selues: lest peradventure yf they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, we (I wyll not saye ye) shoulde be ashamed in this matter of boasting.

Therefore, I thought it necessarye to exhort the brethren, to come before hande vnto you, and to prepare your good blessinge promysed afore, that it myght be ready, so yf it be a blessinge, and not a defraudinge. This yet I saye: he which soweth lytell, shall reape lytell: & he yf soweth (in geuyng) largelye and frelye, shall reape plentifullye: And let euery man do, accordyng as he hath purposed in his herte, not groundyngly, or of necessitye. For God loueth a chearfull geuer.

God is able to make you riche in all grace that ye in all thynges haue sufficient vnto the vtmost, maye be riche vnto all manner of good workes, as it is wyrtten: He hath sparfed abroade, and hath geuen to the poore, his ryghtewesnesse remaineth for euer. He that minystrerth seed vnto yf sower, minystrerth breed also for sode: and multiplye your seede, and increase the frutes of your ryghtewesnesse, I that on all partes, ye maye be made ryche into all synghenes, which causeth thowowe vs, that thankes are geuen vnto God.

For the offyce of this minystration, not onely supplyeth the nede of the sayntes: but also is aboundant therein, that for this laudable minystringe, thankes might be geuen to God of many, which prayse God for the obedience of your consentynge to the Gospel of Christ, and for your synghenes in distributyng to them, and to all men, and in theyr prayers for you, which lōge after you, for the aboundant grace of God in you. Thanke be vnto God, for his vnspcakable gyfte.

Chapter. x.

He toucheth the false apostles, and defendeth his auctorite and callinge.

I Paul my selfe beseeche you by yf mekenesse & softnesse of Christ, which whā I am present amonge you, am of no reputacyon: but am holde towarde you beyng absent. I beseeche you, yf I nede not to be holde whā I am presente, with that same boldnesse, wherewith I am supposed to haue bene holde, agaynst some, which repute vs as though we walked carnally. For though we walke in yf fleshe, yet we do not warre fleschly. For yf we weapons of our warfare are not carnall thynges, but thynges myghty in God, to cast downe stronge holdes, wherewith we ouerthrowe counsels and euery hye thyng that exalteth it selfe agaynst the knowledge of God, and byynge into captiuite all ymaginaciō to the obedience of Christ, & are ready to take vengeance on all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled. Loke ye on thynges after the better apperaunce.

If any man trust in hym selfe, that he is Christes, lett hym consider this agayne of hym selfe, that as he is Christes, euen so, are we Christes. For though I boaste my selfe somwhat more of our auctorite (which the Lorde hath geuen vs) to edifye, and not to destroye you) it shall not be to my shame: lest I shoulde seme as though I wente aboute to make you afrayed with letters. For yf epistles sayth he) are sore, and stronge: but his bodelye presence is weake, and his speache rude. Lett hym that is soche thynke on this wyle: that as we are in wordes by letters, when we are absent, soche are we in dedes, when we are present.

For we canot fynde in our hertes to make our selues of the number of them, or to compare our selues to them, which prayse the selues. Neuerthelesse, whyle they measure them selues wth them selues, and compare the selues with them selues, they vnderstande nought. But we will not reioyce aboue measure: but accordyng to the measure of the rule, which God hath distributed vnto vs, a measure to reache euen vnto you. For we stretch not out our selues beyonde measure, as though we reached nōt vnto you. For euen to you also haue we come wth the gospel of Christ, and we boaste not our selues out of measure of other mennes labours: Pee, and we hope it wyll come to passe, yf when your faith is increased amonge you, we shalbe magnified accordyng to our measure, more largelye, and that I shall preache the Gospel in those regions which are beyōde you: & not to boaste of those thynges, which by another mans measure are prepared allready. But lett him that reioyleth, reioyce in the Lorde. For he yf prapseth hym selfe, is not allowed but he whom the Lorde prapseth.

Chapter. xi.

Paul (vnder sufferance) commendeth hym selfe, and defendeth his auctorite agaynst the false prophetes.

Would to God, ye could haue suffered wth me a lytell in my folysynes: yee, ye do also forbeare me. For I am gealous ouer you wth godly gelousye: For I haue coupled you to one man, that ye shoulde make your selues a chaste virgin vnto Christ, to Christ. But I feare lest it come to passe yf as the serpent begyled Eue thowowe his subteltye, euen so your wittes shoulde be corrupted fro the synghenes that ye had toward Christ. For yf he yf cometh preache another Jesus then hym whō we preached: or yf ye receaue another sprete then yf which ye haue receaue, ether another Gospel then that ye haue receaue, ye might right well haue bene confēt. For I suppose that I was not behynde the chefe apostles. But though I be rude in speakinge, yet I am not so in knowledge. Howbeit amonge you, we haue bene well knowē to yf vtmost what we are in all thynges. Wyd I therein synne, because I submytted my selfe, that ye might be exalted: & because I preached to you yf Gospel of God free: I robbed other congregacyōs, & toke wages of them, to do you seruyce. And when I was present wth you, & had nede: I was chargeable to no man: for yf which was lackynge vnto me, the brethren which came fro Macedonia, supplied, and in all thynges I kept my selfe so that I shuld not be chargeable to any man, and so wyll I kepe my selfe.

If the truth of Christ be in me, this reioysynge shall not be taken from me in the regions of Achaia. Wherfore? Because I loue you not: God knoweth. Neuertheles, what I do, that wyll I do, to cut awaye occasyon from the which desyre occasyon: yf they might be founde lyke vnto vs, in that wherin they reioyce. For soch fals apostles are disceatfull workers, and falsly on them selues lyke vnto the apostles of Christ. And no maruayle: for Satan hym selfe is chaunged into the falsyō of an angell of light. Therfore it is no great thyng though his mynisters falsly on them selues, as though they were the ministers of ryghtewesnes: whose ende shalbe accordyng to theyr dedes.

I saye agayne, lett eny man thynke that I am folyshe: or els eue nowe take ye me as a foole, that I also maye boaste my selfe a lytell. That I speake, I speake not after the Lorde, but as it were folyschly, in this matter of boasting. Seynge that many reioyce after the fleshe, I wyll reioyce also. If ye suffre soles gladly, seynge ye your selues are wyle. For ye suffre yf a mā byynge you in to bondage, yf a man deuoure, yf a mā take yf a mā exalte hym selfe, yf a man synye you on the face. I speake as concerning rebuke, as though we had bene weake, & (in this behalfe.)

Howbeit, wherinsoeuer eny man dare be bolde (I speake folyschly) I dare be bolde also. They are Chyues, euen so am I. They are Israelites, eue so am I. They are yf seede of Abraham, euen so am I. They are yf mynisters of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am more. In labours more aboundate: In stryppes aboue measure: In prison more plentifullye:

In death ofte. Of the Jewes spue tymes receaued I euery tyme. Xi. stryppes saue one. Thyse was I beaten wth rodde. I was once stoned. I suffered thysle shypwracke. Nyght and daye haue I bene in the deepe see. In iorneyng often: I parcels of waters: In parcels of robbers: In leopardes of myne a wone nacyon: In leopardes among yf brethren: In parcels in yf cite: In parcels in wilderness: In parcels in the see: In parcels amonge false brethren: In labour & trauayle: In watchynges often: In colde and nakednes: Helpde the thynges which outwardly happen vnto me. I am combed daylye, and do care for all congregacyōs. Who is weake, and I am not weake: Who is offended, & I burne not: If I must nedes boaste, I wyll boaste of the thynges that concerne myne infirmities.

Chapter. xii.

Paul is taken vp into the thyrde heauen, and heareth wordes not to be spoken.

The God & father of our Lorde Jesus Christ, which is blessed for euer more knoweth that I lye not.

In the cytie of Damascos, the gouernour of yf people vnder king Aretas, layde watch in the cytie of the Damascens, and wold haue caught me: and at a windowe was I let downe in a basket thowowe the wall, and so escaped I his handes. Doutles, it is not expedient for me to boaste, I wyll come to vlyōs and reuelacions of the Lorde, I knowe a mā in Christ aboue fourtene yeres ago (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or whether he were out of the body, I cannot tell, God knoweth) howe that he was take vp into the thyrde heauen. And I knowe the same man (whether in the body or out of the body, I cannot tell, God knoweth) howe yf he was taken vp into Paradyse, and hearde secret wordes, which no man can vtter. Of this man wyll I boaste, but of my selfe wyll I not boaste, except it be of myne infirmities. For though I wolde boaste, I shall not be a foole: for I wolde saye the truerth. Neuerthelesse, I spare you: lest any man shoulde thinke of me, aboue that which he seeth me to be, or that he heareth of me.

And lest I shoulde be exalted out of measure thowowe yf excellēcy of the reuelacions: there was gyuen vnto me vnquyetnes thowowe the fleshe, euen the messenger of Satan to buffet me, because I shoulde not be exalted out of measure. For this thyng besought I the Lorde thysle, that it might departe from me. And he sayde vnto me: my grace is sufficient for the. For my strength is made perfect thowowe weaknes. Every gladly therfore wyll I reioyce of my weaknes, yf strength of Christ maye dwell in me. Therfore, haue I delectaciō in infirmities, in rebukes, in necessities.

in necessities, in persecutions, in anguishes for Christes sake. For when I am weak, then am I strong.

I am become a fool in boasting my selfe.
Ye haue compelled me: for I ought to haue bene commended of you. * For in not bynge was I ferioz vnto y chefe apostles, though I be nothing, yet y tokes of an apostle were wrought amonge you with all pacēce, and signes and wōders, and myghty dedes. For what is it, wherein ye were inferyōz vnto other congregacions, except it be herin, that I was not chargeable vnto you. For geue me thys wōnge. Beholde, nowe the thyrd tyme I am ready to come vnto you: and yet wyl I not be chargeable vnto you. For * I seke not poures, but you. For the chyldren ought not to laye vp for the fathers and mothers, but the fathers and mothers for the chyldren.

I wyl very gladly bestowe, and wyl be bestowed for poure soules, though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued agayn. But be it, that I was not chargeable vnto you: neuertheles, when I was crafty, I toke you with gyle. Wd I wyl you by any of them, whom I sent vnto you? I desyred Titus, & with hym I sent a brother. Wd Titus befraude you of any thyng? walked we not in one sprete? Walked we not in lyke steppes?

Agayne, thynke you y we excuse our selues vnto you: we spake in Christ in the spght of of God: but we do all thinges (dearly beloued) for poure edifyinge. For I feare, lest it come to passe, y yf I come, I shall not fynde you soch as I wolde: & y I shall be foude vnto you soch as ye wolde not. I feare, lest ther be amonge you * debates, enuynges, wrath, steples, bakbyttinges, whysperinges, swell-ynges, & sedicions: and that when I come agayne, God bynge me lowe amonge you, & I be constreyned to bewayle many of them which haue synned allready, & haue not repentēd of the * vncleannes: and fornicaciō and wantannes which they haue committed.

The xliij. Chapter.

The prompteth to come vnto them and exhorte them so to orde them selues that ye maye fynde them perfecte, and of one mynde.

We come I the thyrd tyme vnto you: * in the mouth of two or thre witnesses shal euery worde be stablyshed. I tolde you before, & tell you before: and as I sayd when I was present with you the seconde tyme, so wylte I nowe bynge absent, to the which in tyme past haue synned, & to all other: that yf I come agayne, I wyl not spare, seynge that ye seke experie of Christ * which speabeth in me, which amonge you is not weak but is myghty in you. For though he was crucified in weaknes, yet liueth he thowwe the power of God. And we (no doute) are weake in hym: but we shall lyue with hym: by the myght of God amonge you.

* Examen your selues, whether ye are in the fayth or not. Wone poure awne selues.
Knowe ye not your awne selues, howe that Jesus Christ is in you? excepte ye be castawayes, I trust ye shall knowe that we are not castawayes. I desyre before God that ye do none euill, not that we shulde seme cō-mendable: but that ye shuld do that which is honeste: & let vs be counted as castawayes.
We can do nothinge agaynst the trueth: but for y trueth. We are glad whē we ar weak, & and ye stronge. This also we wylte for, eue poure perfectnesse. Therefore wylte I these thinges bynge absent, lest whan I am present, I shulde vse sharpenesse, accordynge to to the power * which the Lorde hath geuen me to edifye, and not to destroe. I shall ye brethren, fare ye well, be perfecte, be of good conforte, be of one mynde, lyue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shalbe with you.
* Gete one another in an holy kyse. All the saynctes salute you. The grace of oure Lord Jesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the felyshyppe of the holy ghoist be with you all.
Amen.

The ende of the seconde epistle to the Corinthyans.

Sent from Philippos a cytie in Macedonia, by Titus and Lucas.

The epistle of saynct Paul the Apostle to the Galathians.

The fyrst Chapter.

Paul retueth them, because they were fallen awaye from the Gospell, & seth bys awne conuersyon, magnifyeth bys office and apostleshippe, and declareth hym selfe to be equal with the hie Apostles.

Paul an apostle, not of men, nether by man: but by Jesus Christ, and by God the father, which rayled him vp from deeth: and all the brethren which are with me.

Unto the congregacions of Galacia. * Grace be with you, and peace from God the father, & frō oure Lorde Jesus Christ, which gaue hym selfe for our syn-nes to deliuer vs from thys present euill worlde, accordynge to the wyl of God oure father, to whom be prayle for euer and euer.
Amen.

I maruaile, that ye are so soone turned (from Christ which called you by grace) vnto another to another Gospell which is nothinge elles, but that there be some which trouble you, & intende to peruerthe the Gospell of Christ.

Neuerthelesse, though we oure selues, or an angell from heauen, preache any other Gos-pell vnto you, then y which we haue preached vnto you, let him be acursed. As we said before, so saye I nowe agayne, yf eny man preache eny other Gospell vnto you, then y ye haue receaued, lett hym be acursed. Do I nowe perswade men, or God? Other do I seke to please men? * For yf I had hythereto studied to please me, I were not the seruāt of Christ.

I certifie you brethren, that the Gos-pell which was preached of me, was not after the maner of men. For I nether receaued it, ner learned it of man, but by the reuelācyon of Jesus Christ. For ye haue hearde of my conuersacion in tyme past, in the Jewes waye, howe that beyonde measure, * I persecuted the congregacyon of God, and spoy-led it, and preynded in the Jewes waye aboue many of my cōpanions in myne awne nacyon: bynge a very feruent mayntener of the tradicions of the elders.

But when it pleased God, which sepeated me from my mothers wombe, and * called me herunto by hys grace, for to declare hys sonne by me, that I shulde preache hym amonge the heathen: immediatly I came-ned not of the matter with * flesh & blode, nether returned to Jerusalem, to the which were apostles before me: but went my way-es into Arabia, and came agayne vnto Mamalco. Then after thre yere, I returned to Jerusalem to se Peter, and abode with hym fiftene dayes. Other of the apostles sawe I none, save James the Lordes brother. The thinges therfore which I wylte vnto you: beholde, before God I lye not.

After that I came into y coastes of Si-ria and Cilicia, and was vnkownen as tou-chinge my person vnto the congregacions of Jewry, which were i Christ. But thys they hearde onely, that he which persecuted vs in tyme past, nowe preacheth the fayth, which before he destroyed. And they glorified God in me. Amen.

The ij. Chapter.

The which standeth Peter in the face, and pro-ueth that the lawe and circumcisiō are not necessarie to saluacyon.

When fouretene yeres thereafter, I went vp agayne to Jerusalem * with Barnabas, and toke Titus with me. I wēt vp also by reuelacyon, and communed with them of the Gospell which I preache amonge the Gen-tyls (but specially) with them which were counted chysse, lest I shulde runne or had runne in vayne. Also Titus which was w me, though he were a greke, yet was not cō-pelled to be circumcised: and that because of incommers beyng false brethren, which came in preyely to spye out oure libertye which we haue in Christ Jesu, y they myght bynge ys in to bōdage. To whō we gaue no row-me, no not for the tyme (by waye of subieccyon) because that the trueth of the Gospell myght contynue with you.

Of them which seemed to be somewhat, B what they were in tyme passed it makethe no matter to me. * God loke th on the out-warde apperaunce of no man. Neuertheles they which seemed greake, added nothinge to me. But contrary wyse, when they sawe y the gospell ouer y vncircūciō was cōmit-ted vnto me, as y gospell ouer y circumcisiō was committed vnto Peter. For he that was myghty in Peter in the Apostleshippe ouer the circumcisiō, the same was myghty in me amonge the Gentyls. When they re-ceaued the grace that was geuen vnto me, then James, Cephas & John, which seemed to be pylers, gaue to me and Barnabas the ryght handes of that felowshyppe, that we shulde be Apostles amonge the heythen, and they in the circumcisiō: onely that we shuld remember the pooze. * Wherin also I was diligent to do the same.

But when Peter was come to Antioche I withstode him opely, because he was wōthy to be blamed. For per that certayne came from James, he dyde eate with the Gentyls.
But whē they were come, he withdrew and separated hym selfe from them, fearynge the which were of the circumcisiō. And the other Jewes dissembled as well as he: in somethe that Barnabas also was brought vnto there symulaciō. But when I sawe that they wēt not the right waye after the trueth of y Gos-pell, I sayde vnto Peter before them all: yf thou bynge a Jewe, lyuest after the maner of the Gentyls, and not as do y Jewes: why causest thou the Gentyls to lyue as do the Jewes? For we which are * Jewes by nature, and not synners of the Gentyls, knowe that a man is not iustified by the dedes of the lawe, but by the fayth of Jesus Christ: And we haue beleued on Jesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christ, and not by the dedes of the lawe: because by the dedes of the lawe no fleshe shalbe iustified.

If whyle we seke to be made ryghte wes by Christ, we oure selues are founde synners, is then Christ y minister of synne? God forbyd. For yf I buyde agayne the thynges which I destroyed, then make I my selfe a trespasser. For * I (thowwe y lawe) haue bene deed to the lawe, y I myght lyue vnto Christ. I am crucified w Christ. Neuertheles lik iii I lyue:

I lue: yet nowe not I, but Christ luech in me. The lye which I nowe lue in f flesh, I lue by f fayth of f sonne of God * which loured me, and gaue hym selfe for me. I despyse not the grace of God. For * pf ryghte- wises come of the lawe, then Christ is deed in vayne.

The .iiij. Chapter.

He rebuketh the vnderstandinge of the Galatians shewing the vnderstandinge of the lawe, and declareth neuertheless that it was not geuen for naughte.

O ye folyshe Galatians: who hath bewitched you, that ye shulde not beleue the trueth? To whom Jesus Christ was described before f eyes and amonge you crucified. This only wold I learne of you whether ye receaued the spirite by f dedes of the lawe or by f preaching of the fayth? Are ye soche foolis, that after ye haue begonne in the sprete, ye nowe ende in the fleshe? So many thynges ye haue suffered in vayne, yf it be also in vayne. Moreouer, he that minystrerth to you the sprete, ad worketh myracles amonge you, doeth heit thowowe the dedes of the lawe, or by preaching of the fayth? * Euen as Abraham beleued God, & it was ascribed to hym for ryghte wisesse. Ye knowe therfore, f they which are of fayth, f same are f chyldre of Abraham.

For the scripture seinge afore hande, that God wold iustifie f hethen thowowe fayth, the web before hande glad tydynges vnto Abraham sayinge: * In the shall all nacyos be blessed. So then, they which be of fayth, are blessed with faythfull Abraham. For as many as are of the dedes of the lawe, are subiecte to the curse. For it is wrytten: * cursed be euery one that contynuerth not in all thinges which are wrytten in the booke of the lawe to fulfill them. That no man is iustified by the lawe in the syght of God, it is euident. * For the iuste shall lue by fayth. The lawe is not of fayth: but the man that fulfilleth the thinges (contayned in the lawe) shall lue in them. Christ hath deliuered vs from the curse of the lawe, in as moche as he was made accursed for vs: for it is wrytten: * cursed is euery one, that hangeth on tree, that the blessinge of Abraham myght come on the Gentyls thowowe Jesus Christ, that we myght receaue the promes of the sprete thowowe fayth.

Brethren, I speake after f maner of mē. Though it be but a mans testamēt. Yet yf it be allowed, no mā despyseth it: or addeth eny thyng thereto. * To Abraham and hys seede were the promes made. He sayth not in the seedes, as many: but in thy seede, as of one, which is Christ. Thys I saye, that the lawe which beganne afterwarde, beyonge f soure hundred and thyrtye yeres, doeth not disanull the testamēt, that was confirmed afore of God vnto Christ ward, to make the promes of one effecte. * For yf the inheritance come of the lawe, it cometh not nowe of promesse. But God gaue it vnto Abraham by promes.

Wherfore then serueth the lawe? * It was added because of transgression (till the seed came, to whom the promes was made) and it was ordeyned * by angels in the hand of a mediator. A mediator is not a mediator of one, but God is one. * Is the lawe then agaynst the promes of God? God forbidd. For yf there had bene a lawe geuen which coulde haue geuen lyfe: then no doute ryghte wisesse shulde come by the lawe. But the scripture concluded all thinges vnder synne, that the promes by f fayth of Jesus Christ shulde be geuen vnto them that beleue. * But before that fayth came, we were kepte vnder the lawe, and were shut vp vnto the fayth which shulde afterwarde be declared.

Wherfore, the lawe was oure scolemaster vnto Christ, that we shulde be iustified by fayth. But after that fayth is come, we are no longer vnder the scolemaster. For ye are all chyldren of God, because ye beleue in Christ Jesu. For * all ye that are baptised haue put on Christ. There is no Jewe, neither Gentyll: there is neither bonde, ner fre: there is neither man, ner woman. For ye are all * one in Christ Jesu. If ye be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seede, and hepyes accordinge to the promes.

The .iiij. Chapter.

Paul sheweth that thowowe Christ we be deliuered from the lawe, and rebuketh the vnderstandinge of the Galatians.

Ad I saye, that f heyre (as longe as he is a chyld) differth not from a seruaunt, though he be Lord of all, but is vnder tutors and gouerners, vntill the tyme that the father hath appoynted.

Euen so we also, when we were chyldren, were in bondage vnder the ordynances of the worlde. But when the tyme was full come, God * sent hys sonne, made of a womā, and made bonde vnto the lawe, to redeme them which were bonde vnto the lawe: that we (thowowe election) might receaue the inheritance that belongeth vnto the naturall sonnes. Because ye are sonnes, * God hath sent the sprete of hys sonne into oure hertes, crying: Abba father. Wherfore nowe, thou art not a seruaunt: but a sonne. If thou be a sonne, thou arte also an heyre of God, thowowe Christ. * For

Notwithstandynge, when ye knewe not God, ye dyd seruite vnto them * which by nature

He labourerth to dialue them adware fro circumcysion, sheweth them the batayll betwixte the sprete and the fleshe, and the frutes of them both.

Sande fast therfore in the libertie wherwith Christ hath made vs fre, and wrape not poure selues agayne in the yoke of bondage.

Behold, I Paul saye vnto you, that * yf ye be circumcised, Christ shall profyte you nothyng at all. I testifie agayne to euery man which is circumcised, that he is bonde to kepe the whole lawe. Christ is become but in vayne vnto you. As many of you as are iustified by the lawe are fallen fro grace. We loke for, and hope in the sprete to be iustified thowowe fayth. * For in Jesu Christ, nether is circumcysion any thyng worth, nether yet vncircumcysion but fayth * which worketh by loue. Ye dyd rñe well: who was a lct vnto you, that ye shulde not beleue the trueth? * (content vnto no man.) Euen the counsell which came not of hym that calleth you. * A lytell leuen doth leue f whole lombe of dome.

I haue trust towarde you in f Lorde, that ye shal be none other wyse minded. But he that troubleth you, shall beare his indgement whatsoeuer he be. Brethren, yf I yet preach circumcysion, why do I then yet suffer persecucion? Then is the slander of the crosse ceased. I wolde to God, they were separated from you, which trouble you: Brethren, ye were called into libertie: only * let not poure libertie be an occasion vnto the fleshe: but by loue * (of the sprete) serue one another. For all the lawe is fulfilled in one worde, which is this: * thou shalt loue thyn neyghboure as thy selfe. If ye byte and deuoure one another: take hede, lest ye be lyk wyse consumed one of another. * For

I saye, walke in the sprete, and fulfill not the lust of the fleshe. For the fleshe lusteth contrary to the sprete, and * the sprete contrary to the fleshe. These are contrarie one to the other, so that ye cannot do whatsoeuer ye wolde. But and yf ye be led of the sprete, then are ye not vnder the lawe. The dedes of the fleshe are manyeste, which are these: aduoutery, fornicaciō, vncleannes, wātānes, woꝝhypping of ymages, witchcraft, hatred, variaunce, zeale, wꝛathe, strepe, sedycions, sectes, enuyinge, murder, dronkenness, glottonye, and soche lyke: of the which I tell you before as I haue told you in tyme past, that * they which comyt such thinges shall not be inheritours of the kyngdome of God. Contrariely, the frute of the sprete is, loue, ioye, peace, longe sufferinge, gētylnes, goodnes, faythfulness, mekenes, temperaunce. * Agaynst suche there is no lawe. They trulye that are Christes, haue crucified the fleshe with the affections and lustes.

If we lue in the sprete, let vs walke lyk iij in the nature are no Goddes. But nowe after that ye haue knowen God (per rather are knowen of God) how is it that ye fourne agayn vnto the weake and * beggarly ordynances, wherunto agayne ye desyre afreshe to be in bondage? Ye observe dayes, and monethes, and tymes, and yeres. I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you laboure in vayne.

Brethren, I beseech you, be ye as I am: for I am as ye are. Ye haue not hurt me at all. Ye knowe how thorowe infirmite of f flesh, I preached f Gospell vnto you at the fyrst. And my seyntacys which was in f flesh, ye despyled not, nether abhored: but receaued me as an angell of God: eue as Christ Iel. What is then poure felicitye? for I beare you record, yf it had bene possible ye wolde haue plucked out your awne eyes, and haue geue thē to me. Am I therfore become pour ene mye, because I tell you the trueth?

They are gelous ouer you amysse. Yee, they intende to exlude you, that ye shuld be feruent to them ward. It is good all wayes to be feruent in a good thinge, and not onely whan I am present with you.

I lytell chyldren, of whom I traunple in byrth agayne, vntill Christ be fasthyoned in you, I wolde I ware with you now, and coulde chaunge my voyce: for I stande in a doubte of you. Tell me: ye that desyre to be vnder the lawe, do ye not heare of the lawe? * For it is wrytten, that Abraham had two sonnes: the one by a bonde mayde, * y other by a fre womā. Yee, and he which was bozne of the bonde woman, was bozne after the fleshe: but he which was of the fre mā, was bozne by promesse. Which thynges are spoken by an allegorpe. For these are two testaments: the one from the mounte Syna, which gendeth vnto bondage, which is Agar. For mounte Syna is Agar in Arabia, and bordeth vpon the cytie, which is now called Ierusalem, and is in bondage with her chyldren.

But * Ierusalem, which is aboue, is fre: which is the mother of vsal. For it is wrytten. * Reioyce thou barren, that bearest no chyldren: breake forth and crye, thou f traunplest not. For the desolat hath many moo chyldren, then she which hath an husbāde. Brethren, we are after Isaac, the chyldren of promes. But as then he that was bozne after the fleshe, persecuted hym that was bozne after the sprete, euen so is it nowe. Reuerthelesse, what sayth the scripture: * put awaye the bonde womā and her sonne. For the sonne of the bonde woman shall not be heyre with the sonne of the fre woman. So then brethren, we are not chyldren of the bonde woman: but of the fre. * For the full perfecte age of Christ. ¶ That we hence forth shulde be nomore chylde, * wacrynge & caryed aboute with euerywynde of doctrine, by the wplynes of men, thowowe craftyness, wherby they laye a wayte for vs to deceaue vs. But let vs folowe the trueth in loue, and in all thynges growe in hym, * which is the heed, euē Christ, in whom y^e all the body be coupled and knet together thowowe out euery ioynt wherewith: one misistreteth to another (accordynge to the operation as euery parte hath his measure) he increaseth the body, vnto the edifyinge of it selfe thowowe loue.

¶ This I saye therefore, and testifyethowowe the Lord, that ye hence forth walke not, * as other Gentyls walke, in vanite of theyr minde, whyle they are blinded in their vnderstandynge, beyng farre from a godly lyfe, by the meane of the ignorancy that is in them, and because of the byndnes of their hertes: which beyng past repentance, haue geuen them selues ouer vnto wantannes, to worke all manner of vncleannes, euē with gredines. But ye haue not so learned Christ. If so be that ye haue hearde of him, and haue bene taught in him, as the trueth is in Iesu: (as concernynge the conuersacion in tyme past) to laye from you that olde man, which is corrupte, accordynge to the deceauable lustes. ¶ ¶ To be renewed also in the sprete of youre mynde, and * to put on that newe man, which after God is shapen in ryghtewesnes and true holyness.

Wherefore, * put awaye lyngge, & speake euery mā truth vnto his neyghboure, for as moche as we are members one of another. ¶ ¶ We angyre, and synne not: let not the sunne go doune vpon youre wrath, nether geue place vnto the backbyter. * Let hym y^e stole, scale nomore: but let him rather labour wth his handes y^e thyng which is good, that he maye y^e come vnto him that nedeth. ¶ Let no falsch communication procede out of youre mouth: but y^e which is good to edifye wall, as oft as nedeth: y^e it maye minister grace vnto the hearers. And greue not y^e the holy sprete of God * by whom ye are sealed vnto the daye of redempcion. Let all bitterness & fearnesse & wrath & raynyng & cursyd speakinge, be put awaye fro you, with all malicioulness. Be ye courteouse one to another, mercifull, forgyng one another, euē as God for Christes sake hath forgyuen you.

The. v. Chapter. ¶

¶ He exhorte them vnto loue, warneth them to beware of all vncleannes. He teacheth howe women shulde obeye theyr husbendes, and howe lounge men ought to increate theyr wyues.

¶ Be ye * therefore followers of God as chylde, and walke in loue euē as Christ loued vs, and gaue him selfe for vs an offeringe and a sacrifice a sacrifice of a swete sauour to God * As for fornicacyon and all vncleannes, or coueteousnes let it not be once named amonge you, as it be cometh sayntes: or fylthines or folyshe talkynge, or iesting, which are not colly: but rather geuyng of thanks. For thys ye knowe that * no whormöger, ether vncleane person, or coueteous person, (which is a worshyppe of ymages) hath eny inheritaunce in the kyngdome of Christ and of God.

¶ Let no man deceaue you with vayne wordes. For because of soche thynges cometh the wrath of God, vpon the chylde of disobedience. Be not ye therfore companyons of them. Ye were somtyme darcknes, but nowe are ye lyght in the Lord.

¶ Walke as chylde of lyght (for y^e frute of the sprete consisteth in all goodnes, and ryghtewesnes and trueth.) ¶ Searchynge what is acceptable vnto the Lord. And haue no fellowshipe with the vnfrutefull workes of darcknes: but rather rebuke them. For it is shame euē to name those thynges which are done of them in secrete: but all thynges, when they are brought forth by the lyght, are manifeste. For whatsoeuer is manifeste, that same is lyght. Wherefore he sayth: awake thou that slepest, and stonde vp fro deeth, and Christ shall geue the lyght.

¶ Take hede therefore howe ye walke circumspectly: not as vnwysse, but as wysse men: wynnynge occasyon, because the dayes are euyll. Wherefore, be ye not vnwysse, but vnderstande what the wyll of the Lord is, and be not broncke with wyne wherin is excess: but be fylled with the sprete, speakinge vnto youre selues * in psalmes and hymnes, and spiritual songes, synginge and making melody to the Lord in youre hertes, grynge thanks allwayes for all thynges, vnto God the father in the name of oure Lord Iesus Christ, submyttinge youre selues one to another in the feare of God. ¶

¶ Ye women, submit youre selues vnto youre awne husbendes, as vnto the Lord. For the husbende is the wyues heed, euē as Christ is * the heed of the congregacyon, and the same is he that ministrerth saluacion vnto the body. Therefore, as the congregacyon is in subiectyon to Christ, lykewyse let the wyues also be in subiectyon to theyr husbendes in all thynges. Ye husbendes, loue youre wyues, euē as Christ alse loued the congregacyon, and gaue hym selfe for it, to sanctifye it, and cleanse it in the fountayne of water thowowe the worde, to make it vnto him selfe a glorious congregacyon, without spot or wrynckle, or eny soche thyng: but y^e it shulde be holy, and without blame. So ought men to loue theyr wyues, as their awne bodies. He that loueth his wyfe, loueth hym selfe. For no man euer yet hated his awne fleshe:

but nor y^e heth and chertlyth it, euē as the Lord doth the congregacyon. For we are members of his body, of his fleshe, and of his bones. ¶ For thys cause shall a man leaue father and mother, & shall be ioyned vnto his wyfe, and of two shalbe made one fleshe. Thys is a greate secrete, but I speake of Christ and of the congregacyon. Reuerthelless, do ye so, that euery one loue his wyfe euē as hym selfe, and let the wyfe reuerence her husbende.

The. vi. Chapter.

¶ Howe chylde shulde be haue them selues towarde theyr parntes. Seruauntes towarde theyr masters, An exhortaciō to the spiritual battayle.

¶ Chylde, obey youre fathers and mothers in the Lord: for that is ryght & honoure thy father and mother, (the same is the first commaundement in the promes) that thou mayst prospere, and lyue longe on the erth. Ye fathers moue not youre chylde to wrath: but * byng the by thowowe the doctrine and informacyon of the Lord. Ye seruauntes, obeye them that are youre bodely masters, with feare & tremblynge, euē with the syngeles of youre herte, as vnto Christ: not doynge seruice vnto the eye, as they y^e go about to please men: but as the seruantes of Christ, doynge the wyll of God from the herte with good wyll, seruyng the Lord, and not men. Knowynge thys, that whatsoeuer good thynge eny man doeth, the same shall he receaue agayne of God, whether he be bonde or fre. And ye masters, do euē the same thynges vnto them, puttinge awaye threatenynge: knowynge, that youre master also is in heauen, * nether is ther eny respecte of person with hym.

¶ Finally my brethren, be stronge thowowe the Lord and thowowe the power of his myght. Put on all the armour of God, that ye maye stande agaynst the assautes of y^e deuyl. For we wrestle not agaynst bloude and fleshe: but agaynst rule, agaynst power, agaynst worldly rulers, euē gouerners of the darcknes of thys worlde, agaynst spiritual craftyness in heauenly thynges.

Wherefore take vnto you y^e whole armour of God, that ye maye be able to respyte in the euyll daye, and stande perfecte in all thynges. Stande therefore, * and youre loynes gyrd with the trueth, haung on the best plate of ryghtewesnes, & haung shoes on youre fete, that ye maye be prepared for the Gospell of peace. Aboue all, take to you the hylde of fayth, wherewith ye maye quenche all y^e fyrie dartes of the wycked. And take the helmet of saluacion, and the swerde of the sprete, which is the worde of God. ¶ And praye all wayes with all maner of prayer and supplicacyon plication in the spere: and watch ther vnto with all instance and supplicacyon for all 1 Colo. iii. a. sayntes and for me, + that vnteruaunce maye be geuen vntome þ I maye open my mouth frely, to vter þ secretes of my Gospel (wher of I am messenger in bondes) that therein I maye speake frely, as I ought to speake.

D But that ye maye also knowe what condicyon I am in, and what I do, Tychicus the deare brother and faythfull mynister in the Lorde, shall shewe you of all thynges, whom I haue sent vnto you for þ same purpose, that ye myght knowe what case we stande in, and that he myght comforte youre hertes. Peace be vnto the brethren and loue with sayth, from God the father and from the Lorde Iesus Christ. Grace be with all them which loue oure Lorde Iesus Christ sincerely. Amen.

The epistle of saynt

Paul the Apostle vnto the Philippians.

¶ The first Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth them to increase in loue, in knowledge, and experience of Godly thynges.

Aul and Tymothe the ser-uantes of Iesu Christ. To all the sayntes in Christ Iesu, which are at Philip-pos with the Bishops and Deacons.

Grace be vnto you and peace from God oure father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.

* Roma. i. b.
* Col. i. a. ¶ I thanke my God with all remembrance of you * all wayes in all my prayers for you, and praye with gladnes: because ye are come into þ fellowshyppe of the Gospel from the first daye vnto nowe * and am suerly certeyned of thys, that he, which hath begonne a good worke in you, shall perfourme it vntyll the daye of Iesus Christ, as it becommeth me, so iudge I of you all, because I haue you in my herte: for asmoche as ye all are companions of grace with me, euen in my bondes, and in the defendynge and stablishynge of the Gospel.

* Ephe. i. b. ¶ For God is my recorde, howe greatly I longe after you all, from the very herte rote in Iesus Christ. * And thys I praye, that youre loue maye increase yet more and more in knowledge, and in all vnderstandynge, that ye maye accepte the thynges that are most excellent, that ye maye be pure, and so-che, as offende no mā vntyll þ daye of Christ: beyng fylled with the frute of ryghtewes-nes, which cometh by Iesus Christ vnto the glory and prayse of God. ¶

I wolde ye shulde vnderstonde (brethren) that the thynges which happened vnto me, chaunced vnto the grete furtheraunce of the Gospel: So that my bandes in Christ, are manifeste thowowe out all the iudgemēt hall and in all other places: In somoche that many of the brethren in the Lorde beyng enco-raged thowowe my bandes, dare more boldly speake the worde without feare. Some preache Christ of enue and strepe, and some of good wyll, The one parte preache Christ of strepe and not sincerely, supposynge to adde more aduersitye to my bandes. Agayne the other parte preache of loue, because they knowe, that I am set to defende the Gospel.

What then? So that Christ be preached anye maner of waye, whether it be by occasyon, or of true meaninge, I am glad therof, ye and wyll be glad. If I knowe, that this shall chaunce to my saluacyon, * thowowe youre prayer and ministringe of the spere of Iesu Christ accordynge to my expectaciō, and hope, that in nothinge I shalbe ashamed: but that wyth all boldnesse, (as all wayes euen so nowe also) Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be thowowe lyfe, or thowowe deeth. For Christ is to me lyfe, and deeth is to me auantage.

If it chaunce me to lyue in the flesche, that thinge is to me frutefull for the worke, and what I shall chose I wote not. For I am cōstrayned of these two thynges. * I desyre to be loosed, & to be w Christ which is moche & far better. Neuerthelesse, to abyde in þ flesche is more needfull for you, And thys am I sure of, that I shall abyde, and cōstinue with you all, for youre furtheraunce and ioye of youre sayth, that youre reioysynge maye be þ more abundant thowowe Iesus Christ in me, by my commynge to you agayne.

D Onely let youre conuersacyon be, * as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ: that whether I come & se you, or els be absent, I maye yet heare of youre condicyon, that ye conty-nue in one spere, and in one soule, labourynge as we do, to mayntayne the sayth of the Gospel, and in nothinge fearpnge youre ad-uersaries, which is to them a cause of perdicyon, but to you of saluacyon, & that of God: for vnto you it is geuen for Christ, that not onely ye shulde beleue on hym: but also that ye shulde suffre for hys sake, haupnge euen soche a fyght, as ye sawe in me, and nowe heare of me.

¶ The ii. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth them to bypne and brotherly loue, and to beware of strepe and bayne glory. And for a sure ensample, he layeth Christ before them.

¶ Ifther

A If ther be therfore eny comforte cyon in Christ, yfther be eny cō-forte of loue, yfther by eny feli-cyppe of the spere, yfther be eny compassion and mercy: full fyll ye my ioye, that ye be lyke mynded, hauinge one loue, beyng of one accord, and of one mynde, that nothyng be done thowowe strepe or of bayne glory, but in mekenes of mynde, let euery man esteime another better then hym selfe. * Loke not ye euery man on hys awne thynges, but euery mā on the thin-ges that are other mens. ¶ Let the same mynde be in you, that was also in Christ Jesu: which whan he was in the shape of God, thought it no robbery to be equall with God Neuerthelesse he made hym selfe of no reputacion, takynge on hym the shape of a seruante, and * became lyke vnto men, and was founde in his apparell as a man. He hū-bled hym selfe, and became obedient vnto the deeth, euen the deeth of the crosse. Wherefore, God also hath exalted him on hye, and geuen hym a name which is aboue all names: that in * the name of Iesus * euery knee shulde bowe, both of thynges in heauen and thyn-ges in erth and thynges vnder the erth, and that all tonges shulde confesse, that Iesus Christ is the * Lorde, vnto þ prayse of God the father: ¶

Wherefore (my dearly beloued) as ye haue alwayes obeyed, not when I was present onely, but nowe moche more in myne absence, euen so worke out youre awne saluacion with feare and tremblynge. * For it is God, which worketh in you, both the wyll and also the dede, euen of good wyll.

* Do all thynges with out murmurynge, & dysputynge, that * ye maye be soche a no man came complayne on: and vnfayned sou-nes of God without rebuke, in the myddes of a croked and pruerse nacyon: amonge whō se that ye thynne as lyghtes in the worlde, holdyng faste the worde of lyfe, that I maye

C reioyce in the daye of Christ, howe that I haue not runne in vayne, nether haue laboured in vayne.

¶ And though I be offered vp vpon the offeringe & sacrifice of youre sayth: I reioyce and reioyce with you all. For the same cause also do ye reioyce, and reioyce with me.

I trust in the Lorde Iesus, for to * sende Timothy shortly vnto you, * that I also maye be of good comforte, when I knowe what case ye stande in. For I haue no man that is so lyke mynded to me, which with so pure affeccyon wyll care for youre matters.
 For all other seke theyr awne, and not the thynges which are Iesus Christes. ye knowe the poffe of hym, howe that as a sonne with the father, so hath he with me bestowed hys seruice in the Gospel. hym therfore I hope to sende, asone as I knowe howe it wyll go with me. I trust in the Lorde, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

D But I supposed it necessary to sende brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companiō in labour and felowe souldier, youre Apo-stell, which also ministrerth vnto me at nede.
 For he longed after you all, and was full of heuynes, because that ye had hearde saye, that he had bene sycke. And no doute he was sicke, in somoch that he was nye vnto deeth.
 But God had mercy on him: and not on him onely, but on me also, lest I shulde haue so-rowe vpon sorowe. I sent hym therfore the more diligently: that when ye se hym, ye maye reioyce agayne, and that I maye be the lesse sorowfull. Receaue him therfore in the Lorde with all gladnes, and * make moche of soche: because that for the worke of Christ he wēt so farre, that he was nye vnto deeth, and regarded not hys lyfe: to fullfyll that, which was lackynge on youre parte towarde me.

¶ The iiij. Chapter.

¶ He warneth them to beware of false teachers, whom he calleth dogges and enemies of Christ, and reproveth maner aboue ryghteousnes.

Moreouer, (brethren) reioyce ye in the Lorde. ¶ It greueth me not to wyte one thyng often to you.
 For to you it is a sure thyng. Be ware of dogges, beware of cuyll workers.
 Beware of dissension. * For we are circumcision, which scrue God * in the spere, and reioyce in Christ Iesu, and haue no confy-dence in the flesche: though I myght also re-ioyce in the flesche. If eny other mā thynketh that he hath wherof he might trust in the fleshe: I haue more: beyng circuncysed the eyght daye, of the kynred of Israel, of the trybe of Benjamin * an Ebzue borne of the Ebzues: as concernynge the lawe, a Pha-risaye: as concernynge feruentnes, I percutt the congregacyon, as touchynge the ry-ghtewines which is in the lawe, I was vn-rebukable.

* But the thynges that were vantage vnto me, those I counted losse for Christes sake. ye I thynke all thynges but losse for the excellencye of the knowledge of Christ Iesu my Lorde. For whom I haue counted all thynges losse, and do iudge the but vyle, that I maye wyne Christ, and be founde in him not hauynge myne awne ryghtewines of the lawe: but that which is thowowe the sayth of Christ: euen the ryghtewines which cometh of God thowowe sayth: that I maye knowe hym and the vertue of hys resurrecyon, and the fellowshyppe of hys passyons, whyle I am conformable vnto hys (deeth) yf by eny meanes I myght attayne vnto the resurreccyon of the dede.

¶ Not that

The Epistle

E Not that I haue attayned vnto it all ready, or that I am all ready perfecte: but I followe, yf that I maye com- prehende that, wherein I am comprehended of Chryst Iesu. Wherein I counte not my selfe that I haue gotten it as yet, but this one thyng I saye: I for get those thynges which are behinde, & ende- nore my selfe vnto those thynges which are before, and (acorde to the marke apoynted) I prece to the rewarde of the hye cal- lunge of God thowhe Chryst Iesu. Let vs therefore as many as be perfect, be thus wyle mynded, and yf ye be other wyle mynded, God shall open the same also vnto you. Ne- uerthelesse vnto that which we haue attay- ned vnto, lett vs procede by one rule, that we maye be of one accorde.

Brethren, be folowers together of me, and loke on them which walke euen so, as ye haue vs for an ensample. For many walke (of whom I haue tolde you often and nowe tell you wepyng) that they are y ene- mies of y crosse of Chryst, whose ende is dan- nation, whose God is theyr belly and glo- ry to theyr shame, which are worldely myn- ded. But oure conuerfacyon is in heauen, fro whence we loke for the sauoure, euen y Loz- de Iesus Chryst, which shall chaunge oure vyle bodie, that he maye make it lyke vnto his glorious body, acorde to the wor- kyng, whereby he is able also to subdue all thynges vnto him selfe.

The.iii. Chapter.

De salutem certamine of them, exhorteth them to be of honeste conuerfacyon, and thanketh them be- cause of the prouision, that they made for him being in prison.

Before my brethren (dearly beloued and longed for) my loye and crowne, so continue in the Lozde ye beloued. I praye Euodias, and beseeche Syntiches, y they be of one accorde in the Lozde. See and I beseeche the faythfull pockefelowe, helpe y women which laboured with me in the Gos- pell, and with Clement also, and with other my labourer felowes, whose names are in y boke of lyfe. * Reioyce in y Lozde alwaye and agayne I saye reioyce. Let your softe- nes be knowne vnto all men: The Lozde is euen at hande. Be carefull for nothyng: but in all prayer and supplicacyon let your peti- cyons be manifeste vnto God with geuyng of thakes. And the peace of God (which pas- seth all vnderstandyng) kepe your hertes and myndes thowhe Chryst Iesu.

Furthermore, brethren, whatsoever thin- ges are true, whatsoever thynges are hone- ste, whatsoever thynges are iust, whatsoever thynges are pure, whatsoever thynges are conuenient, whatsoever thynges are of honeste reporte: yf ther be eny vertue, yf ther be eny praple, or (of temperance) those same haue ye in your mynde, which ye haue bothe learned & receaued, hearde also and sene in me those thynges do, and the God of peace shall be with you. I reioyce in the Lozde greatly, y nowe at the last your care is reuyned agayne for me. in that wherein ye were also carefull, but ye lacked oportunitie. I speake not because of necessite. For I haue learned in whatsoever estate I am, y ther with to be content. I knowe howe to be lowe and I knowe howe to excede. Euery where and in all thynges I am instructed, both to be full and to be hongrye, both to haue plenty and to suffere nede. I can do all thynges thowhe Chryst which streng- theneth me. Not withstandinge ye haue well done, y ye bare parte w me in my tribulaci- on.

Ye of Philippos knowe also that in the begynnyng of the Gospell, when I depar- ted from Macedonia, no congregacyon bare parte with me, as concernyng geuyng & receauyng, but ye onely. For when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once and after ward agayne vnto my necessite: not y I desire gyf- tes: but I desyre a boundant frute on your parte. Neuertheles I receaued all, and haue plenty. I was euen fylled after that I recea- ued of Epaphroditus y thynges, which were sent from you, an odoure of a swete smell: a sacrifice accepted and pleasaunt to God. By God shall supplie all your nede thro- row his glorious riches by Iesu Chryst. Vnto God & oure father be prayse for euermore: Amen. Salute all the sayntes in Chryst Ie- su. The brethren which are with me, greete you. All the sayntes salute you, most of all they which are of the emperours household. The grace of oure Lozde Iesu Chryst be with you all. Amen.

Paul the Apostle to the Colossians.

The fyrst Chapter.

The greuth thanks vnto God for theyr fayth, loye and hope: prayeth for theyr increas, and sheweth howe we are the kyngdome of God, explained by Chryst, which is the hee of the con- gregacyon.

Paul an Apostle of Iesu Chryst I by the wyl of God, and brother Timothyus. To the sayntes which are at Colossa, and brethren that beleue in Chryst. * Grace be vnto you

To the Colossians.

To. lxxx.

you and peace from God oure father, & from the Lozde Iesu Chryst.

* We geue thanks to God the father of oure Lozde Iesu Chryst * alwayes for you in oure prayres. For we haue hearde of your fayth in Chryst Iesu, and of the loye which ye beare to all sayntes, for y hopes sake which is layd vp in store for you in heauen, of which hope, ye herde before by the true worde of the Gospell, which is come vnto you: euen as it, is frutefull (and groweth) as it is also amoge you, from the daye in the which ye hearde of it, and had experie in the grace of God thro- row the trouth, as ye learned of * Epaphra- oure deare felowe seruaunt, which is for you a faythfull minister of Chryst, which also declared vnto vs your loye which ye haue in the sprete.

* For this cause we also, sence y daye we herde of it, haue not ceasyd to praye for you, and to desyre, that ye myght be fulfyl- led with the knowledge of his wyl, in all wysdome and spretuall vnderstandyng, y ye myght walke worthy of the Lozde that in all thynges ye maye please: beynge frute- full in all good workes, and encreasyng in the knowledge of God, strengthened with all myght, thowhe his glorious power, vnto all patience and longe sufferynge with ioy- fulnes. I geuyng thanks vnto the father, which hath made vs mete to be partakers of the inheritaunce of sayntes in lyght, which hath deliuered vs from the power of darknes, and hath translated vs into the kyngdome of his dere sone * by whom we haue redemption thowhe his bloude euen y forgiveness of synnes: which is y image of y inuisyble God, fyrst begotten of all creatu- res. * For by him were all thynges created, that are in heuen, and that are in erth: visy- ble and inuisyble, whether they be maiste or lordeshyppes, ether rule or power. All thynges were creatyd by hym and for hym, & he is before all thynges, and by him all thynges haue theyr beyng.

And * he is the hee of the body, euen of the congregacyon: he is the begynnyng and * fyrst begotten of the deede, that in all thynges he myght haue the preeminence. For it pleased the father, that in him shulde all ful- nes dwell, and by him to * reconyle all thin- ge vnto him selfe, and to set at peace by hym thowhe y bloude of his crosse, both thynges in heauen and thynges in erth.

And you * which were somtyme satre of and enemyes, because your myndes were set in euyl workes hath he nowe yet recon- cyled in y body of his fleshe thowhe deeth, to make you holy, and vnblameable, & with- out fault in his awne syght, yf ye contynue grounded and stablyshed in the fayth, and be not moued awaye from the hope of the Gospell, wherof ye haue herde, howe that it is preached amoge all creatures which are vnder heauen, wherof I Paul am made a mynyster.

Nowe ioye I * in my sufferinges & for you and fulfyll that which is behynde of the pas- syons of Chryst in my fleshe, for his bodies sake, which is the congregacyon: wherof I am made a mynyster, acorde to the or- dinaunce of God, which ordinaunce was ge- uen me vnto you warde to fulfyll the worde of God, that * mistery which hath bene hyd sence the worlde beganne, and sence the be- gynnynge of generacions: * but now is opened to his sayntes, to whom God wolde make knowne what the glorious ryches of this mystery is amonge the Gentyls, which ryches is Chryst in you, the hope of glori- ous, whom we preache, warnyng all men, and teachyng all men in all wysdome, to make all men perfecte in Chryst Iesu. Wherin I at- so laboure and stryue, euen as farforth as his strength worketh in me myghtely.

The.ii. Chapter.

What greute care Paul toke for all congrega- cyons. He exhorteth them to be steadfast in Chryst, to beware of false teachers and worldly wisdom, and deserveth the false wyssdomes.

If I wolde that ye knewe howe greute care that I haue for you and for them that are at Laodicia, and for as many as haue not sene my parson in the flesch, that they her- tes myght be comforted whan they are knet together in loye, and in all ryches of full vnderstandyng, for to knowe the mystery of God the father, and of Chryst, in whom are hyd all the treasures of wysdome and know- ledge. * Chys I saye, lest eny man shulde be- gyle you w entysyng wordes. For though I be absent in the fleshe, yet am I with you in the sprete, toyinge and beholdyng your ouer, and pourer sted fast fayth in Chryst. As ye haue therfore receaued Chryst Iesu y Loz- de euen so walke ye in hym, so that ye be ro- cyd and buylte in hym, and stablyshed thro- row fayth, as ye haue learned: and therein be plenteous with geuyng thanks.

* Beware, lest eny man spoyle you thowhe philosophy: and disceatfull vanitie, after the tradicyn of men, and after the or- dinaunces of the worlde, & not after Chryst. For in hym dwelleth all y fulnes of the God hee of all rule and power, by whom also ye are * circumcised with circumcysyn which is done with out handes, for a smoc- as ye haue put of the synfull body of y fleshe: thowhe the circumcysyn that is in Chryst, that * ye are buried with hym thowhe bap- tisme, in whom ye are also rysen agayne thow- we sayth, that is wrought by the operacyon of God which praysed him from deeth.

* And ye whiche were deed thowowe synne and thowowe the vncircumcysed of youre fleshe, hath he quickened with him, and hath forgiven vs all oure trespases. And hath put out of vs al that was agaynst vs, contayned in the lawe written: and that hath he taken out of the waye, and hath fastened it to his crosse, and hath spoiled rule and power, and hath made a shewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in his awne person.

Let no man therfore trouble poure conscience aboute meate and drynke or for a peece of an holy daye, or of the newe moone, or of Sabbath dayes, which are shadowes of thinges to come: but the body is in Christ. Let no man make you shote at a wodge marche, by the humblenes and holynes of angels, in the thynges which he neuer sawe, beyng causelesse puffed vp with his fleschly mynde, & holdeth not the heed, wherof all the body by ioyntes and couples receaueth nourishment & is knet together, and encreaseth with the increasynge that cometh of God.

Wherfore, yf ye be deed with Christ from the ordinaunces of this worlde, why as though ye yet lyued in the worlde, are ye led with traditions? Touch not, tast not, handell not: which all perishe thowowe very abuse: after the commaundmentes and doctrynes of men: which thynges out wardly haue the similitude of wysdome by supersticion and humblenes of mynde, and by hurtynge of the body, and in this they do the fleshe no good wyppye vnto the neede therof.

The iii. Chapter.

He putteth them in remembrance of the spiritual resurrection, to take awaye all manner of corrupte language, to be fructuall in all godlynesse & vertue, & sheweth all begynners duty.

If ye be then rysen agayne with Christ, seke those thynges which are aboue, where Christ sitteth on the ryght hande of God. Set poure affection on heauenly thynges, and not on erthly thynges. For ye are deed, and poure lyfe is hid with Christ in God. When soeuer Christ (which is oure lyfe) shall shewe hym selfe, then shall ye also appeare with hym in glory.

Mortifye therfore poure erthly members: fornicacion, vncleannes, vniatural lust, euill concupiscence, and couetousnes, which is worshyppe of ydoles: for which thynges sake the wrath of God beth to come on the disobedyent chyldren amonge whom ye walked somtyme, when ye lyued in them.

But nowe put ye also awaye from you all such thinges: wrath, fearfulness, maliciousnes, cursed speakynge, fylthy communicacyon out of your mouth. Be not one to another, seing that ye haue put of the olde man with his workes, and haue put on the newe man which is renued into the knowledge & ymagynacion of him that made hym, where is nether Gentyle nor Jewe, circumcysion nor vncircumcysion, Barbarous or Sythian, bonde or fre: but Christ is all in all thynges.

Therefore as electe of God, holy & beloued, put on tender mercye, kyndnes, humblenes of mynde, mekenes, longe suffrynge, forbearynge one another, & forgyng one another: yf any man haue a quarrell agaynst another: as Christ forgave you, eue so do ye. Above all these thynges put on loue which is the bonde of perfectnes. And the peace of God rule in poure hertes: to the which peace ye are called in one body. And se that ye be thankfull. Let the worde of Christ dwell in you plenteously with all wysdome. Teache and exhorthe poure awne selues, in psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songes synngynge with grace in poure hertes to the Lord. And whatsoeuer ye do (in worde or dede) do all in the name of the Lord Iesu, geuyng thanks to God the father by hym.

Ye wyues, submitte poure selues vnto poure awne husbundes, as it is comly in the Lord: Ye husbundes, loue poure wyues as be not better vnto them, as the chylde, obey poure fathers and mothers in all thynges, for that is well pleasynge vnto the Lord. Ye fathers, prouoke not poure chyldren, as to anger: lest they be of a desperate mynde. Ye seruantes be obedient vnto them that are poure bodily masters in all thynges: not with eye service as men please, but in singleness of herte, fearynge God. And whatsoeuer ye do, do it hertely, as though ye dyd it to the Lord, and not vnto men: knowynge, yf of the Lord ye shall receaue the rewarde of inheritaunce, for ye serue the Lord Christ. But he yf doth synne, shall receaue for his synne. Neither is ther any respect of persones (with God.)

The iii. Chapter.

He exhorteth them to be seruent in prayer, to walke wysely vnto them that are not yet come to the true knowledge of Christ, and salueth them.

Afters, do vnto poure seruantes that which is iust and equall knowynge, that ye also haue a master in heauen.

Continue in prayer, & watch in the same with thanks geuyng, prayenge also for vs: that God maye open vnto vs the doore of vnteruaunce, that we maye speake the mystery of Christ (wherfore I am also in bondes) that I maye utter it, as it becometh me to speake. Walke wysely toward the that are without, and lose no oportunitie. Let poure speache be alwayes well seasoned & powdered with salt, that ye maye knowe, howe ye ought to answer euery man. Of all my

Of all my busyness that ye be certified by Tychicus, the beloued brother and faythful mynister and selowe seruaunt in the Lord, who I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that he myght knowe what ye do, & that he myght comfort poure hertes, wyth one Onesimus a faythfull and beloued brother, which is one of you. They shall shewe you of all thynges, which are doynge here.

Aristarchus my person selowe saluteth you, and Marcus Barnabas systers some: touchynge whom, ye receaued commaundementes. If he come vnto you, receaue hym: and Iesus which is called Justus, whych are of the circumcysion. These only are my workeseloues vnto the kyngdome of God, which haue bene vnto my consolacyon. Epaphras the seruaunt of Christ, (which is one of you) saluteth you, and all wayes labourerth frequently for you in prayers, that ye maye stand perfect and full, in all the wyll of God. For I beare hym recorde, that he hath a seruent mynde for you and them that are of Laodicia and them that are of Hierapolis. Deare Lucas the phisycon greeteth you, and Demas. Salute the brethren whych are of Laodicia, and salute Nymphas, and the congregacyon, whych is in his house. And whiche the Epistle is read of you, make that it be read also in the congregacyon of the Laodicians: and that ye lykewys read the Epistle of Laodicia. And saye to Archippus: take hede to the offyce that thou hast receaued in the Lord, that thou fulfill it. The salutation by the hande of me Paul Remembre my bondes, the grace of oure Lord Iesu Christ be wyth you. Amen.

The fyrst Epistle of Saynet Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians.

The fyrst Chapter.

He thanketh God for them, that they are so stedfast in faith and good workes, and receaue the Gospel wyth such earnestnes.

Paul and Syluanus & Timotheus vnto the congregacyon of the Thessalonians, in God the father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ.

Grace be vnto you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

We geue god thanks alwayes for you all: makynge mencyn of you in our prayers without ceasynge, & call you to remembrance because of the worke of poure faith, and labour in loue, and because ye haue contynued in hope of oure Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God our father. We knowe brethren (beloued of God) how that ye are electe. For oure Gospel came not vnto you by worde onely, but also by power, and by the holy goost, and by moch certayntye, as ye knowe, after what maner we be haue oure selues amonge you, for your sake. And ye became folowers of vs and of the Lord, receauynge the worde with moch affliction, with ioye of the holy goost: so that ye were an ensample to all that beleue in Macedonia and Achaia. For from you sounded out the worde of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but poure faith also which ye haue vnto God, spread her selfe abroad in all quarters, so that it needeth not vs to speake any thyng at all. For they the selues shewe of you, what maner of entring in we had vnto you and how ye tourned to God from ymagines, for to serue the liuynge and true God, and for to loke for his sonne from heauen, whom he rased from death: Ieuen Iesus, whych deliuereth vs from the wrath to come.

The ii. Chapter.

He putteth them in mynde of the godly conuersacyon that he led amonge them when he preached the Gospel vnto them: thanketh God that they receaue his worde so fructuall, and excuseth his absence.

O ye poure selues, knowe of oure entraunce in vnto you, how that it was not in vayne: but euen after that we had suffered befoze, and were shamefully entreated at Phillippos (as ye knowe) then were we bolde in oure God, to speake vnto you the Gospel of God, in moch strynge. For oure exhortacyon was not to hyngne you to erreour, nor yet to vncleannes, nether was it wyth gyle: but as we were allowed of God, that the Gospel shoulde be commytted vnto vs: euen so we speake, not as they that please me, but God, whych tryeth oure hertes.

Nether led we oure conuersacyon at any tyme with flatterynge wordes, as ye knowe: nether by occasyon of couetousnes. God is recorde: nether sought we prayse of men nether of you, nor yet of any other, when we myght haue bene iuctorite, as Apostles of Christ, but we were tender amonge you, euen as a nurse cherissheth her chyldren, so were we affectioned toward you: our good wyll was to haue deale vnto you, not the Gospel of God onely: but also oure awne soules, because ye were deare vnto vs.

The fyrst Epistle

¶ Remember brethren oure labour, and trouble. ¶ For we laboured daye & nyght because we wolde not be chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospell of God. ¶ We are witnesses, and so is God how holily & iustly & vnblymeably we behaued oure selues amonge you that belened, as ye knowe, how that we bare soch affliction vnto euery one of you, as a father doth vnto chyldren, exhortyng, consoftryng, and beseechyng you, that ye wolde walke worthy of God, whych hath called you vnto his kyngdome and glorie.

¶ For this cause thake we God also without ceasynge, because þ when ye receaued of vs þ worde, wherwith ye learned to knowe God, ye receaued it not as the worde of man: but euen as it was in dede, the worde of God, whych worketh also in you that belene.

¶ For ye brethren became followers of the congregacions of God whych in Jewry are in Christ Iesu: for ye haue suffered lyke thynges of youre kynsmen, as we oure selues haue suffered of þ Jewes. Whych as they kylled the Lorde Iesus, and theyz awne prophetes, euen so haue they persecuted vs: and God they please not, and are contrary to al men, & hynder vs, that we shuld not speake vnto the Gentylis, that they myght be saued, to fulfill their spynes alwaye. ¶ For þ wrath of God is come on them, euen to the vermost.

¶ For as moch brethren as we are kept fro you for a season, as concernynge the bodyly presence (but not in the herte) we enforced þ more to se you personally with great desyre. And therfore we wold haue come vnto you, I Paul once and agayne: but Satana withstode vs: for what is oure hope of hope or crowne of reioysing? ¶ are not ye it in the presence of our Lorde Iesus Christ at his comynge: yea, ye are oure glorie and ioye.

The.iii. Chapter.

¶ He sheweth how greatly he was reioysed, whē Epimothē tolde him of theiſe faith & loue.

¶ Therefore, ſence we coude no lēger forbear, we thought it good to remayne at Athens alone, and ſent Timothe oure brother & mynister of God, and the helper forth of oure labour in the Gospell of Christ, to ſtabliſhe you: and to conſorte you concernynge our faith * that no man ſhulde be moued i theſe afflictions, for þ ye pour ſelues knowe, that we are euen apoynted there vnto.

¶ For when we were wyth you, we tolde you beſore, that we ſhulde ſuffre tribulacion, euen as it came to paſſe, and as ye knowe. ¶ For this cauſe when I coude no lenger forbear, I ſent that I myght haue knowledge of poure faith, leſt by ſome meanes þ tempter had tempted you, and leſt oure labour had bene beſtowed in vayne.

¶ But now lately, when Timothe came fro you vnto vs, & declared to vs your faith & pour loue, & how þ ye haue good remembrance of vs allwayes, deſpyrnyng to ſe vs as we alſo deſyre to ſe you. ¶ Therfore brethren we receaued coſolacyō by you, in all our aduerſite & neceſſite, through pour faith. ¶ For now are we alſue, yf þe ſtāde ſtedfaſt in the Lorde. ¶ For what thakcs can we receiue to God agayne for you, ouer al þ ioye, & we ioye for pour ſaltes beſore our God: prayyng nyght and daye exceedingly, þ we might ſe you preſently, and myght fulfill the thynges whych are lackynge vnto poure faith.

¶ God him ſelfe oure father, and oure Lorde Ieſus Chriſt ſhall gyde oure iorney vnto you: the Lorde alſo ſhall increaſe you & make you flowe ouer in loue one toward another, and toward all men, euen as we do toward you, that he maye make poure hertes ſtable & vnblymeable, in holynes beſore God oure father, at the comynge of oure Lorde Ieſus Chriſt with all ſayctes.

The.iiii. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth them to ſtedfaſtneſſe, to kepe them ſelues from ſpūne & vncleynly conuerſacion to ſoure another: rebuketh ydeſſneſſe, & ſpeaketh of the reſurreccion.

¶ Furthermore, we beſeeche you brethren, and exhorſte you by þ Lorde Ieſus, þ ye increaſe more & more euen as ye haue receaued of vs, how ye ought to walke and to pleaſe God. ¶ For ye knowe, what commaundementes we gaue you by oure Lorde Ieſus Chriſt. ¶ For this is the wyll of God * euen poure holynes, & þe ſhuld abyſtayne from fornicacyō, & that eue-ry one of you ſhuld knowe how to kepe his beſell in holynes and honoure, and not in the luſt of concupiſcence * as do the hethen whych knowe not God, & nomā oppreſſe and defraude his brother in bargaynyng: becauſe þ the Lorde is the auenger of all ſuch thynges, as we tolde you beſore, and teſtiſyed.

¶ For God hath not called vs vnto vncleynes but vnto holynes. ¶ He therfore þ deſpyſeth, deſpyſeth not man, but God, whych hath ſent þ his holy ſpyrete amonge you. ¶ But as touchynge brotherly * loue, ye nede not, þ I wyte vnto you. ¶ For ye are taught of God, to loue one another. ¶ See and that thyng verely ye do vnto all þ brethren whych are i all Macedonia. ¶ We beſeeche you brethren, that ye increaſe more & more, and that ye ſtudye to be quyet, & to medle with poure awne buſynes, and * to worke wyth poure awne handes, as we commaunded you: that ye maye behaue poure ſelues honeſtly toward them that are wythout, and that nothyng be lackynge vnto you.

¶ I wolde

To the Theſſalonians, To. lxxiiij.

¶ I wolde not brethren that ye ſhulde be ignorant concernynge them whych are fallen aſlepe, that ye ſorrowe not as other do, whych haue * no hope. ¶ For yf we beleue, þ Ieſus dyed, & roſe agayne: euen ſo them alſo whych ſlepe by Ieſus, wyll God byrnyng agayne w hym. ¶ For theſe ſaye we vnto you in þ worde of the Lorde, that we whych ſhall * lyue, & ſhall remayne in the comynge of the Lorde, ſhall not come yer they whych ſlepe. ¶ For the Lorde hym ſelfe ſhall deſcende from heaue with a ſhowte & the voyce of the * Archangel and trope of God. ¶ And the deed in Chriſt: ſhall aryſe fyrſt: then we whych ſhall lyue (euen we whych ſhall remayne) ſhall be caught vp wyth them alſo in the cloudes, to meete the Lorde in the ayer. ¶ And ſo ſhall we euer be wyth the Lorde. ¶ Wherefore, comſorte your ſelues one another w theſe wordes.

The.v. Chapter.

¶ He enſourmeth them of the daye of dome, and comynge of the Lorde, exhorſeth the to wach, and to regarde ſuche as preach Gods wyrdes amonge them.

¶ Finally of the tymes & ſeaſons (brethren) it is no nede that I wyte vnto you: for ye your ſelues knowe perfectly, þ * the daye of the Lorde ſhall come, euen as a thefe in the nyght. ¶ For whē they ſhall ſaye, peace and all thynges are ſafe, then ſhall * ſoden deſtruction come vpo them (as ſorrowe cometh vpon a woman in trauaſynge with chyld) & they ſhall not ſcape. ¶ But * ye brethren are not in darkynes, þ that daye ſhulde come on you as a thefe.

¶ We are all the chyldren of lycht, and the chyldre of the daye. We are not of the nyght neyther of darkynes.

¶ Therefore let vs not ſlepe as do other: but let vs wach, & be ſober. ¶ For they that ſlepe, ſlepe in þ nyght: & they that be drōcken, are drōcken in the nyght. ¶ But let vs whych are of the daye, be ſober * armed wyth the beſt plate of faith and loue, and with hope of ſaluacyō for an helmet. ¶ For God hath not apoynted vs to prouoke wrath vnto oure ſelues, but to obtayne ſaluacyō by the meanes of oure Lorde Ieſus Chriſt * whych dyed for vs: that whether we wake or ſlepe, we ſhulde lyue together wyth him.

¶ Wherefore, comſorte your ſelues together, & edifye euery one another, euen as ye do.

¶ We beſeeche you brethren, that ye knowe them * whych labour amonge you, and haue the ouerſyght of you in the Lorde, & geue you exhortacyō, that ye haue them in hie reputacyō thowowe loue, for theyz workes ſake, and be at peace wyth them.

¶ We deſyre you (brethren) warne them þ are vnruly, comſorte the feble mynyded, lyft vp the weake, be patient toward all men.

¶ Se that none recompence euyl for euyl vnto any man: but euer folowe that whych is good, both amonge your ſelues, and to all men. ¶ Reioyce euer * in the Lorde. ¶ In all thynges geue thank: for this is the wyll of God thowowe Chriſt Ieſu to warde you.

¶ Outche not the ſpyete. ¶ Deſpyſe not prophesynges. ¶ Examen all thynges, kepe that whych is good. ¶ Abſtayne from all euell appareance. ¶ The very God of peace ſanctifye you thowowe out. ¶ And I praye God þ poure whole ſpyete, and ſoule and body, maye be preſerued: ſo that in nothyng ye maye be blamed in the comynge of oure Lorde Ieſus Chriſt.

¶ Faithfull is he whych called you, whych wyll alſo do it. ¶ Brethren, praye for vs. ¶ Greete all the brethren wyth an holy kyſſe. ¶ I char-ge you in the Lorde, that this Epistle be red vnto all the holy brethren. ¶ The grace of the Lorde Ieſus Chriſt be wyth you. Amen.

¶ Paul and Syluanus and Timothy.

¶ Into the congregacyō of the Theſſalonians in God oure father, and in the Lorde Ieſus Chriſt.

¶ Grace be vnto you and peace from God oure father, and from the Lorde Ieſus Chriſt.

¶ We are bounde to thanke God allwayes for you brethren (as it is met) becauſe that poure faith groweth exceedingly, and euery one of you ſwymmeth in loue toward another betwene poure ſelues, ſo that we oure ſelues boalt of you in the congregacions of God, ouer pour patience & faith in all your perſecutions & tribulacions, that ye ſuffre, whych is a token of the ryghtewes iudgement of God, that ye are counted worthy of the kyngdome of God, for whych ye alſo ſuffre. ¶ It is verely a ryghtewes thyng wyth God that he recompence tribulacyō to the that trouble you: and to you whych are troubled, reſt wyth vs, when the Lorde Ieſus shall shewe hym selfe from heauen with the Angels of his power, with flaminge fyre, whych shall redde vengeance vnto them y knowe not God, * and that obeye not the Gospell of oure Lorde Iesu Christ * whych shalbe punished with euerlastyng damnacion, from the presence of the Lorde, and from the glory of his power, * wher he shall come to be glorified in his sayntes, and to be come maruylous in all them that beleue: because oure testimonie that we had to you, was beleued euen the same daye. * Wherfore, also we praye allwayes for you, that our God will make you worthy of this calling, & fulfill all delectacyō of goodnes & the worcke of fapth, w power: that the name of oure Lorde Iesu Christ maye be glorified by you, and ye by hym, accordyng to the grace of oure God, and of the Lorde Iesu Christ.

The ij. Chapter.

¶ He sheweth them, & the daye of the Lorde shall not come, till the departyng from the fapth come first: and therefore he exhorteth them not to be discoraged, but to stande stedfast in the thynges that he hath taught them.

¶ Beseeche you (brethren) by the comynge of oure Lorde Iesu Christ, and in that we shall assemble vnto hym, & ye be not suddenly moued fro youre mynde, ner be troubled, nether by sprete, nether by wordes, nor yet by letter whych shulde seme to come from vs, as though the daye of Christ were at hande. Let no man deceaue you by any meanes, for the Lorde shall not come excepte ther come * a departyng first, and that that synfull man be opened, the sonne of perdition, whych is an aduersarye: and is exalted aboue all that is called God, or that is worshipped: so that he doth sit * in the temple of God, boastynge him selfe to be God.

¶ Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these thynges: And now ye know what withholdeth: eue that he myght be vttered at his tyme. * For the mystery of iniquitie doeth all ready worcke: till he which nowe only letteth, be taken out of the waye. And then shall that wycked be vttered, * whom the Lorde shall consume with the sprete of his mouth, and shall destroye with the apperaunce of his comynge. * Euen hym whose comynge is after the workynge of Satan, with all lyng power * synges and wonders, and with all deceauableness of unryghtwysnes, amonge them that peryshe: because they receaued not the loue of y trouth, that they myght be saued. * And therefore, God shall sende them stronge delusyon, that they shulde beleue lyres: that all they myght be dāned, whych beleued not the trouth: but had pleasure in unryghtwysnes.

But we are bounde to geue thākes alwey to God for you (brethren) beloued of y Lorde: for because that God hath from the begynnyng chosen you to saluacyō, thozowe sanctifyinge of the sprete, and thozowe belentyng of y trouth, wher vnto he called you by oure Gospell, to obtayne the glorye of oure Lorde Iesu Christ.

¶ Therefore brethren stande fast, & kepe the ordinaunces which ye haue learned: whether it were by oure preachinge, or by Epistle. Once Lorde Iesu Christ hym selfe, and God and oure father (whych hath loued vs, and hath geuen vs euerlastyng consolacyō, and good hope thozowe grace) cōfōrte your hertes and stablyshe you in all good sayēge and doyng.

The iij. Chapter.

¶ He beseecheth them to praye for him, that y Gospel maye prosper, and geuech them warninge to rejoyce the pōle: and yf they will not labour with theyr handes, that they shall not eate.

¶ Furthermore brethren praye ye for vs, & that the worde of God maye haue passage, and be glorified, as it is also with you: and that we maye be deliuered from vncreasonable and frowarde men. For all mē haue not fapth: but the Lorde is fapthfull, whych shall stablyshe you, and preserve you from euill. We haue confydence thozowe the Lorde to you warde, & ye both do, & we will do the thynges which we commaunde you. And the Lorde gyde your hertes to the loue of God and to the pacyente waytynge for Christ.

¶ We require you brethren by y name of oure Lorde Iesu Christ * & ye withdrawe your selues from euery brother, & behaue hym selfe inordinatly, & not after y institucō which he receaued of vs. For ye your selues know, howe ye ought to folowe vs. For we behaue not oure selues inordinatly amonge you. Nether toke we breed of eny man for naught: but wrought w laboure & sweate nyght & daye, because we wolde not be chargeable to eny of you: not but that we had auctozite: but to make oure selues an ensample vnto you to folowe vs. For when we were with you, this we warned you of, & yf eny wolde not worke, the same shulde not eate.

For we haue heard saye that ther are some whych walke amonge you inordinatly, workynge not at all, but beyng busybodies. Them that are such, we commaunde and exhorde, by oure Lorde Iesu Christ, that they worke with quietnes, and eate theyr awne breed: * Brethren be not ye wecry in well doyng. ¶ If eny man obey not oure sayyng, sende vs worde of him by a letter: and haue no companye with him, that he maye be ashamed. And count him not as an enemy: but warne him as a brother.

To Timothee,

No. lxxxiij.

The very Lorde of peace geue you peace allwayes, by all meanes. The Lorde be with you all. The salutacyō of me Paul, with myne awne hande. This is the token in all Epistles. So I wyte. * The grace of oure Lorde Iesu Christ be with you all. Amen.

Sent from Athens.

The Epistle of Saynct Paul vnto Timothee.

The fyrst Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth Timothee to waite vpon his office: namely, to se that nothyng be taught but Gods word. He sheweth also wherfore y lawe is good, and telleth that Christ Iesus came in to y worlde, to saue synners.

¶ Paul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, * by the comynge of God our sayoure, & Lorde Iesus Christ, which is * our hope.

¶ Vnto Timothee his naturall sonne in the fapth.

* Grace mercy and peace from God oure father, & fro y Lorde Iesus Christ oure Lorde.

¶ As I besought the to abyde styll at Ephe-sus (wher I departed into * Macedonia) eue so do, that y comaunde some, that they folowe no straunge doctrine, nether gene hede * to fables & endles genealogyes whych brede doubtes more then Godlye edifyinge, which is by fapth. for the ende of the commaundement is, * loue out of a * pure herte, and of a good conscience, and of fapth vnfayned: fro the whych thynges, because some haue erred, they are turned vnto vayne iagelinge, because they wolde be doctours of the lawe, and yet vnderstande not what they speake, nether wherof they aspyre.

¶ We knowe, that * the lawe is good, yf a man vse it lawfully: knowynge thys, * howe that the lawe is not geue vnto a rygh trows man, but vnto the unryghteous and disobedynt, to the vngodly and to synners, to vnholy and vncleane: to murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, to man-sleas, to * whoremongers: to them that desyle them selues whych mankynde: to mastelers: to lyars, to perjured, and yf ther be eny other thyng that is cōtrary to the holysome doctryne, accordyng to the Gospell of the glory of the blessed God, whych Gospell is comynge vnto me.

¶ And I thanke Christ Iesus oure Lorde, whych hath made me stronge: for he counted me true, and put me in offyce where as before I was a blasphemre, * and a persecuter, & a Tyrant. But yet I obtayned mercy, because I dyd it ignorantly thozowe vnclefe. Netherthelesse, y grace of oure Lorde was exceedinge aboundaunt with fapth and loue, whych is by Christ Iesu.

¶ This is a true sayyng, and by all meanes worthy to be receaued of vs. ¶ Christ Iesus came into y worlde, to saue synners, of whom I am chiefe. Not withstandyng for this cause ophyned I mercy, that Iesus Christ shulde shewe on me all longe pacyēce, to declare an ensample vnto the whych shulde beleue on him vnto eternall lyfe. So then vnto God, kyng euerlastyng, immortall * inuisyble, wyle onely, be honoure and prayse for euer and euer. Amen.

¶ This commaundement comynge vnto the sonne Timotheus, * accordyng to the prophesy, whych i tyme past were prophesied of the, that thou in them shuldest fyght a good fyght, hauynge fapth and good conscience: whych some haue put awaye from them, and as concernyng fapth haue made hyppocrycke. Of whose nombre is * Hymeneus & Alexander whom * I haue deliuered vnto Satā, that they maye lerne not to blasfeme.

¶ He exhorteth to praye for all men. He will not haue women to be euery costly appareled, nor to teach in the congregacyō, but to be in sience, & to obeye theyr husbādes.

¶ Exhorde therefore, that aboue all thynges, prayers, supplicacyōs, intercessions, and geuyng of thākes be had for all men: * for kyn-ges, and for all that are in auctozite, that we maye lyue a quyet and a peaceable lyfe, with all Godlynes and honestye. For that is good and accepted in y sight of God oure sayoure, whych we will haue all mē to be saued, and to come vnto the knowledge of y trouth. For ther is * one God, and one * mediator betwene God and man, euen the man Christ Iesus, whych gaue him selfe a ran-some for all men, that it shulde be testifed at his tyme, * wher vnto I am ordānyed a preacher and an Apostle. I tell the trouth in Christ and ye not: beyng the teacher of the gentyls with fapth and veritye.

¶ I will therefore that the men * praye euery where, lyftynge vp pure handes without wrath, or doubtinge. Lykewise also the women, that they araye them selues in comlye apparell with shawstines and discrete behauiours, not to be dyed heare, ether golde or pearles, or costly aray: but as becomely women, that professe godlynesse thozowe good workes. ¶ Let the woman learne in sience with all subiecyō. But I suffer not a woman to teach, nether to vsurpe auctozite ouer the man: but to be in sience. For

Adam

The fyrst Epistle.

Adam was fyrst fourmed, & then Eve. Adam also was not deceaved, but the womā was deceaved, and was subdued to the transgrefsyon. Notwithstandyng thowowe bearynge of chylidren she shalbe saued, yf they contynue in fayth and loue, and holynes, wyth discrecyon.

The.iiij. Chapter.

What maner of mā a byshoppe or paster ought to be. The properties also requyred in a deacon or synod.

This is a true sayinge: If a mā despyre the offyce of a Byshoppe, he despyreth an honest worke. A Byshoppe therfore must be blameles, & husbāde of one wyfe, dygent, sober, discrete, a keeper of hospitalite: apte to teach, not geue to ouer moch wyne, no feghter, not greedy of fylthy lucre. But gentle, abhorryng fyghtyng, abhorryng couetousnes, one yf ruleth well his awne house, one yf hath chylidren in subieccyon with all reuerence. For yf a man canot rule his awne house, howe shall he care for the congregacyon of God? He maye not be a yonge scolar, lest he swell and fall into the iudgement of the euill speaker. He must also haue a good reporte of them whych are without, lest he fall into rebuke, and snare of the euill speaker.

A yke wyle must the mynisters be: honest, not double tonged, not geue vnto moch wyne, nether greedy of fylthy lucre: but holdyng the mystery of the fayth with a pure conscience. And let them fyrr be proued, and then let the mynister so, that no man be able to reprove them.

Enen so must they wyues be honest, not euill speakers: but sober and faythfull in all thynges. Let the Deacons be the husbādes of one wyfe, and such as rule they chylidren well, and their awne householdes. For they that mynister well, get them selues a good degre and greatesperryte in yf fayth, whych is in Christ Iesu.

These thynges write I vnto the trustinge to come shortly vnto the: but and yf I tarie longe, that then thou mayst yet haue knowledge, howe thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in the house of God, whych is the congregacyon of the lyuynge God, the pyllar & ground of trouth. And without doute great is that mystery of godlynes: God was shewed in the fleshe, was iustified in the spete, was sene amonge the Angels, was preached vnto the gentyls, was beleued on in the worlde, and receaued vp in glory.

The.iiij. Chapter.

The prophete of the latter dayes, and exhorteth Timothee to be diligent in readyng of the holy scripture.

He spete speaketh euidently, that in the later tymes some shall departe from the fayth, and shall geue heed vnto spetes of erreure, and deuelyshe doctrines of them which speake false thowowe ypocryse, & haue their consciences marchid w an hote yrd, for byddyng to mary, & comaundyng to abstayne fro meates: which God hath created to be receaued: with geuyng thackes, of them whych beleue, & knowe the trouth. For all the creatures of God are good, & nothyng to be refused, yf it be receaued with thakelgeuyng. For it is sanctified by the worde of God & prayer. If thou put yf byethre in remembrance of these thynges thou shalt be a good mynister of Iesu Christ: whych hath bene nourished vp in yf wordes of yf fayth & of good doctrine, whych thou hast continually followed. But cast away vngostly and olde wyues fables.

Exercyse thy selfe rather vnto godlynes. For bodely exercyse profyteth lytell: but godlynes is profytable vnto all thynges, as a thinge which hath promys of yf lyfe that is nowe, & of the lyfe to come. This is a sure sayinge, & by all meanes worthy to be allowed. For therfore we bothe labour & suffer rebuke, because we haue a stedfast hope in the lyuynge God, which is the saueoure of all men, specially of those that beleue. Soch thynges commande & teache. Let no man despyse thy yowth: but be vnto the that beleue, an ensample, in worde, in conuersacyon, in loue, in spete, in fayth, in purenes.

Yll I come, geue attēdāce to readyng, & to exhortacyon, to doctrine. Despyse not the gyfte that is in the, whych was geuen yf thowowe prophete, with yf layinge on of handes by yf auctorite of presthode. These thynges exercyse, and geue thy selfe vnto them, that it maye be sene, howe thou profetest in all thynges. Take heed vnto thy selfe, and vnto learyng, and continue therein. For yf thou shalt so do, thou shalt saue thy selfe, & them that heare the.

The.v. Chapter.

He teacheth hym howe he shall behaue hym selfe in rebukinge of all degre. An odyre contraryng wyddowes.

Re buke not an elder, rygorously: but exhorde him as a father: the ygermen, as byethzen: the elder women, as mothers: the yonger as sisters, w all purenes. Honour wyddowes, which are true wyddowes. If eny wyddow haue chylidren or neyews, let the leane fyrr to rule their awne houses godly: & to recompense their elders. For yf is good & acceptable before God. She yf is a true wyddowe & fredelesse, putteth her trust in God, & contyneth in supplicacyons and prayres nyght & daye. But she yf lyueth in pleasure, is deede, euen yet alpye. And these thynges commande that they maye be without rebuke. But yf eny prouide not for her awne (& specially for them of her household) the same hath denyed the fayth, and is worse then an infydel.

Let no

To Timothee. To. lxxxiij.

Let no wyddowe be chosen vnder thre score yere olde, & soch a one as was yf wyfe of one man, and well reported of men in good workes: yf she haue brought vp chylidre, yf she haue lodged strangers, yf she haue welshed the sayntes fete, yf she haue mynistered vnto them whych were in aduersyte, yf she haue bene continually geue vnto all maner of good workes. The yonger wyddowes refuse. For whē they haue begone to were wā to agaynst Christ, they wyl mary, haunyng damnyon, because they haue cast awaye their fyrst fayth. And also they learne to goe from house to house ydle: yee not ydle onely, but also tatlers and besybodies, speakyng thynges which are not comly.

I wyl therfore that the yonger women mary, to beare chylidre, to gyde the house, and geue none occasyon to the aduersary to speake euill. For many of them are all ready turned backe, and are gone after Satan. And yf eny man or woman that beleueth haue wyddowes, let the mynister vnto them, & let not the congregacyon be charged: that there maye be sufficient for them that are wyddowes in dede.

The elders that rule well, are worthy of double honour, most specially they whych labour in the worde & teachyng. For the scripture sayth: thou shalt not moo: l the mouth of yf ore that treadeth out the corne. And the labourer is worthy of his reward. Agaynst an elder, receaue none accusacyon: but vnder two or thre witnesses. The that synne, rebuke openly, that other also maye feare.

Testifye before God and the Lord Iesus Christ & the electe angels, that thou obserue these thynges without hastynesse of iudgement, & do nothyng partially. Laye handes sodely on no mā, nether be partaker of other mens synnes: kepe thy selfe pure. Dyncke no longer water, but use a lytell wyne for thy stomakes sake and thyne often dyscaies.

Some menues synnes are open before hād, and go before vnto iudgement: & some menues synnes folowe after. Lykewyse also good workes are manifest before hād, and they that are other wyse, cannot be hyd.

The.vi. Chapter.

The dutye of seruantes towardes their masters. Agaynst such as are not satisfid with the worde of God. Agaynst couetousnes. A good lesson for ryche men.

Et as many seruantes as are vnder the yoke, counte they masters worthy of all honour, that yf name of God & hys doctrine be not euill spoken of. Se that they whych haue beleuynge masters, despyse the not because they are byethzen: but rather do scrupce, for as moch as they are beleuynge and beloued, & partakers of the benefyte.

These thynges teach & exhorde. If eny man folowe other doctrine, and encline not vnto the wholsome wordes of oure Lord Iesu Christ, and to the doctrine which is accordyng to godlynes, he is pushe vp, and knoweth nothyng: but wasteth hys braynes about questys and strepe, of wordes, wherof spryng euyle, strepe, raylynges, euill surmysynges, bayne disputacyon of me that haue corrupte myndes, & that are robbed of the trouth: which thynke, that lucre is godlynes. From them that are soch separate thy selfe. Godlynes is greates ryches. If a man be content with that he hath. For we brought nothyng into the worlde, nether maye we cary any thyng out.

But when we haue fede and rayment we must therewith be content. They that wyl be ryche, fall into temptacyon and snare, & into many folyes & noysome lustes, which drowne men into perdyon & destryccyon. For couetousnes of money is the rote of all euill: whych whyll some list after, they erred from the fayth, & tanglyd the selues with many sorowes. But thou man of God, fye soch thynges. Followe ryghte weches, godlynes, fayth, loue, paciēce, meeknes. Fyght the good fyght of fayth. Laye hande on eternall lyfe, wher vnto thou art also called, and hast professed a good professyon before many witnesses.

I geue yf charge in yf sight of God, which quickneth all thynges, & before Iesu Christ (which vnder Pontius pylate wytnessed a good wytnessyng) yf thou kepe yf comaundement, & be without spotte and vncorruptible, vntill the appearynge of oure Lord Iesus Christ, which appearynge (in hys tyme) he shall shewe, that is blessed & myghty onely, kyng of kynges, & Lord of Lordes, whych onely hath immortalite, and dwelleth in the lyght that no man can attayne, whom no man hath sene, nether can se, vnto whom be honour and rule euerlastyng. Amen.

Charge the which are ryche in this world, that they be not hye mynded, ner trust in vncertaine ryches, but in the lyuynge God (which geueth vs abundantly all thynges to enioye the) that they do good: that they be riche in good workes: that they be redy to geue & gladly to distribute, laying vp in store for the selues a good fundacyon agaynst yf tyme to come, yf they maye obtayne eternall lyfe.

O Timothee, saue that which is geuen the to kepe, and adoyde vngostly vanyties of voyces and opposycions of science falsly so called: whych science whyle some professed, they erred as concernyng the fayth. Grace be with the. Amen.

The seconde Epistle

The secōde Epistle of Saynet Paul the Apostle vnto Timothe.

The fyrste Chapter.

Paul exhorteth Timothe to stedfastnesse and pacyence in persecucion, and to continue in the doctryne that he had taught hym. A commendatcyon of Onesiphorus.

Aul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the wyll of God, accordynge to the promys of Ihesu which is in Christ Iesu.

To Timothee hys beloued sonne.

Grace mercy and peace from God the father, & from Iesu Christ our Lorde.

I thanke God, *whom I serue from my-ne elders with pure conscience, that without anye ceasynge I make mencyon of the in my prayers nyght and daye, desyringe to se the, mynde full of thy teares: so that I am fylled with ioye, when I call to remembraunce the vnsayned fayth that is in the, which dwelt fyrst in thy graundmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice: & I am assured that it dwelleth in the also.

Wherfore I warne the that thou stee by the gyfte of God which is in y * by the put-tyng on of my handes. * For God hath not geue to vs the sperte of feare: but of power, and of loue, and of sobrienes. * Be not thou therfore ashamed of the testimony of oure Lorde, nether be ashamed of me * whych am his presoner: but suffer thou aduersite with the Gospell, accordynge to y power of God, whych * laued vs, and called vs with an holy callynge, not accordynge to oure dedes, but accordynge to his awne purpose & grace, whych was geuen vs thorow Christ Ie-su before the worlde beganne) but is nowe declared openly by y apparenyng of oure sanyour Iesu Christ * whych hath put awaye deeth, and hath brought lyfe and immortalite vnto lyght thorow the Gospell, * wher-vnto I am apoynted, a preacher & Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentyls: for the whych cause I also suffer these thynges. Neuerthelesse, I am not ashamed. For I knowe, and am sure, that he (in whom I haue put my trust) is able to kepe that whych I haue co-mitted to hys keepynge, agaynst that daye.

So that thou haue the ensample of the holysome wordes, whych thou hast hearde of me with fayth and loue that is in Christ Ie-su. That good thyng, whych was committed to thy keepynge, holde fast thorow y holy goost, which dwelleth in vs. This y knowe, howe that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of whych sorte are Phigelus and Hermogenes. The Lorde geue mercy vnto the householde of Onesiphorus for he ofte refreshed me, * and was not ashamed of my chayne: but when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, & founde me.

The Lorde graunt vnto hym that he maye fynde mercy with the Lorde at that daye.
And in howe many thynges he ministered vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

The ij. Chapter.

Aske as in the first Chapter, so here he exhorte thim to be constant in trouble, to suffer manly, and to abyde fast in the wholsome doctryne of oure Lorde Iesus Christ.

Thou therfore my sonne, be stronge in the grace (that is thorow Christ Iesu) and in the thynges that thou hast hearde of me by many wytnes-ses. The same commytte thou * to faythfull men, which shalbe apte to teach other also.
Thou therfore suffer afflictions as a good soldier of Iesu Christ. No man that war-reth, entaglyth hym selfe wyth worldly bu-synes, and that because he maye please hym, whych hath chosen hym to be a soldier. And though a man stryue for a mastery, yet is he not crowned, except he stryue lawfully. The husbandman that laboureth, must fyrst receiue of the frutes. Consider what I saie.
The Lorde geue the vnderstandynge in all thynges.

Remember that Iesus Christ * of the seide of Dauid, rose agayne from deeth accordyng to my Gospell, wherin I suffer trouble as an euill doer, euen vnto bondes. But y worde of God was not bounde. Therfore * I suffer all thynges, for the electes sakes, that they myght also obtayne y saluacion, which is in Christ Iesu, with eternall glozy.

It is a true sayynge * for yf we be deeth w hym, we shall also lyue wyth hym. * If we be patient, we shall also sharpe wyth hym.

* If we denye hym, he also shall denye vs.
If we belue not, yet abyde he faythfull.
He cannot denye hym selfe. Of these thynges put them in remembraunce, and testifie before the Lorde, that they folowe no contentious wordes: which are to no profet, but to the peruerstynge of the hearers.

Study to therewe thy selfe laudable vnto God, a workman y nedeth not to be ashamed distributynge the worde of trouth iustly. *
As for vngodly vanities of voyces, passe thou ouer them. For they will encrease vnto greater vngodlynes, & they wordes shall fret euen as doeth the disease of a cancre: of whose nobye is. * Hymeneus and Philetus, whych (as concernynge the trouth) haue erred, sayynge, that the resurrection is past all redy, and do destroye the fayth of some.

But y sure grounde of God standeth still, and hath this scale: * y Lorde knoweth them that are

To Timothe

that are hys. And let euery man that calleth on the name of Christ, departe from iniqui-te. Not wythstandynge * in a greate house are not onely vessels of golde and of syluer: but also of wood and of erthe: some for ho-noure, and some vnto dishonoure. If a man therfore poure hym selfe from such men, he shalbe a vessel sanctified vnto honoure, mete for the vles of the Lorde, and prepared vnto all good workes.

Lustres of yowthauoyde, but folowe ryght-wesnes, fayth, loue and peace, with the that call on the Lorde with a pure herte. * Ifo-lyshe and vnlearned questios put from the, knowinge, y they do but geuynge strepe. The seruaunt of the Lorde must not stryue: but be gentle vnto all men * apte to teach, and one that can suffre the euill with meaknes, and can * informe them that reseyt * (the trouth) yf that God at any tyme wyll geue them repetaunce, for to knowe y trouth: and that they maye come to them selues agayne out of the snare of the deuyll, which are holden captiue of hym at hys wyll.

The iij. Chapter.

The prophete of the pious times, setteth out hypocrites, persecucion for the Gospel.

Thy knowe, that * in the last dayes shall come pious tymes.
For men shalbe louers of theyr awne selues, couetous, boasters, proude, cursed speakers, dysobedient to fathers and mothers, vntowardly, vngodly, vnkynde, trucebreakers, falsac-culars, riatours, fearce, despisers of them which are good, traytours, heady, hyemynded, greddy vpon voluptuousnes moze then the louers of God, hauynge a symilitude of godlynesse, but haue denyed the power therof: and loch abhorre. For of this sorte are they, * which entre into houses, and bringe into bondage women laden w synne, which women are led with diuers lustes, euer learnyng, and neuer able to come vnto the knowledge of the trouth.

* As Iannes & Iambres withstode Moses, eue so do these also reseyt the trouth: men they are of corrupt myndes, and lewde as concernynge the fayth: but they shall preuaile no lenger. For their madness shalbe vttered vnto all men euen as theys was. But thou hast sene the experice of my doctryne, falsy of lyfynge, purpose, fayth, longe sufferynge, loue, pacyence, persecutions, and afflictions whych happened vnto me at Antioche, at Iconum, and at Lystra: which persecutions I suffered patiently. And from them all, the Lorde deliuered me. Pee, and * all they that wyll lyue godly in Christ Iesu shall suffer persecucion. But the euill men & discauers shall weke worse and worse, whil they deceane and are deceaued them selues.

But continue thou in the thynges which thou hast learned, which also were commytted vnto the, knowinge of whom thou hast learned them, and for as moch also as * of a chylde thou hast knowen the holy scriptures which are able to make the lerne vnto sal-uacyon thorow the fayth which is in Christ Iesu. * All scripture geuen by inspiracyon of God, is profitable to teache, to im-proue, to amende and to instruct in ryghtewesnes, that y man of God maye be perfecte & prepared vnto all good workes.

The iiij. Chapter.

He exhorteth Timothe to be seruant in y worde * to suffer aduersite, maketh mencyon of his awne death, & byddeth Timothe come vnto hym.

Testifie therfore before God, & before y Lord Iesu Christ, which I shal iudge the quicke and deede at hys appearing in hys kyngdom, preache thou y worde, be scrute, in season & oute of season. Improue, rebuke, exhorde w all longe sufferynge and doctryne. For y tyme will come, whil they shal not suffer whol-some doctryne: but after their awne lustes shall they (whose cares yche) gett them an heape of teachers, and shall withdraue their eares from the trouth, and shalbe turned vnto fables. But wathe thou in all thynges, suffer afflictions, do the worke thorowlye of an Euangelist, fulfyll thyne offyce vnto the vtmost. * (Be sober)

For I am now ready to be offered, and * the tyme of my departynge, is at hande. I haue fought a good fyght, I haue fulfyllid my course, I haue kept the fayth. From hence forth ther is layde vp for me * a crowne of ryghtewesnes, which the Lorde (that is a ryghteous iudge) shall geue me at that daye: not to me onely, but vnto all them also that loue his comynge. Do thy diligēce that thou mayest come shortly vnto me.

For Demas hath forsaken me, and lo-ueth this present worlde, and is departed vnto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Ga-lacia, Tityus vnto Dalmacia. Onely Lucas is with me. Take * Marke, and bringe him with the, for he is profitable vnto me for the minystracyon. And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus. The cloke that I leste at Troa-da with Carpus, (when thou comest) bringe with the, and the bookes, but specially the partement. Alexander the copper Smyth dyd me moch euill: the Lorde rewarde hym accordynge to hys dedes, of whom be thou ware also. For he hath greatly wythstande oure wordes.

The Epistle.

At my first answeringe, no man as-sted me, but all forsoke me. I praye God, that it maye not be layde to their charges.
Not wythstandyng the Lorde, assted me, and strenghted me, that by me the pre-chyng shulde be fulfilled to the utmost, and that all p̄sentys shulde heare. And I was delyuered out of the mouth of the lyon. And the Lorde shall delyuer me from all euyl doynge, and shall kepe me vnto hys heulyngdom. To whom be prayse for euer and euer. Amen. I sus Christ be with thy spete. Grace be with you. Amen.

The Epistle of Saynt Paul vnto Tytus.

The first Chapter.

Paul exhorteth Titus to obeye p̄sentys of hys shippes in euery wyse. & to chuse what maner of men they ought to be: p̄sentys are chosen to chuse offyce. & to chuse Titus to rebuke such as wythstande the Gospell.

In the seruānt of God, and apostle of Jesu Christ accor-dyng to the sayth of goddes electe, and accordyng to the knowledge of the tructy, which is after godlynes in p̄hope of eternall lyfe, which God * (that cannot lye) promysed before the worlde beganne: but hath opened his worde at the tyme appoynted thowoe preachinge, which is commytted vnto me, accordyng to the commaundment of God oure saueoure. To * Tytus hys naturall sonne after the comen sayth.
Grace mercy & peace from God f̄father & from the Lorde Jesu Christ oure saueoure.
For this cause left I the in Creta, p̄ thou shuldest reforme the thynges that are vn-perfect, & shuldest ordeyne elders in euery citty, as I had appoynted the. If eny be bla-melesse, the husband of one wyfe, haue faythfull chyldre, which are not stande of repute, nether are disobedient. * For a byp̄hope must be blamelesse, as p̄stewarde of God:

not stubborne, not angry * not geuen to much wpyne, no fyghter, not geuen to fylthy lucre: but a keeper of hospitalite, one that lo-ueth goodnes. * (p̄udent) sobre, ryghteous, godly, temperat, and such as cleueth vnto p̄ true worde of doctryne, that he maye be able also to exhorte by wholsome learninge, & to improue them that save agaynst it.

For there are many vnruly and talkers of vanite, and disteurers of myndes, specially they that are of the circumcision, whose mouthes must be stopped * which peruert whole houses, teachinge thynges which they ought not, because of fylthy lucre. One of the selues (euen a prophete of their awne) sayde: The Cretys are all wayes lyars, euyl beastes, slowe belyes. Thys wytnes is true: wherfore rebuke thou the sharply, that they maye be founde in p̄sayth, not takynge hede to Jewes fables and commaundementes of men that turne awaye the tructy. * Vnto p̄ pure, are all thynges pure: but vnto the that are defyled and vnbelyng, is nothyng pure: but euen the mynde and conscience of them is defyled. They confesse p̄ they knowe God: but with the dedes they denye hym se-ing they are a hominable and disobedient, & vnaype vnto euery good worke.

The iiij. Chapter.

He telleth hym howe he shall teache all degres to behaue them selues.

In speake thou the thynges which become wholsome learning. That the elder men be sober sage, discrete, sounde in the sayth, in loue, in pacyence: the elder * women lyke wyse, that they be in soche rayment as becommeth holynes, not beyng false accusers, not geuen to much wpyne, but that they teache honest thynges, to make the younge women sobre mynded, to loue theyr husbandes, to loue their chyldren, to be discrete, chaste, huswifly good, obedient vnto their husbandes, that the worde of God be not euyl spoken of.
Pouge men lyke wyse exhorte, that they be sobre mynded.

In all thynges shewe thy selfe an ensample of good workes in p̄ doctryne, with honestie, grauitye, & with the wholsome worde which cannot be rebuked: that he which withstandeth, maye be ashamed, hauinge no euyl thyng to saye of you. * Exhort seruantes, to be obedient vnto their awne masters, & to please the in all thynges, not answering agayne, nether to be pickers, but p̄ they shewe all good faythfulness, p̄ they maye do worshippe to the doctrine of God oure saueoure in all thynges. * For the grace of God, p̄ byn-geth saluacyon vnto all men, hath appeared and teacheth vs p̄ we shulde denye vngodlynnes and * worldy lustes, & that we shulde

To Titus & Philemon.

No. lxxxvi.

The Epistle of Saynt Paul vnto Philemon.

The rescripteth to beere of the fath and loue of Philemon, whom he bespeth to forgiue hym seruante Onesimus, and to praye to receaue hym agayne.

Paul p̄soner of Jesu Christ and brother Timothee, vnto Philemon the be-loued, and oure helper, and to the beloued Appia, and to Archippus oure felowe soldier and to the congrega-cyon that is of thy house.

Grace be vnto you and peace, from God oure father, & from the Lorde Jesu Christ.
I thanke my God, makynge mencyon allwayes of the in my prayers, whē I heare of thy loue & sayth, which thou hast towarde the Lorde Jesu, and towarde all sayntes, so that the fellowship of thy sayth is fructifull in p̄ knowledge of euery good * (work) which is in you towarde Jesu Christ. For we haue great loye and consolacyon in thy loue: because that by the (brother) p̄ sayntes hertes are comforted.

Wherfore, though I myght be bold in Christ to commaunde the, that which was thy deuyte to do: yet for loues sake I rather beseeche the, though I be as I am, euen olde Paul, & now a p̄soner of Jesu Christ. I beseeche the for my sonne * Onesimus whom I haue begotten in my boddes, (which in tyme passed was to p̄ vnprofitable but nowe p̄of-fitable both to the & to me) whō I haue sent home agayne. Thou therfore receyue hym, that is to saye myne awne bowels, whom I wolde sayne haue retayned with me, p̄ in thy steade he myght haue ministred vnto me in the boddes of the Gospell. Neuerthelesse, without thy mynde wolde I do nothyng, that the good whych thou doest, shulde not be as it were of necessity, but wyllingly.

For happily he therfore departed for a season, that thou shuldest receaue hym for euer, not nowe as a seruānt: but aboue a seruānt, euen a brother beloued, specially to me: but howe moche more vnto the, both in p̄ fleshe, and also in the Lorde. If thou couldest me therfore a felowe, receaue hym as my selfe. If he haue done the anye hurt, or oweth p̄ ought, that laye to my charge, (I haue haue writtē it with myne awne hande) I wyll recōpence it. So that I do not saye to the, howe that thou owest vnto me euen thys awne selfe also. Ene to brother, let me enioye the in the Lorde: Comforte my bowels in the Lorde.
Trustynge in thyne obedience, I wrote vnto the, knowynge, that thou wylt also do more thyn thys present worlde, loyng for p̄ blessed hope & appareinge of the gloze of the grete God, & of oure sauioure Jesu Christ, whych * gaue him selfe for vs, to redeime vs from all vneyghtewesnes, and to pouge vs a peculier people vnto hym selfe * feruently geuen vnto good workes. These thynges speake, and exhorte, & rebuke, with all feruentnes of commaundynge. * Se that no man despyse the.

The iiij. Chapter.

Obediēce to such as be in auctorite. Be warneth Titus to beware of folythe and vnprofitable questyons.

Werne them * that they submytte them selues to rule & power: that they obey the officers: that they be ready vnto euery good worke: p̄ they speake euyl of no mā:
that they be no fyghters, but gentle, shewynge all mekenes vnto all men. For we oure selues also were sountyme foolyshe dysobedient, deceaued, seruyng diuerse lustes and voluptuousnes, lyuynge in maliciounes and enye, full of hate, hatyng one another.

But after that the kyndnes and loue of oure sauioure God to man warde appeared, * not by p̄ dedes of rightewesnes which we wrought, but accordyng to hys merce he saued vs * by the fountayne of the newe byrth, and renuyng of the holy goost, which he shedd on vs aboutly, thowoe Jesu Christ oure sauioure, that we iustified * by hys grace, shulde be made hepyes accordyng to p̄ hope of eternall lyfe. * Thys is a true sayng.

Of these thynges I wyll that thou certifye, that they which beleue in God, myght be diligent to go forwarde in good workes.
For these thynges are good and profitable vnto men, * folythe questyons, and genealogies, and byaulynge, thowoe stryui-nges aboute p̄ lawe, auoyde: for they are vn-profitable and superfluous. A man that is an auctor of sectes, * after the tyll & the seconde admonycion auoyde: knowynge, that he (that is soche) is peruerted & synneth euen damned by hym selfe.

When I shall sende Artemas vnto p̄, or Archippus, be diligent, to come to me vnto Nychopolis: For I haue determined there to winter. Bingezenas the lawear & Apollos on their iorney diligently, that nothyng be lackynge vnto the. And let oures also learne to excell in good workes, as farforth as nebe requyeth, that they be not vnfructifull. All p̄ are with me, salute the. Gese the p̄ loue vs in the sayth. Grace be with you all. Amen.

The Epistle of Saynt Paul the Apostle vnto the Hebrewes.

The fyrst Chapter.

Howe God dealt ioungly with them of olde tyme in leuynge thm by prophetes, but moche more mercy hath he shewed vs in þe sent by his awne sonne. Of the moost excellent glory of Iesus Christ, which in all thynges is lyke to his father.

In time past diuersly and many wayes, spake vnto the fathers by prophetes: but in these last dayes he hath spoken vnto vs by his awne sonne, who he hath made heyre of all thynges: by who also he made the worlde. Which (sonne) beinge þe brightness of his glory, and þe very ymage of his substance, ruyng all thynges with þe worde of his power, hath by his awne person purged oure synnes, and sitteth on the ryght hande of the maiestye on hie: beyng so moche more excellent then the angels, as he hath by inherytance obteyned a moze excellent name then they.

For vnto which of the angels sayde he at any tyme: * Thou art my sonne, this daye haue I begotten the: And agayne: I will be his father, and he shall be my sonne. And agayne, when he bringeth in the fyrst begotten sonne into the worlde, he sayth. And let all the angels of God worshippe hym. And vnto the angels he sayth. þe maketh his angels spetes, and his mynstres a flamme of fyre. But vnto the sonne he sayth: * Thy seate (O God) shall be for ever and ever. The scepter of thy kyngdome is a ryght scepter. Thou hast loued ryghte wylnes, and hated iniquyte. Wherefore, God, eue thy God hath anoynted the with þe oyle of gladnes aboue thy felowes.

And thou Lorde in þe begynnyng hast layde the foundacyon of the erth. And the heauens are the workes of thy handes. They shall perishe, but thou endurest, But they all shall weare olde also as doth a garment: & as a vesture shalt thou chaunge them, & they shall be chaunged. But thou art euen the same and thy yeres shall not faile. ¶ Vnto whych of the angels sayde he at any tyme: * Syt on my ryght hande, tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole: Are they not all mynstres of synes, that are sent to mynister, for they sake whych shall be heyres of saluacyon?

The ij. Chapter.

He exhorteth vs to be obedynt vnto the lawe which Christ hath geuen vs and not to be offended at the infirmitie and iolue degree of Christ, because it was necessary þe for oure sake he shulde take such an humble state vnto hym, that he myght be lyke vnto vs by synes.

Wherefore, we ought to geue the more earnest hede to the thynges that are spoken vnto vs, lest at any tyme we perishe. For yf þe worde whych was spoken by angels was stedfast: And euery transgressyon and disobedience receaued a iust recompence of rewarde, howe shall we escape, yf we despyse so great saluacyon, which at the fyrst began to be preached of the Lorde hym selfe, and was confirmed vnto vs warde, by them þe heard it: * God bearyng wytnes thereto, both with synes & wonders also & with diuers myracles, & gyftes of the holy gooste, accordyng to his awne wyll.

For vnto the angels hath he not subdued the worlde to come, wherof we speake, but one in a certayne place wytnessed, sayinge, * What is man, that thou art myndfull of hym. Or the sonne of man, that thou visitest hym: Thou madest hym a lytle lower then the angels: thou hast crowned hym with honour & glory, and hast set hym aboue the workes of thy handes. Thou hast put all thynges in subiection vnder his fete. In þe he put all thynges vnder him, he left nothyng that is not put vnder him. Neuerthelesse, we se not yet all thynges subdued vnto him: but him that was made lesse then the angels, we se that it was Iesus, which is crowned with glory and honour for þe sofferyng of death: that he by the grace of God, shulde tast of death for all men.

For it became hym, for whom are all thynges and by whom are all thynges (after that he had brought many sonnes vnto glory) that he shulde make the Lorde of their saluacyon perfecte thow we afflictyons. For both he that sanctifyeth and they which are sanctified, are all of one. For whych causes sake he is not ashamed to call them brethren, sayinge: I will declare thy name vnto my brethren, in the myddes of the congregacyon, and I will prayse the. And agayne: I will put my trust in hym. And agayne: beholde, here am I and the chyldren whom God hath geuen me.

For as moche then as the chyldren are partakers of fleshe and blood, he also him selfe lyke-

To the Hebrewes.

Ho. lxxxvij.

If I knewe I shuld take parte with them that (thow we deeth) he myght expell hym that had lordshyppe ouer deeth, that is to saye the deuyll, and that he myght deliuer them, which thow we feare of deeth were all there lyfe tyme subdued vnto bondage. For he in no place taketh on hym the angels: but the seed of Abraham taketh he on hym. Wherefore, in all thynges it became hym to be made lyke vnto his brethren, that he myght be merciful, and a faythfull hye preste in thynges concernyng God, for to poure the peoples synnes. For in that it fortuneth hym selfe to be tempted, he is able to succer the also that are tempted.

The iij. Chapter.

He requyeth vs to be obedynt vnto the worde of Christ, which is moze worth then þe ceremonias of Moses. The punishment of such as will not be harden their hartes.

Wherefore holy brethren, partakers of the celestiaall callunge cōsider the ambassadour and hye preste of oure professyon Christ Iesus, howe that he is faythfull vnto hym that put hym in the office, enē as was Moses in all his house. For loke howe moche honour he (that hath buylded a house) hath more then the house it selfe, so moche honour is he counted worthy of more then Moses. For euery house is buylded of some mā. But he that ordeyned all thynges, is God. And Moses verely was faythfull in all his house, as a mynister, to beare wytnes of those thynges which were to be spoken afterwarde. But Christ as a sonne, hath rule ouer the house, whose house are we, yf we holde fast the cōfydence and the reioysyng of that hope, vnto the ende.

Wherefore (as the holy goost sayth:) to daye yf ye will heare his voyce, harden not your hartes, as in the prouokynge, in the daye of temptacyon in the wyldernes, where youre fathers tēpted me, proued me, and sawe my workes. ¶ I yere. Wherefore I was greued with þe generacyon, and sayde: They do all waye erre in their hartes: they verely haue not knowen my wayes, so þe I sware in my wrath: they shall not enter into my rest. Take hede brethren, lest at any tyme ther be in anye of you a frowarde herte subiect vnto vnbelefe, that he shulde departe fro the lyuyng God: but exhorde ye one another dayly, while it is called to daye: lest any of you were harde harted thow we the deceptfulnesse of synne.

We are made partetakers of Christ, yf we kepe sure (vnto the ende) the begynnyng of the substāce, so longe as it is sayde: to daye yf ye will heare his voyce, harden not your hartes, as in the prouokynge, for some when they hearde byd prouoke: howebeit not all þe came out of Egypt by Moses.

But with whom was he displeased. ¶ I yere. Was he not displeased with them that had synned, whose carcases were ouerthrowen in the desert: To whom sware he that they shulde not enter into his rest, but vnto them that were not obedynt: And we se, that they could not enter in, because of vnbelefe.

The iij. Chapter.

The Sabbath or rest of the children: punishment of vnbelievers: the nature of þe worde of God.

Lest ye feare therfore, lest any of you, forsakynge þe promises of cōtryng into his rest, shulde seme at any tyme to haue bene disapoynted. For vnto vs is it declared, as well as vnto them. But it profited not the, that they heard the worde: because they whych heard it, coupled it not with fayth. For we which haue beleued, do enter into his rest, as he sayde. Enē as I haue twome in my wrath: they shall not enter into my rest. And that spake he verely longe after that the workes were made, and the foundacyon of the worlde layde. For he spake in a certayne place of the seuenth daye, on this wyse. ¶ And God dyd rest the seuenth daye from all his workes. And in this place agayne: They shall not enter into my rest.

Seynge therfore it foloweth, that some must enter therinto, and they (to whom it was fyrst preached) entered not therein for vnbelifes sake, he apoynteth a certayne daye after so longe a tyme sayinge in Dauid (as it is rehearsed) this daye yf ye will heare his voyce, harden not your hartes. For yf Iohue had geue them rest, then wolde he not afterwarde haue spoken of another daye. There remaineth therfore yet a rest to the people of God. For he that is entered into his rest hath ceased also from his awne workes, as God dyd from his.

Let vs study therfore to entre into that rest, lest any man fall after the same ensample of vnbelefe. For the worde of God is quicke, and myghty in operation, and sharper then any two edged swerde: & entreteth throughe, euen vnto the diuidynge a sonder of the soule and the spete, and of the ioyntes and the mary: and is a discernor of þe thoughtes and of the intentes of the herte: nether is ther any creature that is not manifest in the syght of him: But all thynges are naked and open vnto the eyes of him, of whom we speake.

Seynge then, that we haue a great hye prest which is entered into heauen (euen Iesus the sonne of God) let vs holde the professyon. ¶ (of oure hope) For we haue not an hye prest, which cannot haue cōpassyon on oure infirmities: but was in all poyntes tempted, lyke as we are: but yet without synne. Let vs therfore go boldly vnto the seate of grace, that we maye obtayne mercy, and fynde grace to helpe in tyme of nede.

The. v. Chapter.

Christ is oure hye p[re]ste, and seate of grace, and more excellent then p[re]s[te]s of the olde lawe.

Euery hye p[re]ste that is taken from amonge men, is ordeyned for men, in thynges pertaynyng to God: to offer gyftes and sacrificys for synne, which can haue compassion on the ignorant, and on the that erre out of the waye, for as moch as he him selfe also is compassed with infirmities. And for the same infirmities sake he is bounde to offer for synnes, as well for him selfe, as for the people. And no man taketh honour vnto him selfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

Euen so Christ also glorified not him selfe, to be made the hye p[re]ste: but he that sayde vnto him, * thou art my sonne, this daye haue I begotten the, glorified him. As he sayeth also in another place: * thou art a p[re]ste for euer after the order of Melchisedech: which in p[re]dyes of his fleshe, whan he had offered by prayers and supplications, with stronge crying and teares (vnto him that was able to saue him from deeth) and was heard because of his reuerence, though he were p[re]sonne (of God) yet learned he obedience, by those thynges which he suffered: & he beyng perfect, was the cause of eternall saluacion vnto all the that obeyed him: and is called of God a hye p[re]st, after the order of Melchisedech.

Wherof we wolde speake many thynges but they are harde to be vttered: seynge ye are dull of hearinge. For whē as concerninge the tyme, ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye nede agayne, that we teache you the fyrst principles of the worde of God: and are become such as haue nede of * mylke: and not of stronge meate: for euery man that is fed with mylke, is inexperience in the worde of ryghteousnes. For he is but a babe. But stronge meate belongeth to them that are perfect euen those, which (by reason of vse) haue their wittes exercised to discerne both good and euill.

The. vi. Chapter.

He goeth forth with the thynges that he began in the latter ende of p[re]s[te] chapter, and exhorteth them not to faile, but to be stedfast & patient: for so moch as God is sure in his promysse.

Herfore leaueynge p[re]doyne that pertayneth to the begynnynge of Christen men, let vs go forth vnto perfection, not layenge agayne the foundacyon of repentaunce fro deede workes and of fayth towarde God, of baptysmynge, of doctryne, and of layynge on of handes, and of resurreccyon from deeth, and of eternall iudgement. And so wyll we do. * If God permitteth. For it can not be that they which were once lychted, and haue tasted of the heauenly gyfte, & were become partakers of the holy goost, and haue tasted of the good worde of God, and of the power of the worlde to come: * yf they fall awaye (and as concerninge them selues crucifye the sonne of God a frekhe, and make a moche of him) that they shulde be renued agayne by repentance.

For the erth which byructheth in p[re] rayne that cometh oft vpon it, and bringeth forth her besmete for them that dwelle it, receaueth blessinge of God. But that ground which beareth thornes and byrars, is reprobued, and is nye vnto cursynge: whose ende is to be burned. Neuerthelesse (deare frendes) we trust to se better of you, and thynges which accompany saluacion, though we thus speake. For God is not vnyghteous: * yf he shulde forget your worke and laboure that procedeth of loue, which lone ye shewe in his name, which haue ministred vnto the sayntes, and yet minister. Yee, and we desyre, p[re] euery one of you shewe the same diligence, to the full stablshinge of hope, euen vnto p[re] ende, that ye saynt not, but be folowers of them, which thowwe sayth and patience receaue the inheritaunce of the promysse.

For when God made promysse to Abraham because he had none greater to sweare by: he swaue by him selfe, sayynge: Surely I will blesse the, and multiplie the in dede. And so after that he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promysse. For men verely sweare by hym that is greater then them selues, and * an othe to confyrme the thyng, is to them an ende of all streyfe. So God wyllinge verp abundantly to shewe vnto the heyres of promysse, the stableness of his counsaill, added an oth: that by two immutable thynges (in which it was vnpowable that God shulde lye) we myght haue a stronge consolacyon, which hitherto haue fled, for to holde fast the hope that is set before vs, which hope we holde as an ancre of the soule both sure and stedfast, which hope also entreteth in, into those thynges which are with in the vable, where the fore runner is for vs entred, euen Iesus, that is made an * hye p[re]ste for euer, after the order of Melchisedech.

The. vii. Chapter.

He compareth the p[re]sthode of Christ vnto Melchisedech, but to be farre more excellent.

His Melchisedech kynge of * Salem (which beinge p[re]ste of p[re] most hye God, met Abraham, as here turned agayne from the slaughter of the kynge and blessed him: to whom also Abraham gaue tythes of all thynges) fyrst is called by interpretacion kynge of ryghte- welnes: after that, kynge of Salem (that is to saue, kynge of peace) wythout father without mother, without kynne, & hath neither begynnynge of dayes, neither yet ende of lyfe: but is likened vnto the sonne of God and contynueth a p[re]ste for euer. Consyder what a man this was, vnto whom also the patriarche Abraham gaue tythes of the spoyles. And verely * those chyldren of Leuy, which receaue the office of the p[re]stes, haue a commaundement to take (accordinge to p[re] lawe) tythes of the people, that is to saue, of their brethren, yee though they spronge out of the loynes of Abraham. But he whose kynred is not counted amonge them, receaued tythes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promysse. And no man denyeth, but that he which is lesse, receaueth blessinge of him which is greater. And here me that ope, receaue tythes. But there he receaueth tythes, of who it is wytnessed, that he lyueth. And to saue the trouth, Leuy hym selfe also which vseth to receaue tythes payed tythes in Abraham. For he was yet in the loynes of his father whan Melchisedech met Abraham.

To the Hebrewes,

No. lxxviii.

If now therfore perfeccion came by the p[re]sthood of p[re] Leuytes (for vnder that p[re]sthood the people receaue the lawe) what neded it furthermore, that another p[re]st shuld ryle to be called after the order of Melchisedech, and not after the order of Aaron? For yf the p[re]sthood be translated, then of necessity must the lawe be translated also.

For he of whom these thynges are spokē pertayne vnto another trybe, of whom neuer man serued at the altare. For it is euident that oure Lorde spronge * of the trybe of Iuda, of which trybe spake Moses no thyng concerninge p[re]sthood. And it is yet a more euident thyng, yf after the similitude of Melchisedech there arys another p[re]ste, which is not made after the lawe of p[re] carnall commaundement: but after p[re] power of p[re] endlesse lyfe. (For after this maner doth he testifie * thou art a p[re]st for euer, after the order of Melchisedech) * Then p[re] commaundment that went afore, is disannulled, because of weaknes and vnproffytableness. For the lawe brought nothyng to perfeccion: but was an introduccyon to a better hope, by p[re] which we drawe nye vnto God. And therfore is it a better hope, because p[re] thing was not done without an othe. For those p[re]stes were made without an othe, but this p[re]ste with an othe, by hym that sayde vnto hym. * The Lorde swaue, and wyll not repent: Thou art a p[re]st for euer after the order of Melchisedech. And for that cause was Ies[us] a stablysher of a better testament.

And amonge them many were made p[re]stes, because they were not suffred to endure by the reason of deeth. But this man (because se he endureth euer (hath an euerclastyng p[re]st-hode) Wherefore, he is able also euer to saue them to the vttemost, that come vnto God by hym, seynge he euer lyueth * to make intercession for vs.

For such an hye p[re]st it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmlesse, undefiled, separate fro synners, made hyer then heauen. Which nedeth not dayly (as p[re]der hye p[re]stes) * to offer by sacrifice. Iyest for his awne synnes and then for p[re] peoples synnes. For that dyd he once, when he offered by hym selfe. * For p[re] lawe maketh men p[re]stes, which haue infirmities: but the worde of p[re] oth that came sentence the lawe, maketh p[re] sonne p[re]ste, which is perfecte for euermore.

The. viii. Chapter.

The office of Christ is more worthy then the p[re]stes office of the olde lawe, whiche was vnperfecte, and therefore abrogate.

If the thynges which we haue spoken, thys is the p[re]st: that * we haue such an hye p[re]st as sytteth on the ryght hande of the seate of maiestye in heauen, and is a mynister of holy thynges, and of the true tabernacle, which God pyght, and not man. For euery hye p[re]st is ordeyned to offer gyftes and sacrificys: wherefore it is of necessity, that this man haue some what also to offer. For he were not a p[re]st, yf he were on the erth where are p[re]stes, that accordynge to the lawe offer gyftes which serue vnto the ensample, and shadowe of heauenly thynges: euen as the answer of God was geuen vnto Moses, when he was about to synysse the tabernacle. * Take hede (sayde he) that thou make all thynges accordynge to the patrone which is shewed to the in the mount.

But now hath he obtayned a p[re]sthode so moch the more excellent, as he is the mediator of a better testament, which was confirmed in better promysse. For yf that fyrst testamēt had bene such, p[re] no faule coulde haue bene founde in it, then shulde no place haue bene sought for the seconde. For in rebu- kynge them, he sayth vnto them. * Beholde the dayes come (sayth the Lorde) and I wyll synysse vpon the house of Irael, and vpon the house of Iuda, a new testament, not like p[re] testamēt that I made with theyr fathers in p[re] daye, when I toke them by the handes, to leade the out of the land of Egypte. For they contynued not in my testament, and I regarded them not sayth the Lorde.

For this is the testamēt, that I wyll make w[ith] the house of Irael: After those dayes (sayth p[re] Lorde) I wyll put my lawes in their myndes, and in their hertes I wyll wyte the, and I wyll be their God, and they shalbe my people. And they shall not teach euery man his

The profit & worthinesse of the olde testament and how farre the new excellith, 23 The olde testament then had brely ordynaunces, and seruinges of God, and wordly holynes. * For there was a foze tabernacle made, wherein was the lyght, and the table, and the shew bred, whych hys called holy. But woithin the seconde vayne was there a tabernacle, whych is called holpest of all, whych had the golde scenser, and the arcke of the testament ouerlayde round about with golde, wherin was the golden pot with * Manna, and * Aarons rodde, that spronge and * the tables of the testamēt. Quere the arcke were the Cherubins of gloiy, shadowyng s̄ seate of grace. Of which thynges we cannot now speake particularly.

When these things were thus ordeyned, the prestes went all wayes into the fyrst tabernacle, whych executed þe seruice of þe holy thynges. But into the seconde went the hye prest alone * once euery yere: not wyth out bloud * which he offered for him selfe, and for the ignoraunces of the people. Wherwith þe holy goost thys signified, that the waye of holy thynges was not yet opened, whyll as yet þe fyrst tabernacle was stadyng. Which was a symilitude for the tyme then presente, in which were offered gyftes and sacrifices, that coulde not make the minister perfecte, as pertayning to the cōscience, wyth onely meates & drinckes, & diuers washynges and iustifynges of the fleshe, whych were ordeyned vntyll the tyme of refozmacyon.

✠ But ✠ Christ beinge and hys Priest of good thynges to come, came by a greater & a more perfecte tabernacle, not made wth hādes: that is to saye, not of thys buylding, nether by the bloude of goates & calves: but ✠ by hys awne bloude he entred in once into the holy place, and founde eternall redempeyon. ✠

ffor yf the * bloud of oxen and of goates & & althes of a yong kowe, whē it was sprinck-led, purifieth the vnclene, as touchyng the purifyinge of the fleshe: how moch moare shall the bloud of Christ (which thorow the eternall sprete, offered him self without spot to God) pouрге poure conscience from deed workes, for to serue the lyvinge God?

And for this cause is he the * mediator of the new testamēt, that thozow deeth which chauned, for the redemption of those transgressiōs that were vnder the fyrst testamēt they whych are called, myght receaue þ promise of eternall inheritaunce. ¶ For where as is a testament, ther must also (of necessity) be þ deeth of hym that maketh the testament. For the testament taketh auctoritie whē mē are deed: for it is yet of no value, as lōge as he þ maketh þ testamēt is alue, for which cause also nether þ first testamēt was ordeyned without bloude. For whē Moses had declared all the commaundement to all the people according to the lawe, he toke the bloud of calves and of goates, with water & purple wolle, and plope, and spryckled both the booke, & all the people, saying: * this is þ bloud of the testamēt, whych God hath appointed vnto you. Moreover, he spryckled the tabernacle wyth bloud also, and all the ministringe vessels. And almost all thinges are by the lawe purged with bloud, & without shedding of bloud is no remission.

It is neede the, that the similitudes of heauently thynges: be purifyed wth soch thynges: but that the heauenly thynges them sel-ues be purifyed wth better sacrifices then are those. * For Christ is not entred into pholp places that are made wth handes (whych are ymmitudes of true thynges) but is en-tred into very heauen, for * to appeare now in the syght of God for vs: not to offer hym selfe oft * as the hye priest entrecheth into a pholy place euery yere with straunge blood, for the must he haue often offered sence p worlde began. But now in the ende of the worlde, hath he appeared once, to put sinne to flight by the offeringe vp of him selfe. And as it is apoynted vnto all men that they shall once dye, and then cometh the iudgemēt * euen so Christ was once offered, to take awaye p sin-nes of many, & vnto them that loke for hym shall he appcare agayne without synne vnto saluacion.

The.r. Chapter.

The olde lawe had no power to cleanse awaie synne, but Christe dyd it with offeringe of his body once for all. An exhortacio to receaue this good newe of God thanckfully with patience and stedfast faith.

For the lawe (haupnge the * Chadow of good thynges to come, and not þ very falshion of þ thynges the selues) can neuer with those sacrifices which they offer; peare by peare continually make the comers therunto partapt.
For wold not then those sacrifices haue ceased to haue bene offred, because that the offerers once purged shuld haue had no more co-science of synnes? Neuer thelesse, in those sa-crifces, is there mencyon made of synnes eury peare. * For the bloude of oxen and of goates can not take awaye synnes.

Eyth is a sure confydence of thynges, whych are hoped for, & a certayntie of thynges whych are not sene. For by it the elders obtayned a good reporte.
Therfore sayth we vnderstande, that the woorde was ordeyned by y^e woorde of God, and that thynges whych are sene, were made of thynges * whych were not sene. * Wh^{er} sayth Abel offered vnto God a more plenteous sacrifice thyn Cayn: by whych he obteyned witness y^e he was ryghteous, God testyfyinge of his gyftes: by whych also he becyng deyd, yet speaketh.

By fayth was * Enoch translated, & he god had take hi awaye. For a foze he was take awaye, he obtayned a good reporte, & he pleased God: but without fayth it can that he is a rewarder of thē that seke hym.

obeyed, to go out into a place, which he should afterwarde receaue to inheritaunce: & he went out, not knowing whether he should go.

By faith he remoued into the land of promise, as into a strange countre, whā he had dwelt in tabernacles: & so dyd Isaac & Jacob by faith in hym of the same promises. For he looked for a cytie hauing a foundacyon, whose buylder and maker is God.

By faith Sara also receaued strength to conceaue and be with chylde, and was deliuered of a childe whē she was past age, because she iudged hym faithful which had promysed.

And therefore sprake ther of one (eue of one) which was as good as deed: so many in multitude as are the starres of the skye, & as the sand, which is by the se. Innumerable.

These all dyed accordyng to faith. And whā they had not receaued the promises: but sawe them a farre off, and beleued them, & saluted them, and cōfessed, that they were straungers and pilgrims on the erthe. For they that saye such thynges, declare, that they seke a countre. Also yf they had bene myndfull of the countre, from whence they came out, they had leasure to haue returned agayne: but now they desyre a better (which is to saye) a heauenly. Wherefore God himselfe is not ashamed to be called theyr God: for he hath prepared for them a cite.

By faith Abraham offered up Isaac, when he was proued, and he offered him being his only begotten sonne, in who he had receaued the promyses. And to hym it was sayde, in Isaac shall thy seed be called: for he considered, that God was able to raise up agayne from death. Therefore, receaued he also for an ensample of the resurreccion. By faith dyd Isaac blesse Jacob and Esau, concerning thynges to come.

By faith Jacob when he was a dying, blessed both the sonnes of Joseph, & bowed hym selfe toward the toppe of hyr scepter.

By faith Joseph when he dyed, remembred the departing of the childe of Israel, & gaue commaundement of hyr bones. By faith Moses when he was borne was hyd thre monethes of his father & mother because they sawe he was a proper childe, nether feared they the kynge's commaundement.

By faith Moses when he was great, refused to be called the sonne of Pharaos daughter, & chose rather to suffre aduersitie with the people of God, then to enioye the pleasures of synne for a season, and esteemed the rebuke of Christ greater riches then the treasures of Egypt. For he had respect vnto the rewarde.

By faith he forsoke Egypt & feared not the fearce of the king. For he endured, eue as though he had sene hym which is invisible.

By faith he ordeyned the pasche, & the feast of unleaue, lest he should be destroyed of the fyrst borne, shoulde touch them.

By faith they passed the red sea as by drye lande: which when the Egypci- ans had assayed to do, they were drowned.

By faith the walles of Jericho fell downe after they were compassed about seue daies.

By faith the harlot Raab perished not with them that were disobedient, when she had receaued the spyes to lodgyng peaceably.

And what shall I more saye: for the tyme will be to shew for me to tell of Sedon, of Barach, & of Sappho, & of Jephthah, & of David also, & Samuel, & of the Prophetes: which by faith subdued kingdomes, wrought righteousness, obteyned the promyses: stopped the mouthes of the unbeli- uers: & escaped the edge of the sword: were made strong: waxed valiant in fight: turned to flight the armies of the alienes: the women receaued theyr deede rayled to life agayne.

Other were racked, & wolde not be deli- uered, but they myght inherite a better resurreccion. Agayne, other were tried with mockynges & scourges, moreouer, with bondes & prisonment: were stoned, were hewed with the sword, were tempted, were slayned, & were made strong: walked by & downe in the skynnes, and goates skynnes, being destitute, troubled & vexed: which meane word was not worthy of: they waded in wildernesses: & in mountaynes, and in denes, and caues of erth.

And these all by faith obtained good reposte, & receaued not the promyses, because God had prouided a better thing for vs, which we out vs shuld not be made perfecte.

An exhortacion to be patient & steadfast in trou- ble and aduersite, vpon hope of euerglasting re- ward. A commendacion of the new Testament a bove the olde.

The xiiij. Chapter.

Wherefore, let vs also (sayng that we are compassed with so great a multitude of witnesses) laye awaye all that presseth downe, and the synne which hangeth so fast on, let vs runne with paciēce vnto the battayle which is set before vs, looking vnto Jesus the captayne & finisher of our faith, which (for the ioye he was set before him) a- bode the crosse, & despised the shame, & is set downe on the ryghte hande of the throne of God. Onsyder therefore, how he endu- red such speakyng agaynst hym of synners lest he shuld be wepyed and saynte in your myndes. For he haue not yet respyed vnto blood, stryving agaynst synne. And haue forgotten the exhortacion, which speaketh vnto you as vnto children: my sonne, des- pylle not thou the chastening of the Lord, ne- ther saynt, when thou art rebuked of hym: for whom the Lord loueth, hym he chasteneth: yee ye, he scourgeth euery sonne which he receaueth.

If ye endure chastening, God offereth him selfe vnto you as vnto sonnes. What sonne is he whom the father chasteneth not? If ye be not vnder correccion (where of all are part takers) then are ye bastards, and not sonnes. Therefore sayng we haue had fathers of our fleshe which corrected vs, & we gaue them reuerence: shall we not moche rather be in subieccion vnto the father of spirites, & lyue? And they verely for a fewe daies, mistred vs after theyr owne pleasure: but he nurteth vs for our profit, to the intent that he maye mynister of his holynes vnto vs. No maner chastysing for the present tyme seemeth to be ioyous, but greuous: neuertheles afterwarde, it bringeth the quyet frute of ryghte welnes, vnto the which are exercysed therby.

Stretch forth therefore your handes which were let downe, and the weake knees: and let that ye haue straght stepes vnto your fete, lest euery halting turne you out of the waye: yee let it rather be healed. Follow prynces with all men and holynes: without the which no man shall see the Lord. And lo- ke, yf no mā be destitute of the grace of god, lest anye roote of bytternes spryng up and trouble, & thereby many be defiled: yf ther be no fornicator, or vncleane person, as Esau which for one mease of meate sold his byrthright. For ye knowe how that after warde when he wolde by inheritaunce haue obtayned blessing, he was put by, for he founde no place of repentance, though he sought it with teares.

For ye are not come vnto the mounte which is touched, & vnto burnyng fyre, nor vnto storme, & darcknes, and tempestes of wed- der, and sounde of a trope, and the voyce of wordes: which voyce, they (that heard it) wyllyng awaie, that the comunicacyon shuld not be spoken to the, for they coulde not abyde that which was commaunded.

If a beast touche the mountayne, it shall be stoned, or thrust thorow with a dart: so terrible was the syght which appeared. Mo- ses sayde: I feare and quake. But ye are come vnto the mount Syon, and to the cite of the liuynge God, the celestiaall Ierusalem: and to an innumerable syght of angels, and vnto the congregacion of the fyrst borne son- nes: which are wyrtten in heauen, and to God, the iudge of all, & to the spretes of iust and perfecte men, and to Jesus the media- tor of the new testament, & to the sprynk- lyng of blood that speaketh better then the blood of Abel.

See that ye despyse not hym, which speaketh. For yf they escaped not, which refused hym that spake on erth: moche more shall we not escape, yf we turne awaye from hym, that speaketh from heauen: whose voyce then shoke the erth, and now hath declared say- inge: yet once more will I shake, not the erth onely, but also heauen. Where as he sayth: yet once more, it signifyeth the remouynge awaye of those thynges which are shaken: as of thinges which haue ended their cour- se: that the thynges which are not shaken, maye remayne. Wherefore, yf we receaue the kyngdome which can not be moued, we haue grace, whereby we maye so serue God, and that we maye please hym with reue- rence, and godly feare. For oure God is a consuming fyre.

The exhortacion to loue, to hospitalite, to thankes upon such as be in aduersite, to magnifye ne medlocke, to auoyde courtousnesse, to make moche of them that preach Gods woide, to be ma- ze of strauing leauynge: to be content to suffre ce- tike with Christ, to be thankfull vnto God, and obedient vnto such as be in auctorite.

Et brotherly loue continue. Be not forgetfull to lodge straungers, for therby haue dyuers men lodged an- gels vntowares. Remember them that are in bondes, euen as though ye were bounde to the your selues. Be myndfull of the which are in aduersite, as ye which are yet in the bodye. Medlocke is to be had in honoure among all men, and the bed vndeyle. As for whose keepers & aduocaters God shall iudge them. Let your conuersacion be with out courtousnes and be cōtent with such thynges as ye haue all ready. For he hath sayd: I will not fayle the, nether forsake the: so that we maye boldly saye: the Lord is my helper, and I will not feare what mā maye do vnto me. Remember them which haue the ouersyght of you, which haue spo- ken vnto you the woide of God. Whose sayth se that ye folowe, and consider the ende of theyr conuersacion.

Jesus Christ yesterdaye and to daye, and the same continueth for euer. Be not carped aboute with diuers and straunge le- arnyng. For it is a good thyng that yher- te be stablyshed with grace, ad not with mea- tes, which haue not proffeted them that ha- ue had theyr pastyme in them. We haue an autler, wherof they maye not eate, which serue in the tabernacle. For the bodies of those beastes whose blood is brought into the holy place by the hye prest to purge syn- ne, are burnt with out the tentes. There- fore Jesus also to sanctifye the people with hyr owne blood, suffered without the ga- te. Let vs go forth therefore vnto hym, out of the tentes, and suffer rebuke with hym. For here haue we no continyng cytie: but we seke one to come.

By hym therefore do we offer sacrifice of lau- de alwayes to God: which is to saye, the frute of those lippes, which confesse his name. To do hym ii good

Harken my deare beloued brethren. Hath not kyl. Though thou do none adulterye, gressor of y lawe. So speake ye, and so do, you saye vnto them: departe in peace, God sed you warmnes & fode, notwithstanding ye geue the not those thinges which are ned-ful to the body, what shal it helpe? Euen so fayth, yf it haue no dedes: is deed in it selfe.

haue dedes: shewe me thy fayth by thy deued God, and it was reputed vnto hym for wyse also, was not Raab the harlot iusti-fied thozow workes, * when she had recea-ued the messengers, and had sent the out

The. iiii. Chapter.

My brethren, * be not euery mā a master, knowyng how y we shal recea-ue y greater damnaciō: for in many thinges we synne all. * If a man synne not in worde, y same is a perfecte mā, & able also to tame all y body. Beholde, we put bittes in to y horses mouthes, y they maye o-beye vs, & we turne aboute all the body of the. Beholde also y byppes, which though they be so great, & are bypue of fearee wy-des, yet are they turned about wyth a very small helme whyther soeuer y violence of y gouerner will. Euen so the tonge is a lytel member also, and boasteth great thynges.

* Galath. xlii. c.

* 1. Cor. xlii. a.

Beholde, how gret a thyng a lytel tyte kyndleth, and the tonge is fyre, eue a worlde of wychednes. So is the tonge set amonge oure members, that it despleth the whole body, and setteth a fyre all that we haue of nature, and is it selfe set a fyre euen of hell.

* 1. Cor. xlii. a.

All the natures of beastes, and of byrdes, and of serpentes, & thinges of y see are ma-ked and tamed of the nature of man. But y tonge can no man tame. It is an vnderly euill, full of deadly poyson. Cher is blyssed men, * which are made after the * image and symilitude of God.

* Galath. xlii. c.

Out of one mouth procedeth blessing and cursyng. My brethren, these thiges ought not so to be. Dorth geue bothe salt water & freshe also. Yf eny mā be wyse & endued w knowledge amonge ynst the tructh: For soch wysdome descen-deth not fro aboue: but is erthy, naturall, & re is vnstableness, & all māner of euill wor-

of ryghte welnes is soken in peace, of them that mayntene peace.

Warre and lightynge cometh of bawpconnes: nelle. The frend of the world is enemye to God. An erbytyon to the sinner and the bawpcon of the lyfe.

The.iii. Chapter.

Rom whence cometh warre, and fpyghtynge amonge you? come they not here hence? euen of your lusstes, that fight in your members? Ye lust, and haue not. Ye enuy & haue indignacyon, & can not obayne. Ye fight & warre. Ye haue not because ye aske not. Ye aske and receaue not, because ye aske amysse: euen to consume it vpon your lusses. Ye aduouterars, and women þe biche matrimonye: knowe ye not how that the frendshipp of the worlde is enemye to God? whosoer therfore wilbe a frend of þe worlde, is made þe enemye of God. Ether do ye thynke þe scripture sayth in vayne. The spyte þe dwelleth in vs, luste th enuy cōtra- ry to enuy: but greute more grace (wherefore he sayeth: God resisteth the proude, but greute grace vnto the lowly.)

Submit your selues therfore to God: but resist þe deuyll, and he will flye from you. Drawe nye to God, and he will drawe nye to you. Clese your handes ye sinners, & poure ge your hertes ye wantynge mynded. Suffer afflictions & mourne, & wepe. Let your laughter be turned to mourning, & poure lope to heynnes. * Humble your selues i þ sight of þe lord, & he shal lyft you vp. Back- byte not one another, brethren. He þe back- byteth his brother, & he þe iudgeth hys bro- ther, backbyteth the lawe, and iudgeth the lawe. But & yf þe iudge þe lawe, þe art not an obsecr of þe lawe: but a iudge. Ther is o- ne lawe geuer (and iudge) which is able to sa- ue and to destroye. * What art thou þe iud- gest another? So to now ye that saye: to daye and to morow let vs go into such a ci- ty, and continue there a yere, and bye and sell, and wyne: & yet can not ye tell, what shal happen on þe morow. For what thing is your lyfe? It is euen a vapour, that ap- peth for a lytell tyme, and then vanissheth awaye: for that ye ought to saye: * yf the Lord will, and yf we lyue, let vs do this or that. But now ye reioyce in your boastyn- ges. All such reioysynge is euill. Therfore to hym that knoweth how to do good, ad doth it not, to hym it is synne.

The chateyneth the wicked wyche men, exhorteth vnto patience, to beware of swearing. One to knowe howe he shal faule to another, one to praye for another, and one to laboure to bringe another to the truth.

The. v. Chapter.

To now ye ryche men. Wepe, ad howle on your wretchednes þe shal come vpon you. Your riches is cor- rupte, your garmentes are moth-eaten. Your golde & syluer is cankered, and the rust of the shalbe a wytnes vnto you, & shal eate your fleshe as it were fyre.

Ye haue heaped treasure together: (ye haue bought to your selues) in your last dayes: Beholde * þe fyre of labourers which haue reaped dothone your feldest (which fyre is of you kept backe by fraude) cryeth: & the cryes of the which haue reaped, are entred in to þe eares of þe Lord Sabaoth. Ye haue lynced in pleasure on the erthe, & bene wantā. Ye haue noysshed your hertes, as in a daye of slaughter. Ye haue condemned and kyled the iust, and he hath not resisted you.

Ye paciet therfore brethren, vnto þe comynge of þe Lord. Beholde, þe husbande man wayteth for þe precious frute of the earth, & hath lōge paciet ther vpon, vntill he receaue þe early & the latter rayne. Ye ye also patient therfore, and settle your hertes, for the comynge of þe Lord draweth nye. Judge not one agaynst another brethren lest ye be damned. Scholde, þe iudge stādeth before the doore. Take (my brethren) þe prophetes for an ensample of sufferinge aduer- sytie, and of pacience, which spake in þe name of the Lord. Beholde, * we counte the happy which endure. Ye haue heard of the pacience of Job, and haue knowe what ende the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitiefull and mercyfull.

But aboute all thynges my brethren * we are not, nether by heuē, nether by erthe, ne- ther eny other othe. Let your yee be yee, ad pour naye naye: lest ye fall into ypcrisy. If any of you be vexed, let hi praye. If eny of you be in mery, let him synge psalmes. If eny be discaled amonge you, let hym call for the elders of the congregacyon, and let the praye ouer him, & anoynte him with oyle in the name of the Lord, and the prayer of fayth shal saue the sycke, and the Lord shal rayse him vp: and yf he haue commyt- ted synnes, they shalbe forgouen hym.

Knowledge your fautes one to ano- ther: and praye one for another, & ye maye be healed. For the true prayer of a ryghteous man auayleth much. Iheras was a man vnder infirmities euen as we are, and he prayed in his prayer that it myght not rayne: * and it rayned not on the erthe by þe space of thre yeres & fyre monethes. And he prayed agayne, and the heauē gaue rayne, and the earth brought forth her frute.

Brethren, yf eny of you do erre from the truth and another conuert hym, let the same knowe that he which conuerteth the syn- ner from goynge a straye out of hys waye, shal saue a soule from deeth, and shal hyde the multitude of synnes.

The fyrt Epistle of saynt Peter the Apostle.

The fyrt Chapter.

The chateyneth that thow the abundant mercy of God we are begotten agayne to a lyuely hope: thow fayth must be tryed, how the saluacyon in Christ is no newes, but a thinge prophesied of alde. Therfore let them to a godly conuersacyon, for so much as they are now boyned ane we by the woode of God.

Peter an Apostle of Iesu Christ, to them that dwell * here and there as straun- thorowout Pontus, Gala- cia, Capadocya: Asia, and Bithynia, electe accordyng to þe knowledge of God þe farthe thorow the sanctifyng of the spyte vnto obedience & * sprynklynge of the bloude of Iesus Christ.

Grace be wyth you and peace be mul- tiplied. * Blessed be God the father of oure Lord Iesus Christ, whych accordyng to his abundant mercye begat vs agayne vnto a lyuely hope (by that that Iesus Christ ro- se agayne from deeth) to an inheritaunce im- mortall and vndefyled, and that perissheth not, reserved in heauen for you, whych are kept by the power of of God thorow fayth, Vnto saluacion, whych is prepared allready to be shewed in the last tyme, in the whych ye reioyce, though now for a season (yf nece- require) ye are in heynnes, thorowe mani- folde temptacyons, that the triall of your fayth beyng moche more precious then gol- de that perissheth (though it be * tryed with fyre) myght be foude vnto laude, glory and honoure, at the apperyng of Iesus Christ, whos ye haue not sene, & yet loue hym, i who- me euen now, & though ye se hym not, yet do you beleue, and reioyce with lope vnspeak- able and glorious: reccourge the ende of your fayth, euen the saluacyon of your soules.

Of whych saluacyon haue * the prophetes enuyred and searched, whych prophe- syed of the grace that shuld come vnto you, searchyng when or at what tyme the spyte of Christ (whych was in them) shuld sygni- fy, whych spyte testified before, & passyng that shuld happen vnto Christ, & the glory that shulde folowe after, vnto whych pro- phetes it was also declared, þe not vnto the selues, but vnto vs, they shulde minyster the thynges whych are now shewed vnto you of the, whych (by the holy goost * sent downe fro heauen) haue in the Gospell preached vnto you the thynges, whych the angels de- fyre to beholde.

Wherfore * gyde by the loynes of your mynde, be sober, & trust perfectly on þe grace that is brought vnto you (by þe declarynge of Iesus Christ) as obedient chyldren, & ye ge- ne not your selues ouer vnto your olde lus- tes, by whych ye were led, when as yet ye were ignorant of Christ: but as he which cal- led you, is holy, euen so be ye holy also in all maner of conuersacyon, because it is writte. * Be holy, for I am holy.

And yf so be that ye call on þe father, which wythout respect of person iudgeth: accordyng to euery mannes worke, se that ye passe the tyme of your pilgrimage in feare. * For as much as ye knowe, how that ye were not redeemed wyth corruptible thynges (as syl- uer & golde, from your wayne conuersacio, whych ye receaued by the tradicion of the fa- thers: but * w þe precious bloude of Christ, as of a lambe vndefyled, and wythout spot, whych was ordeyned before hande, euen be- fore þe worlde was made: but was declared in the last tymes: for your sakes, whych by his meanes do beleue on God, & prayse hym vnto deeth, & * glorified hym, & ye might haue fayth and hope toward God: euen ye whych haue purifyed your soules thorow the spyte, in obeynge the trueth wyth bō- therly loue vnsapned, se that ye loue one ano- ther wyth a pure hert feruently: for ye are bo- ne a newe, not of mortall seed, but of immor- tall, by the woode of God, which lyueth and lasteth for euer.

For all fleshe is grasse, and all the glo- ry of mā is as the floure of grasse. The gras- se wyddereth, and the floure falleth awaye, but the woode of the Lord endureth euer. * And thys is the woode, whych by the Gos- pell was preached vnto you.

The.ii. Chapter.

The chateyneth men to lye asyde all vice, to abstey- ne from fleshy lustes, and to obeye wordly rulers. How seruantes shuld be haue them selues toward their masters. The chateyneth to suffer after the ensam- ple of Christ.

Wherfore lye asyde all mali- ciousnes & al gyle, & sayned- nesse & enuy and all backby- tinge: * as new bozne ba- bes, desyre ye þe mylke (not of the body but of the soule) which is w out disceate: & ye maye growe ther by: * vnto saluacion. If so be þe ye haue tasted, how gracious the Lord is, to whos ye come, as vnto a lyuige stone, disa- lowed of mē, but chosē of God & precio: & ye as lyuige stones, are made a spretuall house an holy presthode, for to offer vnto spretuall sa- crifyces, acceptable to God by Iesus Christ.

Wherfore it is cōtayned also in þe scripture: * Beholde I put i Sion a stone to be layed i þe che- fe corner, electe & precious. & he þe beleneth on him shal not be cofounded. Vnto you therfore whych beleue he is precious: but vnto them which beleue not: þe stone which þe buylders re- fused, the same is begonne to be þe hed of the * in the corner, corner, and a stone that men stumbe at, and a rocke wherat they be offended whych stōble at the worde, and belue not that, wher on they were set. But ye are a chosen generacion, a royall * presthod, an holy nacyon, a people whych are wonne: that ye shuld be we the veruies of hym, that called you out of darkenes into hys mercurious lyght, * whych in tyme past were not a people, but are now the people of God: whych some time had not optayned mercede, but now haue optayned mercede. ¶

* Dearly beloued, I beseeche you as straungers and pylgryms, abstayne * from fleshly lustes, whych fygth against the soule, & se that ye haue honest conuersacion amōge the Gentyles, that where as they backbite you as euill doers * they maye se your good workes, and prayse God in the daye of dyspatcion. ¶

* Submitte your selues therfore vnto all maner ordinaunce of man for the lordes sake, whether it be vnto the kyng, as vnto the chiefe heed: other vnto rulers, as vnto them that are sent of hym, for the punysshment of euill doers, but for the laude of them, that do well. For so is the wyll of God, that wyth well doyng ye maye stoppe the mouthes of foolys & ignorant men: as fre, & not as haueing the lybertie for a cloake of malicioussnes, but euen as the seruantes of God * ho noure all men. Loue brotherly felethpype, feare God, honoure the kyng. ¶

* Seruantes, obey your masters wth feare not onely yf they be good & courtous: but also though they be frowarde * for it is thā he worthe. ¶ yf a mā for cōscience toward God endure grete, and suffer wrong vnder seruice. For what prayse is it, yf when ye be buffeted for your fautes, ye take it patiently? But yf when ye do well, ye suffer wronge & take it patiently, then is ther thāke to God. ¶

For here vnto verely were ye called: for Christ also suffered for vs * leauynge vs an ensample, that ye shulde folowe his stepes, whych dyd no synne, nether was there gyle found in hys mouth: whych whē he was reuyled, reuyled not agayne: when he suffered, he threatened not, but committed the vengeance to hym that iudgeth ryghteously * whych hys awne seife bare our synnes in his body on the tree, that we being deliuered from synne, shuld lyue vnto ryghteousnes: w^{ch} whose stryppes ye were healed. For ye were as shepe goyng astraye: but are now turned vnto the shepheard and byshepe of your soules. ¶

The .iiij. Chapter.

¶ Both thyngs oughte to orde the selues toward their husbandes, & in thys apperell. The outye of men towe ned they wyues. He exhorteth all mē to vniue and loue, and patiently to suffre trouble. w^{ch} baptysme.

Like wyse * ye wyues be in subieccion to your husbandes, that euen they whych obeye not the worde, maye without the worde be wōne by the conuersacion of the wyues, whych they beholde your chaste conuersacion coupled wyth feare. Whose apperell shall not be outward w^{ch} dyed heare, & hangyng on of golde, ether in puttyng on of gozgyous apparell: but let the hyd mā whych is in the herte, be without all corrupcyon, so that the sprete be at rest and quyet: whych sprete is before God a thyng moche set by. For after this maner in the olde tyme dyd the holy women whych trusted in God, tye them selues, and were obedient to their husbandes, euen as Sara obeyed Abraham, and called hym Lorde: whose daughters ye are, as longe as ye do well, & are not astrayde for anye tereour. ¶

Like wyse, ye mē, dwell with them accordyng to knowledge: geuyng honoure vnto the wife, as vnto yf weaker vessel, & as vnto them yf are he yf also of the grace of Ipe that your prayers be not hyndred. ¶ In cōclusyon, be ye all of one mynde, of one hart & loue as brethren, be pettifull, be courtous, & meke: not rebrynging euill for euill, or rebuking for rebuke: but cōtrarywise, blesse: knowinge that ye are ther vnto called, euen that ye shulde be hepyes of the blesynge. ¶ For he that doth longe after Ipe, and loueth to se good dayes, let hym refrayne his tōge from euill, & his lippes yf they speake not gyle. Let hys chere euill, & do good: let him seke peace, and ensue it. For the eyes of yf Lord are ouer the ryghteous, and hys cares are open vnto their prayers. Agayne, the face of the Lord is ouer them that do euill. ¶

* Woouer, who is it that wyll harne you, yf ye folowe yf whych is good? Yee, * happy are ye, yf anye trouble happen vnto you for rightewelsse sake. ¶ Be not ye astrayde for anye tereour of them, nether be ye troubled but sanctifye the Lord God in your hertes. ¶ Be ready allwayes to geue an answer to euery mā that asketh you a reason of yf hope that is in you, and that with meaknes and feare: hauynge a good conscience * that where as they backbite you as euill doers, they maye be ashamed, yf falsely accuse your good conuersacion in Christ. ¶

* For it is better (yf the wyll of God be so) that ye suffre for well doyng, then for euill doynge. ¶

* For as much as Christ hath once suffered for synners, yf Iust for the vniue, to bring vs to God, and was kylled, as pertayninge to the fleshe: but was quychened in the sprete. ¶

In whych sprete he also went & preached vnto the spretes that were in pelson, which some some tyme had bene disobeyent. when the longe sufferynge of God was once looked for in the dayes of Noe * whych the arche was a prepayng: * wherin few, that is to saye viij. soules, were saued by the water, like as baptysme also now sauerth vs, not the puttyng awaye of the fylth of the fleshe, but in that a good consen. nce consenteth to God, by the resurrecyon of Iesus Christ, whych is on the ryghte hādē of God: & and is gone into heauen, * angels, powers, and myght subdued vnto hym. ¶

The .iiij. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth men to cease from synne, and no man to sinne as an euill doer, but as a Christen man.

¶ As much then as Christ hath suffered for vs in the fleshe, arme ye your selues lyke wyse with the same mynde: for he whych suffereth in the fleshe, ceaseth from synne that he hence forwarde shulde lyue (as much tyme as remayneth in the fleshe) not after the lustes of men, but after the wyll of God. For it is sufficient for vs, that we haue spent the tyme that is past of the Ipe, after the wyll of the * Gentyls, walkyng in wantannes, lustes, in excelle of wynges, in excelle of caryng, in excelle of drunke, & in abomynable ydolatrie. ¶

And it semeth to the an incommēt thynge, that ye runne not also with them vnto yf same excelle of ryote, & therfore speake they euill of you, whych shall geue accomptes to him, that is ready to iudge quicke and deed. For vnto thys purpose verely was yf Gospel preached also vnto the deed, that they shuld be indged lyke other men in the fleshe, but shuld lyue before God in the sprete. The ende of al thyngs is at hande. ¶

* Be ye therfore sober, and watch vnto prayer. But aboue all thynges haue feruet lone among your selues. For lone shall couer the multitude of synnes. ¶ Be ye herberous one to another, & wythout grudgyng. As euery man hath receaued the gyfte, euen so mynister the same one to another, as good mynisters of the manyfolde grace of God. ¶

If eny man speake, let him talke as the wordes of God. * If eny man mynister, let him do it as * of the abylyte, whych God mynystreth vnto hym. That God in all thynges maye be glorified thorow Iesus Christ, to whom be prayse and dominion for euer and euer. Amen. ¶

Dearly beloued, maye naye not that ye are proued by fyre (whych thyng is to trye you) as though some straunge thing happened vnto you: but reioyce, in as much as ye are partakers of Christes passyons: that when hys glory appereth, ye maye be merry and glad. * If ye be rayled vpon for yf name of Christ, happye are ye. For the glory and the sprete of God resteth vpon you. On their parte he is euill spoken of: but on your parte he is glorified. ¶

Se yf none of you be punysshed as a murderer, or as a thefe, or an euill doer, or as a bulshody in other mens matters. If eny mā suffer as a Christen mā, let him not be ashamed: but let hi glorifye God on this chalfe. For the tyme is come, that iudgement must begynne at the house of God. If it fyrst begynne at vs, what shall the ende be of them, whych belue not the Gospel of God? And * yf the ryghteous scarcely be saued: where shall yf vngodly ad yf synner appere? Wherefore, let the yf are troubled accordyng to the wyll of God, cōmyt their soules to him wyth well doynge, as vnto a fapthfull creatoz. ¶

The .v. Chapter.

¶ A speciall exhortacion for all byshopes and pastores. He exhorteth pōge persones to subiect them selues to the eldē, and euery one to loue another.

¶ The eldērs which are amonge you, I exhort, which am also an elder, and a wytnes of the affliccyons of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shal be opened: * feare ye Christes flocke, as much as lyeth in you, takynge the ouersyght of them, not as compelled thereto, but wyllingly: * (after a godly sort) not for the desyre of fylthy lucre: but of a good mynde, * not as though ye were lordes ouer the parish: but * that ye be an ensample to the flocke * (and that wyth good will). And when the chiefe theperd shall appere, yf that receaue, * an incorruptible crowne of glory. Lyke wyse ye pōge, submitte your selues vnto the elder: Submitte your selues euery man, one to another, knytte your selues together in lowlynes of mynde. For God resisteth the proude, and geueth grace to the humble. ¶ Submitte your selues therfore vnder the myghty hande of God, that he maye craite you, when the tyme is come. * Cast all your care vpon him: for he careth for you. ¶

Be sober and watch, for your aduersary yf deuyll as a roaring lyon * walketh about, seekyng whom he maye deuoure: * whom resist stedfast in the fapth, knowing, yf the same affliccyons are apoynted vnto your brethren, that are in the worlde. But the God of all grace whych hath called vs vnto hys eternall glory by Christ Iesus, shall hys awne seife (after that ye haue suffered a lytell affliccyon) make you perfect: settle, strength and stablish you. To him be glory and dominion for euer, and euer. Amen. ¶

By Syluanns a fapthfull brother vnto you (as I suppose) haue I wyrtten bryfly, exhortyng and testifyng, how that thys is the true grace of God, wherin ye stande. The cōgregacyon of them whych at Babylon are companyons of your electyon, salu-

The secōde Epistle

of Sapient Peter.

The fyrste Chapter.

As for so much as the power of God hath geuen vs all thynges pertainyng vnto lyfe, he exhorts us to make sure saluacyon knowynge by good workes, and frutes of fayth. We make this mēpōn of hys auncient deeth.

Simon Peter a seruant, and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, to them whych haue obta-yned lykē precyous fayth w vs thozow fygthwelsnes of oure God ad sauoure Jesus Christ.

* Grace be vnto you, and peace be multy-plyed thozow the knowledge of God and of Jesus oure Lorde. Accordyng as his godly power hath geuen vnto vs all thynges that pertaine vnto lyfe and godlynes, thozow the knowledge of him that hath called vs by gloze, and vertue, by the whych are geuen vnto vs excellent and moſte greate promy-ſes, that by the meanes therof ye myght be * partakers of the godly nature, pſe ſpe p corrupeyon of worldly lust.

And herunto geue all diligence: in poure fayth mynyſter vertue: vertue knowledge:
* in knowledge temperaunce, in tempera-unce patience: in patience godlynes, in god-lynes brotherly kyndnes, in brotherly kynd-nes loue. For yf theſe thynges be amonge you, and be plenteous, they wyll make you that ye nether ſhal be ydle nor vnfructfull in the knowledge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ.
But he that lacketh theſe thynges, is blynde and gropeth for the waye wyth his hāde, and hath forgotten, that he was purged from hys olde ſynnes.

Wherefore brethren, geue the more diligence for to make your calling & eleccō ſure * by good workes. For yf ye do ſoch thynges, ye ſhall neuer fail. And by this meanes an entrynge in ſhal be mynyſtered vnto you abundantly into the euerlaſtyng kyngdome of oure Lorde and ſauoure Jesus Christ.

Wherefore, I wyll not be neglygēt to put you all wayes in remembraunce of ſoch thynges though ye knowe them your ſelues, and be ſtabliſhed in the preſent trueth. But wyltandynge I thynke it mete (as longe as I am in * this tabernacle) to ſend you up by puttynge you in remembraunce, for as much, as I am ſure, that ſhortly I muſt put of this my tabernacle, & euen as oure Lorde Jesus Christ ſpewd me. I wyll euer alſo geue my diligence, that ye maye haue wherwyth to ſtore by the remembraunce of theſe thynges after my departyng. * For we haue not folowed deccatfull fables, when we opened vnto you the power and compynge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, but * wyth our eyes we ſawe his maieſtie: euen then verely when he receaued of God the father honoure and gloze, and when there came ſoch a voyce to hym from the excellent gloze. * This is my dere beloued ſonne, in whow I haue de-lyte. This voyce we heard come from heauen, whan we were wyth hym, in the holy mōnte.

We haue alſo a ryght ſure worde of pro-phete, wher vnto yf ye take hede, as vnto a * lyght that ſhyneth in a darcke place, ye do well, vntill the dawe dawns, ad the dawe ſtarke aſyle in your hertes. * So that ye ſhall knowe theſe: that no prophete in the ſcripture hath eny puate interpretacyon: For the ſcripture came neuer by the wyll of man: but holy men of God ſpoke, as they were moued by the holy goſt.

The.ii. Chapter.

As prophete of falſe teachers, and of their punyſhment.

Here were falſe prophetes alſo amō-ge the people, euen as * ther ſhal be falſe teachers amonge you: whych peneſly ſhall bynge in damnable ſectes (euen denyenge the Lorde that hath bought them and bynge vpon them ſelues their damnable wayes, by whom the waye of trueth ſhal be euilly ſpoken of, and thozow coueteuſnes ſhall they wyth ſayned wor-des make marchandys of you, whole iudge-ment is now not farre of, and their damnacyon ſlepeſh not.

For yf God ſpared not the angels pſynned, but caſt them downe into hell, ad delyuered them into chaynes of darcknes: (to be punyſhed) to be kept vnto iudgemēt: nether ſpared p olde worlde, but ſaued. * For p ryght preacher of ryghtwelsnes, and brought in p floud vpon the worlde of the vngodly, and turned the cyties of ſodom and Gomor into aſhes: ouerthrewe them, damned them, and made on them an enſample vnto thoſe that after ſhulde lyue vngodly. And luſt * Lot uered wyth the vnclenly conuerſacyon of p wyched, delyuered he. For he beyng ryght-eous, and dwellynge among them in ſepnge and hearyng, vexed his ryghteous ſoule from dawe to dawe wyth their vnlaful de-des. * The Lorde knoweth how to delyuer the godly out of temptacyon, and to reſerue the vniuſte vnto the dawe of iudgement for to be punyſhed: but cheſely theſe that walcke after the fleſhe in the luſt of vnclennes, and ge the * waye of Balaam the ſonne of Bo-lor, which loued the rewarde of vnygthw-elsnes: but was rebuked of hys iniquitie.

The ſame and dome beaſt, ſpeakynge with Prophete.

* Theſe are welles without water: cloudes that are, caried with a tepeſt, to whom the myſt of darcknes is reſerued for euer. For when they haue ſpoken the greate ſwelling wordes of vanytie, they entyle thozow luſtes in the voluptuouſnes of the fleſh, them bertie, where as they the ſelues are p bonde eſcaped from the fylthynes of the worlde thozow the knowledge of the Lorde and the ſauoure Jesu Christ) are yet tagled agayne therin, and overcome * then is the latter ende worſe wyth them then the begynninge.

For it had bene better for the, not to haue ne to her walowynge in the myer.

The.iii. Chapter.

This is the ſeconde epistle that I now write vnto you dearly beloued, wher by puttynge you in remembraunce, that ye maye be myndeſull of the wordes (whych were tolde befoze of the holy Prophetes) and alſo the commaundement of vs whych

* This fyrſt vnderſtande, that ther ſhall come in the laſt dayes, mockers: (in diſcreet fulneſſe) whych wyll walke after their auncient luſtes, & ſaye: Where is the promes of hys compynge? For ſence the fathers dyed, all thynges continue in the ſame eſtate wher in they were at the begynninge. For this they knowe not (and that wyllfully) how that p heauens a greate whyle ago were, & the erth out of the water appeared by thozow the water, by the word of God: by the whych thynges the worlde that then was, perſhed beyng ouerrunne wyth water. * But the heauens and erth whych are now, be kept by hys worde in ſtoze, and reſerued vnto fye, agaynſt the dawe of iudgement & perdition of vngodly men.

Dearly beloued, be not ignoraunt of this one thinge, howe that * one dawe is with the Lorde as a thouſande yere, & a thouſande yere as one dawe. The Lorde that hath pro-miſed, is not ſlacke, as ſome me count ſlacknes: but is payent to vs warde: for almoſt as he wolde haue no man loſt, but wyll re-ceae all men to repentaunce.

Neuertheleſſe * the dawe of the Lorde wyll come as a theſe in the nyghte, in the which dawe, the heauens ſhall paſſe awaye in maner of a tempeſt, and the elemētes ſhal melt with heat: the erth alſo & the workes that are therein, ſhall burne. Sepng the that all theſe thynges ſhal periſhe, what maner per-ſons ought ye to be in holy conuerſacyon, and godlynes: lokyng for, and haſtynge vnto the compynge of the dawe of God, by whō the heauens ſhall periſhe with fye, & the elemētes ſhall melt with heat: * Neuertheleſſe, we (accordig to his promes) loke for a new heauē and a new earth, wher in dwelleth ryghtwelsnes.

Wherefore dearly beloued, ſepnge that ye loke for ſuch thynges, be diligent p ye maye be founde of hym in peace, wythout ſpote and vndeſpiled. And ſuppoſe that the longe ſufferinge of the Lorde is ſaluacyon, euen as cordyng to the wyſdome geuen vnto him) hath wyrtten vnto you, p. almoſt i euery whych are many thynges harde to be vnder-ſtāde, whych they that are vnlearned & vnſtable, peruert, as they do alſo p other ſcriptures vnto their auncient deſtruccion. Ye therfore beloued, (ſepnge ye be warned afore hād) beware, leſt ye, wyth other men be alſo plucked awaye thozow the erreure of the wyched, and fall from your auncient ſtedfaſtnes: but growe in grace, & in the knowledge of oure Lorde and ſauoure Jesus Christ.

To whom be gloze both now and for euer.
Amen.

The .j. Epistle

The fyrst Epistle of Saynct John the Apostle.

The fyrst Chapter.

¶ True worshippe of the everlastynge worde of God.
The bloude of Christe is the purgacion from synne.
No man is without synne.

The olde commandement is the worde, which ye haue hearde from the beginninge.
Agayne, a new commandement I wyte vnto you, that is true in him, and the same is true also in you: for the dercknes is past, and the true lyght now shyneth. He that sayth how that he is in the lyght, & yet ha-teth his brother, is in dercknes euen vntill thys tyme. He that loueth his brother, aby-deth in the lyght, and ther is none occasion of euill in hym. He that hateth his brother, is in dercknes, & walketh in dercknes: and can not tell whither he goeth, because that dercknes hath bynded hys eyes.

¶ Babes I wyte vnto you, how y pounce synnes are forgouen you for his names sake.
I wyte vnto you fathers, how that ye haue knowne him that is from the beginninge.
I wyte vnto you yonge men, how y pe haue ouercome y wicked: I wyte vnto you lytell chyldren, how y pe haue knowen y father. I haue wyten vnto you fathers, how that ye haue knowen hym that is from the beginninge. I haue wyte vnto you yonge men, how that ye are stronge, and the worde of God abydeth in you, and ye haue ouercome that wicked.

¶ So that ye loue not the worlde, nether the thynges that are in the worlde. If eny ma loue the worlde, the loue of the father is not in hym. For all that is in the worlde (as the lust of the fleshe, and the lust of the eyes, & the pryde of life) is not of the father, but of the worlde. And the worlde passeth awaye and the lust therof: but he that fulfylleth the will of God, abydeth for ever.

¶ Lytell chyldren, it is the last tyme, and as ye haue herde how that Antichrist shall come, euen now are there many begonne to be Antichristes alreedy, wherby we knowe, y it is the last tyme. They went out fro vs, but they were not of vs. For yf they had bene of vs, they wolde no dout haue continued with vs. But that it myght appeare, that they were not of vs.

¶ Neuerthelesse, ye haue an oymmet of him y is holy, and ye knowe all thynges. I haue not wyte vnto you, as the igh ye knewe not y truely: but as though ye knewe it (& knowe also) y nolye cometh of truely. Who is a lyar, but he that denyeth that Jesus is Christ: the same is Antichrist, that denieth the father & the sonne. Whosoever denyeth the sonne, the same hath not the father.

¶ He that knowegeth the sonne, hath the father also. Let therfore abyde in you that same which ye hearde from the beginninge. If that which ye hearde from the beginninge shal remay-ne in you, ye also shal contynue in the sonne, and in the father. And thys is the promes that he hath promysed vs, euen eter-nall lyfe.

These

Of S. John.

No. xlv.

These thynges haue I wyten vnto you, concernynge thys that deceaue you. And the anoyntinge which ye haue receyued of him dwelleth in you. And ye nede not, that eny man teach you: but as y anoyntinge teacheth you of all thynges, and is true, and no lye, and as it hath taught you, euen so byde therin. And now babes abyde in hym: that when he shall appeare, we maye be bolde, & not be made ashamed of hym at hys commyng. If ye knowe that he his righteous, knowe also y eury one which doth righte-welsnes, is bozne of hym.

¶ The singuler loue of God toward vs: and how we agayne oughte to loue one another.

The .iii. Chapter.

¶ Behold, what loue the father hath shewed on vs, that we shuld be called y sonnes of God.
For this cause y worlde knoweth you not, because it knoweth not hym. Dearly beloued, now are we y sonnes of God & yet it doth not appeare, what we shalbe.
But we knowe, that when it shall appa-re, we shalbe lyke him. For we shal se hym as he is. And eury ma that hath this hope in him, pougeth him selfe, eue as he also is pure. Whosoener commytteth synne, com-mitteth vnrpyghtousnes also, and synne is vnrpyghtousnes. And ye knowe, that he appeared, to take awaye oure synnes, and in him is no synne. As many as byde in hym, synne not: whosoener synneth, hath not se-ne hym, nether knowen hym.

¶ Babes, let no man deceaue you. He that doeth ryghtousnes, is ryghteous, euen as he is ryghteous. He that committeth synne, is of the deuyll: for the deuyll synneth sence the beginninge. For this purpose appeared the sonne of God, to lowe the workes of y deuyll. Whosoener is bozne of God, synneth not: for his seed remaineth in him, and he canot synne, because he is bozne of God.
In thys are the chyldren of God knowen, and the chyldren of the deuyll. Whosoener doeth not ryghtousnes, is not of God, nether he that loueth not hys brother.

¶ For this is the tidynge, that ye hearde from the beginninge, that ye shuld loue one another, not as Cayn which was of that wicked, and slewe his brother. And wherfore slewe he hym? Because his awne wor-kes were euill, and hys brothers good. I maruaile not my brethren though y worlde hate you. We knowe, that we are traslated from deeth vnto lyfe, because we loue the brethren. He that loueth not hys brother, abydeth i deeth. Whosoener hateth his brother, is a ma slea. And ye knowe, y no man slea, hath eternall lyfe abydyng in hym.
Herby perceaue we loue: because he gaue his lyfe for vs: & we ought to geue oure liues for the brethren.

¶ But whoso hath thys worlde good and seyth hys brother haue neade: and shutteth vp his compassion from him: how dwelleth the loue of God in hym?
My babes, let vs not loue in worde, nether in tonge: but in dede & in veritie. Herby we knowe, that we are of the veritie & can quyet oure hertes before hym. For yf oure herte condempne vs, God is gretter the oure herte, and knoweth all thynges. Dearly be-loued, yf oure herte condemneth vs not, then haue we trust to God warde: & what soe-uer we aske we receaue of hym, because we kepe his comaundementes, & do those thy-nges which are pleasinge in his syght.

¶ And this is hys comaundement, y we beleue on the name of his sonne Jesus Christ, and loue one another, as he gaue comaundement. And he that kepeth hys commaundementes, dwelleth in him, & he in him, and herby we knowe that he abydeth in vs, eue by the sprete which he hath geuen vs.

¶ Difference of spretes, & how the sprete of God maye be knowen from the sprete of erreure. Of the loue of God and of oure neygbbours.

The .iiii. Chapter.

¶ Dearly beloued, beleue not eury sprete: but proue y spretes, whether they are of god or not, for many false prophetes are gone out into the worlde. Herby shal ye knowe y sprete of God. Eury sprete that confesseth that Jesu Christ is come in the fleshe is of God. And eury sprete which confesseth not that Jesu Christ is come in the fleshe, is not of God. And this is that sprete of Antichrist, of whom ye haue hearde, howe y he shalbe come: and eue now alreedy is he in the worlde.

¶ Lytell chyldren, ye are of God, and haue ouercome them: for greater is he that is in you, then he that is in the worlde. They are of the worlde, therfore speake they of the worlde, and the worlde heareth them. We are of God. He that knoweth God, heareth vs: he y is not of God, heareth vs not. Herby knowe we the sprete of veritie, and the sprete of erreure.

¶ Dearly beloued, let vs loue one another: for loue cometh of God. And eury one that loueth, is bozne of God, and knoweth God.
He that loueth not, knoweth not God: for God is loue. In this appeared y loue of God to vs ward, because y God sent hys only begotten sonne into the worlde, y we might liue thowow him. Hezi is loue, not y we loued God, but y he loued vs, & sent hys sonne to be the agreement for oure synnes.

¶ Dearly beloued, yf God is loued vs, we ought also to loue one another. No man hath seue God at eny tyme. If we loue one another, God dwelleth in vs, & hys loue is perfect in vs. Herby knowe we y we dwell in hym.

The.ij. Epistle

In hym. And he in vs: because he hath geuen vs of hys sperte. And we haue sene, & do testifye, that the father sent p sonne to be the sauyour of the worlde. Whosoener confeseth, p Iesus is the sonne of God, in him dwelleth God, & he in God. And we haue knowe and beleued the lone p God hath to vs.

God is loue, & he that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God, and God in him. Here is the lone perfect in vs, p we shuld haue trust in the daye of iudgement: for as he is, euē so are we i this worlde. Ther is no feare in loue, but perfect loue casteth out feare, for feare hath paynfulnes. he p feareth, is not perfect in loue.

We loue him, for he loued vs fyrst. If a man say, I loue God, and yet hate his brother, he is a liar. for how can he p loued not hys brother whom he hath sene, loue God whom he hath not sene? And this commaundement haue we of hym: p he which loueth God, shuld loue his brother also.

To loue God, is to kepe his commaundementes. Forth ouercometh the worlde. & ouercometh the flesh in the sonne of God. Of the spume vnto deeth.

The.ij. Chapter.

Whosoener beleueth p Iesus is Christ, is borne of God. And euery one that loueth hym which begat, loueth him also which was begotten of him. * By this we knowe, p we loue the chyldren of God, when we loue God, and kepe his commaundementes. For this is the lone of God, that we kepe his commaundementes, and * his commaundementes are not greuous. * For all that is borne of God, ouercometh the worlde. And this is the * victorie that ouercometh the worlde, euē oure sayth. Who is it p ouercometh the worlde: but he which beleueth, that Iesus is the sonne of God?

This Iesus Christ is he that cam by water & blood, not by water onely: but by water and blood. And it is the sperte that beareth wytnes, because the sperte is trueth.

(For ther are thre which beare recorde in heauen, p father, p worde & p whole good. And these thre are one.) And ther are thre which beare recorde: * (in earth) p sperte & water, and blood: & these thre are one. If we receaue the wytnes of me, the wytnes of God is greater. For this is the wytnes of God: * (that is greater) which he testified of his sonne. he that beleueth on the sonne of God, hath the wytnes in hym selfe. he that beleueth not God, hath made him a liar because he beleued not the recorde p God gaue of hys sonne. And this is p recorde, how that God hath geue vnto vs eternall lyfe, & this lyfe is in hys sonne. he that hath the sonne hath lyfe: & he that hath not the sonne of God, hath not lyfe.

These thynges haue I wyrtte vnto you that beleue on the name of the sonne of God, that ye maye knowe, how that ye haue eternall lyfe, & that ye maye beleue on the name of the sonne of God. And thys is p trust that we haue in hym: that * p we alle eny thyng accorde to hys wyll, he heareth vs. And p we knowe p he heare vs what soeuer we aske, we knowe, that we haue the petycons, that we desyre of hym.

If eny man se hys brother synne a synne not vnto deeth, let him aske, & he shall geue him lyfe for the that synne not vnto deeth. Ther is a synne vnto deeth, for which saye I not p a man shuld praye. All vneyghewelnes is synne, & ther is synne not vnto deeth.

We knowe, that whosoener is borne of God, synneth not: but he that is begotten of God, kepeth hym selfe, & that wycked toucheth hym not. We knowe, that we are of God, and the worlde is all together set on wyckednes. We knowe, that the sonne of God is come, and hath geue vs a mynde to knowe hym which is true: & we are in hym that is true, throughe is sonne Iesu Christ. This same is very God, and eternall lyfe. Babes kepe poure selues from paynes.

Amen.

The seconde epistle of Saynct John.

The wyrtte vnto a certayne lady, reioysed that hee chyldren walke in p trueth, & exhorteth them vnto loue, warneth them to beware of such deceaues as denye that Iesus Christ came in the flesh, & prayeth them to continue in the doctrine of Christ, & to haue nothinge to do with them that bringe not this lerninge.

The elder to the electe lady ad her chyldre, whom I loue in p trueth: and not I onely, but also all that haue knowe the trueth for p truethes sake whych dwelleth in vs, and shalbe in vs for euer.

With vs shalbe grace, merce, & peace from God the father & from the lord Iesus Christ p sonne of the father, i trueth & loue.

I reioysed greatly, that I founde of thy chyldren walkinge in trueth, as we haue receaued a commaundement of the father. And now beleue I p lady, not as though I wrote a new commaundement vnto the, but that same which we haue had fro the begynnyng, that we shuld loue one another. And this is the lone, that we shulde walke after hys commaundement.

This commaundement is (that as ye haue harde fro p begynnyng) ye shuld walke in it. For many deceaues are entred into the worlde, whych confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the fleshe. This is a deceaue and an Antichrist. Loke on your selues that we loose not that we haue wrought: but that we maye haue a ful rewarde. Who soeuer

If ther come eny vnto you, & bryge not this lerninge, him receaue not to house: nether byd hi God spede. For he p byddeth hi God spede, is partaker of hys eny dedes. (Beholde, I haue tolde you before, that ye shulde not be ashamed in daye of the lord.) I had many thynges to wyrtte vnto you, neuerthelesse I wolde not wyrtte w paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, & speake w you mouth to mouth, that oure lope maye be full: the sonnes of thy electe sister grete the. The thyrd epistle of saynct John.

He is glad of Gaius, that he walketh in the trueth: exhorteth them to be iouynge vnto the poore chyldren in thre pfection, sheweth the unkynde dealinge of Diotrephes, and the good repoyte of Demetrius.

The elder vnto p beloued Gaius who I loue in the trueth. Beloued I wishe in all thynges that thou prosperedest, and farest well, euen as thy soule prospereth, for I reioysed greatly, whē p brethren came, and testified of the trueth that is in the, how thou walkest in the trueth. I haue no greater ioye, the for to heare, how that my sonnes walke in veritye. Beloued thou doest saythfully, what soeuer I doest to p brethren, and to strangers, which beare wytnes of thy lone before the congregacion. Which brethren if thou bynge for wardes of the p iorney (after a godly sorte) p shalt do well: because that for his names sake they wet forth: and toke nothyng of the Geyls. We therfore ought to receaue such, that we myght be helpers to the trueth. I wrote vnto the congregaciō: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence amōge them, receaueh vs not.

Wherfore p I come, I will declare hys dedes which he doeth, iestinge on vs w malicious wordes, nether is therewith content. Not onely he him selfe receaueh not p brethren: but also he forbiddeth the p wolde, and thrusteth them out of the congregaciō. Beloued, folowe not that which is euill, but that which is good. he that doeth well is of God: but he that doeth euill, seyth not God. Demetrius hath good repoyte of all men & of the trueth it selfe. pce, and we oure selues also beare recorde, & ye knowe, that oure recorde is true. I had many thiges to wyrtte: but I will not with ynke and penne wyrtte vnto the. I trust I shall shortly se p & we shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be vnto the. The louers salute the. Grete the louers by name.

The Epistle of Saynct Jude.

He rebuketh such as beynge blynded with their awne lodes, repleth the trueth. He exhorteth vs to edifye one another, to praye in p hoip ghoit to continue in loue to lōke for the comynge of the Lorde.

Udas the seruaut of Iesus Christ p brother of James. To them which are called, and sanctified in God the father, and preserued in Iesu Christ. Mercy vnto you and peace and loue be multiplied.

Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to wyrtte vnto you of the comen saluacyon, it was nedeful for me to wyrtte vnto you, to exhort you, that ye shuld continually labour in the sayth, which was once geuen vnto p saynctes. For ther are certayne vngodly mē craftely crept in, of which it was written afore tyme vnto such iudgement. They turne p grace of oure God vnto wantannes, and denye God (which is the onely Lorde) and oure Lorde Iesus Christ.

My mynde is therfore to put you in remembraunce, for as moche as ye once knowe this, how that the Lorde (after that he had deliuered p people out of Egypt) destroyed them which after warde beleued not. The angels also which kept not their fyrst estate, but leste their awne habitation, he hath reserved in euerlastynge chaynes vnder darkness vnto p iudgement of the grete daye: * euen as Sodom & Gomore, and the cytyes aboute them (which in lyke maner defyled the selues with fornicacyon, and folowed strange fleshe) are set forth for an ensample, & suffer p payne of eternall fyre. Lyke wyse, these beynge disceaued by decaimes, defile p fleshe, despise rulars & speake euill of them that are in auctorite.

Pet Michael the archangel when he stro- ue agaynst the deuyll, & disputed about the body of Moses, durst not geue raplyng sentence, but sayde, the Lorde rebuke the. But these speake euill of those thynges whych they knowe not: and what thynges they knowe naturally (as bestes which are without reaso) i those thiges they corrupte the selues. Also be vnto the, for they haue folowed p waye of Cain, & are utterly geue to the erroure of Bala for lukers sake & perishe in p treason of Core. These are spotted with the filthe of your kidnes feast together, w out feare, lyunge lawlesse, and after ther awne pleasure. Enoch the seuenth from Adam prophesied before of such, sayinge. * Beholde, the Lord shall come with thousandes of sayntes, to geue iudgement agaynst all men, & to rebuke all that are vngodly amonge the of all their vngodly dedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruell speakeynges, which vngodly synners haue spoken agaynst hym.

These are murmurers, cōplainers, wal-kyng after their awne lustes, whose mou-thes speake proude thinges. They haue me in greate reuerence because of aduantage. But ye beloued, remember the wordes which were spoken before of the Apostles of oure Lord Jesu Christ, how that they tolde you * that there shuld be begylers in the last ty-me, which shuld walke after their awne vngodly lustes. These are makers of sectes, theyrpe, haupnge no sprete.

But ye derlye beloued, edispe poure sel-ues in your most holy fapth, prayinge in y holy goost, and kepe your selues in the loue of God, lokynge for the mercy of oure Lord Jesu Christ, vnto eternall lyfe. And haue compassion of some, separatinge them, and orher saue with feare, pullinge them out of the fyre. * (and haue compassion on the other) and ha-te the fylthy vesture of the fleshe.

Amen.

The reuelacyon of Saynet John the diuine.

Happie are they that heare the woide of God and kepe it. He wryteth to the seuen congregacions in Asia, seeth seuen candelstikes, and in the myddes of them, one lyke vnto the sonne of man.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the reuelacyon of Jesu Christ which God gaue vnto hym, for to shewe vnto hys seruauntes, thynges whych muste shortly come to passe. * And when he had sent, he shewed by hys Angell vnto his seruaunt John, which bare recorde of the woide of God, and of the testimony of Jesu Christ, and of all thynges that he sawe. Happy is he that readeth, and they that heare the wordes of the prophesy, and kepe those thynges which are wrytten the-ri. For the tyme is at hande.

John to the seuen congregacions in Asia. Grace be vnto you and peace, fro hy which is and which was, and which is to come, & from the seuen spretes which are before his throne, & fro Jesu Christ, which is a fayth full wptnes, & fyrst begotten of the deede: & Lord ouer the kynges of the erth. Unto hym that * loued vs, and wshed vs from oure synnes in hys awne bloude, & ma-de vs kynges ad prestes vnto God his fa-ther, be glory and dominion for euermore. Amen. * Beholde, he cometh with cloudes, & all eyes shall se hi, & they also which pear-fed him. And all kyndes of the erth shall waple. * (ouer hym) Eue lo: Amen. I am Al-pha and Omega, the begynnyng and y en-dynge, sayth the Lord almyghty, which is and which was, and which is to come.

I John your brother, and companio in tribulacio, and in the kyngdome & paci-fice in Jesu Christ, was in the yle that is called Patmos, for y worde of God, and for the witnessig of Jesu Christ: I was i the spre-te on a sondaye, & herde behynde me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trompe, sayinge: I am Alpha and Omega, the fyrst and the laste. That thou seyst, wryte in a boke, and sende it vnto the seuen cōgregaciōs which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, & vnto Smyr-na and vnto Pergamos, and vnto Thya-tira, and vnto Sardis, & vnto Philadel-phia, and vnto Laodicea.

And I turned backe to se the voyce that spake to me. And when I was turned: I sa-we seuen golden candelstikes, & i the myd-des of the candelstikes, one lyke vnto the sonne of man, clothed with a lynnē garnēt downe to the fete, and gird about the pap-pes w a golden gyrdle. his heed, & his hea-res were whyte, as whyte woll, & as snowe and hys eyes were as a flame of fyre: & hys fete lyke vnto brasse, as though they bzent in a forname, and his voyce as the sounde of many waters. And he had i his ryghte hā-de, vii. starres. And out of his mouthe wet a sharpe two edged swearde. * And his face shone, euen as the sonne in his strength.

And when I saw him, I fell at his fete, euen as deed. And he layde his ryghte hā-de vpo me, saying vnto me: feare not. * I am y fyrst & the laste, & am a lyue, and was deed. And beholde: I am a lyue for euermo-re & haue y keyes of hell & of deeth. Wryte therfore the thynges which thou hast sene, and the thynges which are, and the thynges which must be fulfilled here after: y mis-te-ry of the. vii. starres which thou sawest in my ryght hāde, and the. vii. golden candel-stikes. The. vii. starres are the messengers of the. vii. cōgregaciōs, And the seuen can-delstikes delstikes which thou sawest, are the seuen congregacions.

The ii. Chapter.

He exhorte the seuen congregacions to amende, & sheweth the rewardes of hym that ouercometh.

In the messenger of y cōgrega-cyō of Ephesus wryte: these thynges sayth he, that holdeth the se-uen starres in hys ryghte hande, and that walketh in the myddes of the se-uen golden candelstikes. I knowe thy wor-kes, and thy labour, & thy paciēce, and how thou cannest not forbear them whych are euyl: and hast examined them whych saye they are Apostles, and are not: & hast foun-de them lyars, & hast suffred. And hast pa-cience: and for my names sake hast labored, and hast not faynted. Neuerthelesse, I ha-ue somewhat agaynst the, because thou ha-ste leste thy fyrst loue. Remember therfore from whence thou art fallen, & repent, and do the fyrst workes. Or elles I wyll come vnto the shortly, & wyll remoue thy cādel-sticke out of his place, except thou repent. But this thou hast, because thou hast the dedes of the * Nicolaitans, which dedes I also hate. Lett hym that hath eares, heare what the sprete sayth vnto y cōgregacyōs. To hym that ouercometh, wyll I geue to eate of the * tree of lyfe, which is in y mpd-des of the Paradyse of God.

And vnto the angell of the cōgregacyon of Smyrna wryte: These thynges sayth he that is fyrst, & the laste, which was deed, and is alyue. I know thy workes & tribula-cyon and pouerte, but thou art ryche, And I knowe y blasphemys of them, whych call them selues Jewes & are not: but are the cō-gregacyon of Sathan. Feare none of those thynges, which thou shalt suffre. Beholde, the deuyll shall caste some of you into pry-son, to tēpte you, & ye shall haue tribulacyō ten dayes. Be fapthfull vnto y deeth, and I wyll geue the a croune of lyfe. Lett hym that hath eares, heare, what y sprete sayth to the cōgregacyōs. He that ouercometh, shall not be hurt of the seconde deeth.

And to the messenger of the cōgregacyon in Pergamos wryte: This sayth he, which hath the sharpe swearde with two edges: I knowe thy workes, & where thou dwellest, euen where Sathanas scat is, and thou kepest my name, & hast not denyed my fapth. And in my dayes Antipas was a fapthfull wptnes of myne, whych was slayne amonge you, where Sathan dwelleth. But I ha-ue a fewe thynges agaynst y: because thou hast there, them that mayntayne y doctri-ne of Balam * which taught in Balahe, to put occasyon of synne before the chyl-dren of Israel, y they shulde eate of meate dedy-cat vnto ydoles, and comyt fornyceacyon.

Of S. John.

Re. xvi.

Euen so hast thou them that mayntayne y doctryne of the Nicolaitas, which thyng I hate. But be conuerted, or elles I wyll co-me vnto y shortly, and wyll fight agaynst the with y swearde of my mouth. Lett hym that hath eares, heare, what y sprete sayth vnto y cōgregacyōs. To hym that ouerco-meth, wyll I geue to eate of Manna that is hyd, & wyll geue hym a whyte stone, & i the stone a newe name wrytten, which no man knoweth, saynge he that receaueth it.

And vnto y messenger of y cōgregacyon of Thyatira wryte. Thys sayth the sonne of God, which hath eyes lyke vnto a flāme of fyre, & hys fete are lyke brasse: I knowe thy workes, & thy loue, scrupce, and fapth, and thy paciēce, & thy dedes, which are mo-at the last then at the fyrst. Notwith stan-dynge I haue a fewe thynges agaynst the, because thou sufferest that woman * Jela-bell, which called her selfe a Prophetesse, to teache & to deceaue my seruantes, to make them comyt fornyceacyon, & to eate meates offered vnto ydoles. And I gaue her spa-ce to repēt of her fornyceacyon, & she repēd not. Beholde, I wyll cast her into a berd: & them that comyt fornyceacyon with her, into gret aduersitye, excepte they turne fro their dedes. And I wyll kyll her chyl-dren with deeth. And all the congregacyōs shall knowe, that * I am he which searcheth the reynes & hertes. And I wyll geue vnto eu-ry one of you accordynge vnto hys workes.

Unto you I saye, and vnto other of them of Thyatira, as many as haue not this le-ryng & which haue not knowen the depnes of Sathan (as they saye) I wyll put vpon you none other burthen, but y which ye ha-ue already. Holde fast tyll I come, & who-soeuer ouercometh & kepeth my workes vnto the ende, to hym wyll I geue power ouer nacys, & he shall rule them w a rodde of yron: & as y vessels of a potter, shall they be broken to shēuers. Euen as I receaued of my father, so wyll I geue hym the mornyng starre. Lett hym that hath eares, heare, what y sprete sayth to the cōgregacyōs.

The iii. Chapter.

He instructeth and enfourmeth the Angels of the cōgregacyōs, declaringe also the rewardes of hym that ouercometh.

In wryte vnto the messenger of y cōgregacyon y is at Sar-dis: this sayth he y hath y seue spretes of God & the seuen star-res. I know thy workes, thou hast a name that thou lyuest, and thou art deed. Be awake, and strength the thynges which remaine, & are redy to dye. For I ha-ue not founde thy workes perfapete befo-re. * God. ¶ He seeth the heauen open, and the seate, and one setpunge vpon it, and .xliiii. seates aboute it with xliiii. eibers setpunge vpon them, and foure beastes praying god daye and nyght.

After this I looked, and beholde a doze was open in heauē, and the fyrst voyce whych I hearde, was as it were of a trompett tal- kyng wth me, whych sayde: come by hy- ther, and I wyll shewe the thynges: whych must be fulfyllēd hereafter. And imme- diatly I was in the syrete: & beholde, a sea- te was sett in heauen, and one sat on the seate. And he that sat, was to lōke vpon, lyke vnto a Iasper stone and a Sardyne stone. And ther was a rayne bowe aboute p^r seate, in spght lyke to an Emeralde. And aboute p^r seate were. xliiii. scates. And vpo the scates. xliiii. elders sytting, clothed in whyte rayment, and had on theyr heades crownes of golde.

And out of the seate proceeded lyghtnynges, & thundrynges, & voyces, & ther were seuen lampes of fyre, burnynge before the seate, whych are the seuen spertes of God, And before þe seate ther was a see of glasse, lyke vnto Cristall, and in the myddes of the seate, & rounde about the seate were foure beastes full of eyes before & behynde. And the fyrst beast was lyke a lyon, & the secōde beaste lyke a calfe, & the thyrde beast had a face as a man, & the fourth beast was lyke a flyinge Eagle. And þe foure beastes had eche one of them. vi. wynges about hym, & they were full of eyes wth in. And they had no rest daye nether nyght sayng. * Holy, * holy, holy, Lord God almyghty, whych was, and is, and is to come.

And when those beastes gaue glozy and honour & thanks to hym þat late on þat seate, ders fell downe before hym þat sat on þat trone & worshypped hym that lyueth for euer & & cast theyr crownes before þat trone saying: thou arte worþy o Lord* (oure God) to receiue glozy, & honoure, and power, for thou hast created all thynges, & for thy willes sake they are, & were created.

The. v. Chapter.

¶ The seyth the labe openinge the booke, and ther fore the four beastes, the. xliiii. elders, and the angels prayse the lambe, and do hym wo:shppp.

And I sawe in þe ryght hande of hym that sat in the trone, a boke wrotten with in & on the ba-cksyde, sealed with seven scales.
And I sawe a stronge angell, which preached w a lowde voyce: Who is worthy to open the boke, & to lose þe scales therof. And no man in heauener in erth nether vnder þe erth, was able to open þe boke, nether to loke theron. And I wepte moch because no man was founde worthy to open & to reade the boke, nether to loke theron.

25 And one of the elders sayde vnto me we-pe not: Beholde, a lyon of y^e trybe of Juda the rote of Dauid, hath obtayned to open the boke, and to lose the seuen seales therof.
And I behelde, and lo, in the myddes of the seate, and of the foure bestes, and in y^e myd-des of the elders, stode a lambe as though he had bene kylled, haupnge seuen hornes, and seuen eyes, whych are the seuen spretes of God, sent into all the worlde. And he came, and toke the boke out of the ryght han-de of him that satte vpon the seate.

C And when he had taken þe boke, the foure beastes and .xxiii. elders fell downe before þe lābe, hauiyng (euery one of them) harpes & golden vialles full of oboures, which are the prayers of saynctes, & they songe a new songe, saying: thou art woorthy to take the boke, & to open the scales therof: for þu wast kylled, & hast redeemed vs by thy blood out of all kynredes, & tōges, & people, & nacjōs, and hast made vs vnto oure God, kynges, and prestes, & we shall raygne on the erth.

D And I behelde, and I hearde the voyce of many angels about the trone, & about the beaste & the elders, and I hearde thousand thousandes, saying w a lowde voyce: Woꝝ thy is the labe that was kylled to receaue power, & ryches, & wylsdom, and strength, and honour, & gloꝝy, & blessinge. And all þ creatures whych are in heauen, & on þ erth, & vnder the erth, & in the see, & all that are in them, herde I sayinge, blessing, honour, gloꝝy, & power be vnto hym that sytteth vpon þ seate, & vnto the labe foꝝ euermoze. And the foure beastes sayd: Amen. And the xliiii. elders fell vpon their faces, and woꝝshipped hym that lyueth foꝝ euermoze.

The. vi. Chapter.

¶ The lambe openeth the. vi. scales, and many thynges folowe the openyng thereof.

And I sawe, when the lambe opened one of the scales, and I herde one of the fourre beastes saye, as it were by noyse of thonder: come & se: and I sawe. And be-holde ther was a whyte horlle: and he that sat on hym, had a bowe, and a crowne was geuen vnto hym, and he went forth coqueryng & for to ouer come. And when he had opened the seconde scale, I herde the secōde beaste, saye: come and se. And ther wet out another horlle that was redd, & powder was geuen to hym that satt thereon, to take peace from the erth, & that they shuld kyll one another. * And ther was geuen vnto hym a great swearde. * Esai. xxi.

And when he had opened the thyrde seale I herde þ̄ thyrde beaste saye, come & se. And I behelde, & lo, a black horsse: & he that sat on him, had a payre of balāces in his hāde.
And I herde a voyce in þ̄ myddes of þ̄ foure beastes, saye: a measure of wheat for a pe-ny, & thre measures of barley for a peny and oyle and wyne se thou hurte nor. And when he had opened the fourth seale, I herde the voyce of þ̄ fourth beaste saye, come and se: & I looked. And behold a pale horsse: & his name that sat on him was deeth, & hell followed after hym, & powder was geuen unto them ouer þ̄ fourth parte of þ̄ erth, to kyll wyth swerde, & wyth hōger, & wyth deeth that cometh of vermen of the erth.

And when he had opened the lyfte scale, I saw vnder shauldre * the soules of them that were kylled for þe worde of God, & for þe testymony whych they had, & they cryed with a lowde voyce, sayinge: how lōge tarpest thou Lord, holy & true, to iudge & to auēge oure blood on them þe dwel on þerth? And lōge whyle garmētes were geuen vnto euery one of them. And it was sayde vnto them, that they shuld reste yet for a lytle season vntyll the number of theyr felowes, and brethren, & of them þe shulde be kylled as they were, were fulfilled.

And I behelde, when he had opened the fyrst scale: & lo, ther was a great earthquake and the sunne was as blacke as sacke cloth made of beere. And y^e mone waxed all, euen as blood, and the starres of heauen fell vnto the erth, euen as a fygge tree casteth fro her vntymely fygges, when she is shaken of a myghty wynde. And heauen vanished awaye, as a scroll when it is rolled to gether. And all mountaynes and ples, were moued out of theyr places. And y^e kynges of the erth, and the gret men, and the ryche men, and y^e chiefe captaynes, & the myghty men, & euery bondman, and euery free man, hyd them selues in denmes, and in rockes of the hylls: * and sayde to the hylls and rockes: fall on vs, & hyde vs from the presence of hym that sitteth on the seate, and from the wraoth of the lambe: for the grete dawe of his wraoth is come, and who is able to endure?

The. vii. Chapter.

¶ The seeth the seruantes of God sealed in their for heades out of all nacions and people, which though they suffer trouble, yet the lambe feedeth them, ledeeth them to the fountaynes of living water, and God shall wype awaie all teares frō their eyes,

And And

And after that, I sawe .iiii. angels stode on the .iiii. corners of the erth, holdinge foure wyndes of the erth, & the wynde shuld not blowe on the erth, nether on the see, nether on any tree. And I sawe another angell ascende from the ryfynge of the sunne, which had a scale of the lyving God, & he cryed wyth a loud voice to foure Angels (to whom power was geue to hurte the erth & the see) saying: hurt not the erth nether the see, nether the trees, tyll we haue sealed the seruauntes of oure God in their foreheades.

B And I hearde a noyse of the which were sealed, & ther were sealed an. C. & xliii. Of all the trybes of the chyldren of Israel. Of the trybe of Juda were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Ruben were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Gad were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Aser were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Neptali were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Manasses were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Symeon were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Leuy were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Issacar were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Zabulon were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Joseph were sealed. xii. Of the trybe of Benjamin were sealed. xii.

C After this I behelde, & lo, a gret multitude (which nomā coude nōbre) of all nacōs & people, & tōges, stode before the seate, & before the lābe, clothed with lōge white garmentes, & palmes in their handes, & cryed wyth a lowde voice, sayinge: saluacyon be ascribēd to him that sitteth vpon the seate of oure God, & vnto the lābe. And all the angels stode in the cōpase of the seate, & of the elders & of the foure bestes, & fell before the seate on their faces, and worshypped God, sayinge, Amen: Blessinge & glory & wylidome & thākes, and honour, & power, & myght, be vnto oure God for euermore. Amen.

D And one of the elders answered, sayinge vnto me: what are these which are arrayed in lōge whyte garmentes, & whēce came they? And I sayde vnto him: Lord thou wotest. And he sayde to me: these are they, which came out of great tribulacyō, & made their garmentes large, & made them white by the bloude of the lābe: therfore are they in the presence of the seate of God & serue hym daye & nyght in his tēple, & he that sitteth in the seate wyll dwell amonge them. They shall hunger no more, nether thyrst, nether shall the sunne lyght on them, nether any heate. For the lābe which is in the myddes of the seate, shall fede them, & shall leade them vnto fountaynes of lyvinge water, & God shall wype awaye all teares from their eyes.

The viii. Chapter.

The seventh scale is opened, there is silence in heauen, the foure angels blowe their trumpettes, & greete plagis folowe vpon the earth.

And when he had opened the seventh scale, ther was sylence in heauen abou the space of halfe an houre. And I sawe .vii. angelles standyng before God, & to them were geuen seven troyettes. And another angell came & stode before the aulter, hauyng a goldenenser, & moche of odoures was geue vnto him, that he shulde offere of the prayers of all saynctes vpon the golden aulter, which was before the seate. And the smoke of the odoures which cam of the prayers of all saynctes, ascended vpon the seate of God out of the Angelles hande. And the first Angell toke theenser, and fylled it wyth fyre of the aulter, and caste it into the erth, and voyces were made, & thondrynges & lyghtnynges, and erthquake.

And the seven Angels which had the seven troyettes, prepared them selues to blowe. The first Angell blew, & there was made hayle & fyre, which were myngled w bloud, & they were cast into the erth: & the thirde parte of the erth was set on fyre, and the thirde parte of trees was burnt, and all grene grasle was byt. And the secōde angell blew: & as it were a gret mountayne burnyng w fyre was caste into the see, and the thirde parte of the see tourned to bloude, and the thirde parte of the creatures which had lyfe, dyed, & the thirde parte of the shippes were destroyed.

And the thirde Angell blew, & ther fell a gret starre from heauen, burnyng as it were a lāpe, & it fell into the thirde parte of the ryuers, & into fountaynes of waters, & the name of the starre is called wormwood. And the thirde parte was turned to wormwood. And many men dyed of the waters, because they were made bytter. And the fourth Angell blew, and the thirde parte of the sunne was smytten, and the thirde parte of the mone, and the thirde parte of the starres: so that the thirde part of them was darkened. And the daye was smytten, that the thirde part of it shulde not shyne, & lyke wyse the nyght. And I behelde and herde an Angell synginge thoro the myddes of heauen, sayinge with a lowde voice: Woo, woo, to the inhabytors of the erth, because of the voyces to come of the troye of the thre Angels, which were yet to blowe.

The ix. Chapter.

The fifth and sixth Angell blowe their trumpettes: the foure laste from heauen: the locustes come out of the smoke. The first two is past: he foure angels that were bounde are loosed, and the thirde parte of men is kyllid.

And the first Angell blew, and I sawe a starre fall from heauen vnto the erth. And to him was geuen the kape of the bottomlesse pytt: And he opened the bottomlesse pytt, and the smoke of the pytt arose as the smoke of a gret fornace. And the sunne, and the ayer the ayer were darkened by the reason of the smoke of the pytt. And there came out of the smoke locustes vpon the erth, & vnto them was geuen power, as the scorpions of the erth haue power. And it was commaunded them, that they shuld not hurt the grasle of the erth: nether any grene thyng: nether any tree: but onely those men which haue not the scale in their foreheades. And to them was comaunded, that they shulde not kyll them, but that they shulde be vexed. v. monethes, & their payne was as the payne of a scorpion, when he hath stonge a man. And in those dayes shall men seke deeth, and shall not finde it, & shall desyre to dye, and deeth shall flye from them.

B And the similitude of the locustes was lyke vnto horses prepared vnto battayll, & on their heades were as it were crowmes, lyke vnto golde, and their faces were as it had bene the faces of men. And they had heere as the heere of women. And their feete were as the feete of lyons. And they had habbergions, as it were habbergions of pyon. And the soude of their winges, was as the soude of charrettes, when many horses rüne to gether to battayll. And they had tayles lyke vnto scorpions, and there were spynges in their tayles. And their power was to hurt men. v. monethes. And they had a kyng ouer them, which is the angell of the bottomlesse pytt, whose name in the hebrewe tong, is Abaddon: but in the Greke tonge, Apollyon is to saye: a destroyer. One wo is past, & beholde, two woos come yet after this.

C And the sixth Angell blew, and I herde a voice from the .iiii. corners of the golden aulter, which is before God, sayinge to the sixth Angell, which had the troye: Lose the foure Angelles, which are bounde in the grette ryuer Euphrates. And the foure Angelles were loosed, which were prepared for an houre, for a daye, for a moneth, & for a yere, for to slay the .iii. part of men. And the nobre of horsemen of warre were. xx. thousande tymes. x. And I herde the nobre of them: & thus I sawe the horses in a vision, & them I sae on them, hauyng fyre habbergions of a Jacincte couloure, & byrmstone, & the heades of the horses were as the heades of lyons.

D And out of their mouthes went forth fyre and smoke, & byrmstone. And of these thre was the thirde part of men kyllid: that is to saye, of fyre, smoke, and byrmstone: which proceeded out of the mouthes of them: For their power was in their mouthes & in their tayles, for their tayles were lyke vnto serpentes, & had heades, & with them they dyd hurt: And the remanant of the men which were not kyllid by these plagis, repēd not of the dedes of their handes, & they shulde not worshyppe deuyls, & ymages of golde and sylder, and brasse, and stone, and of wood, which nether can se, nether heare, nether go. Also they repēd not of their murther, and of their sorcery, nether of their fornyca cyon, nether of their thefte.

The x. Chapter.

The Angell hath the booke open: he sweareth ther shalbe no more tyme: he geueth the booke vnto John, which eateth it vp.

And I sawe another myghty angell come downe from heauen clothed w a cloude, & the raynebowe vpon his heed. And his face as it were the sunne, & his fete as it were pylars of fyre, and he had in his hande a lytell booke open, and he put his ryght fote vpon the see, & his lyfte fote on the erth. And cryed wyth a lowde voice, as when a lyon roareth. And when he had cryed, seven thonders spake their voyces. And when the .vii. thōdres had spoken their voyces, I was about to wyte. And I herde a voice from heauen, sayinge vnto me: seale vp those thynges which the .vii. thōdres spake, & wyte them not.

And the first Angell which I sawe stode vpon the see, & vpon the erth, lyfte vp his hande to heuen, and swore by him that lyueth for euer more, which created heauen, & the thynges that therein are: (And the erth and the thynges that therein are) and the see, & the thynges which therein are: that there shulde be no longer tyme but in the dayes of the voice of the seventh Angell, when he shall begyn to blowe: euen the mystery of God shalbe fynished, as he preached by his seruauntes the prophetes.

And the voice which I herde from heuen, spake vnto me agayne, & sayd: * go & take the lytell booke which is open in the hande of the angell which standeth vpon the see, & vpon the erth. And I wēt vnto the angell, & sayde to him: geue me the lytell booke, and he sayde vnto me: take it, & eate it vp, & it shall make thy belly bytter, but it shalbe in thy mouth as swete as honny. * And I toke the lytell booke out of his hande, & eate it vp, & it was in my mouth as swete as honny: and as sone as I had eate it, my belly was bytter. And he sayde vnto me: thou must prophesy agayne amonge the people, and nacōs, and tōges, and to many kynges.

The xi. Chapter.

The temple is measured. The seconde wo is past.

And then was geuen me a rede, lyke vnto a rodd, & it was sayde vnto me. Ryse & meate the temple of God, & the aulter, & them which worshippe therein, & the quere which is wīn the tēple, cast out & meate it not for it is geuen vnto the Gētyles, & the holy cytye shall they treade vnder fote. xlii. monethes. And I wyll geue power vnto my two witnesses, & they shall prophesy a thousande, two hundred &

An iii. lx.

lx. dayes, clothed in sacke clothe. These are two olyue trees, & two candelstyckes, standing before the God of the erth.

And if any man will hurt the, fyre shall procede out of their mouthes, and consume their enemyes. And if any man will hurt them, they muste be kylled. These haue power to shut heauē, that it rayne not in the dayes of their prophesying: and haue power ouer waters to turne them to bloud, and to smyte the erth with all maner plagges, as often as they will.

And when they haue fulfilled their testimony, the beast that cam out of the bottomlesse pyt, shall make warre agaynst them, & shall overcome them, & kyll the. And their bodies shall lye in the stretes of the greates cite, which spiritually is called zodom and Egypte, where oure Lorde was crucified. And they of the people & kynredes, & tonges, & they of the nacyōs, shall se their bodies, iii. dayes and an halfe, & shall not suffre their bodies to be put in graues. And they that dwell vpon the erth, shall reioyce ouer them, and be glad, & shall sende gyftes one to another, for these two prophetes vexed them that dwell on the erth.

And after. iii. dayes & an halfe, the sprete of lyfe from God, entered into them. And they stode vpon their fete, & greates feare came vpon them whych sawe them. And they herde a greates voyce fro heauen, sayinge vnto them. Come vpon hyther. And they ascended vnto heauen in a cloude, & their enemyes sawe the. And the same houre was ther a greates erthquake, and the tenth parte of the erthe fell, and in the erthquake were slayne names of men seven. And the remnant were feared, and gaue glory to the God of heauen. The second woo is past, & beholde, the thyrde woo will come anone.

And the seventh Angell blew, & ther were made greates voyces in heauen, sayinge: the kyngdomes of this worlde are oure lordes, and his Christes, & he shall raygne for euer moze. Amen. And the. xliii. elders, whych sate before God on their seates, fell vpon their faces, & worshipped God, sayinge: we geue the thākes. O Lord God almyghty: whych arte & wast, & arte to come, for thou hast receaued thy greates myght, and hast raygned. And the nacyōs were angry, and thy wrath is come, & the tyme of thy deed & they shuld be iudged and that thou shuldest geue reward vnto thy seruauntes the prophetes and saynctes, & to them that feare thy name small & great & shuldest destroye the, which destroye the erth. And the temple of God was opened in heauen, & ther was sene in his temple, the arcke of his testamēt, & ther folowed lightynnges, and voyces, and thunders, and erthquake, and moche hayle.

The. xii. Chapter.

The seventh Angell bloweth his trumpet. & ther appeareth in heauen a woman clothed with the sunne: Michael fighteth with the dragon, which persecuteth the woman.

And ther appered a gret wōder in heauen: A woman clothed with the sunne, & the moone vnder her fete, & vpon her heed a crowne of. xii. starres. And she was with chylde, & cryed trauallynge in byrth, & payned redy to be deliuered. And ther appered another wōder in heauen, for beholde, a gret red dragon haunged. vii. heddes, & ten hornes & seven crownes vpon his heades: and his tayle dūe the thyrde parte of the starres. And he cast them to the erth.

And the dragon stode before the woman whych was redy to be deliuered: for to deuoure her chylde as sone as it were borne. And he brought forth a man chylde, which shulde rule all nacyōs with a rodd of yron. And her sonne was taken vnto God, & to his seate. And the woman fled into the wyldernes, where she had a place, prepared of God, & they shulde fede her there a. lxx. hundred and. lx. dayes.

And ther was a greates battayll in heauen, Michael & his angelis fought with the dragon, & the dragon fought & his Angelles, and preuailed not, neither was their place founde any moze in heauen. And the greates dragon, that olde serpēt, called the deuyl & Sathanas, was cast out. Which deceaueth all the worlde. And he was cast into the erth & his angelles were cast out also with hym.

And I hearde a lowde voyce sayinge: in heauen is now made saluacyon and strengthe & the kyngdome of oure God, & the power of his Christ. For the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused the before our God daye and nyght. And they overcame him by the bloude of the lambe, and by the worde of their testimony, & they loued not their lyues vnto the deeth. Therefore reioyce heuē, & ye that dwell in them. Woo to the inhabytors of the erth, and of the see: for the deuyl is come downe vnto you, which hath greates wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short tyme.

And when the dragon sawe that he was caste vnto the erth, he persecuted the woman, which brought forth the man chylde. And to the woman were geuen two wynges of a greates eagle, & she myght flye into the wyldernes into her place, where she is nourished for a tyme, tymes, & halfe a tyme, fro the presence of the serpent. And the dragon cast out of his mouth water after the woman as it had bene a ryuer, because she shuld haue bene caught of the floud. And the erth holpe the woman, and the erth opened her mouth & swallowed, the ryuer, which the dragon cast out of his mouth, mouth. And the dragon was wroth with the woman: and went, & made warre with the remnaunt of hyr seide, which kepe the commandementes of God, and haue the testimony of Iesus Christe. And he stode on the see sande.

The. xiii. Chapter.

A beast cometh out of the see with seven heades and ten hornes. Another beast cometh out of the earth with two hornes.

And I sawe a beaste ryse out of the see, haunged seven heddes, and ten hornes, and vpon his hornes ten crownes, & vpon his heed, the name of blasphemie. And the beaste which I sawe, was lyke a catte of the mountayne, and his fete were as the fete of a beare, & his mouth as the mouth of a lyon. And the dragon gaue hym his power & his seate, & gret authority: and I sawe one of his heedes as it were wounded to deeth, & his deadly wounde was healed. And all the worlde wondered at the beaste, & they worshipped the dragon, whych gaue power vnto the beaste, and they worshipped the beaste sayinge: who is lyke vnto the beaste, who is able to warre with hym.

And ther was geuen vnto hym a mouth, that spake greates thynges & blasphemies, & power was geuen vnto hym, to do. xlii. monethes. And he opened his mouth vnto blasphemie agaynst God, to blasphemie his name & his tabernacle, & them that dwell in heauen. And it was geuen vnto hym to make warre with the saynctes, & to overcome the. And power was geuen him ouer all kynred, and people, and tonge, and nacion, and all that dwell vpon the erth worshipped hym: whose names are not written in the booke of lyfe of the lābe, which was kylled from the begynnyng of the worlde. If any man haue an eare let hym heare. He that lea-deth into captiuyte, shall go into captiuyte: * he that kylleth with a swerde, must be kylled with a swerde. Here is the paycēce, & the fayth of the saynctes.

And I behelde a nother beaste comyng vnto the erth, and he had two hornes lyke a lambe, & he spake as dyd the dragon. And he dyd all that the fyrste beaste coulde do in his presence, & he caused the erth, & them which dwell therein, to worshyppe the fyrste beaste, whose deadly wounde was healed. And he dyd greates wonders, so that he made fyre come downe from heauen in the syght of men. And deceaued them that dwell on the erth, by the meanes of those sygnes whych he had power to do in the syght of the beaste, sayinge to them that dwell on the erth: they shuld make an ymage vnto the beaste, whych had the wounde of a swerde, and dyd lyue.

And he had power to geue a sprete vnto the ymage of the beaste, & that the ymage of the beaste shuld speake, and shuld cause, & as many as wolde not worshyppe the ymage of the beaste, shuld be kylled. And he made all, both small & gret, ryche & poore, fre & bond, to receaue a marke in theyr ryght handes or in theyr foreheades. And no man myght by or sell, saue he that had the marke or the name of the beaste, other the nōbre of his name. Here is wysdome. Let hym that hath wytt, count the nōbre of the beaste. For it is the nōbre of a man, and his nōbre is fyre hondred, thre score and fyre.

The. xiiii. Chapter.

The lambe standeth vpon the mount Syon, and the hundred congregacyon with hym. The angel echyrteth to the feare of God, and telleth of the fall of Babylon.

And I looked, and lo, a lambe stode on the mount Syon, & with hym an. C. & xliii. thousande haunged hym. Names of his fathers name written in theyr foreheades. And I herde a voyce from heuen, as the sounde of many waters, and as the voyce of a gret thoundre. And I herde the voyce of harpers harpyng with theyr harpes. And they songe as it were a newe songe, before the seate, & before the foure beastes, & the elders, & no man coulde learne the songe, but the hondred & xliii. which were redeemed from the erth. These are they, which were not defyled with women, for they are virgyns. These folowe the lambe whycher soeuer he goeth. These were redeemed from men, byng the fyrste frutes vnto God and to the lambe, & in their mouthes was founde no gyle. For they are with oute spot before the throne of God.

And I sawe, another angell flye in the myddes of heauen haunged the euerglastyng gospel, to preache vnto them that sate & dwell on the erth, & to all nacyōs, kynreds, & tonges & people, sayinge: we a lowde voyce: * feare God, & geue honour to hym, for the houre of his iudgement is come: and worshyppe hym, & made heauen & erth, & the see, & fountaynes of water. And there folowed a nother angell, sayinge: * Babylon is fallen is fallen that greates cite, for she made all nacyōs dryncke of the wyne of her fornycatyōn.

And the thyrde angell folowed thre sayinge: we a lowde voyce: If any man worshyppe the beaste and his ymage, & receaue his marke in his forehead, or on his hande, the same shall dryncke the wyne of the wrath of God, which is powred in the cup of his wrath. And he shalbe punished in fyre & byrmstonc, before the holy angelis, & before the lambe.

And the smoke of theyr torment ascēdeth vnto euer moze. And they haue no rest daye, nor nyght, which worshyppe the beaste & his ymage & whosoeuer receaueth the pynt of his name. Here is the paycēce of saynctes. In iii. heari

Hearc are they that kepe the commaunde-mentes and the sayth of Jesu.

And I hearde a voyce from heauen sayig vnto me: wypte. Blessed are þe deyd, which here after dye in the Lorde, euen so sayth þe spire: that they rest from theyr laboures, but theyr workes folowe them.

And I lokyd, and beholde a whyte clowde, and vpon the clowde one syttinge lyke vnto the sonne of man, haupng on his heed a golden crowne, and in his hande a sharpe spyke. And another angell came out of the temple, crying with a lowde voyce to hym that sat on the clowde: * Thruste in thy spyke & reye, for thy tyme is come to reye, for the corne of þe erth is ripe. And he that sat on the clowde, thrust in hys spele on the earth, and the erth was reyd.

And another angell came out of the temple, whych is in heauen, haupng also a sharpe spyke. And another angell came out fro the aulter, whych had power ouer fyre, and cryed with a lowde crye to hym that had þe sharpe spyke, & sayde: thrust in thy sharpe spyke, & gaddre the clusters of the erth, for her grapes are ripe. And the angell thrust in hys sharpe spyke on the erth, & cut downe the grapes of the vyneparde of þe erth: and cast them into the greet wynefat of þe wrath of God, & þe wynefat was troden with out the crite, and bloud came out of þe fat, euen vnto þe horse byddes, by þe space of a thousande, and. vi. C. furlonges.

The. xv. Chapter.

The seuen Angells, haupng seuen byalles full of wrath.

And I sawe another sygne in heuen gret and meruellous, seuen Angells, haupng the seuen laste plages, for in them is fulfilled the wrath of God. And I sawe as it were a glassye see, myngled w fyre, & them that had gotten victory of the beast, and of hys ymage, and of the nombre of hys name, stande on the glassye see, ha-upng the harpes of God, and they songe the songe of Moyses the seruaunt of God, & the songe of the lambe, sayinge: Gzet and maruclous are thy workes: * Lorde God al-myghty, iuste & true are thy wayes, thou kyng of Saynetes. Who shall not feare o Lorde, & glorify thy name? For thou only arte holy, and all gentyls shall come and worshyppe before the, for thy iudgementes are made manifeste.

And after that, I lokyd, and beholde, the temple of the tabernacle of testimony was open in heauen, and the seuen Angells came out of the temple whych had the seuen plages clothed in pure and bygght lymen, and haupng theyr brestes gyrded with golden gerdels. And one of the fowre bestes gaue vnto þe seuen Angells seuen golden byalles, full of the wrath of God, whych lpueth for euermore. And the temple was full of the smoke of the glozy of God & of hys power, and no man was able to entre into the temple, tyll þe seuen plages of the seuen Angells were fulfilled.

The. xvi. Chapter.

The Angells powre out theyr byalles full of wrath.

And I herde a great voyce out of the temple sayng to the seuen angells: go poure wayes, powre out poure byalles of wrath vpon the erth. And þe fyrst Angell wēt, & powred out his byall vpon the erth, & there fell a nopsome, & a soze botche vpon the men whych had the marke of the beast, & vpon them whych worshypped hys ymage. And the secōd Angell shed out hys byall vpon the see, and it turned as it were into the bloud of a deyd man: and euery lyuyng thyng dyed in the see. And the thyrde Angell shed out his byall vpon the ryuers and fountaynes of waters, & they turned to bloud. And I herde an Angell saye: Lorde, whyche arte and wast, thou arte ryghteous & holy, because thou hast geuen soche iudgementes, for they shed out þe bloud of sainctes, and prophetes, & therfore hast þe geuen them bloud to dryncke: for they are worthy. And I herde another saye: euen so Lorde God almyghty: true and ryghteous are thy iudgementes.

And the fourth Angell powred out hys byall on þe sunne, & power was geuen vnto him to bere men with heat of fyre. And the men raged in gret heate: & spake euyll of þe name of God, which hath power ouer those plages, & they repeted not of theyr euill de-dis, to geue him glozy. And the fyft Angell powred out his viall vpon þe seate of þe bea-ste, and his kyngdome waxed derke, & they gnewe theyr toges for sorowe, and blasphe-med þe God of heauen for sorowe & payne of theyr sores, & repented not of theyr dedes.

And þe syxt Angell powred out his byall vpon þe gret ryuer Euphrates, & the water dried vp, þe wayes of the kynges of the east shulde be prepared. And I sawe thre vncleue spretes lyke frogges come out of þe mouth of þe dragon, & out of þe mouth of the beast, & out of the mouth of þe falsse prophe-te. For they are the spretes of deuyls, worshypng myracles, to go out vnto the kynges of the erth and of þe whole world, to gather them to the battayle of that gret dape of God almyghty. * Beholde, I come as a theft. happy is he that watcheth, and kepeth hys garmentes, lest he walke naked, and men se hys fylthynes. And he gathered red them together into a place called in the Hebryc tonge Armagedon.

And the seuenth Angell powred out hys byall into the ayre. And ther cam a greate voyce out of heauen from þe seate, sayng, it is done. And ther folowed, voyces, thōd-ingcs, and lightenynges, & ther was a greate erthquake, such as was not sence me were vpon the erth, so mighty an erthquake & so great. And the great crite was deuyded in to thre partes, and þe crite of all nacions fell. And greate Babylon came in remembraunce before God, to geue vnto hys þe cup of the wyne of the scarcenes of his wrath.
Euery ple also fled awaye, and þe mountaynes were not founde. And ther fell a greate haple (as it had bene talentes) out of heauē vpon the men, and the me blasphemed God: because of the plage of the haple, for it was great, and the plage of it soze.

The. xvii. Chapter.

The descreyeth the woman sittynge vpon the beast with ten hornes.

And ther came one of the seuen Angells, whyche had the seuen byalles: and talked wyth me, sayenge vnto me: come, I wyll shewe vnto the, the iudgemēt of the great whoze that sytteth vpon many waters, wyth whome haue comytted for-nicacion the kynges of the erthe, and the in-habytors of the erth are droncken wyth the wyne of hir fornicaciō. And þe spere carped me awaye in to the wylernes. And I sawe a woman syt vpon a rose colozed beast, full of names of blasphemye, whyche had seuen heades and ten hornes. And the womā was arrayed in purple and rose coloure, and beked wyth golde, precious stone, and pear-les, and had a cup of golde in her hande, full of abhominaciōs and fylthynes of her for-nicacion. And in her foreheade was a name written, a mystry, gret Babylon the mother of whoredom and abominacions of the erth. And I sawe the wyfe droncken wyth the bloude of saynetes, and with the bloude of the wytnesses of Jesu. And when I sawe her: I wonderd with great meruayle.

And the Angell sayde vnto me: wherfore maruylest thou? I wyll shewe the the my-stry of the womā, and of the beast þe berpeth her, which hath seuen heades and ten hornes.
The beast that thou seest, was, and is not,
and shall ascēde out of the bottomlesse pyt, and shall go into perdicciō, & they that dwel on the erth shall wondre (whose names are not written in the boke of lyfe from the begynnyng of the world) when they behold the beast that was and is not. And here is a mynde that hath wylsome.

The seuen heades are seuen mountaynes, on which the woman sytteth, they are also seuen kynges. If yue are fallē, and one is, and another is not yet come. And when he commeth, he must contine to a shorte space. And the beast that was, & is not, is euen þe egght: and is one of the seuen, and shall go into be-strucciō. And the ten hornes which þe sawest: are tē kynges which haue receaued no kingdom as yet, but shall receaue power as kynges at one houre wyth þe beast. These haue one mynde, and shall geue their power and strength vnto the beast. These shall fyght with the lambe, & the lambe shall ouercome the. * For he is Lorde of lordes, and kyng of kynges, and they that are on his side, are called, and chosen, and saythfull.

And he sayde vnto me: the waters whych thou sawest, where þe whoze sitteth, are people, and folke, & nacions, and tonges. And the ten hornes, which thou sawest vpon the beast, are they that shall hate the whoze, & shall make her desolate and naked, & shall eate her fleshe, & burne her wyth fyre. For God hath put in theyr hertes to fulfill his wyl, & to do wyth one consent, for to geue their kyngdome vnto the beast, vntill the wordes of God be fulfilled. And the womā which thou sawest, is þe gret crite, whyche raygneth ouer the kynges of the erth.

The. xviii. Chapter.

The louers of the world are sorowful for the fall of Babilon, but they that be of God haue cause to reioyse for her destruction.

And after that, I sawe another Angell come from heauen, haupng gret power, and the erthe was lyghtened wyth hys bygghtnes. And he cryed mygh-tely wyth a stronge voyce, sayinge: * Gzet Babylon is fallen, is fallen, and is become the inhabitacion of deuyls, and the holde of all foule spretes, and a cage of all vncleane and hateful byrdes, for all nacions haue dronke of the wyne of the wrath of her for-nicacion. And the kynges of the earth haue comytted fornicacion wyth her, and the merchauntes of the erth are waxed ryche of the aboundaunce of her pleasures.

And I herde another voyce from heauē, saye, come awaye from her my people, þe be not partakers of her synnes, and þe receaeue not of her plages. For her synnes are gone vp to heauē, & God hath remēbred her wickednes. Rewarde her eue as she rewarded you, & geue her double accordyng to her workes. And powre in double to her of the same cuppe which she filled vnto you. And as moche as she glorified her selfe and liued wātany, so moche powre ye in for her of punyshment and sorowe, for she sayde in her selfe: * I syt beyng a queene, & am no wyd-dowe, and shall se no sorowe. Therfore shal her plages come i one dape, deeth, & sorowe, and hunger, & she shal be brent with fyre: for strōge is þe Lorde God which shal iudge her.

And the kynges of the erth shall beweepe her and wayle ouer her, which haue comyt- ted fornicaciō with her, & haue lyncd want- fanly with her, whē they shall se the smoke of her burnyng, & shall stande a farre of, for feare of her punishment, sayinge. * Alas, Alas, that gret cytie Babylon, & myghty cite: for at one houre is thy iudgemēt come. And the marchauntes of the erth that wepe and wayle in them selues, for no man wyll bye theyr ware any more, the ware of gold and siluer, & precious stones, nether of pearle, and raynes, and purple, and skarlet, and all thyng wodge, and all maner vessels of puer, & all maner vessels of most precious wodge, & of brasse & yron, & of syna- mo, and odours, & opyntmentes, and frackin- sence, & wyne, and oyle, and fyne flour, and wheate, beastes, and shepe, and horyles, and charetes, and bodys, and soules of men.

And & apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed fro the. And all thynges which were deyntie, and had in price, are departed fro the, & thou shalt fynde the nomore. The marchauntes of these thynges whiche were wored ryche, shall stande a farre of from hir, for feare of & punishment of her, wepyng and waylpyng, & sayinge: * Alas, Alas, that gret cytie, & was clothed in raynes and purple, and skarlet, and decked with golde, and precious stones, & pearles: for at one houre lo great ryches is come to nought.

And eury thyng gouernour, and all they that occupied thynges, and thyngmen which worke in the see, stode a farre of, and cryed, when they sawe the smoke of her burnyng, sayinge: what cytie is lyke vnto this gret cite? And they cast dust on theyr heddes, and cryed wepyng, & waylpyng, & sayde: * Alas, Alas, that gret cytie, wher were made ri- che all that had shippes in & see, by the rea- son of her costlynes, for at one houre is she made desolate.

Reioyce ouer her thou heauen, and ye ho- ly Apostles and Prophetes: for God hath geuen your iudgemēt on her. And a myghty angell toke vp a stone lyke a gret millstone and cast it into & see, sayinge: With such vy- olence shall that gret cite Babylon be cast, & shall be founde no more. And & voyce of har- pers, and musycions, & of ppyers, and tro- petters shall be herde no more in the: and no crafter mā, of whatsoeuer craft he be, shall be founde any more in the. And the soude of a myll shall be herde no more in the, & the voy- ce of the bydegrom and of the bypde, shall be herde no more in &, for thy marchauntes were the gret me of & erth. And w thyne inchaū- ment were deceaued al naciōs: & in her was founde the bloude of the Prophetes, & of the saynctes, & of all & were slayne vpo & erth.

The. xix. Chapter.

Chapter is geuen vnto God for iudging the wyse- re, and for auengynge the bloude of his seruantes. The Angell wyll not be worshyppd. The soules and bydes are called to the slaughter.

And after that, I herde a greate & voyce of moche people in heauen sayinge: Alleluia. Saluacion & glory & honour & power be ascri- bed to & Lorde our God, for true and ryghteous are his iudgements, for he hath iudged the gret whoze which dyd cor- rupt the erth w her fornicaciō, & hath aue- ged the bloud of his seruantes of byr hāde. And agayn they said: Alleluia. And smoke rose vp for euermore. And &. xliii. elders, & &. iiii. bestes fell downe, & worshipped God that sat on & seate, sayinge: Amē, Alleluia. And a voyce came out of the seate, sayinge: praise our Lord God all ye & are his seruā- tes, & ye & feare hym both small and great.

And I herde & voyce of moche people enē as the voyce of many waters, & as the voy- ce of strong thōdynges sayinge: Alleluia, for the Lord our God omnipotēt raygneth. Let vs be glad and reioyce, & geue honoure to him, for the mariage of the lābe is come, and bys wyfe made her selfe ready. And to her was graunted, that she shuld be arayed with pure and goodly raynes. For the ray- nes is the rightewelsnes of saynctes. And he sayd vnto me, wypte, * happy are they whi- che are called vnto & supper of & lābes ma- riage. And he sayd vnto me: these are & true sayinges of God. And I fell at his fete, to worshypp him. And he sayde vnto me: se & do it not. For I am thy felow seruānt, & one of thy byrthē, enē of them & haue the testi- mony of Iesus. Worshypp God. For the testimony of Iesus is & spete of prophely.

And I sawe heaue open, & behold, a whyte hōrse: & he & sat vpon him was called sayth full & true, & in rightewelsnes he doth iudge & make battayle. His eyes were as a flāme of fyre: & on his heed were many crownes: & he had a name wypten, that noman knew but he hym selfe. * And he was clothed wth a vesture dypt in bloude, & his name is called & wōde of God. And the warriors which we- re in heauen, folowed him vpon whyte hōr- ses, clothed wth whyte & pure raynes: and out of bys mouthe wente a sharpe two ed- ged swerde, that wth it he shuld smyte the hethen. And he shall rule them wth a rodde of yron, and he trode & wynefat of fearlnes and wyath of almyghty God. And hath on bys vesture and on his thygh a name wypt- ten: Kyng of kynges, and Lorde of Lordes.

And I sawe an Angell stāde in the sonne, and he cryed with a loude voyce, sayinge: to all the fowles that flye by the myddes of hea- uen: come and gather youre selues to gether vnto vnto & supper of & great God, that ye maye eate fleshe of kynges, and the fleshe of bye captaynes, and the fleshe of myghty men, & the fleshe of horyles, and of them that spt on them, and the fleshe of all free men and bonde men and of small and gret. And I sawe the beast, and the kynges of the earth, and their warriors gathered together to make batay- le agaynst hym that sat on the hōrse, and agaynst his souldiers.

And the beast was take, & wth hym that false prophet that wrought miracles befoze hym, with whych he deceaued them that re- ceaued the beastes marke, & them that wor- shipped bys ymage. These both were cast quicke into a ponde of fyre burnyng wth byrmstone: & the renaunt were slayne w the swerde of hym & sat vpo the hōrse, whych I wearde proceeded out of his mouth, & all & soules were fulfylled wth theyr fleshe.

The. xx. Chapter.

The dragon is bounde for a. x. yeres. The dees arse, and receaue iudgement.

And I sawe an Angell come downe fro heauen, haung the kape of & bottom lesse pte, and a greate chayne in bys hand. And he toke & dragon & olde serpente, which is the deuyll & Satanas, & he bounde hym a thousande yeres: and cast hym into & bottomlesse pte, and he shute hym vp, and let a scale on hym, that he shuld deceaue & people nomore, tyll the thousande yeres we- re fulfylled. And after that he must be losed for a lytell season.

And I sawe seates, and they sat vpo the, & iudgemēt was geue vnto the: and I sawe the soules of them that were beheaded for & wyrces of Iesu, and for the worde of God: & which had not worshipped the beast, nether his ymage, nether had take his marke vpo their forheades, or in their handes: and they lyued, and raygned wth Christ a. x. yere: but the other of the dees mē lyued not agay- ne, vntyll the thousand yere were finished. This is that first resurreccion. Blessed and holy is he, that hath parte in the first resur- reccion. For on such shall the seconde deeth haue no power, but they shall be the Priestes of God & of Christ, and shall raygne wth hym a thousande yere.

And whē the thousand yeres are expyred, Satan shall be losed out of his pson and shall go out to deceaue & people, whych are in the foure quarters of the erth, Gog & Ma- gog, to gather them together to battayle, whose nombze is as the sonde of the see: and they went vp in the playne of the erth: & co- uered the tēces of the saynctes about, & the beloued cite. And fyre came downe fro God out of heauen, and deuoured them: and the deuyll that deceaued them, was cast into a lake of fyre and byrmstone, where the beast and the false prophetes shall be tormented daye and nyght for euermore.

And I sawe a great whyte seate, and him that late on it, from whose face flece a waye both & erth and heauen, and their place was nomore founde. And I sawe the dees, both gret and small stonde befoze God: And the bokes were opened, and another boke was opened, which is the boke of lyfe, & the dees were iudged of those thynges whych were witten in the bokes accordyng to the de- des: and the see gaue vp her dees which we- re in her, and deeth and hell deliuerd vp the dees, which were in them: & they were iud- ged eury man accordyng to his dedes. And deeth and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the seconde deeth. And whosoeuer was not founde wypte in the boke of lyfe, was cast into the lake of fyre.

The. xxi. Chapter.

In this chapter is described the new and spirit: shall Jerusalem.

And I sawe a newe heaue and a newe earth. For the fyrst heauen, and the fyrst earth were vanyshed awaye, and ther was nomore see. * And I John sawe that holy cytie, newe Jerusalem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a byde garnished for her husband. And I herde a greate voyce out of heauen say- inge: beholde, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he wyll dwell wth them. And they shall be bys people, and God hym selfe shall be wth them, and be theyr God. * And God shall wyte awaye all teares fro theyr eyes. And there shall be nomore deeth, nether sorowe, nether crynge, nether shall ther be any more payne, for the olde thynges are gone. And he that late vpo the seate, sayde: * Beholde, I make all thynges newe. * And he sayde vnto me: wypte, for these wo- des are saythfull and true.

And he sayd vnto me: it is done, I am Al- pha and Omega, the begynnyng & the ende I wyll geue to hym that is a thyrt, of the well of the water of lyfe, fre. he that ouer cometh shall enheret all thynges, and I wyll be bys God, and he shall be my sonne. But the fearfull and unbelcuyng, and the abhominable, and murdrys, & whozmong- ers, and sozcerers, and ydolaters, and all ly- ars shall haue theyr parte in the lake which burnyth with fyre and byrmstone, which is the seconde deeth.

And there cam vnto me one of & scuen An- gels which had the scuen vyalles full of the senē last plagues: & talked with me sayinge: come byrther, I wyll shewe the & bypde, the lamber wyfe. And he carped me awaye in & spete spete to a great and an hye moſtayne, and he ſhewed me the great cytie holy Jeruſale, deſcending out of heauen fro God: hauyng the bryghtnes of God. And her ſpynge was lyke vnto a ſtone moſte precious, euen lyke a Jaſper cleare as Cryſtall: & had walles great & hye, & had. xii. gates & at þ gates xii. Angells: and names wrytten, whych are the names of the. xii. trybes of Iſraell: on þ Eaſt parte. iii. gates, & on the Northſide. iii. gates, & towardes the South. iii. gates, & from the Weſt thre gates, and the wall of the cytie had. xii. foundacions: and in them þ twelve names of þ lambes. xii. apoſtles.

And he that talked with me, had a golde reade to meſure the cytie with all and the gates therof & the wall therof. And the cytie was bylt. iiii. ſquare, and the lēgth was as large as the bredth, & he meſured þ cytie with the golden reade. xii. M. furlonges: and the length & the bredth, and the heyth of it, were equall. And he meſured the wal therof, an. cxi. cubytes: the meſure that the angell had, was after the meſure that man vſeth. And the byldyng of the wal of it was of Jaſper. And the cytie was pure golde, lyke vnto cleare glaſſe, and the foundacions of the wall of the cytie were garniſhed with al maner of precious ſtones. The fyrſt foundacion was Jaſpis, the ſeconde Saphyre, the thyrde a Calcedony, þ fourth an Emiralde, the fyft Sardonyx, the ſyxt Sardeos, the ſeuenth Cryſolite, the eyght Berall, the. ix. a Copas, the tenth a Cryſopraſos, the eleuenth a Jacynth, the tweluenth an Amathiſt.

The twelve gates were twelve pearles, eueny gate was of one pearle, and the ſtete of the cytie was pure golde, as thoſow ſpynge glaſſe. And I ſawe no temple therein. For the Lorde God almighty and the lambe are the temple of it. * And the cytie hath no nede of þ ſonne, nether of þ mone to lighten it. For the bryghtnes of God dyd lyght it, and the lambe was the lyght of it. And the people whych are ſaued ſhall walke in the lyght of it. And the kinges of the earth ſhall bypge theyr glory & (and honour) vnto it. * And þ gates of it are not ſhut by daye. For there ſhall be no nyght there. * (And into it ſhall they bypge þ glory & honour of the nations.) And there ſhall enter into it none vncleane thing, nether whatſoeuer worketh abhominacion or maketh lyes: but they only which are wrytten in the lambes boke of lyfe.

The. xxi. Chapter.

The ſpete of the water of lyfe, the ſtructure and lyght of the cytie of God. The Lorde geueth euen þ ſeruauntes warning of thynges to come, the angell will not be wrytten. To þ wrytting of God maye nothing be addyd nor mynyſhed.

And he ſhewed me a pure ryuer of water of lyfe, cleare as Cryſtall: procedyng out of the ſeate of God, and the lambe. In the myddes of the ſtreet of it, and of ether lyde of the ryuer, was ther woode of lyfe: whych bare twelue maner of frutes: & gaue frute eueny moneth: & the leues of the wood ſerued to heale þ people with all. And ther ſhall be no moze curſe, but the ſeate of God and the lambe ſhall be in it: and þ ſeruauntes ſhall ſerue hym. And they ſhall ſee þ face, and his name ſhall be in their forheddes. * And there ſhall be no nyght there, & they nede no candle, nether light of the ſunne: for the Lorde God geueth the lyght, and they ſhall raygne for euer moze.

And he ſayde vnto me: theſe ſaynges are faythfull and true. And the Lorde God of þ holy Prophetes ſent þs Angell to ſhewe vnto þs ſeruauntes, the thynges whyche muſt ſhortly be fulfilled. Beholde, I come ſhortly. * happy is he that kepeth þ ſaying of the prophely of this boke. I am John, which ſawe theſe thynges and herde them. And when I had herde & ſene, * I fell downe to worſhypp before the ſete of the Angell, whyche ſhewed me theſe thynges. And he ſayde vnto me: ſe thou do it not, for I am thy ſelowe ſeruaunt, & the ſelowe ſeruaunt of thy brethren the Prophetes, and of them which kepe the ſaynges of þs (the prophely of) this boke. But worſhypp God.

And he ſayde vnto me: ſeale not the ſaynges of the prophely of this boke. For the tyme is at hande. He that doeth euyll, let him do euyll ſtyll: and he which is fylthy, let him be fylthy ſtyll: and he that is ryghteous, let hym be moze ryghteous: & he that is holy, let hym be moze holy. And beholde, I come ſhortly, and my rewarde is wyth me, to geue eueny man accordyng as his dedes ſhall be. I am Alpha and Omega, þ begynnyng and the ende: the fyrſt and the laſt. Blessed are they that do his comaundementes, that theyr power maye be in the tree of lyfe, and maye entre in thoſow the gates into the cytie. * For wythout ſhall be dogges and inchauntes, and whozmongers, and moztters, and ydolaters, & whoſoeuer loueth or maketh leaſynges.

I Jeſus ſent myne Angell, to teſtyfy vnto you theſe thynges in the congregacions. I am the rote and the generacion of Dauid and the bryghte moztynge ſtarre. And the ſpete and the byde ſaye come. And let him that heareth, ſaye alſo: come. * And let him that is a thyrſt: come. And let whoſoeuer wyll, take of the water of lyfe, fre.
